Lecturer on Physiology and Health under the "Combe Trust;"
Editor of "Health."

The Population of Peterborough is about 10,000, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection on the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large Bottle 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists. dw

Wild cherry bark, elecampane, hoarhound, and senega. These are the remedies with which Dame Nature has supplied Canada for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping coughs, bronchitis and loss of voice. All these are contained in Wilson's Wild Cherry in their most active form, and with other medicines constitute this most reliable cure for all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Wilson's Wild Cherry is sold by all druggists. dw

High Time.

When weakness, loss of appetite, lack of energy and other symptoms of dyspepsia appear, is is high time Burdock Blood Bitters was made use of. There is nothing else "just as good." It is the B. B. B. that cures dyspepsia, so be sure you get it. 2w49d

A Source of Joy.

DEAR SIR,—My young sisters were attacked by croup so badly that we almost despaired, and had little hope of curing them. At last we applied Hagyard's Yellow Oil, and to our great joy it cured them perfectly, and they now enjoy the blessing of perfect health.

Winter Sports.

The gay winter season exposes many to attacks of colds, coughs, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, etc., which require a reliable remedy like Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for their relief and cure. Known as reliable for over thirty years. The best cough cure. 2w49d

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

If you have any pains in the joints caused by cold or dampness, do not wait until it has developed in a bad case of rheumatism, but ask W. R. Greatrex, druggist, for a bottle of Royal Rheumatic Remedy. dw

There is nothing more disagreeable than a Cold in the Head, and, if neglected, it is dangerous. Nasal Balm is the only remedy that promptly and effectually removes the trouble. eodw

Self Application of Electricity
FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES
BY THE DORENWEND
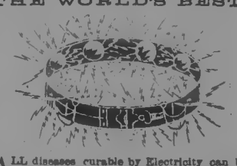
ELECTRIC BELT
And Attachments.
THE WORLD'S BEST


ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be cured at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the true curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Mo-cular Systems.
Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.
Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.
Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician, 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its liberal unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

Our Favourable Financial Position.

A feature of the Town Treasurer's statement, submitted to the council last night, is the large amount of taxes paid up. Only $9,000 of the total amount is still outstanding—a record which few, if any, towns in Canada can boast of. The large surplus of assets over liabilities is also remarkable. The figures show Peterborough to be in a thoroughly sound financial condition.

A Useful Contrivance.

The Grand Trunk Company has introduced a useful Railroad Station Indicator into its passengers cars. As each station is passed the conductor pushes a lever on the indicator, a gong sounds, and the previous plate drops, expressing the words, the "Next station is ——," whatever the coming place may be. This is repeated at every station, so that a passenger has only to look at the indicator to discover at any time the name of the town or city which the train is approaching.

Band of Hope Birthday Party.

Last Saturday the Band of Hope spent a very pleasant afternoon in the W. C. T. U. Hall, celebrating the birthday of their esteemed superintendent, Mrs. Peton. A short programme of songs and recitations was rendered. The superintendent, realizing that "it is more blessed to give than to receive," treated the children to apples and cakes, and gave them a good solid birthday talk. She superintended her first Band of Hope seventeen years ago, and gave a little account of that and her subsequent temperance work. She spoke of the warm place the juvenile work had always held in her heart, and gave the children many earnest warnings and injunctions, which it is hoped they will not only remember but put to good use.

The Divine Healing Mission.

The opera house was well filled last night when Rev. Mr. Dowie gave another lecture on Divine Healing. Before he began his address proper, Mr. Dowie referred to a letter from Rev. G. H. Davis, which was published in the EXAMINER yesterday, criticizing Rev. Mr. Dowie's course of conduct and the doctrine he preached. Mr. Dowie said that the letter was full of false statements, and accused Mr. Davis of quoting only a part of the passages of scripture. Mr. Dowie said that he did not claim to perform the wonders of healing himself—he was the instrument through whom the Lord Jesus Christ worked. Mr. Dowie's address was upon the "sanctification of the soul, spirit and body." He emphasized the three distinct attributes of the human being, and argued that the body was sanctified as well as the soul and spirit, and as the soul was made perfect, so was the body by the Holy Spirit dwelling in it. To-night's meeting will be held in the Baptist church.

The Divine Healing Mission.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you give me space in your valuable paper for a few remarks on the subject of Divine healing as advocated by Dr. Dowie. I had written some remarks Saturday evening but laid them aside, thinking the contest might be intended against a class of professors of modern science, skeptically inclined, who imagine a God who created the worlds and then receded from them, framing a sort of eternal self-acting machine, which, left alone, shall go on working, self-adjusting, and independent of its maker. The created mind is allowed indeed to be ever moulding and modifying this creation, but the eternal mind of the Creator does nothing—at the most an idle spectator. I was mistaken, and find the contest against those who believe Him to be ever present in every part of His creation, upholding and governing all things by the present effectual operations of His Almighty will and power; —against those who believe God has ordained and provided the means and is ever present to make it effectual according to his divine will and pleasure, and who in secret present their supplications before a throne of grace in submission to a divine will, in fact against all who do not agree with him. In the relation of his experience, Dr. Dowie says: "When he fully understood that Christ was the healer of his body as well as of the soul, he prayed to God to cure him of a disease of which he was dying." Now, when he put up that prayer, was it in full assurance of faith that God would grant his request? If so, why should he tell the Almighty if He did not answer his request, he would never pray to Him again? If he had confidence, how was it obtained? Was it from divine inspiration or revelation of God's will? If he had not this assurance, what then of all the boasted faith in God's "wills and snalls?" Dr. Dowie might presume that he would be made whole, but how would he believe that he would, unless he had some inspiration that would affect his mind? When Abraham believed God, he had been told he should have a son. It is from no argument that so many are blinded by this new light. They conclude that it is from Heaven because so many cures are wrought. Even some that are now somewhat credulous say: "If sight is obtained by one that was born blind they would believe," but I say no, I should remain the same. Dr. D wie says: "After the fall Satan filled the air with his demoniac spirits, and our health is affected by the Satanic influences in the atmosphere." I know that He obtained permission of God to afflict the body of Job—"He is in thy hand, but touch not his life." If he could do this is it any wonder if he should transform himself into an angel of light. Christ Himself says (Matthew 7, 22): "Many will say to Me in that day, we have prophesied in Thy Name, and in Thy Name have cast out devils, and in Thy Name done many wonderful works," and to whom He will say: "I never knew you." In the time of Ahab the evil spirit could find an entrance into the false prophets to persuade him. And should the nasty pigs have all been drowned, still he would be able to say: "I will return unto mine house from whence I came." Does Dr. Dowie know of what he is talking when he says: "Good and evil originated, one in Jesus and the other in Satan," or where got he the knowledge that Satan was an archangel?

Some eighteen or twenty years since, a suggestion was made by some one whose idea was to have two hospitals, one carried on by prayer, the other by science—mechanical skill being used in the one case, prayer in the other. This was to test the efficacy of prayer—putting skill against prayer. The absurdity as well as profanity is obvious. Who could try such an experiment? Not the ungodly, for God heareth not sinners. Not the godly, for men who fear God want a divine warrant for doing things, and to put God vainly to the test, is to tempt God and provoke His displeasure. A deep, holy fear of God, as revealed in His word and by His Spirit, keeps his saints in the right path. "They fear to presume;" they "stand in awe and sin not." From several of its features, the Divine Healing Mission is evidently a paroxysm of Plymouth Brethrenism. Though much remains to be said, I must close, lest having my mouth open, I should put my foot in, and would still remain one who believes not any spirit.

JOHN BABB.

Police Court.

TUESDAY, Dec. 16.

Benjamin White and John Doherty were fined $2 each for driving sleighs without bells.

A number of liquor cases came up for trial. R. R. Hamilton, proprietor of the C. P. R. restaurant, was charged with violating the law Saturday, Nov. 29th. Evidence went to show that the bar-tender cracked a bottle of ale with a friend in the dining room after seven o'clock, and the Police Magistrate held that this constituted an infraction of the statute, which reads that liquor shall not be sold or disposed of on the premises. This being a first offence, a fine of $20 and costs was imposed.

Mr. J. E McIntyre, of the Oriental, was charged with a breach of the Crooks Act Saturday, Dec. 13. The information was laid under the "Rules and Regulations" of the License Commissioners as a second offence. No evidence was secured of a violation of law Saturday morning, and as the Rules and Regulations did not cover Saturday night the case was dismissed. It is understood another information is to be laid under the Liquor License Act for Saturday evening.

In the case against Jas. Fanning, of the Commercial House, a conviction was made, but the question of its being a first or second offence being argued, judgment as far as the penalty is concerned was reserved.

The case against F. J. Daly, of the Grand Central, was enlarged until to-morrow.

Mr. E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, conducted the prosecution in these cases and Mr. R. R. Hall the defence.

Personal.

Mr. Hugh Davidson, who has for some time being lying ill at Mr. George Armstrong's, has sufficiently recovered to be removed to his home.

Ashburnham.

A Busy Session of the Village Council Monday Night—A By-Law to Prevent Coasting Passed, and Other Business Transacted.

Broad smiles encircled the faces of the Ashburnham councillors as they seated themselves around the table in the chamber last night, and the liberal manner in which they distributed them (the smiles) among the small audience, and the business-like way in which they ran through the business of the evening, led many to believe that the majority of them would seek aldermanic honours at the approaching municipal elections.

ACCOUNTS.

After routine, the clerk presented the following accounts:—

J. R. Stratton	$ 1 00
Mc. Currie & Son	17 70
D. Law	2 25
E. B. Burt	0 60
F. Fitzgerald	2 25

TREASURER'S STATEMENT.

Mr. A. H. Peck, treasurer, presented his financial statement, of which the subjoined is a synopsis. The statement will be printed in full in pamphlet form:

Receipts	$12,359 32
Expenditures	12,359 32
Assets	15,709 55
Liabilities	13,488 19

On motion of Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. Adams, the accounts were ordered to be paid.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was received from the Bell Telephone Company, asking permission to erect poles on the streets in order to reach their subscribers, and, on motion of Mr. Adams, seconded by Mr. Calcutt, the company was requested to present a plan of streets on which they wished to erect poles. —Carried.

Mr. A. Davidson appeared before the council in reference to his dog tax, being assessed $2 for a bitch, which he had destroyed. On motion of Mr. Throop, seconded by Mr. Calcutt, a rebate of $1 was granted.

HARD ON THE BOYS.

Mr. F. Dover appeared before the council and enquired if there was a law to prevent boys coasting on sidewalks. There being no law to prevent this, the council passed a by-law preventing tobogganing and coasting on the streets, and all offenders of said law will be liable to fine or imprisonment. The clerk was instructed to post copies of the by-law in public places.

PREPARING FOR ELECTIONS.

A by-law appointing deputy-returning officers received its several readings and was finally passed. Mr. Jonathan Stevenson was appointed for the south ward, and Mr. A. H. Peck for the north ward.

A letter was received from the Mayor of Wingham in reference to the unjust disposal of moneys derived from liquor licenses, which was left over till another meeting

A HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As the village council has a number of mendicants on their hands, the question of the establishment of a county poor house was discussed. The reeve and several of the councillors spoke on the subject, and all condemned in strong terms the practice of sending the unfortunate people to the county gaol whose only crime was poverty. On motion of Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. Throop, the following resolution was adopted:—That this council is of opinion that the county should establish a house of refuge for the county, whereby those who are infirm and unable to support themselves, and required to be supported by the municipality can be properly cared for, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the county council. —Carried.

The council then adjourned.

Lakefield Locals.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gordon celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, or silver wedding on Friday evening last, by inviting a number of their friends to a sociable supper, after which music, vocal and instrumental, with conversation, filled out the pleasant hours. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon were the recipients of a number of handsome and valuable presents.

On Tuesday morning last about one o'clock a serious fire took place on the farm of Mr. Wm. Fee, north-east of Omemee, which destroyed a frame and log barn, stable and sheds. Mr. Fee had an insurance of $300, and it will cost him about $500 over the insurance to replace the buildings burnt. In the barns Mr. Joseph Brown had all his season's crop and Messrs. Brown & Lowes had two threshing machines destroyed. We believe their loss to be about $1,200. We regret to learn that they had no insurance whatever. The fire was no doubt the work of an incendiary, as there had been no fire about the buildings the night before—Herald

Lives of others oft remind us
Married life may be sublime.

We trust to be forgiven this parody of lines from Longfellow's immortal "Psalm of Life." Husbands who are wise and thoughtful, know that the happiness of the home depends largely on the health of the mistress of the home. Many are the tasks which daily confront her. How can a woman contend against the trials and worries of housekeeping, if she be suffering from those distressing irregularities, ailments and weakness peculiar to her sex? Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a specific for these disorders. The only remedy, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers. The Fate of the Haggis.

Intended for the St. Andrew's Dinner in Peterborough, 1890.

A great catastrophe took place
In the year that's well nigh closing,
Perhaps I may get my ears pulled,
For this and fact exposing;
Don't tell a secret unto me
You do not wish divulging,
It presses too hard on my brain,
And starts my head a-bulging.

This happened near St. Andrew's day,
When Scots resolved on having
A glorious feast up in their hall
To satify their craving.
They made a contract with friend Welsh,
Particular notice taking
Of one thing, he must not forget,—
That was the haggis making.

Not being a Scot, how to construct
A haggis, seemed perplexing,
But he resolved to try his hand,
Though the result was vexing.
From Germany he onions bought,
Scotch oatmeal, good and very,
From England, salt and pepper strong,
Pigs' feet from Londonderry.

He mixed all up with wondrous care,
His nice white hands much soiling;
Then made a bag to hold it in
The time that it was boiling.
The bag's material beats my wits—
Perhaps some old silken banner,
Strong factory cotton, sheep's big bag,
Or calf skin from the tanner.

The bag was filled and tightly tied,
Into a large pot plumping,
The heat below stirred up the chap,
And he commenced his jumping;
Ingredients from so many lands
Internally annoyed it,
Fermenting warfare raged within,
Till oatmeal king exploded!

That night to feast the Scots sat down,
Turkey and beef devouring;
From dish to dish their eyes they stretched
In vain for something glowring.
They eat, they drank weak ginger wine,
Compelled to be teetotal,
But not one sup of haggis fat
To grease their chip-dry throttles.

Caterer toasted, he rose up
To give Scots explanation,
He said it grieved him to have slain
The chieftain of their nation.
At first when it began to jump
He grasped, he coaxed, he cussed it,
He held it tightly by by the neck—
Till all its bowels busted!

With faces long, and Scotch wrath strong,
Their looks and words were wasted,
For on that night the deil a bite
Of haggis Scotchmen tasted;
With wounded pride they try to hide
The secret I am telling,
But I will bet your fine George street,
With fat and oatmeal's smelling
Strong to this day.

A Son of England

Who is Trying To Tread the Path of Duty —Cheered on His Way by His Brother Englishmen.

Mr. Fred Sanders, a member of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, was last night presented with a farewell address and suitable gifts prior to his departure for China, where he is entered for missionary work. The address voiced the cordial feelings and warm wishes which the members entertain towards Bro. Saunders, who has ever been a faithful and conscientious member of the lodge. The gifts comprised four volumes of the Bible Commentary and a portfolio. The address was read by Bro. F Mitchell, and the presentation was made by Bro. H. Hounsell. The address was as follows:—

BRO. FRED SAUNDERS,—The officers and members of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, avail themselves of this opportunity of presenting you with these four volumes and portfolio as a slight token of their appreciation.

We desire to recognize the fact that since your initiation you have been always a true friend of the order, ever ready to comply with its regulations and teachings, and that for a period of twelve months you have faithfully performed your duties as chaplain of the lodge, a position which we much regret your intended departure has compelled you to vacate.

We are sorry to lose a brother who, by his happy, kind and genial disposition, has so endeared himself to us, and trust in the future you will have only pleasant recollections of the time we have passed together.

We wish you every success in your new home and occupation, and are confident that the energy and determination which characterizes all true Englishmen will not fail you, that favourable results will follow all your efforts, and that true happiness will ever accompany you.

Signed on behalf of Lansdowne Lodge,

Committee—F. J. R. MITCHELL, H HOUNSELL, J. J. TURNER, JR.

As Christmas Draws Near

All are laying in their little store of luxuries, so I wish to call their attention to my immense stock of Liquors. I have a very fine Port Wine, well aged, which I am running off very cheap. Fine Ginger Wine. Natives, from the finest Concord Grapes. Some special lines of very old Port, which may be considered high in price, but when the age is taken into consideration, it appears low. I may speak the same of Brandy, Cherry, Whisky, Gin, Claret, Rum, Old Tom, Sherry, J. Bull. My stock of Liquors not only being the largest, is considered the most complete of any in town. My bottled Goods consist of Clubs, Gooderham & Worts, Imperial, Old Times, White Wheat, Hennessy, Martell, Jamieson's. Liquors of all kinds, etc., etc. W. J. MORROW 340 George street. dw

HIT WITH A BLACKTHORN

MICHAEL DAVITT RECEIVES A SEVERE SCALP WOUND.

Kilkenny More Interesting Now Than the Field of Waterloo or the Plains of Marathon—Parnell Blinded With Lime—Stoning the Priests.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The polling in the Kilkenny election will take place on Monday and the result be announced Tuesday afternoon. The blackthorn has already been brought into requisition to enforce convincing arguments on either side. The Daily News' correspondent at Kilkenny says: It was a race between the Parnellites and the McCarthyites to reach Rothdowney, where it was announced Parnell would speak. The utmost enthusiasm was displayed for Davitt, while there was hooting and groaning for Parnell. Four thousand persons attended Davitt's meeting, but only 200 listened to Parnell. Mr. Tanner, at the beginning of his speech, made an allusion to The Freeman's Journal, which was greeted with cries of "Down with it!" A priest shouted: "To blazes with it!" Mr. Tanner burnt a copy of the paper. After Parnell's departure Davitt continued his remarks, saying: Parnell has fled, as he will flee from Kilkenny next Monday. But I will meet him face to face before the contest is over and ask him to repeat that "The archbishops, bishops and priests, and Sexton, O'Brien and Dillon are the scum of the earth." This is the Parnell who did not hesitate to accept £40,000 from the scum of Ireland. I am the son of a peasant, but, thank God, I never disgraced my humble name. Which will you have? Ireland or Parnell? (Shouts of "Ireland.") Who is Scully? Why, the son of a landlord who evicted two poor women you know, and kicked one to death. Davitt, then eulogized Gladstone, who, he said worked for Ireland while Parnell was inactive. [Cries of "Bravo, Davitt!"] At the conclusion of the meeting a number of sturdy farmers dragged the wagon with Davitt and others on it through the village in triumph.

DAVITT INJURED.

A Serious Collision Reported From Ballinakill.

BALLINAKILL, Dec. 16.—Mr. Davitt accompanied by Father O'Halloran was the first of prominent speakers to arrive at the meeting to-day and he took his stand in the higher part of the square, near the church. Cheers and counter cheers and partisan shouts were vociferously indulged in by assembled members of the two factions. As Mr Davitt began his speech a wagonet, in which were William Redmond, M.P., Father Ryan and other Parnellites, was driven through lower part of the square followed by a cheering crowd. Mr. Redmond began speaking simultaneously with Mr. Davitt. The latter resuming his interrupted speech urged the electors to have nothing to do with the private lives of politicians. He said: "If we are to go into their private lives we shall have something to say to other politicians besides Parnell."

The advent of another party headed by Dr. Tanner and several priests driving briskly through the crowd put a temporary stop to the speeches at both meetings. The new-comers ranged themselves alongside the car occupied by Davitt amid a chorus of mingled cheers and execrations.

Parnell Arrives on the Scene.

Mr. Scully took up the speaking and was expressing his views when great shouting announced the arrival of Parnell and Harrington and a number of supporters on horseback and in cars. Parnell's appearance beside Redmond was the signal for cheers and yells of "Tally ho, the fox!" and "Kitty's petticoat."

Amid the din Parnell spoke to a group around him as follows, "I come among you to insult no man. [Edward Harrington: "No, and we will protect ourselves."] I come to speak of the great National crisis. I will not enter into a personal contest or squabble with any man. I regret that Mr. Davitt is not at my side—[cries of "Down with him"]—to fight for Ireland with me as strongly as heretofore. I will speak [illegible] also. Hennessy, the man who went into Parliament in 1861 as a Tory supporter of Disraeli, and who now wants to go as a Liberal supporter of Gladstone. In 1861 Hennessy defended in the House of Commons the evictions proceeding throughout King's County. [Yells of "To hell with him!"] Will Kilkenny take a man who defended the extermination of those people? [Cries of "Never!"] Disraeli gave him a place and pension.

The din here increasing, Parnell paused and pointing towards the opposition meeting said: "Let's get away from these lunatics. I can't hear my own voice."

Mr. Harrington shouted: "Don't let us leave the field to them now."

Several men made strong efforts to drag the wagonet into the midst of the anti-Parnell gathering, but were dissuaded from their purpose and stopped. Davitt, who was speaking, and Dr. Tanner also appealing to those who rallied to their flag.

His Public Life Consistent.

Parnell resumed, maintaining that the consistency of his public life had been preserved amid his unceasing efforts to create and preserve an independent Irish party. Men like Hennessy were now attempting to destroy their enemies. They had been unable to cope with them in open field. They were unable to meet them with physical force, so they sent "this rat" Hennessy to try to do by corruption what they had failed to do by every other method. The internal dissensions which were destroying the party were not of his creating. Having made an unavailing fight at Westminster for independence he had been forced to appeal to the people. [Mr. Redmond—"We will fight for you till death."] If the people were slack and cowardly, if they failed to come to a just, true and patriotic decision Ireland's cause was lost for a lifetime." [Cheers.]

Parnell made an impassioned appeal to electors to punish traitorism and help him to reconsolidate the Irish ranks into an invincible phalanx able to place Ireland abreast of the first nations of the world.

A Modern Donnybrook.

Mr. Harrison was about to follow Parnell and Tanner was speaking when a sudden conflict arose on the verge of the crowd. A rush was made towards [illegible] and a general melee ensued. A forest of ash plant, sticks and blackthorn arose and descended in the air where the dividing lines of the opposing factions met.

Davitt leaped from his car wielding a thick hazel stick, and fought his way foot [illegible] toward Parnell's wagon, receiving numerous blows. He [illegible] the wagon, hatless and with [illegible] bleeding and with a few of his men with him, who also bore traces of the severe usages they had received. Standon the steps of Parnell's wagon Davitt uttered a breathless and indistinct defiance then turned and pushed his way back to his own car surrounded by his faithful supporters and amid the continuous yells and execrations of the two contending and wildly excited factions and with an exchange of a shower of blows. Davitt then remounted his car and shouted: "Men of Kilkenny, I came here in defense of the right of public meeting and liberty of speech. Our opponents sent their blackguards to interrupt the proceedings, but we have beaten them back. I was never struck by an Englishman, but to-day I was many times struck by my own countrymen.

These remarks were greeted with tumultuous cheers, after which the crowd began to disperse and the square soon resumed its normal aspect.

Parnell and his friends drove to Castle Comer, Davitt and Tanner following in their wake.

HE WILL FIGHT, NOT TREAT.

He Alludes to Tanner as a Cocksparrow and Calls Davit a Jackdaw.

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.—At Castle Comer to-day Davitt and Tanner addressed an open-air assemblage dilating upon the incidents at Ballinakill, and asserting Parnell brough a hired mob there to attack them. Just then the carriages containing the Parnellites passed the crowd, which hooted and pelted them with mud and stones.

William Redmond appeared on the edge of the crowd. Davitt sent him a message that if Parnell would agree to stand beside him and deliver a speech Davitt would reply to it and would guarantee Parnell a quiet hearing. Redmond bore the message to Parnell, who replied:

I am not in a position to treat. I am only in a position to fight.

The Parnellites cheered their approval.

Parnell Calls Names.

Parnell afterwards spoke to a small meeting. He said he valued them not by their numbers, but by their quality. He was not accustomed to face a crowd of ignorant fools; he preferred a crowd of patriotic Irishmen. He was not afraid of being in the minority, but he knew when the voice of Kilkenny spoke he would not be in the minority. He did not wish to think badly of anybody. People might think badly of him to-day, but he did not fear the opprobrium of his countrymen, because he knew it was only for the moment, the voice of Ireland would soon be for those who remained at his side now. [Cheers.] His heart was laid bare to them. He would show them he had never been false to his trust. He did not wish to assail men that had stood by his side many a long day, but he was not going to ask permission to speak for a cocksparrow like Tanner or a jackdaw like Davitt.

While other Parnellites were addressing the crowd a number of Davitt's followers got together and began hooting at the speakers. The Parnellites closed around the vehicle from which their orators were addressing the people, and the police appeared and tried to divide the factions. The meeting ended in a scene of wild confusion, and Parnell and his friends drove off amid showers of stones and mud.

Parnell Blinded With a Shower of Lime.

Frequent attempts to assail the members of the party were made and several bags filled with lime were thrown at Parnell. Harrington's shoulders were covered with lime and a mass of lime struck Parnell full in the face, completely blinding him. This infuriated Parnell's friends. Harrington, advancing toward Father Downey, who was at the head of Parnell's opponents, shouted, "Coward, you are a disgrace to your church."

The police again interfered and the Parnell party, who had left their cars, again took their seats and finally got away. On the road Mr. Parnell's eyes, which were quite closed, were intensely painful. He was soon obliged to stop his carriage and he entered a laborer's cabin in a fainting condition. A local doctor attended him. Lime had become caked beneath his eyelids and the doctor was only able to remove some of it by using a silk handkerchief and some hair oil in the cabin. The physician finally advised Parnell to drive to Kilkenny. The latter proceeded on his journey, but pain again became so intense that a second halt was made, this time at a roadside public house, where the doctor made further efforts to relieve the terrible pain with which Parnell was suffering. The doctor at this place procured a quantity of castor oil, which he poured freely into Mr. Parnell's eyes. He then tried to scrape off some more of the lime, using the point of an ordinary pencil. The lime, however, had become crusted inside the eyelids and the doctor, with the crude implements at hand, was only able to remove the torturing substances slowly and with much difficulty.

Suffering Intense Pain.

The doctor apologized to Mr. Parnell for causing him so much pain, but said it was unavoidable. Mr. Parnell replied: "Never mind the pain. Do your best. Don't let me lose my sight. "The doctor poured more oil into Mr. Parnell's eyes and said he hoped the case was not as bad as that. Finding he was unable to remove all the lime the doctor urged Mr. Parnell to drive with all speed to town and this was done. Arriving at Victoria Hotel Mr. Parnell had to be led from the wagonnet to his room. He reclined in an arm chair, apparently sightless and suffering most intense agony. He still remains in the hands of his doctors. Surgeon Hackett, who attended Mr. Parnell along the road, stated at a late hour to-night that all the lime had been removed but the patient was still suffering intensely. He said he did not anticipate, from present appearances, permanent injury to Mr. Parnell's sight.

Parnellites Mob McCarthy at Cork—Many Injured.

CORK, Dec. 16.—A large crowd gathered at the railroad station to-day previous to the coming of Messrs. McCarthy and Healy and their associates, and made a fierce and hostile demonstration on their arrival. Sticks were brandished and a few fights ensued between members of the two factions. Priests who tried to pacify the people were brutally attacked. Canon Lyons, who is 70 years old, was knocked violently to the ground. Father Barrett being struck turned on his assailants and called them cowards.

Mr. McCarthy was hustled about by the mob and prevented from reaching his carriage. He went to his hotel in another carriage followed by a hooting crowd. He addressed a meeting inside the hotel while the Parnellites held a rival meeting outside.

The Mayor presided at a meeting of Parnell Leadership Committee to-day. He announced that satisfactory progress was being made, and that a fund would be started to meet expenses.

Henry O'Connor, editor of The Leinster Leader, published in Maryborough, has resigned owing to pressure from the Parnellites upon the owner of the paper.

Scully Subscribes £300.

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.—The action of the Edinburgh town council in striking Parnell's name off the list of citizens of the town was before at a full council meeting to-day and the resolution for the erasure of his name was ordered unanimously.

Upon the application of counsel acting in behalf of Mr. Parnell's adherents the court has granted an interlocutory injunction restraining the publication of the paper Suppressed United Ireland.

The sentence of six weeks' imprisonment upon Father Fahey of Woodford, county Galway, for violating the Crimes' Act, expired to-day and he was released from jail. He at once proceeded to Kilkenny, where he will join Parnell. He will accompany Parnell during the Kilkenny campaign and work in the interests of Mr. Scully, the Parnellite candidate.

The Parnell section of the National League met at Dublin yesterday. It was stated the receipts for the past two weeks amounted to £1171, including a subscription of £300 from Mr. Scully, the Parnellite candidate for Parliament in North Kilkenny. All the speakers at the meeting denounced the Gladstonian party.

The Priests and Parnell.

The local branch of the National League at Knocklong, county Limerick, to-day voted in favor of supporting Parnell. Father Murphy presided.

Father Barry, a parish priest of Rathcormack, County Cork, and a prominent Nationalist in Mr. O'Brien's constituency, has come out on Parnell's side. While presiding at a Nationalist meeting to-day Father Barry made a speech strongly in favor of Parnell.

Maurice Healy is represented as saying no settlement of the political crisis is possible by arbitration. The contest, he said, would be fought to the bitter end.

The Liberal Unionist Council to-day resolved to bring forward at the general elections two candidates for every constituency represented by two members in Parliament.

A public meeting will be held Wednesday, at which Messrs. McCarthy, Sexton, Maurice Healy and Lane will speak.

"Vote With the Party Always."

Archbishop Walsh's letter in The Suppressed United Ireland urges McCarthy to keep his pledge to sit, act and vote with the party always in the forefront. Let it stand, he says, at the head of every circular, placard, advertisements and sheet of note paper that leaves the office. It will be your best argument in the long run, and you will find yourself safe in taking your stand on it alone. The discreditable device of calling members to account for standing by their party instead of by Parnell has been resorted to not without temporary success, but every one knows the assertion that the pledge was to an individual leader is grossly untrue. Calumny has been a favorite weapon in the hands of our enemies to misrepresent you as pledging yourselves to Parnell, right or wrong. How indignantly the calumny used to be repelled; how easy it was to repel or refute it! Our people have not forgotten the great betrayal of 1852. Every infamy had a story of political dishonor. Sadlier and Keogh are covered up in pledge-breaking. Are Irishmen prepared to do what they so bitterly condemned when done by others? But I must not be misunderstood; no pledge can bind a man to do a wrongful act. If one member of the National Committee finds he cannot accept the pledge he should resign and go to the electors if he can find any constituency prepared to break with the well-tried policy of the last decade and commit itself to the perilous course of handing the parliamentary forms of the country to practically unchecked control of an individual dictator.

The newspaper displays pugnacious headings, such as "Parnellite Cowards," "The Freeman's Journal's Falsehoods," "Parnellite Opinion Manufactured," "A Conspiracy of Clamor and Suppression," etc. The editorials abound in excited phrases after the manner of an election fly sheet. The paper had a large sale.

The Stinson Protest.

HAMILTON, Dec. 16.—In the Hamilton election contest to-day, Col. Collier continued his narrative of parties whom he had attempted to bribe. C. S. Cochran, photographer; James E. Berryman, George Knox, engine driver; Charles E. Farrell, Cyrus King, merchant; A. G. Miles, plumber, and Francis Fitzgerald, for the defence, all swore that they had never received money from Collier, nor had they been influenced by any promises made by him to them. Mr. Stinson, the respondent, also entered the box and gave a flat denial to Collier's story as to an alleged interview with him with respect to reimbursement of any moneys he might pay out.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Dec. 16.—Principal Caven has resigned his position as president of the Provincial Equal Rights Association.

Sir Adolphe Caron, Minister of Militia, paid a visit to Toronto yesterday on the invitation of the local officers. He was accompanied by Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Major-General Herbert, the new commander-in-chief, and Capt. Streatfeild, A.D.C.

Mr. Frank Lee yesterday received a letter from the superintendent of the Northwest Mounted Police addressed to "Mr. William Reading, care W. A. Lee & Son." Mr. Reading was formerly bookkeeper for W. A. Lee & Son, but he has been dead over a year. The letter contained the information that William T. Reading, a son of the deceased, and who is a member of the mounted force, had been fatally kicked by his horse at Calgary on Dec. 13, dying the next day.

A Constable Elopes.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 16.—Constable Lovelace of the Mounted Police, Regina, got a month's leave of absence and going to Ninza, Southern Manitoba, eloped with Miss Lynne of Wakopa, across the line. He was stationed at Wakopa last summer and appears to have arranged the elopement by correspondence. It is said Lovelace has a wife and family in Toronto.

Died From Her Injuries.

HAMILTON, Dec. 16.—Mrs. Roy, the colored woman who was so severely burned by the explosion of a lamp on Sunday night, died at the hospital at 2½ this morning. The woman's body was frightfully burned, and the doctor did not look for her recovery.

Tilbury Township Must Pay Up.

WINDSOR, Dec. 16.—William Wigle has entered an action against Tilbury Township to recover the $500 offered for the detection of the murderer of Wilson Hoston, for which crime Thomas McMahon is now serving a life sentence. Wigle arrested McMahon and after his conviction the township declined to pay the reward.

Killed by a Tree.

KINGSTON, Dec. 16.—While chopping cordwood near Chisholm's mills, Tyendinaga, Edward Doonan was struck by a branch and received injuries from which he has since died.

A Corpse in the Snow.

KINGSTON, Dec. 16.—While a funeral was en route to a cemetery in Hinchinbrooke township, the hearse ran against an obstruction and upset. The coffin was dislodged thrown out, and breaking tossed the corpse upon the snow.

Crushed His Skull.

CARTWRIGHT, Dec. 16.—John Hillman had his skull crushed by a falling limb in the woods to-day.

OUR TEXT
FOR Christmas Morning.

"Let us have Warmth and Comfort if the Stockings should go Unfilled."

A well filled stocking certainly tends to make old and young feel glad and merry on Xmas morning; but it is only a very poor and transient sort of merriment unless we are warm and comfortable. There isn't much fun in a pair of skates to the boy who is suffering for a pair of warm stockings.

First and foremost, then, if you can't have both—if you can't have the full stocking and the warm clothing, too—by all means have the warm clothing.

This point being settled, the next important thing to do is to visit the People's Popular CITY CLOTHING STORE of

H. LeBRUN & CO.
PETERBOROUGH,

where you will find everything in the Clothing Line calculated to insure the greatest amount of warmth and comfort for the smallest amount of money.

For instance, in:—

OVERCOATS,

we have plenty of them for both men and boys, and as the season is now so far advanced, we have to cut them down in price so as to clear out the whole stock.

The fit and style of our Overcoats are such as to command your confidence.

We have all grades and sizes, ranging in price from $2 50 up.

Just now we are making a feature of OVERCOATS and can give you the pick of many styles. Further—our prices are from 25 to 30 per cent. below the regular selling figures.

PEA JACKETS.

The handiest coat a man or boy can put on while skating, or the best and most convenient garment for walking purposes. We have them made of Naps, to suit all ages at any price.

SUITS.

Beautifully finished in the newest Patterns of Imported Tweed, Cassimere, Cheviots, Diagonals, &c. We ask you to compare our Suits with other kinds. We don't mean simply to look at them through the plate glass windows; but get hold of them, turn them inside out, pull at the seams, see how the bottoms are fastened and the button-holes worked, raise up the collars, turn out the sleeves, pull out the pockets, examine the linings, trimmings, and scrutinize all the hidden parts. That's how to judge Clothing.

After you have compared the Clothing, then compare the prices.

UNDERWEAR.

The blessings of Warm Underwear during the cold weather are incalculable. We keep all the leading and genuine Scotch and Canadian makes of Undershirts, Drawers and Hosiery. The prices in these will go down along with all other goods to the bottom figure.

A coal train standing on a spur track of the Conn River Railroad at Holyoke, Mass., ran into the canal yesterday and Thomas Carroll and Martin Daly were drowned.

At a meeting in Schull yesterday the sheriff stated all that saved the populace from utter starvation was assistance received from Great Britain.

The report of the critical illness of the Pope was an exaggeration. He is suffering from a slight cold but was able yesterday to give an audience to the Cardinal.

The Government of Columbia and the liquidators of the Panama Canal Co. have signed an agreement providing for an extension of the period for the completion of the canal.

Twelve hundred miners and laborers at the Rock Springs, Wyo., mines of the Union Pacific Railway are on strike, owing to the resolve of the company to pay the day-work men by the hour, and the mines are idle.

Judge Cowing refused to dismiss the indictments against "Billy" Maloney and the other New York aldermanic boodlers, despite the recommendation of District Attorney Fellows, and their trial has been fixed for the first Monday in January.

The Royal Hotel at Kilkeel, County Down, caught fire last night and was destroyed. The fire broke out while the inmates were asleep. The proprietor carried his son to a window and threw him out. One girl jumped from an upper window, and was so badly hurt that she will die.

An election to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons for the Basseblow division of Nottinghamshire, caused by the death of William Beckett, was held yesterday. It resulted in the return of Sir Frederick Milner, Conservative, who received 4,331 votes, against 4,653 for Mr. Mellor, Liberal.

A special despatch from Washington to The New York Herald states that the Behring Sea question will become a feature in politics during the next Presidential campaign. The game is to stir up an anti-British feeling and then endeavor to fasten upon the Democrats the stigma of playing into the hands of England and promoting British interests at the expense of the United States. This explains the reason why Blaine rejected the two alternatives for a settlement proposed by Lord Salisbury. His communications to the British Minister have been and are expressed in such terms as to increase the existing irritation against Canada.

Kemp Forfeits His Deposit.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Dec. 16.—Kemp, the oarsman, who was defeated yesterday by McLean, will not go to America, and he will therefore forfeit his deposit to secure a match with O'Connor.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood reaches every part of the system expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

HIT WITH A BLACKTHORN

MICHAEL DAVITT RECEIVES A SEVERE SCALP WOUND.

Kilkenny More Interesting Now Than the Field of Waterloo or the Plains of Marathon—Parnell Blinded With Lime —Stoning the Priests.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The polling in the Kilkenny election will take place on Monday and the result be announced Tuesday afternoon. The blackthorn has already been brought into requisition to enforce convincing arguments on either side. The Daily News' correspondent at Kilkenny says: It was a race between the Parnellites and the McCarthyites to reach Rothdowney, where it was announced Parnell would speak. The utmost enthusiasm was displayed for Davitt, while there was hooting and groaning for Parnell. Four thousand persons attended Davitt's meeting, but only 200 listened to Parnell. Mr. Tanner, at the beginning of his speech, made an allusion to The Freeman's Journal, which was greeted with cries of "Down with it!" A priest shouted: "To blazes with it!" Mr. Tanner burnt a copy of the paper. After Parnell's departure Davitt continued his remarks, saying. Parnell has fled, as he will flee from Kilkenny next Monday. But I will meet him face to face before the contest is over and ask him to repeat that "The archbishops, bishops and priests, and Sexton, O'Brien and Dillon are the scum of the earth." This is the Parnell who did not hesitate to accept £40,000 from the scum of Ireland. I am the son of a peasant, but, thank God, I never disgraced my humble name. Which will you have? Ireland or Parnell? (Shouts of "Ireland.") Who is Scully? Why, the son of a landlord who evicted two poor women you know, and kicked one to death. Davitt, then eulogized Gladstone, who, he said worked for Ireland while Parnell was in active. [Cries of "Bravo, Davitt!"] At the conclusion of the meeting a number of sturdy farmers dragged the wagon with Davitt and others on it through the village in triumph.

DAVITT INJURED.

A Serious Collision Reported From Ballinakill.

BALLINAKILL, Dec. 16.—Mr. Davitt accompanied by Father O'Halloran was the first of prominent speakers to arrive at the meeting to-day and he took his stand in the higher part of the square, near the church. Cheers and counter cheers and partisan shouts were vociferously indulged in by assembled members of the two factions. As Mr. Davitt began his speech a wagonet, in which were William Redmond, M.P., Father Ryan and other Parnellites, was driven through lower part of the square followed by a cheering crowd. Mr. Redmond began speaking simultaneously with Mr. Davitt. The latter resuming his interrupted speech urged the electors to have nothing to do with the private lives of politicians. He said: "If we are to go into their private lives we shall have something to say to other politicians besides Parnell."

The advent of another party headed by Dr. Tanner and several priests driving briskly through the crowd put a temporary stop to the speeches at both meetings. The new-comers ranged themselves alongside the car occupied by Davitt amid a chorus of mingled cheers and execrations.

Parnell Arrives on the Scene.

Mr. Scully took up the speaking and was expressing his views when great shouting announced the arrival of Parnell and Harrington and a number of supporters on horseback and in cars. Parnell's appearance beside Redmond was the signal for cheers and yells of "Tally ho, the fox!" and "Kitty's petticoat."

Amid the din Parnell spoke to a group around him as follows, "I come among you to insult no man. [Edward Harrington: "No, and we will protect ourselves."] I come to speak of the great National crisis. I will not enter into a personal contest or squabble with any man. I regret that Mr. Davitt is not at my side—[cries of "Down with him"]—to fight for Ireland with me as strongly as heretofore. I will speak only abo... Hennessy, the man who went into Parliament in 1861 as a Tory supporter of Disraeli, and who now wants to go as a Liberal supporter of Gladstone. In 1861 Hennessy defended in the House of Commons the evictions proceeding throughout King's County. [Yells of "To hell with him!"] Will Kilkenny take a man who defended the extermination of those people? [Cries of "Never!"] Disraeli gave him a place and pension.

The din here increasing, Parnell paused and pointing towards the opposition meeting said: "Let's get away from these lunatics. I can't hear my own voice."

Mr. Harrington shouted: "Don't let us leave the field to them now."

Several men made strong efforts to drag the wagonet into the midst of the anti-Parnell gathering, but were dissuaded from their purpose and stopped Davitt, who was speaking, and Dr. Tanner also appealing to those who rallied to their flag.

His Public Life Consistent.

Parnell resumed, maintaining that the consistency of his public life had been preserved amid his unceasing efforts to create and preserve an independent Irish party. Men like Hennessy were now attempting to destroy their enemies. They had been unable to cope with them in open field. They were unable to meet them with physical force, so they sent "this rat" Hennessy to try to do by corruption what they had failed to do by every other method. The internal dissensions which were destroying the party were not of his creating. Having made an unavailing fight at Westminster for independence he had been forced to appeal to the people. [Mr. Redmond—"We will fight for you till death."] If the people were slack and cowardly, if they failed to come to a just, true and patriotic decision Ireland's cause was lost for a lifetime." [Cheers.]

Parnell made an impassioned appeal to electors to punish traitorism and help him to reconsolidate the Irish ranks into an invincible phalanx able to place Ireland abreast of the first nations of the world.

A Modern Donnybrook.

Mr. Harrison was about to follow Parnell and Tanner was speaking when a sudden conflict arose on the verge of crowds, a rush was made towards Harrington and a general melee ensued. A forest of ash plant, sticks and blackthorn arose and descended in the air where the dividing lines of the opposing factions met.

Davitt leaped from his car wielding a stout hazel stick, and fought his way foot [illegible] toward Parnell's wagon, receiving numerous blows. He [illegible] the wagon, hatless and with [illegible] badly marked and with a few of his men with him, who also bore traces of the severe usages they had received. Standing on the steps of Parnell's wagon Davitt uttered a breathless and indistinct defiance then turned and pushed his way back to his own car surrounded by his faithful supporters and amid the continuous yells and execrations of the two contending and wildly excited factions and with an exchange of a shower of blows. Davitt then remounted his car and shouted: "Men of Kilkenny, I came here in defense of the right of public meeting and liberty of speech. Our opponents sent their blackguards to interrupt the proceedings, but we have beaten them back. I was never struck by an Englishman, but to-day I was many times struck by my own countrymen.

These remarks were greeted with tumultuous cheers, after which the crowd began to disperse and the square soon resumed its normal aspect.

Parnell and his friends drove to Castle Comer. Davitt and Tanner following in their wake.

HE WILL FIGHT, NOT TREAT.

He Alludes to Tanner as a Cocksparrow and Calls Davit a Jackdaw.

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.—At Castle Comer to-day Davitt and Tanner addressed an open-air assemblage dilating upon the incidents at Ballinakill, and asserting Parnell brough a hired mob there to attack them. Just then the carriages containing the Parnellites passed the crowd, which hooted and pelted them with mud and stones.

William Redmond appeared on the edge of the crowd. Davitt sent him a message that if Parnell would agree to stand beside him and deliver a speech Davitt would reply to it and would guarantee Parnell a quiet hearing. Redmond bore the message to Parnell, who replied:

I am not in a position to treat. I am only in a position to fight.

The Parnellites cheered their approval.

Parnell Calls Names.

Parnell afterwards spoke to a small meeting. He said he valued them not by their numbers, but by their quality. He was not accustomed to face a crowd of ignorant fools; he preferred a crowd of patriotic Irishmen. He was not afraid of being in the minority, but he knew when the voice of Kilkenny spoke he would not be in the minority. He did not wish to think badly of anybody. People might think badly of him to-day, but he did not fear the opprobrium of his countrymen, because he knew it was only for the moment, the voice of Ireland would soon be for those who remained at his side now. [Cheers.] His heart was laid bare to them. He would show them he had never been false to his trust. He did not wish to assail men that had stood by his side many a long day, but he was not going to ask permission to speak for a cocksparrow like Tanner or a jackdaw like Davitt.

While other Parnellites were addressing the crowd a number of Davitt's followers got together and began hooting at the speakers. The Parnellites closed around the vehicle from which their orators were addressing the people, and the police appeared and tried to divide the factions. The meeting ended in a scene of wild confusion, and Parnell and his friends drove off amid showers of stones and mud.

Parnell Blinded With a Shower of Lime.

Frequent attempts to assail the members of the party were made and several bags filled with lime were thrown at Parnell. Harrington's shoulders were covered with lime and a mass of lime struck Parnell full in the face, completely blinding him. This infuriated Parnell's friends. Harrington, advancing toward Father Downey, who was at the head of Parnell's opponents, shouted, "Coward, you are a disgrace to your church."

The police again interfered and the Parnell party, who had left their cars, again took their seats and finally got away. On the road Mr. Parnell's eyes, which were quite closed, were intensely painful. He was soon obliged to stop his carriage and he entered a laborer's cabin in a fainting condition. A local doctor attended him. Lime had become caked beneath his eyelids and the doctor was only able to remove some of it by using a silk handkerchief and some hair oil in the cabin. The physician finally advised Parnell to drive to Kilkenny. The latter proceeded on his journey, but pain again became so intense that a second halt was made, this time at a roadside public house, where the doctor made further efforts to relieve the terrible pain with which Parnell was suffering. The doctor at this place procured a quantity of castor oil, which he poured freely into Mr. Parnell's eyes. He then tried to scrape off some more of the lime, using the point of an ordinary pencil. The lime, however, had become crusted inside the eyelids and the doctor, with the crude implements at hand, was only able to remove the torturing substances slowly and with much difficulty.

Suffering Intense Pain.

The doctor apologized to Mr. Parnell for causing him so much pain, but said it was unavoidable. Mr. Parnell replied: "Never mind the pain. Do your best. Don't let me lose my sight. "The doctor poured more oil into Mr. Parnell's eyes and said he hoped the case was not as bad as that. Finding he was unable to remove all the lime the doctor urged Mr. Parnell to drive with all speed to town and this was done. Arriving at Victoria Hotel Mr. Parnell had to be led from the wagonnet to his room He reclined in an arm chair, apparently sightless and suffering most intense agony. He still remains in the hands of his doctors. Surgeon Hackett, who attended Mr. Parnell along the road, stated at a late hour to-night that all the lime had been removed but the patient was still suffering intensely. He said he did not anticipate, from present appearances, permanent injury to Mr. Parnell's sight.

Parnellites Mob McCarthy at Cork—Many Injured.

CORK, Dec. 16.—A large crowd gathered at the railroad station to-day previous to the coming of Messrs. McCarthy and Healy and their associates, and made a fierce and hostile demonstration on their arrival. Sticks were brandished and a few fights ensued between members of the two factions. Priests who tried to pacify the people were brutally attacked. Canon Lyons, who is 70 years old, was knocked violently to the ground. Father Barrett being struck turned on his assailants and called them cowards.

Mr. McCarthy was hustled about by the mob and prevented from reaching his carriage. He went to his hotel in another carriage followed by a hooting crowd. He addressed a meeting inside the hotel while the Parnellites held a rival meeting outside.

The Mayor presided at a meeting of Parnell Leadership Committee to-day. He announced that satisfactory progress was being made, and that a fund would be started to meet expenses.

Henry O'Connor, editor of The Leinster Leader, published in Maryborough, has resigned owing to pressure from the Parnellites upon the owner of the paper.

Scully Subscribes £300.

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.—The action of the Edinburgh town council in striking Parnell's name off the list of citizens of the town was before at a full council meeting to-day and the resolution for the erasure of his name was ordered unanimously.

Upon the application of counsel acting in behalf of Mr. Parnell's adherents the court has granted an interlocutory injunction restraining the publication of the paper Suppressed United Ireland.

The sentence of six weeks' imprisonment upon Father Fahey of Woodford, county Galway, for violating the Crimes' Act, expired to-day and he was released from jail. He at once proceeded to Kilkenny, where he will join Parnell. He will accompany Parnell during the Kilkenny campaign and work in the interests of Mr. Scully, the Parnellite candidate.

The Parnell section of the National League met at Dublin yesterday. It was stated the receipts for the past two weeks amounted to £1171, including a subscription of £300 from Mr. Scully, the Parnellite candidate for Parliament in North Kilkenny. All the speakers at the meeting denounced the Gladstonian party.

The Priests and Parnell.

The local branch of the National League at Knocklong, county Limerick, to-day voted in favor of supporting Parnell. Father Murphy presided.

Father Barry, a parish priest of Rathcormack, County Cork, and a prominent Nationalist in Mr. O'Brien's constituency, has come out on Parnell's side. While presiding at a Nationalist meeting to-day Father Barry made a speech strongly in favor of Parnell

Maurice Healy is represented as saying no settlement of the political crisis is possible by arbitration. The contest, he said, would be fought to the bitter end.

The Liberal Unionist Council to-day resolved to bring forward at the general elections two candidates for every constituency represented by two members in Parliament.

A public meeting will be held Wednesday, at which Messrs. McCarthy, Sexton, Maurice Healy and Lane will speak.

"Vote With the Party Always."

Archbishop Walsh's letter in The Suppressed United Ireland urges McCarthy to keep his pledge to sit, act and vote with the party always in the forefront. Let it stand, he says, at the head of every circular, placard, advertisements and sheet of note paper that leaves the office. It will be your best argument in the long run, and you will find yourself safe in taking your stand on it alone. The discreditable device of calling members to account for standing by their party instead of by Parnell has been resorted to not without temporary success, but every one knows the assertion that the pledge was to an individual leader is grossly untrue. Calumny has been a favorite weapon in the hands of our enemies to misrepresent you as pledging yourselves to Parnell, right or wrong. How indignantly the calumny used to be repelled; how easy it was to repel or refute it! Our people have not forgotten the great betrayal of 1852. Every infamy had a story of political dishonor. Sadlier and Keogh are covered up in pledge-breaking. Are Irishmen prepared to do what they so bitterly condemned when done by others? But I must not be misunderstood; no pledge can bind a man to do a wrongful act. If one member of the National Committee finds he cannot accept the pledge he should resign and go to the electors if he can find any constituency, prepared to break with the well-tried policy of the last decade and commit itself to the perilous course of handing the parliamentary forms of the country to practically unchecked control of an individual dictator.

The newspaper displays pugnacious headings, such as "Parnellite Cowards," "The Freeman's Journal's Falsehoods," "Parnellite Opinion Manufactured," "A Conspiracy of Clamor and Suppression," etc. The editorials abound in excited phrases after the manner of an election fly sheet. The paper had a large sale.

The Stinson Protest.

HAMILTON, Dec. 16.—In the Hamilton election contest to-day, Col. Collier continued his narrative of parties whom he had attempted to bribe. C. S. Cochran, photographer; James E. Berryman, George Knox, engine driver; Charles E. Farrell, Cyrus King, merchant; A. G. Miles, plumber, and Francis Fitzgerald, for the defence, all swore that they had never received money from Collier, nor had they been influenced by any promises made by him to them. Mr. Stinson, the respondent, also entered the box and gave a flat denial to Collier's story as to an alleged interview with him with respect to reimbursement of any moneys he might pay out.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Dec. 16.—Principal Caven has resigned his position as president of the Provincial Equal Rights Association.

Sir Adolphe Caron, Minister of Militia, paid a visit to Toronto yesterday on the invitation of the local officers. He was accompanied by Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Major-General Herbert, the new commander-in-chief, and Capt. Sprentfield, A.D.C.

Mr. Frank Lee yesterday received a letter from the superintendent of the Northwest Mounted Police addressed to "Mr. William Reading, care W. A. Lee & Son." Mr. Reading was formerly bookkeeper for W. A. Lee & Son, but he has been dead over a year. The letter contained the information that William T. Reading, a son of the deceased, and who is a member of the mounted force, had been fatally kicked by his horse at Calgary on Dec. 13, dying the next day.

A Constable Elopes.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 16.—Constable Lovelace of the Mounted Police, Regina, got a month's leave of absence and going to Ninza, Southern Manitoba, eloped with Miss Lynne of Wakopa, across the line. He was stationed at Wakopa last summer and appears to have arranged the elopement by correspondence. It is said Lovelace has a wife and family in Toronto.

Died From Her Injuries.

HAMILTON, Dec. 16.—Mrs. Roy, the colored woman who was so severely burned by the explosion of a lamp on Sunday night, died at the hospital at 2½ this morning. The woman's body was frightfully burned, and the doctor did not look for her recovery.

Tilbury Township Must Pay Up.

WINDSOR, Dec. 16.—William Wigle has entered an action against Tilbury Township to recover the $500 offered for the detection of the murderer of Wilson Hoeton, for which crime Thomas McMahon is now serving a life sentence. Wigle arrested McMahon and after his conviction the township declined to pay the reward.

Killed by a Tree.

KINGSTON, Dec. 16.—While chopping cordwood near Chisholm's mills, Tyendinaga, Edward Doonan was struck by a branch and received injuries from which he has since died.

A Corpse in the Snow.

KINGSTON, Dec. 16.—While a funeral was en route to a cemetery in Hinchinbrooke township, the hearse ran against an obstruction and upset. The coffin was dislodged thrown out, and breaking tossed the corpse upon the snow.

Crushed His Skull.

CARTWRIGHT, Dec. 16.—John Hillman had his skull crushed by a falling limb in the woods to-day.

OUR TEXT
FOR Christmas Morning.

"Let us have Warmth and Comfort if the Stockings should go Unfilled."

A well filled stocking certainly tends to make old and young feel glad and merry on Xmas morning; but it is only a very poor and transient sort of merriment unless we are warm and comfortable. There isn't much fun in a pair of skates to the boy who is suffering for a pair of warm stockings.

First and foremost, then, if you can't have both—if you can't have the full stocking and the warm clothing, too—by all means have the warm clothing.

This point being settled, the next important thing to do is to visit the People's Popular CITY CLOTHING STORE of

H. LeBRUN & CO.
PETERBOROUGH,

where you will find everything in the Clothing Line calculated to insure the greatest amount of warmth and comfort for the smallest amount of money.

For instance, in:—

OVERCOATS,

we have plenty of them for both men and boys, and as the season is now so far advanced, we have to cut them down in price so as to clear out the whole stock.

The fit and style of our Overcoats are such as to command your confidence.

We have all grades and sizes, ranging in price from $2 50 up.

Just now we are making a feature of OVERCOATS and can give you the pick of many styles. Further—our prices are from 25 to 30 per cent. below the regular selling figures.

PEA JACKETS.

The handiest coat a man or boy can put on while skating, or the best and most convenient garment for walking purposes. We have them made of Naps, to suit all ages at any price.

SUITS.

Beautifully finished in the newest Patterns of Imported Tweed, Cassimere, Cheviots, Diagonals, &c. We ask you to compare our Suits with other kinds. We don't mean simply to look at them through the plate glass windows; but get hold of them, turn them inside out, pull at the seams, see how the buttons are fastened and the button-holes worked, raise up the collars, turn out the sleeves, pull out the pockets, examine the linings, trimmings, and scrutinize all the hidden parts. That's how to judge Clothing.

After you have compared the Clothing, then compare the prices.

UNDERWEAR.

The blessings of Warm Underwear during the cold weather are incalculable. We keep all the leading and genuine Scotch and Canadian makes of Undershirts, Drawers and Hosiery. The prices in these will go down along with all other goods to the bottom figures.

Twelve hundred miners and laborers at the Rock Springs, Wyo., mines of the Union Pacific Railway are on strike, owing to the resolve of the company to pay the day-work men by the hour, and the mines are idle.

Judge Cowing refused to dismiss the indictments against "Billy" Maloney and the other New York aldermanic boodlers, despite the recommendation of District Attorney Fellows, and their trial has been fixed for the first Monday in January.

The Royal Hotel at Kilkeel, County Down, caught fire last night and was destroyed. The fire broke out while the inmates were asleep. The proprietor carried his son to a window and threw him out. One girl jumped from an upper window, and was so badly hurt that she will die.

An election to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons for the Baseeblow division of Nottinghamshire, caused by the death of William Beckett, was held yesterday. It resulted in the return of Sir Frederick Milner, Conservative, who received 4,331 votes, against 4,653 for Mr. Mellor, Liberal.

A special despatch from Washington to The New York Herald states that the Behring Sea question will become a feature in politics during the next Presidential campaign. The game is to stir up an anti-British feeling and then endeavor to fasten upon the Democrats the stigma of playing into the hands of England and promoting British interests at the expense of the United States. This explains the reason why Blaine rejected the two alternatives for a settlement proposed by Lord Salisbury. His communications to the British Minister have been and are expressed in such terms as to increase the existing irritation against Canada.

Kemp Forfeits His Deposit.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Dec. 16.—Kemp, the oarsman, who was defeated yesterday by McLean, will not go to America, and he will therefore forfeit his deposit to secure a match with O'Connor.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood reaches every part of the system expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

The Business Tax.

An Explanation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—As a taxpayer of Ward No. 2, and as one taking an interest in the welfare of the town, I beg leave to address the electors of that ward upon an important topic. It is the duty of every man to watch the interests of the merchant, for as a handler of products he is necessary to the producer, and it is by producing that labour lives.

One half the taxes of Peterborough are paid by the merchants on their shops. The total value of personal property is vastly in excess in Ward No. 2, of that in all other parts of the town. These are a few facts to bear in mind.

Taxable property may be divided into land, the improvements on land and personal property. To the first—the bare land—the value is given by the community and by no man alone. Who give the value to improvements and purely personal property? The answer is, "All who work and those who lend capital." They are not, by any means, identical with "the community." The producers, merchants and capitalists of this place pay doubly for the benefit of "the community." Then who are those who do not contribute a fair, just and reasonable part of the taxes? Undoubtedly those individuals who appropriate the interest which arises from land to which the value is given by the assembling together of people in a community. That interest is ground rent. There are only three elements of profit—wages, interest on capital, and rent. It is against the rent of land that the Single Tax is levelled. If the people give this value, will any man say that it does not belong to them? Here are the merchants fretting under a burden that is nothing less than scandalous, and they lie by without endeavoring to rescue themselves and in this way rescue the producer as well.

The system of taxation of land values only, or, as now presented for your consideration, the system of taxation upon rent alone at the current rate of 12 or 14 mills or whatever it may be, which is called the business tax, is founded upon the plainest principles of common sense. The Ontario Government, recognizing the injustice of the present plan of taxation, passed an act recently by which "local option" in this matter is allowed. If the merchants and the producers do not take action upon this fair offer on the part of the government, what is the reason? A and B do business side by side with stocks of equal value of the same kind. One has paid for his stock, the other has not. Consequently one is taxed and the other is free. By just so much does one bonus the other. Is that the intention?

THE TENANT AND TAXATION.

The prevailing impression seems to be that no matter how things may go the tenant must in some way pay the taxes just as at present. Now a business tax or rent tax is all that a tenant is to pay under the new Act or on the business tax principle. We suppose that it is adopted. For a short time he pays his high rent and this tax. But as tenants' taxes go down those on vacant land must go up. The owner of vacant land says: "If I build a shop or a house, I shall get a rent, and by getting the tenant to pay the taxes I shall escape." Not he—for vacant land becomes an unprofitable speculation. Much of it is built upon. Competition in its severest form follows. Down fall the rents all round. In a short time no one will have vacant lands for a gift. He either owns it built upon or not at all. Land is thrown upon the market. On goes the building boom—the face of the earth smiles at the renewed activity. The rents keep falling till the balance of the market is reached. Owners say to tenants: "Pay us one per cent. rental and the business tax, and you may have our shops." The more building done the nearer does the business tax equal the former tax in amount, for taxes must be raised to the same amount. But where is the rent? It has nearly disappeared. Who then, really pay the tax? The landlord does, of course. And all this is accomplished by the application of the just and reasonable principle that you shall give to the people the things that belong to the people as a body, and not to speculators in land in particular, and, moreover, that labour in its widest sense—the material power of the world—shall not pay tribute to those who own land and wait for others to give it value. How ridiculous this present rise in value of land is, may be illustrated in this way. The Edison works have arrived. The town grows. The merchants look for increased trade and get it. The landowner looks for increased rent and he get it. The owner of vacant land raises his price and he gets it. The merchant finds that he is not so far ahead after all. Thus we see that in every case the owner of vacant land levies toll upon the prosperity of the town. Some people say that a shop in town and the lot on which it stands is worth more than an outside vacant lot, and that this is quite right. It is, indeed, right, but the outside vacant lot should be worth nothing to a holder for a rise—this rise, which is easily distinguishable from all other rises, belongs to the people, and to them alone. When will the people realize this? Soon we should have it that the only tax would be the rent and the only rent the public tax. When such a condition of things arises, I venture to say that the claims upon the labourer, the artizan, the merchant, and the manufacturer will fall off, and that idleness will be the only cause of want. It must be borne in mind that if the tax be taken off goods it must go on land values, and that the tax taken off a stock does not simply transfer itself to the land the shop is on. It is spread over the whole town proportionately. And thus land and competition work hand in hand to a most desirable end.

This is what MR. GEORGE BALL wishes the people to adopt.

Yours,
J. HAMPDEN BURNHAM.

Gore's Landing.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Business is rather dull here at present.

The weather has been fine for the past few days. Several single rigs have crossed the lake. There is about one foot of ice.

Mr. F. W. Pratt, of Toronto, spent a few days in the village last week. While here he inspected the village school. He had the classes put through their several courses of studies and thought they were advancing.

We are V-E-R-Y sorry that the village have been defeated in their attempt to divide the section.

There is another wedding anticipated in our village before long.

We are very sorry that a certain citizen was so disgusted in Cobourg on the 10th with the people who signed the opposite petition. If he did come from England, the Canadians are just as good as any Englishmen that ever trod on Canadian soil. If he does as he likes he must allow everybody the same privilege.

A social and entertainment will be held, for the purpose of finishing paying the debt on the Methodist church in Gore's Landing, on Monday, December 22nd. The social will be held in the basement, commencing at 6 p.m. Entertainment 7 p.m. Programme will be furnished by the Sunday school. A good time is anticipated.

From Our Own Correspondent.

OBITUARY.—We are sorry to announce to the readers of the EXAMINER the death of Mr. Crebs, of this township. He was a blacksmith by trade, and by strict attention to business, together with a strong hand, had accumulated a nice property, east of Bensfort. He had been ailing for some time but the end was not expected so soon. Blood poisoning, however, set in, and he died on Thursday, Dec. 4th. The relatives and friends have the deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Thomas Willan, of this neighborhood, was driving a young and spirited team to Peterborough on Thursday, Dec 4th, when they took fright, ran away, and flicked Mr. Willan on his head, hurting him severely. When picked up he was unconscious, but soon recovered, leaving a scar on his head. One of his ears, also, was injured. Dr. Gray attended the wounded gentleman and we are glad to announce that the doctor hopes soon to have him at work again.

CENTREVILLE.—A lecture was delivered by the minister of the church here on Wednesday night, Dec. 17th, subject, "The Scottish Martyrs, and what they Suffered."..... A successful entertainment was held in the church here on Monday, Dec. 8th. Mr. Thos. Dodds was chairman. Mr. Bryce, teacher of S.S. No. 5, and other prominent gentlemen, executed their different parts in a skilful manner.

FRAZERVILLE.—On Christmas eve the members of the Methodist Sunday School intend to have a Christmas tree and an entertainment in connection with it. Music, readings and recitations, etc., will compose the programme. Do not let this entertainment pass you, young people.

THREE LETTERS.

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

SEND you by express (she wrote)
Your presents every one,
Our friendship's past and I (a tear)
Am sorry it is gone.

Now that it's Christmas time, you can
(Her eyes begin to swell)
Bestow them on some other girl.
You hateful man.
Farewell!

The things came back (was his reply)
Your note came with them, too;
And really, dear, I've sought in vain
Some girl to give them to.

I'm in despair, and only you
Can help me, that is plain.
Come, say you'll be another girl,
And take them back again.

Dear John, you're right (she wrote again),
Return the gifts to me,
And after this, as you suggest,
Your sister I will be.

TOM MASSON.

THE SMUGGLER'S WEDDING.

Being a Story of a Christmas of the Long Ago.

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

Down among the cliffs of Devon—those mighty ones which guard the southern English coast eastward from Sidmouth, and not far from the quaint, rock bound village of Vere—Isabel Venn, the comely, brown haired fisherman's daughter, reigned over the sturdy hearts of the sea, subjugating alike the brawny fisher lad who swept the channel through the starlight nights of winter and the man-o'-war's-man home on leave, while half the coast guards lapsed into chronic jealousy, and a few wild spirits, the special care of the coast guards, who traded secretly with Cherbourg, were among her most ardent admirers.

It was on Robert Dare, young, handsome, fearless and the most accomplished smuggler of the coast, that Isabel's choice fell. Devonshire smuggling over fifty years ago was a daring, almost chivalrous, enterprise, and from this and other causes it was tolerated by the people. Many a magistrate has traced his cellar's pride to a Vere fishing boat, and a lord bishop has sent from afar for the pale French essence ere it had blushed itself brown in bond. Now were mysterious sources wanting to supply the means. When Robert Dare needed funds for a voyage he used to say that he was "going up the landside a little," and that night he would come back with the needful. The third week in December, 1838, opened a cold, blustering time. Wreaths of fine snow wound round the doorsteps and hung over the small, diamond paned windows of Vere. Times were hard; the coast guards vigilant. Prudence must defer the marriage of Robert and Isabel, which was to have come off at Christmas. The cronies of the Ship Inn deplored the prospect for the poor and shook their heads in sympathy as mild expiation for their comforting "rummers" of grog.

"Good evening, doctor," squeaked old Solomon Quigley, the parish clerk, as genial Dr. Bowlby came beaming in. For Dr. Bowlby came from Bovey manor, where Lady Lee had commissioned him to buy a hundred and fifty geese for the Christmas dinner of the needy. But Exeter and Honiton had absorbed the supply, so said the farmers present. Then up spoke Robert Dare:

"Geese are plentiful and cheap in France. I will get them by payment for my time."

Dr. Bowlby assented, the company applauded, and the grizzled coast guard captain stared over his long clay pipe at Robert in a look of dazed solicitude.

"Good night, my darling Belle," said Robert, kissing her at her father's cottage, "and may good luck attend me. I must go up the landside a little to-night."

The Seagull sailed out of the cove of Vere, and in due time sailed back again, a harbinger of good cheer for the poor.

"A welcome cargo," said Dr. Bowlby. "Take care of them to-night, Robert."

"Yes, a good selection," muttered the grizzled captain, peering into the recesses of the boat, "very good. There is absolutely nothing but the geese," he whispered dejectedly to himself; then louder to his neighbor:

"I say, Mr. Quigley, there is really nothing but the geese, you know."

"Nothing," piped Solomon, "unless there may be any ganders among 'em."

"Ah!" said the captain. And now the coup inn is a bower of evergreens, for to-morrow is Christmas eve.

"I hear," observed Mr. Quigley in a low, commanding tone, as he slowly filled his pipe, "that Robert Dare and Isabel Venn are to be married to-morrow."

"Yes," said the doctor, glancing from the punch bowl to the captain, "by license."

"I wish I may die," wheezed the landlord, "if I warn't told that Robert had bought Rose cottage, in Seaford lane."

"And he is gone off today for furniture," said the captain, "mysterious, very."

"And quite a party is invited to the breakfast at Venn's afore they're off for a London honeymoon," gasped the landlord. "There's the vicar and squire and the doctor and the sapsea and Mr. Quigley and I, and some of the littler folks."

It was a pleasant wedding breakfast, in which the joy of the young people blended with the happy spirit of Christmas; the flag waved from the tower of the old gray church, and the notes of the bells floated down the valley until they were lost among the rocks.

"It is not true," said Robert in responding to the toast of bride and bridegroom, "that I have purchased Rose cottage; we are going into an established business at Exeter; but perhaps it is fit that I should explain some of the features of my last trip across the channel. The sage and onions that will fill the geese of our poor friends to-morrow will only succeed a far different stuffing. My neighbors all," and here Robert smiled brightly on the grizzled captain, "stowed in each goose, and now safe from the Philistines, was several guineas' worth of the most costly lace."

Loud was the laughter and cheering, which only subsided as the last toast was given:

"A merry Christmas to all friends here and everywhere, and a happy New Year when it comes!"

At this juncture the grizzled captain, who had been missed for a moment, reappeared with a florid face and sheepish air. He had taken off his uniform jacket with its gilt buttons and assailed himself of the doctor's overcoat. Thus, with a lighthearted conscience, he joined in the toast with the "three times three."

Christmas Land.

When Christmas white comes in the night
And frosts the barn, the globe and glade,
Then dreamy lads and lassies haste
To reach, in dreams, the land of taste
Along the fields of fairyscapes,
Across the streams of lemonade.

A moment seems a day in dreams,
A minute for a month awaits,
Until they reach that hungered land
Where sugar takes the place of sand,
And gumdrop trees on every hand
Are plundered by vanilla gates.

The hills are made of marmalade,
And jellied into dales and dells;
The peaks in taffy ridges rise
Where soda fountains flow to skies,
Where bushes bend with custard pies,
And trees hang low with caramels.

The streams that leap adown the steep
Are melting creams of frozen ice;
And these in rivulets begun
With "mallows" softened by the sun
Into the sponge cake valley's run,
With everything that's sweet and nice.

Then o'er the mead with eager greed
The youngsters flit like sunny gleams;
But ere a single sip they take
The jolly mountain starts to quake,
It topples—tumbles: they awake,
And—that's the way it is with dreams.

—Lippincott's Magazine.

Her Charms.

To the valleys of New Hampshire
To spend Christmas I shall go,
Where the frost king reigns supremely,
And the world is white with snow.

Not because I love the country,
But the sweet maid of the mill,
Whom I played with in my childhood,
Lives in the old homestead still.

Why I love her you will wonder,
For she's neither rich nor wise,
Yet she has one trait that charms me,
She knows how to make mince pies.

Old Christmas Customs.

Ever since the Fifth century Dec. 25 has been our Christ day; and from Roman Saturnalia, from Druids of Britain, from mystical German legends and homely English customs, we have drawn the charms and graces and fantastical devices with which we clothe our tenderest thoughts and holiest reverence for the entrance of the Saviour of the world into human life.

From Scandinavians, who in winter built immense fires on the hill tops in honor of the sun's return, we borrowed the yule log. And it became an English custom to preserve a bit of one year's yule log to light the fire on the great hearth at the following Christmas-tide, in token of warmth and plenty to abide in the household throughout the year. When the log was ready to be brought in the youngest child of the family was seated upon it, and all the rest assembled to witness its entrance, drawn by the merry retainers, and to prepare it for the lighting.

The passing of the "wassail cup"—a bowl of spiced ale—was something always expected, and he was a niggard indeed who would not take a hearty "sup" from the huge common vessel, and leave a douceur in the hand of the maiden who brought it, and often enough another sweet memento on her not unwilling lips.

The wassailing of the orchard trees (a Devonshire custom),

That they may bear
Full many a plum,
Full many a pear,

is sometimes wrongly quoted as a Christmas observance, but it was upon "Twelfth Night"—in January—that the trees were "made drunken with the dregs of a good sop."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

Self Application of Electricity

BY THE

DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strength of man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity of current is the great curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, ANALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the NERVOUS and MUSCULAR SYSTEMS.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the latest invention; this belt was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician, 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. sod w

Scriptural Weight.

Complaints have been made to Chief Reazel that the Ashburnham baker, Mr. Jos. Pollard, was selling bread underweight. Yesterday afternoon the Chief stopped Mr Pollard on the street and took samples of bread from the cart and weighed them. The loaves were all found to be two to three ounces over weight. Mr. Pollard's detractors should now rest satisfied that their charges are groundless. In justice to Mr. Pollard, Chief Reazel writes this paragraph published.

Stapleton & Ecombe have just received a supply of comb and strained honey and Fairmand's choice hams and breakfast bacon. Now is the time to prepare for Christmas. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

What the Girls Can Do.

The St. John's South Ward Mission is a most flourishing branch of the church militant, and its members are active, earnest and aggressive in the spiritual warfare against the powers of darkness. Probably no department of the mission work is more industrious than the Girls' Guild, who, on Tuesday, made a united and successful effort to provide some of the "sinews of war." A sale of fancy articles was held in the vacant store next Alex. Elliott's grocery, and during the afternoon and evening the charmingly decorated bazaar presented an animated scene. The winsome young ladies of the Guild had no difficulty in disposing of the beautiful products of their hands at good prices, and refreshments were served by another bevy of maidens for the benefit of the general fund. About $50 was realized. During the evening an informal programme was rendered, including musical selections and songs by Mrs. G. A. Smith, Miss Davidson, Miss Edie Hall, Miss Annie Sherwood, Mrs H. C. Stapleton and others. The Girls' Guild are very well pleased with the results of their enterprise.

Three Days' Christmas Tree.

The Christmas Tree entertainment to be given in the Opera House on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 29th, 30th and 31st, under the sole management of the ladies of the congregation of St. Peter's cathedral, will be unique and at the same time interesting and profitable to all those who have the wisdom to attend. Two or three Christmas trees will be bountifully laden with beautiful articles which will be distributed to the visitors, each article being numbered and becoming the property of the visitor who buys a ticket bearing a corresponding number. The Opera House will be open at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon and evening. On the two following days the Opera House will be open from 10 o'clock in the morning till 10 o'clock at night. On Monday and Tuesday evenings musical entertainments involving a splendid programme will be presented by the choir of St. Peter's cathedral and by the pupils of the convent. Don't fail to bear this three days' Christmas tree in mind and attend on the above dates. 1d

The Divine Healing Mission.

The Baptist church was filled again last night, when Rev. Mr. Dowie drew an illustrated lesson from Bethesda. The chart represented Christ at the pool, with steps of progressive faith leading down to it on one side with Jesus as the ascending steps on the other. The lecturer was strong as usual in his statements. He occupied considerable time in rallying the people (in behalf of the committee, not on his own account) upon their poor collections. He said they were the meanest crowd he ever struck, and said that at Monday nights' meeting when there were about 1300 people in the opera house their collection amounted to $6.50—just half a cent a head. He again dealt unsparingly in his invective against all professing Christians who did not believe in the doctrine of Divine Healing. Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians coming in freely for such opprobrious epithets as "shams," "hypocrites," "children of the Devil," etc. Tobacco users were also condemned as "dirty devils" and like creatures. Rev. Mr. Dowie announced that after to-day no would begin the laying on of hands upon needy persons. To night's meeting is in the opera house; Thursday and Friday in the Baptist church; (this arrangement may, however, have to be altered, as it is understood the Baptist church will not be pleased at his disposal any more.) Sunday at 11, 3 and 7 o'clock in the opera house. At the last named meeting the testimonies of those who have received benefit through this mission will be received. Next Monday night, the last of the mission, steps will be taken to organize an Association here.

First Blood for Lindsay.

A Four-Rink Match Won by Four Points Only.

The first match of Lindsay-Peterborough challenge cup series took place yesterday, and Lindsay won by four points. The two Peterborough rinks which went to Lindsay were victors by six points, but at home the situation was reversed. Skip McGill strove manfully with Mr. Flavelle's rink, and deserved victory, but the good luck which seems always to attend Flavelle could not be overcome and he had to succumb after a closely contested game. Mr. Flavelle's biggest ends were made by purely lucky chance shots. However, its no use complaining. All round our curlers were fairly beaten—but they will enter the next contest with a warm desire for revenge, which will prompt them to practice all the skill they possess. Better luck next time is their watchword. Following are the scores:—

They Smoked Away Dull Care.

First Smoking Concert of the Olympic Club—Songs, Cards, Billiards, and Sandwiches Seasoned With Smoke and Hilarity.

There were many lone maidens in town last night. For once the dear girls were deserted by their cavaliers, and though, no doubt, the ladies felt the situation keenly, when they hear how the boys enjoyed themselves, they cannot but forgive the slight irregularity and be happy in the knowledge that, delightful as the occasion was, their graceful presence was much missed. Probably, however, no one of the female persuasion would have cared, or dared, to venture into the dense atmosphere created by the vigorous puffing of a hundred pipes and cigars. The fragrant weed was consumed with a permanacity that produced and maintained throughout the evening a blue haze of smoke whose density would discount a London fog and fairly suffocate any but a seasoned smoker. It was thoroughly a "stag party." Boys will be boys, especially when they get together by themselves, and on this occasion they enjoyed themselves as only boys can. There were over a hundred of them, members of the club and their friends, and a jolly evening was spent. The Olympic Club has been in existence over a year, and it is being more and more appreciated every day. Last night's "smoker" will do much to cement the bonds of friendship amongst the members and increase the popularity of the club.

All restraint was abandoned and every one went in for a good time. In the cosy parlor music was the attraction. The orchestra gave several well rendered selections, and songs were sung by everyone who could sing and a great many who couldn't. The boys (for they were all big boys together) gathered around the piano, Mr. Thos. Dann, or some other acknowledged vocalist would take the solo and all would join in a rousing chorus. And such choruses they were! People stopped on the street and stared up at the lighted windows while drinking in the melody which rolled from a score or more of strong, manly throats. Then deafening applause would follow and the singing would be continued. Occasionally a piano solo was given by way of variety, then the orchestra would chime in, and songs galore would be repeated.

In the sitting-room quartettes of card-players congregated around the small tables, and uproarious bursts of laughter and lively conversation indicated the fun that was going on.

Then the billiard room was thronged. The tables were kept going, no one monopolizing the play—and sans they went, from billiards to euchre, from euchre to song, and back to billiards again, till refreshments were announced. Caretaker Alf. Kingscote had provided coffee and sandwiches behind a flag screen at the lower end of the room.

Then the games and songs were renewed, and until nearly midnight the sport was kept up. It was altogether a most successful affair. A few of the "old boys" were present to act as chaperons for the youngsters, but they too entered heartily into the spirit of the thing, and were as gay as the gayest. Amongst those present were Col. H. C. Rogers, H. Calcutt, J. E Belcher, G. Edmison, John McKee, Robt. Farr, R. M. Roy, R. B. Rogers (president of the club), "Dave" Fleming, G. G. Gladman, R. M. Dennisoro, W. H. Hill, and many others "too numerous to mention." Rev. J. W. McCleary and Rev. C. B. Kenrick also dropped in to see how the boys were getting along.

The smoking concert was highly successful, and it is probable that another will be held shortly after the holidays.

The "Peter Hamilton M'f'g Co."

A New Firm of Old Faces.

The public is respectfully informed that Mr. PETER HAMILTON, who has in the past conducted the Agricultural Works bearing his name, has associated with himself in the management his brother, Mr. R. D. Hamilton, and that the firm will be known and business conducted under the title at the head of this page, namely, the "Peter Hamilton M'f'g Co."

For nearly half a century these Agricultural works have been carried on by the Hamiltons, and Mr. PETER HAMILTON has for over 35 years been connected with the business, which, under his management, has grown to its present important proportions and secured a very firm hold upon the confidence of the public—especially the farming public—and its products in the way of all kinds of agricultural machinery and implements have won a leading rank exceeded by those of no similar establishment in the Dominion. Mr. R. D. Hamilton, the new member of the new firm, has for fifteen years been actively and practically connected with the business, and there can be no doubt that the business ability and experience combined in the personnel of the Peter Hamilton M'f'g Co. will, if possible, increase the public confidence and result in the production of even better machinery and implements than those which in the past have won so high a reputation, which will not only be maintained but increased by the Peter Hamilton M'f'g Co.

Mr. Peter Hamilton desires to take this opportunity of thanking the public for the generous patronage extended to him in the past, and would respeak a continuance of it to the Peter Hamilton M'f'g Co., whose aim will be to increasingly deserve it.

The farming community is informed that the company is entering with renewed energy, and with improved and increased facilities and appliances upon the work of manufacturing an extensive new stock of farming machinery and implements for the coming season's trade. This new stock will comprise the old favourites in every department, and will contain all the improvements which experience, manufacturing ingenuity and liberal expenditure of capital can produce.

Mr. Peter Hamilton, while heartily thanking the public for the liberal and practical recognition of his efforts to meet the public wants in the way of agricultural implements and machinery, bespeaks a continuance of the generous patronage for the new company, which will spare no effort to still more acceptably cater to the wants of the farming community, whose attention is again respectfully called to the splendid stock for the coming season of farming machinery and implements, inc uding especially, the Improved Hamilton Light Steel Twine Binder, the Crown Mower, Daisy Seeder, etc.

Harvey.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

An entertainment was held in school house No. 8 on the evening of Friday the 12th inst. Doors were opened shortly after six o'clock and the performance began about seven. Mr. Wm. Clarkson occupied the chair. The first on the programme was a selection by the choir, then followed several recitations by school children also a kindergarten song and "Way down upon the Swanee River," by little school children. Mr H. Nesbitt then delighted the audience with a reading, "Jamie Butler and the Owl;" although of other descent he has the "real Irish twang." The most noteworthy dialogues were "The Quack Doctor," "The Two Lecturers," "Awful Boots," "The Turned Head," and "Scene in a Railway Station," although all appeared to take well. Miss Isabella Renwick's reading, "The Church Rovers of a School Girl," was well given. To make things equal and suit all parties, Mr. Robert Renwick gave "The Broken Coin," a Scotch piece from Wilson's Tales of the Border, but although he read it well I fear he must have had an audience whose nationality differed from his own, as most of the faces denoted that they "did na ken." The music and singing by the choir, aided by outsiders, was well rendered, and carefully mixed in with other parts of the programme. Mr. Ernest Middleton, teacher in the school, gave a reading entitled "The Bewitched Clock." Miss Maggie Chase, who has just returned from Norwood Model School, gave an exhibition of club swinging to the time of the organ played by her sister, Miss Sevilla Chase. The audience dismissed while singing "God Save the Queen," and judging from their smiles and rapid speaking we are firmly persuaded that they were all satisfied.

Next Friday evening a tea is to be held in the Methodist Church here when the public will receive not only a treat for the body, but also an intellectual feast. It is also expected we shall have either a Christmas or a New Year's Tree in connection with the same season.

Times are quite lively here now. Threshing appears to take the lead just at present but very soon the men will all be busy at the leading industry of the township, viz., cutting wood.

Mr. Thomas Eason met with a dangerous accident on Friday last. He was busy threshing, and for some reason or other climbed up on the machine, when, missing his footing, he slipped into the cylinder. His leg is badly injured, but fortunately he was rescued in time to save the limb.

DREADFUL FIRE.—The farm of Mr. John S. Gouge, lot 7, con. 11, Harvey, was visited by fire on Tuesday. His barn, stable and sheds and their contents were burned about six o'clock in the morning. Mr. Gouge's son had been in the barn stabling up the team and had driven away, and shortly after Mr. Gouge observed the red glare of fire. He rushed from the house and succeeded in saving the buggy and cutter—the only articles that were saved from the voracious element. The origin of the fire is wrapped in mystery. The lantern used by Mr. Gouge's son was found, quite cold, hanging to a nail, the fire having started in another part of the building. The lantern was lighted in the house and not opened afterwards. However, the only reasonable supposition is that a spark must have escaped in some way and settled among the hay or straw. The loss includes about 500 bushels of grain, four tons of hay, some straw, a mower, etc. There was an insurance of $625 on the buildings, but Mr. Gouge estimates his loss at about $200 over and above this. His neighbors will heartily sympathize with him.

Mrs. Stockdale, one of the first settlers in Harvey, is very ill and said to be beyond recovery. The old lady is 84 years of age.

Entirely Disinterested.

"Bub!" he called at the market yesterday morning after he had disposed of all of his potatoes, "is there any toy store near here?"

"Yes, sir."

"Just show me the way, will you? I've got to buy a few things for Christmas."

"Got children?"

"Yes."

"Got a boy as big as me?"

"Just about your age."

"What are you going to buy him for Santa Claus?"

"I dunno yet. I was thinking I'd git some sort of toy."

"Say, lemme give you a bit of advice," said the lad, as they walked along together. "Let toys alone. Steam ingines are dangerous, toy mules won't kick for shucks and Christmas jack knives fall to pieces in a week. If you've got a boy, and you want to tickle him most to death, I'll sell you my roller skates for half price, 'cause we ain't got no place for skating this winter, and I want to sell 'em and spend it all in cocoanut candy."—Philadelphia Press.

Juvenile Diplomacy.

It was on Sunday last, and Johnny's father, to punish him, said he would send word to Santa Claus not to bring him anything. The small boy was rather broken up for a while, but presently he was seen hard at work writing what looked like a long letter.

"What are you doing?" his father asked.

"I'm writing to Santa Claus, papa."

"It's of no use. I'll tell him not to bring you anything."

Then the small boy brought over his letter: "Deere Santy Clas, You nednt bring anything to mee this yere. I hav bin a veery badd booy. But plees bring mi good pappa a box of ciggars and a wooly horse withe a long tale, an a drumm, an a horn, and a wagin, an a bigg box of candy, an annythin else you can think ov."—Exchange.

Her Little Surprise.

Mr. Blobbs—I suppose this bill is for my Christmas present. But where on earth is the present?

Mrs. Blobbs—I thought I would surprise you with the bill first.

As Christmas Draws Near

All are laying in their little store of luxuries, so I wish to call their attention to my immense stock of Liquors. I have a very fine Port Wine, well aged, which I am running off very cheap. Fine Ginger Wine. Natives, from the finest Concord Grapes. Some special lines of very old Port, which may be considered high in price, but when the age is taken into consideration, it appears low. I may speak the same of Brandy, Cherry, Whisky, Gin, Claret, Rum, Old Tom, Sherry, J. Bull. My stock of Liquors not only being the largest, is considered the most complete of any in town. My bottled Goods consist of Cubs, Gooderham & Worts, Imperial, Old Times, White Wheat, Henessy, Martell, Jamieson's. Liquors of all kinds, etc., etc. W. J. MORROW 340 George street. dw

DEATH IN THE AIR.

Fifty Men Fall 2500 Feet to Death on the Rocks.

NEICE, Dec. 17.—Seven Alpine chasseurs working at the new fortress on the summit of Mt. Sacharal, in the Alps, between La Brigs and Riveere, and an officers were swept by a sudden blast over a precipice into a terrible abyss. Fifty of the men and officers fell 2500 feet. An Alleged Bogus Check Swindler Jailed in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 16.—The bogus check scheme appears to have been worked pretty successfully for some time past in Buffalo by Harry C. Baker. He is a good-looking, well-educated man with a wife, a bad reputation and a good family in Toronto, Ont. It is alleged that he has been dealing in bogus checks in various parts of the country. He was brought to a halt in Buffalo last night by a warrant sworn out by John Grabenstatter, jr., of Main and Seneca-streets, who cashed a worthless check for him on Saturday last for $950. Baker has recently been employed at Yerxa's grocery, and when searched checks, jewelry and pawn tickets were found upon him, together with appealing letters from his wife. He is now locked up at the police station pending investigation.

A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out upon my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places, that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentlemen from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,

H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

HIS LAST NIGHT ON EARTH

THE PRISONER APPEARS BRIGHT AND CONFIDENT.

Public Executioner Radclive is Busy and Supplies a Substitute to do the Work—Day Spends the Time Singing Moody and Sankey Hymns.

WELLAND, Dec. 17.—The arrangements were about completed this evening for the execution of Arthur Hoyt Day of Rochester, New York, at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning, in the jail yard. The condemned man, it will be remembered, was convicted on Oct. 7 last, before Judge Rose, of the murder of his wife Deseriah, by pushing her over the bank of the Niagara River on July 27.

Since Day learned that there was no hope for him he has devoted himself to religion and listens willingly to the counsel of his spiritual adviser, Rev. F. McCuaig of the Presbyterian Church. He claims to be prepared to die and when told the story of the thief on the cross he remarked that he believed his chances were as good as those of the repentant thief. Yesterday he asked to have some ladies sing Moody and Sankey's hymns, and this was arranged. He joined heartily in singing, "Scatter Seeds of Kindness," "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," etc., and seemed to be more relieved and comforted by the singing than by anything else. The singing was repeated this afternoon, and as the ladies departed the condemned man shook hands with each, remarking that before the same hour next day he hoped to be with Jesus Christ. The ladies, four in number, wept bitterly and were greatly affected.

Day keeps bright and confident and his last words to the preacher to-day were that he felt satisfied that God would forgive him.

The scaffold has been erected in the jail yard almost underneath the corridor in which the prisoner is confined. It is the same scaffold on which Neill in Toronto and Harvey at Guelph were executed, having been loaned by the authorities here to those two cities. Radclive, the executioner who figured in the Birchall and other hangings, was engaged by Sheriff James Smith for to-morrow's event and he arrived from Toronto about 11½ to-day. On the train and at the stations it became whispered about that Birchall's hangman was aboard and the greatest curiosity to see the man was shown by travelers and railway employes. Radclive smoked away at a long pipe and looked defiantly in front of him, as though quite unaware of the staring and whispers going on.

On arriving here he went straight to the jail, where he met the sheriff, and terribly astonished and disappointed that gentleman by stating that he could not stay for the execution as he had to "touch off" Lamontagne at Sherbrooke, Que., on Friday morning. He, however, called forward a substitute who he said was an expert at the business and would give satisfaction. The substitute proved to be a small seedy-looking individual answering to the name of Bill, who came from Toronto on the same train as Radclive, but did not speak to him throughout the journey for fear of being recognized. He remained in the jail all day and evening, and spoke to nobody lest his name should be stolen from him, a thing that he greatly dreaded. Radclive departed for the east on the 4.17 train, much to the disgust of the sheriff. The condemned man spent the evening in consultation with Rev. Mr. McCuaig, and frequently assured that gentleman of his hope in the mercy of God.

The hangman visited Day this afternoon to size him up. Day recognized him at once and said to him that he expected him some time during the day and hoped he would "do him a good job." The officials claim the unfortunate man is more cheerful to-day, his last day to live, than any time since he has been in their charge. He displays no outward fear whatever. He eats hearty and sleeps well. He ordered roast chicken and oysters for his last dinner. Jailor Coulson has furnished his meals, and being extremely kind-hearted he has not allowed the condemned man to want for anything in reason. He is not likely to make a confession. The execution will take place as soon after 8 o'clock as possible.

CHATHAM'S DEFAULTER.

Produce Dealer Henry Steals $35,000 and Levants.

CHATHAM, Dec. 17.—Particulars of the flight of James N. Henry, produce dealer, show that he is a defaulter to the tune of $25,000 or $30,000. The Grand Trunk and Bank of Montreal are the parties chiefly interested. It is said that he succeeded in negotiating drafts to the amount of $11,000 at the bank on the receipts of Mr. McLaris, the station agent, for six or seven car loads of pork, a car load of beans and other produce, of which only an insignificant portion was actually on board, but promised to be completed the same day. Numerous farmers about Kent Bridge and Louisville, where Henry had warehouses, are known to be losers. It is believed the following is pretty nearly a correct statement of the amounts for which he laid those concerned under contribution:

Bank of Montreal	$15,000	George Stephens & Son	$ [illegible]
[illegible] Smith	[illegible]	Tighe & Rogers	500
[illegible] Hamilton	600	C. Noble	500
[illegible] Nelles	1,100	C. Noble	800
S. Lamb	700	P. T. Barnes	500

A. D. Stringer and D. Waddell are known to have lost. Henry had ordered 100 barrels of beans from Col. Smith, but fortunately 25 are saved, as they were not barrelled in time to be shipped. To meet this the assets are not. There are town property and a farm in Raleigh, on which there was a mortgage of $11,000, and on investigation it is found that another mortgage for a big amount was effected Saturday. The creditors will therefore suffer a total loss of the sums named. Of course there are a number of other known smaller transactions not enumerated above, and many are yet to hear from. As the politicians say, the returns are far from complete.

Belgian Mine Horror.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 17.—A terrible accident occurred to-day at the Esconflaul colliery at Hornu, province of Hainault. A shift of 18 men had entered the cage and the engine was started to lower them into the pit. Suddenly and without warning the rope connecting the cage with the draw broke and the men were precipitated to the bottom. Every one of the occupants of the cage was killed.

An Indian Death Trap.

BOMBAY, Dec. 17.—A house in the native quarters of this city, containing 100 inmates, collapsed to-day. Thirty persons were killed and many injured.

ALL QUIET ON THE NORE.

KILKENNY HAS A DAY OF QUIETNESS AND REST.

But the Battle of the Cudgels May Be Resumed at Any Time—War to the Knife Between Davitt and Parnell—Insuppressable United Ireland.

BIRMINGHAM Dec. 17.—Joseph Chamberlain made a remarkable speech at a private Unionist caucus here to-night. Among other things he said the cause of Home Rule for Ireland was dead and that within a week certain former friends in the Gladstonian party had reopened negotiations with him for a reunion on the basis that Mr. Parnell having rendered Home Rule impossible they saw no reason why a Liberal reunion should not be formed. To this proposal he had replied that such a course was impossible, because Mr. Gladstone, fondly clinging to the desire of his old age, retained Home Rule in the forefront of his program.

Mr. Chamberlain then said he doubted anyhow whether a reunion would be possible with the men forming the Gladstonian majority. But recent events had opened the eyes of Gladstonian moderates, who might co-operate with the Unionists and Tories in the formation of a truly National party devoted to progress in the truest sense.

THE NEW PARNELL.

A Pen and Ink Sketch of the Man as He Appears.

KILKENNY, Dec. 17.—Parnell is not the same man he was 10 years ago or three weeks ago. The change in the "Uncrowned King's" mien and manner is positively startling. He is no longer the dignified and self-possessed Charles Stewart Parnell of old, the great leader who ever disdained the use of personal abuse. The contrast between Parnell as I last saw him and as I now saw him at this spot was, to me, profoundly touching. He had just said he would not stoop to personalities, but forgot his promise. "Gutter sparrows like Tanner," he exclaimed contemptuously, "Hounds like Davitt," and his white teeth gleamed as the words came forth harshly and ferociously. It was not the low, refined voice of the House of Commons, but a hard, cruel voice, one hungering for vengeance.

Parnell sat down again, when Harrington stood up and attacked the Nationalist candidate as a man whose only destination was the obscure Governorship of Hong Kong. "Down with Hong Kong," muttered Parnell between his teeth, and then "To hell with Hong Kong!" Parnell struck his knees with his hands as he said this. Then he turned and patted Harrington on the shoulder.

Parnell's face was thinner than ever I have seen it. The lustre of his eyes was gone. He seemed tired and dazed. He smoked, or rather half-smoked, numerous cigarets, throwing one away, lighting another. His gesticulation and his familiarity with his followers were utterly different from anything I had ever seen. His audience was unsympathetic from the first.

DUBLIN, Dec. 17.—Though Mr. Parnell suffered intense pain from the effects of the lime that was thrown in his eyes at Castle Comer, yesterday, he was able at midnight to address from a window from Victoria Hotel at Kilkenny a large crowd that gathered about the hotel when the misfortune that had befallen him became generally known. During his address his face was covered with bandages. He detailed the events of the day. The crowd became exasperated at the manner in which he had been treated, and many threats of vengeance were made.

This morning Mr. Parnell's breakfast was served to him in bed.

The surgeon fears that the injury to his eyes may result in serious consequences. He has given orders that for the present his patient shall be confined to a dark room, as Mr. Parnell's eyes are badly inflamed.

The Cork Convention.

CORK, Dec. 17.—The city and county convention assembled to-day. The hall was crowded with delegates and spectators. The name of Parnell was greeted with cheers by the delegates, but the crowd groaned. A number of policemen guarded the entrances. The High Sheriff of Cork presided. The chairman read a telegram from Patrick Egan, giving instructions for the transfer of his shares in United Ireland to Mr. McCarthy. Mr. McCarthy, in an address, declared if the Irish party wanted authority or sanction for what they had done, the magnificent gathering there assembled gave it to them.

Many priests and prominent citizens were present. Resolutions were passed expressing approval of Mr. McCarthy's course and Patrick Egan's action in telegraphing instructions for the transfer of his United Ireland shares to Mr. McCarthy.

Mr. Sexton declared Mr. O'Brien was returning from America with a broken heart and that Parnell would be satisfied with nothing short of most abject submission.

A crowd of Parnell men who had gathered outside hooted at and tried to attack those who had attended the meeting as they were leaving the hall, but the police drove them back.

THE INSUPPRESSIBLE.

Is the Name of the Latest Anti-Parnellite Paper.

DUBLIN, Dec. 17.—A new paper appeared here to-day under the title of The Insuppressible. The prospectus of the Irish National Press was also issued. It states that the object of the publishers is to issue a new Dublin daily paper that will represent the National interests, which it says are jeopardized by the want of an organ giving independent expression to the political convictions of the Irish people. The capital of the paper is divided into 12,000 shares at £5 each, and the directors are: William O'Brien, chairman and chief editor; Justin McCarthy and Messrs. Sexton, Murphy, Timothy Healy, Dickson and Barry.

The Killarney Board of Guardians has adopted resolutions approving the action of the McCarthyites and favoring the resignation of Parnell.

Captured a King.

LISBON, Dec. 17.—The papers here say the commander of the British South African Company's forces has received orders to withdraw from Manicaland. They also say the Portuguese forces have occupied Bibe and captured the king.

Three Priests Drowned.

PARIS, Dec. 17.—Three priests, while crossing a frozen lake near Grenoble to-day, broke through the ice and were drowned.

STRANGLERS ON TRIAL.

THE GREATEST MURDER SENSATION OF THE AGE.

All Paris Attends the Eyraud Murder Trial—The Female Prisoner Creates a Scene by Fainting in Court—Claims That Eyraud Mesmerized Her.

PARIS, Dec. 17.—At the trial of Michael Eyraud and Gabrielle Bompard for the murder of Notary Gouffe to-day Eyraud persisted in his statement that Mlle. Bompard conceived the details of the crime and that she passed the noose around the victim's neck. Mlle. Bompard denied Eyraud's statements.

During the proceedings Mlle. Bompard was seized with a violent fit of hysterics and was carried screaming and kicking to a cell. When she returned to the dock later she was very pale.

Garanger, with whom Mlle. Bompard fled from San Francisco replying to a question from Gabrielle's counsel, said she had repeatedly hypnotized Mlle. Bompard, who was a remarkably impressionable subject.

The Daily Throng.

It was an aristocratic throng that gathered in the courtroom of the Assizes de la Seine, because only influence in high places could open the doors to the inquisitive visitor. No money could purchase even one of the tickets necessary to gain admittance, because each had to be signed by the president of the court, and they were issued only when he was personally satisfied that the applicant was the proper person to participate in so important a social function as the adjustment of the "Affaire Gouffe."

Nevertheless, as trial by jury is a public matter throughout France, a few of the populace were admitted at the discretion of the gendarmerie, to a sort of pit in the rear of the court, where they could neither see nor hear, and where the only merit in being was the grounds it gave to its occupants for saying that they had been present at the trial.

At 10 o'clock a throng of swells of both sexes had formed before the door that led to the court room, and all its members were chatting and laughing gayly. This they continued to do during the wait of over an hour to which they were subjected ere the beginning of the proceedings.

After the doors were opened and the usual struggle and fight had taken place for the best seats they quieted down until the prisoner appeared. As for the residents of the slums—the canaille, they had surrounded the Palais de Justice long before daybreak, and soon indicated that their desires were divided between hooting the carriages of the visitors and craning their necks to see the strangleur and his accomplice when they should arrive in the prison van on the river side of the court. The mob was circulating madly about the great building, but there was no getting within the gates, however, for a strong force of soldiery was stationed at the entrance, and admitted no one without the precious ticket.

The Two Actors.

Gabrielle, "La belle Gabrielle," when she first made her appearance, and was greeted in this fashion, displayed the pallor that comes from long confinement, and the luminosity of eyes was made additionally noticeable, as they are very dark. She was entirely dressed in black. On her head was a black turban and in her hand a white mouchoir, which she nervously twisted about her fingers, as she sat down before the red gowned judges. Whether or not she was playing a part it is impossible to say, but her uneasy movements, the shifting of her glances from the inquisitive crowd before her and to the stern judges on the bench, then to the group of artists and reporters to her left, then again on to the floor of the court-room with an expression of fear in her great dark eyes, seemed more like the movements of a wild animal than of a human being. Gabrielle, in spite of the popular epithet which has been accorded her by the popular voice, is not really beautiful; still, she has a lithe and graceful figure and a piquant face, so that she really presents a rather attractive appearance.

Eyraud, on the other hand, made his entrance with a something very like swagger—modelled after that of the hero of an old-fashioned melodrama. This disappeared, however, when his gaze encountered that of the occupants of the crowded room. He had evidently made up his mind to brazen it out before he entered, but found the ordeal too severe to carry through to a successful termination. He knew well that the guillotine, with all its grim paraphernalia, is only a matter of a few weeks at the most, for he said last night to Hourlier, the detective, in whose custody he had been brought back to France:

"Je sais ce que l'on me fera."

He was neatly dressed in a new black suit, which Mme. Eyraud has been laboring hard for many weeks to procure, so that her husband might present a decent appearance at the trial. Eyraud has a short beard, his hair is gray and there is a bald spot on the top of his head. But for the expression on his face he would look like a respectable middle-aged man of business.

A Woman's Devilishness.

Eyraud, in his story of the crime, said: "When Gabrielle was in Gouffe's lap she said to him: 'You have not complimented me on my girdle. What a nice necktie it would make for you, Gouffe!' and he answered, 'I do not care for your girdle, it is you I care for.' She then said: 'We will see about that presently,' and then she began passing the girdle around his throat. When he had done so she put the two ends through a swivel in the wall and passed them to me. I was concealed behind the bed curtain. I pulled on the cords and Gouffe was soon strung up by the neck. Then I released the cord and seated him on a chair. I breathed into his mouth, threw water in his face, but all to no avail. He was dead.

Gabrielle on the Rack.

"You were born of a good family," said the president. "You were expelled from school owing to bad conduct and coarse language. Afterwards you were taken home and there you had several scandalous intrigues. You left home and came to Paris. When here you answered an advertisement offering a situation in a firm located at Fribourg. Of this firm Eyraud was a partner. There you met him. How do you explain these relations between a girl of your age and a man old enough to be your father?"

"Poverty is the cause of many things," Gabrielle replied.

"After securing this position," said the President, "you would never do any work. You read novels, smoked and allowed him to take you to bad houses. He often beat you because of your misconduct with other men. Why did you not leave this man?"

In response to this question came the first suggestion of the line of Gabrielle's defence, and it created a great sensation in the court. Putting her handkerchief to her eyes, she sobbed aloud and said:

"But, Monsieur le President, I could not leave him; he had so great an influence over me."

Gabrielle, after a little further questioning, admitted that she had bought the box and cords, but did not know what use they were to be put to. She had bought them simply because Eyraud had ordered her so to do. She admitted also that she had made the sack without knowing its purpose either, although she claimed it was already cut out when Eyraud brought it to her and told her to sew it together. She went on to say that had she refused to do as he told her to he would have beaten her savagely.

The blood-stained trunk in which the corpse of Gouffe spent the night in Gabrielle's room was uncovered and shown to the jury. Gabrielle turned her head away so as not to look at it, but, with this exception, she gave no evidence of discomposure or any feeling whatever at this evidence of her crime.

Gabrielle then proceeded to tell her version of the crime.

The Woman's Side of It.

"That night," she said, "I dined with Eyraud at a restaurant near the Madeleine, and after that I purchased the box and the cord. But Eyraud did not tell me of his intention to commit the crime until after we reached home. Then it was impossible for me to give an alarm, for Eyraud threatened to kill me also if I did so."

"But why did you not give Gouffe warning, when you opened the door to let him in?" the president asked.

"Because that would have been impossible," said Gabrielle. "When Gouffe came, he walked right in and sat down on the sofa to talk with me. Eyraud, who was hidden behind the bed, tried to throw a noose over the minister's head, but failing to do so, Gouffe turned quickly to see what was going on behind him, when Eyraud knocked him down and strangled him with his hands. I screamed aloud and there were neighbors who, I believe, can testify to having heard me."

There was silence following this narrative, and after a moment Eyraud was brought into court again that he might listen to Gabrielle's cross-examination.

She continued: "After the murder Eyraud took all of Gouffe's clothes and then cut up the body, put the pieces in the trunk and left the house, leaving me there alone with it."

"When Eyraud strangled Gouffe," said the judge, "he did it with a cord, and as he was setting the body in a chair you said to him: 'Pull him up again,' and you said this because Gouffe's eyes were looking at you and you saw he was not dead."

"Did I say that?" answered Gabrielle innocently.

"Yes, you said just that," Eyraud interrupted.

The lawyers say the case will probably last seven or eight days, as there are about forty witnesses to be examined.

It has not yet been decided whether Gabrielle's lawyer will be allowed to give his hypnotic experiment in court.

Eyraud's Vile Record.

Eyraud's answers revealed a deplorable story. The president of the court gave in detail a history of his career. At the age of 18 years his conduct was such that his father was obliged to send him to a reformatory. When 19 years old he enlisted in a chasseur regiment, from which he was transferred to the Foreign Legion. He served in the war between France and Mexico. He deserted from his regiment and joined the guerillas under General Juares, to whom he betrayed the position of the French forces. For this crime he was tried by a French court martial and condemned to death in contumaciam. The amnesty of 1869 enabled him to return to France. After his return he led an adventurous life, committing robberies and other crimes.

Ontario Fruit Growers.

HAMILTON, Dec. 17.—The annual meeting of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association was held last evening in the City Hall. The Mayor in a brief speech welcomed the delegates to the city. The treasurer's report showed that the total receipts for the year were $4385.43; total expenditure, $4300.93; balance on hand, $84.50.

The president, in his annual address, referred to the fact that owing to the efforts of the association fruit-growing had grown to be one of the greatest industries in this country, and the fruit of this province was unsurpassed and in many varieties unequalled anywhere else in the world. The president condemned the carelessness often shown in the transportation of fruit by express companies, and also the habit of petty pilfering of fruit by express company employes. He advocated fruit as a diet, and declared that if Canadians would eat more fruit and less fat pork they would be healthier, happier and handsomer.

These officers were elected:

J. A. Morton, president.
A. H. Pettit, vice-president.
James Goldie, J. M. Denton, auditors.
Directors—W. S. Turner, Cornwall; John Craig, experimental farm; D. Nichol, Cataraqui; P. C. Dempsey, Thomas Beall, London; W. E. Wellington, Toronto; M. Pettit, Winona; A. M. Smith, St. Catharines; J. K. McMichael, Waterford; A. McD. Allan, Toronto; T. H. Race, Mitchell; W. J. Union, Windsor; S. C. Caston, Craighurst.

Lamontagne Must Die.

QUEBEC, Dec. 17.—Mr. F. X. Lemieux, M.L.A., pleaded to-day before Hon. Mr. Robidoux, Provincial Attorney-General, for a writ of error in favor of Remi Lamontagne, condemned to be hanged at Sherbrooke on the 19th. The criminalist said that in substance Lamontagne was condemned on Michael's (the victim) own declaration and at a time when he thought he would survive his wounds. The writ was refused late this afternoon at a council held by the ministers, and Lamontagne will die on Friday.

REGISTRAR MACDOUGALL SETTLES.

He Agrees to Pay $1300 to the County of Waterloo.

BERLIN, Dec. 17.—At the session of the County Council to-day a final and satisfactory settlement was effected between the county registrar, Mr. D. McDougall, and the county. The amount claimed for interest by the county was $2100, and this was reduced to $1300 by the council on the registrar's agreeing, which he did, to secure its payment and to waive his claim for caretaking. These resolutions were submitted:

That the registrar having settled with the county council financially to their satisfaction, they have no desire to see him removed from office; that the clerk obtain security for the payment of refund in future and that the books of the office be audited annually by the county auditor.

An amendment was moved similar to the original motion, but omitting any expression of opinion as to the registrar's removal from office. The amendment was lost on a vote of 6 for and 21 against. The original motion was carried on a vote of 21 for and 4 against.

Death in Disgusting Form.

HALIFAX, Dec. 17.—Royal Engineer Sapper Hancock died last night under disgusting circumstances. He procured a bottle of Halifax whisky, became dead drunk, laid down on his back, vomited, was too helpless to turn over on his side and the vomit ran back through his windpipe and bronchial tubes down into his lungs and suffocated him. The liquor must have been the vilest poison. He only drank half the contents of the bottle. An inquest was held and the usual stereotyped verdict returned. No attempt was made to analyze the liquor. Hancock was only 21 years of age and one of the best athletes in the corps.

North Bruce Election Trial.

PORT ELGIN, Dec. 17.—The trial of the petition against the election of Mr. John George as member for the North Riding of Bruce in the Local Legislature began in the Town Hall, Port Elgin, on Tuesday. The trial was held before Justices MacLennan and Falconbridge. The petitioner, Mr. C. M. Bowman, was represented by H. P. O'Connor, Q.C., of Walkerton and Mr. A. B. Aylesworth, Q.C., of Toronto. The respondent, Mr. George, was represented by Mr. C. E. Start of Tara, Mr. J. B. Clark and Mr. Nesbitt of Toronto. A large number of witnesses have been called, but as yet no decision has been arrived at.

Santa Claus Will Come Down.

Little Johnny—Ma, does Santa Claus keep chimneys for sale?

Ma—Perhaps he does. Do you want to buy one?

"Not yet, ma."

"Why not yet?"

"'Cause his price is too high. I'll wait till Tismus and then"——

"Then what, dear?"

"Then Santa Claus will come down in his chimney, won't he?"—Unidentified.

He Couldn't Muffle It.

The stocking of his little girl he filled with sweets and toys,
And with a pair of brand new skates he stuffed his little boy's;
Within the stocking of his wife he placed a handsome pin,
And in his mother-in-law's a wrap for muffling her chin.

If Your House is on Fire.

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE FARMERS AND THEIR CONDITION.

The Strathroy Age says the existence of the agricultural depression is noticeable even in that brisk town. The farmers are not as well off as they were twelve or fifteen years ago. "The enforced contributions of the farmer to the combines and trusts have hurt not only him who has been robbed, but also the towns that depend on him for his trade." The usual Tory answer is that farmers nowadays live too extravagantly. As a Tory paper in Toronto puts it, they "should display a greater degree of thrift." The good things of this world are not for them, but for the gentlemen of the red parlour and for such patriots as Mr. Rykert and Mr. McGreevy. The farmers themselves are responsible, however, for the insults and injuries now being heaped upon them. They have it in their power to blow the whole protectionist regime to pieces, but prefer to toil and moil for the benefit of the parasites who are eating them alive. In the States the farmer has emerged from party idolatry and taken his stand upon the broad principle that no one is entitled by human or divine law to rob him of any portion of the fruit of his labor. Until the Canadian farmer refuses to be bribed with his own money into supporting a system of thievery, of which he is the necessary and principal victim, he has no right to complain that times are hard. No one pretends that tariff reform, or unrestricted trade, would work a miracle for him, but unquestionally they would lighten his burdens. It would be money in his pocket if he could buy cheaper sugar, cottons, binding twine, coal oil, barbed wire, iron ware and other articles. It would also be money in his pocket if he could sell his coarse and bulky products in the States without having to pay a ruinous toll on the frontier. Between the two he wouldibe better off than he is now. This is a fact which no amount of clap-trap about the Old Man or the Old Flag can alter. The way is clear if he has the courage and the good sense to take it. If he prefers to serve the combines instead of helping himself, be it so; but let him place the blame where it belongs.

THE campaign in South Victoria, so far as the Ministerialists are concerned, has consisted of vehement appeals to the Tory farmers to the Old Man. The high-tariff talkers are ashamed to argue that the N. P. has improved the condition of agriculture. The existence of predatory combines stops them from saying that the farmer is getting his good at as low a figure as he could get them for under a lower tariff; whilst the Old Man's illustration about the two farmers on each side of the line who had barley to sell has been verified so completely of late by the market quotations here and at Buffalo and Albany that orators like Mr. Larke scarcely hoped to be believed when they contend that the McKinley tariff is not a burden to the Canadian shipper of that and other articles. They found it difficult to explain why the Government should support an unrestricted reciprocity candidate in Napierville if that cause involves rank treason to British connection. Mr. Colby's cry that the Canadian farmer would be ruined by having to meet the Yankee farmer on a common footing is at variance with the fact that last year he sent sixteen million dollars' worth of coarse products to the American market in spite of the American duty, and that in the British market he has to face not only the Yankee, but the Russian and the Hindoo. In short, all the old guns were spiked, and the managers relied principally upon the force of party discipline and upon the power of the party lash, together with the inevitable railroad subsidy. Young Mr. Tupper, who possesses his father's brass without his father's brains, has not cut much of a figure in the campaign. The people of Victoria did not take to his manner of seeking to convince by dint of vociferous and impudent assertion. They prefer to hear arguments and to be supplied with facts. The Tories offered the subsidy bribe at public meetings, the condition, of course, being that the riding should return their man. In advocating the railway scheme Mr. Larke seems to have made a clean breast of the failure of the N.P. to benefit such manufacturing towns as Oshawa.—The Globe.

The Horse Market.

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—Business with horse dealers is especially quiet, in fact more quiet than has been the case for the past ten or a dozen years. At Messrs. Grand's repository to-day about fifty horses were catalogued, and only a few of them sold at prices ranging from $60 to $100 each. There are no foreigners on the market here, and one bad effect of the McKinley Act has been to stop the export of working horses from the Dominion to the States. At present we have really no demand in this city, and it is as well that farmers should understand this; plenty of horses are being offered for sale, but in the absence of anything like an equivalent number of buyers prices are naturally very much off. We see no prospect of any favourable change in the trade until well into the spring. The only direction in which there is a little activity is in carriage and saddle horses, and for these there is a fair demand at from $150 to $300 each. Farmers would do well to bear this fact in mind, and so turn their attention a little more in this direction, as it is the only one in which there would appear to be a prospect of permanently substantial business.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Geo. E. Elliott, in the stead of Mr. J. R. Stratton, who had intended to occupy that position, but was prevented by the death of his father from doing so. The affair was under the auspices of the Sunday school, and the ladies deserve great credit for the successful issue to which their excellent management brought it. The receipts at the door were $30.10.

EYRAUD THE MURDERER.

THE PARIS FIEND AS COOL AND CALM AS FATE.

He Tells the Jury How He Strangled His Victim While the Unfortunate Frenchman Reposed in the Lap of His Mistress—The Most Sensational Trial of Modern Times.

PARIS, Dec. 16.—The trial of Michael Eyraud and Gabrielle Bompard for the murder of Toussaint Gouffe commenced to-day in the assize court. The court room was densely crowded with members of the upper classes. Among those who gathered to watch the proceedings were a number of ladies, members of the diplomatic corps, senators and members of the Chamber of Deputies. Eyraud was cool and collected. He wore a closely buttoned frock coat. Mlle. Bompard was attired in a dark dress and jacket, and upon her head she wore a sealskin toque. Her face was partly veiled. Both answered the questions put to them by the judge in a confident manner.

During the reading of the indictment they manifested emotion, Mlle. Bompard frequently holding her handkerchief to her face. A table in the court room was covered with the implements alleged to have been used in the murder. Among them was the trunk in which the corpse was packed.

The Assassin's Story of the Crime.

Eyraud narrated to the court how Mlle. Bompard proposed to entice Gouffe to her house and then murder and rob him. He told also of the purchase of the trunk for the purpose of concealing the body. He gave every detail of the crime without showing the slightest trace of emotion. Gouffe, he stated, was sitting down with Mlle. Bompard on his knee and was fondling her at the moment the noose with which he was strangled and which was attached to a pulley behind a curtain was passed around his neck. "He died," said Eyraud, "almost without a struggle."

Mlle. Bompard when interrogated declared that all the details of the murder were planned by Eyraud and that he influenced her in carrying out his scheme.

The judges ordered the trunk to be opened. This led to intense excitement and noisy demonstrations in the court room. Mlle. Bompard said she bought the trunk in London to pack linen in. In a colloquy between Eyraud and Mlle. Bompard the former maintained that the latter was throughout cognizant of the intended murder. The woman stoutly denied Eyraud's assertion. She declared he invited Gouffe to her room and she was ignorant of the purpose for which he brought the cord. The president of the court called these assertions absurd, whereupon prisoner retorted amid laughter, "There are many absurdities in this case."

Later Eyraud told the story of his visit to America with Mlle. Bompard. The latter asserted that on arrival in San Francisco they were at the end of their resources and Eyraud contemplated murder and robbery with a view of getting a fresh supply of funds. Eyraud denied this exclaiming, "Let them take my head, I have deserved it, but my past is unsullied." He gave a detailed account of his flight to Mexico where he said he was tracked like a hunted animal. He complained bitterly of newspapers, which likened him to Cartouche and Mandrin. After he had described his arrest at Havana and his abortive attempt at suicide the court adjourned till to-morrow.

Purify Your Blood

The importance of purifying the blood in every condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing exclusively more than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

OUR TEXT FOR Christmas Morning.

"Let us have Warmth and Comfort if the Stockings should go Unfilled."

A well filled stocking certainly tends to make old and young feel glad and merry on Xmas morning; but it is only a very poor and transient sort of merriment unless we are warm and comfortable. There isn't much fun in a pair of skates to the boy who is suffering for a pair of warm stockings.

First and foremost, then, if you can't have both—if you can't have the full stocking and the warm clothing, too—by all means have the warm clothing.

This point being settled, the next important thing to do is to visit the People's Popular CITY CLOTHING STORE of

H. LeBRUN & CO.

PETERBOROUGH,

where you will find everything in the Clothing Line calculated to insure the greatest amount of warmth and comfort for the smallest amount of money.

For instance, in:—

OVERCOATS,

we have plenty of them for both men and boys, and as the season is now so far advanced, we have to cut them down in price so as to clear out the whole stock.

The fit and style of our Overcoats are such as to command your confidence.

We have all grades and sizes, ranging in price from $2 50 up.

Just now we are making a feature of OVERCOATS and can give you the pick of many styles. Further—our prices are from 25 to 30 per cent. below the regular selling figures.

PEA JACKETS.

The handiest coat a man or boy can put on while skating, or the best and most convenient garment for walking purposes. We have them made of Naps, to suit all ages at any price.

SUITS.

Beautifully finished in the newest Patterns of Imported Tweed, Cassimere, Cheviots, Diagonals, &c. We ask you to compare our Suits with other kinds. We don't mean simply to look at them through the plate glass windows; but get hold of them, turn them inside out, pull at the seams, see how the buttons are fastened and the button-holes worked, raise up the collars, turn out the sleeves, pull out the pockets, examine the linings, trimmings, and scrutinize all the hidden parts. That's how to judge Clothing.

After you have compared the Clothing, then compare the prices.

UNDERWEAR.

The blessings of Warm Underwear during the cold weather are incalculable. We keep all the leading and genuine Scotch and Canadian makes of Undershirts, Drawers and Hosiery. The prices in these will go down along with all other goods to the bottom figures.

DOROTHY'S CHRISTMAS.

A TALE OF THE FIRST RECOGNITION OF THE DAY IN CONNECTICUT COLONY.

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

HEAVY snow had fallen in the night, so that upon the morning of the 25th of December, 1662, the broad common of Guilford town in the Connecticut colony, was hidden by it, and as far as the eye could see the thick blanket had been unbroken except by trees and houses. Abner Alling, a stern man of authority, stood at the window of his kitchen on that morning, looking through the little panes of wrinkled glass, that he might discove. whether the storm was over.

Although a few flakes fluttered in the air, yet they began to glisten as the rays of the sun that were breaking through the clouds fell upon them, and when Abner perceived that the day would soon be fine he called, saying, "Samuel! Samuel! Hear me!"

A sinewy young man, of rosy cheeks, and eyes that were bright because of health and exercise, put a huge log upon the fireplace, and having brushed the snow from his arms, went to Abner that he might receive his master's commands.

"The magistrate will come by noon, I think, for the storm is over. Samuel, you must break a way through the snow upon the highway at once. Take the stub horned oxen, for the steers are not yet heavy enough for such a snow as this.

Having received this command, Samuel put on a fur cap and muffler, and with heavy mittens on his hands went away.

"Surely the magistrate will not come today," said a gentle woman, with soft spoken voice. "It is fifteen miles to New Haven when the roads are good, but with this snow on them it will be as good as twice as far."

"Will not come, mother, did you say? Before the sun was up the magistrate was on his way, I trow."

As he spoke, Abner, spying something that gave him interest, looked intently across the common. At last he said: "Come here, mother, and tell me if that is not the maid Dorothy that I see yonder in the doorway of Governor Leete's store."

The wife went to the window, and the sight that she saw caused her to be silent, longing to see more. Across the common, 200 yards away, stood the store where the governor of the colony, Mr. Leete, had his business. The wind had drawn the snow against one side of it so high that, with the overhanging fringe from th roof, there was formed a bank of white, broken in two places by the faint outlines of the windows. From the door, on another side, there was thrust a heavily hooded head that seemed to be slyly looking each way as if fearful of discovery. At one moment this head was thrust out, and then for an instant was withdrawn to be again put out a little farther.

At last the door was opened wide and there stepped out into the drift the figure of a woman. She was well wrapped and she walked with ease.

"That is Dorothy," said Mother Alling.

"It is a strange performance" said Abner. "Why does she come so slyly from the governor's store at this early hour when the men have not yet all gone out to break the roads?"

"She has a bundle under her cloak. I knew that Dorothy was a maid disposed to be fond of frivolous things, but I did not think that she was sly," said the mother.

"To be sly means deceit; that is something that must be punished. Ah, there is Samuel with the oxen. He breaks the path well. But now he sees Dorothy, and will, I trow, stop and speak to her, for I have surmised, mother, that he likes that maid too well."

"He does, husband."

"So long as he is my apprentice at the forge and anvil he shall woo no maid, least of all this orphan, who, I greatly fear, with her soft ways, does cause our governor to relax his duty at times. He even permitted her to wear a brooch upon the Lord's day. We must discipline the maid today. Truly I will summon her before the magistrate. I lie not; I will. See, Samuel is speaking with her."

The girl had gone through the snow until she was near the meeting house, some [illegible] yards away from the store, and there the young man, Samuel, met her. He had seen her as she came from the store, and although her head was well hooded, yet the young man knew her as well as if he saw her eyes, that always greeted him, and her lips, that always bestowed upon him a smile. He turned the oxen, and with much goading forced them to break a path from the governor's house, where the girl lived, to the place where he met her. Then he said to her:

"Y[illegible]y, Master Samuel?"

"[illegible]y? You know well why. You kno[illegible] what is to happen the day I am my master, and so sweet do you appear this morning, my Dorothy, that I wish it was today, for I have your promise to wed me on that day. Now tell me, how is it that you are out so early, and what is under your cloak?"

"I will answer neither of your questions, Master Samuel. Are you not content to have me here? Come, put me on the sledge, for I must be back to Mr. Leete's at once."

The young man put his strong arms gently about her and lifted her [illegible] the sledge, where she stamped the snow from her feet, and then, with an arm thrown around a stake, she held securely on, while Samuel started the oxen away. Then he came and walked by her side.

"Why did you peek so curiously from the door a moment ago?" he asked.

She knew that he was half jesting, half curious. She would not answer him, but she said: "Oh, Samuel, you made me forget my purpose. I wish you a merry Christmas, sir."

He looked at her perplexed, wondering what she meant, for he had never heard these words before, and he knew that no one in the town had ever repeated them.

"What do you mean by that? What thing is this you wish me—a merry Christmas? What is that?"

"It is Christmas day, Samuel," said she softly.

"I do not comprehend. It is Wednesday."

"This day it was that Christ was born, and in the countries across the sea it is the habit of the people to bring it to mind by saying as they meet, 'I wish you a merry Christmas.'"

"Dorothy, you perplex me. Who told you this?"

"Ah! a heavenly minded man did tell me—oh, what have I said! Pay me heed to my chattering, Samuel."

She put her hand pleadingly upon his. He perceived that she was very thoughtful, and there was self reproach in her tones as she said, "I cannot tell you now; I will some day, Samuel."

He made no answer, for he was perplexed. They had now come abreast the gate of the governor's house. He lifted her from the sledge and let her gently down upon the door step.

An hour after Samuel returned to his home, having broken his share of paths. He put on his leather apron, rolled his sleeve over his mighty arm and blew a fire as the forge, and a moment later the sounds of the anvil revealed his energy.

SAMUEL AND DOROTHY.

Deacon Abner went to him at once and reproved him. "You spoke too long with the maid, Samuel. I bade you go and break paths, not to chatter with a frivolous young woman."

"The paths are broken."

"What did you gad with the maid about? Tell me. Did she tell you why she went out into the snow so early?"

"She did not. I asked her, but she would not tell."

"Oh, there is some mystery. The maid is deceitful."

"Nay, master, Dorothy is not deceitful. A lie was never on her lips."

"I will accuse her before the magistrate, and when the governor returns home I will narrate this thing she has done."

"There is no evil, I am sure; but there is some mystery. Tell me, master, what does it mean when any person says, 'I wish you a merry Christmas?' She said a heavenly minded man had told her that."

"Oh, she said that! What heavenly minded man? She is deceiving you, Samuel, and we will know the truth of it. Pay no heed to her words."

Then Abner went away, and with mighty strides crossed the common, and having entered the house of Governor Leete demanded that Dorothy be summoned.

At this moment there entered the room a sweet faced maid leading a child with whom she was making merry, but when, looking up, she met the awful glance with which Deacon Abner received her she faltered and stood waiting to hear him speak.

ON SOAP,

IN RELATION TO THE COMPLEXION.

FROM AN ARTICLE BY

Dr. ANDREW WILSON, F.R.S.E.,

Lecturer on Physiology and Health under the "Combe Trust," Editor of "Health."

"One important caution should be given, and that is concerning the use of soaps. I would strongly advise all who care for their skin to eschew the use of common soap, which simply roughens and injures the skin, and, if you will be advised by me, I would say never buy those artificially coloured and odoriferous abominations commonly sold under the name of 'Scented' or 'Fancy Soaps' which are the frequent causes of skin eruptions. If I am prepared to recommend any one soap to you, as a satisfactory and scientifically prepared article, I would certainly advise you to buy and use 'Pears' Soap.' Not merely from personal use can I recommend this soap, but I am well content to shelter myself under the names and authority of the late Sir Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., President of the Royal College of Surgeons; of Doctor Stevenson Macadam, or of Professors Redwood and Attfield, the eminent analytical and chemical lecturers at the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, who testify to its entire purity. Furthermore, I believe it to be very economical, for it contains no free water, and in this respect differs from all other soaps; hence a cake of 'Pears' is really all soap and not soap and water. I know cases of irritable skin which the whole tribe of much-vaunted 'Fancy Soaps' failed to allay, but which disappeared under the use of Pears' Soap, and for the nursery and for the delicate skin of infancy no better or more soothing soap can possibly be used. There can be no doubt that in respect of the care of children, attention to the skin is specially required. If common soaps are irritating to the skin of the adult, (as they unquestionably are), they are doubly and trebly injurious to the delicate skin of the infant and young child. I can vouch that the soap I am recommending is not merely a safe but an advantageous one. It does not irritate the skin; but, while serving as a detergent and cleanser, also acts as an emollient."

Self Application of Electricity

BY THE

DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount secured during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its invariably accommodating policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting those given by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

Mortality Returns.

With the advent of cold weather there is an appreciable decrease in the rate of mortality in the leading cities of Canada. The highest rate was in Sorel, 2.05, and the lowest in St. John's, Que., .36. Toronto's ratio is 1.14, Montreal 1.53, Hamilton 1.23, Ottawa 1.22, London .97, Kingston 1.09, Brantford .84, Hull 1.71, St. Thomas .75, Guelph .56, Belleville .76, Windsor 1.29, Peterborough 1.07, Woodstock .65, Brockville .78, Chatham 1.37, Galt .95.

Morrow a Wild Cat.

Curious crowds flatten their noses against the plate glass windows in W. J. Morrow's grocery store, and gape open eyed at a wild cat which is obained inside. Mr. Morrow got the animal from a farmer on the market square Wednesday. It was captured in the woods, the farmer's dog having chased it until it turned and showed fight, when the farmer came up with a stick and subdued it. He took it home and afterwards brought it to town. The wild cat is quite tame now but still too dangerous to be trifled with.

A Young Husband's Dilemma.

Yesterday a young wife made her husband the prince of proud men by bringing into the world a man child, the first that had blessed their two-years' wedded life, and with a wan humour as weak as her voice, but which the happy husband at least appreciated, she said it was her Christmas box. The young father was in a sad dilemma as to how he would return the gift, but at last a bright idea struck him, and he ordered a box of hawley bro.'s tea, and now, what with catnip tea, saffron tea, and hawley's tea, there's not a happier household in the land. dw

It Won't Do.

Port Hope and Cobourg are trying to bolster up their markets by giving prizes for fine butter, poultry, etc. Cobourg has adopted this plan and Port Hope is agitating for it. Still the intelligent farmer will continue to come to Peterborough from within a few miles of both places and sell his produce at a higher figure than he can obtain anywhere else in the district. The price of veal on the Peterborough market Wednesday was very high. Farmers will not require any prize package or cheap caromo as an inducement to do business in Peterborough.

A Couple of Runaways.

Last evening Mr. R. S. Davidson's horse and cutter came to grief. The boy who was driving turned the corner too quickly and upset himself, the horse running up Brock street until stopped. The horses feet were cut and the cutter damaged.

Mr. C. N. Brown's delivery horse surreptitiously got at the oat bin yesterday morning and feeling unusually frisky ran away on Aylmer street while the driver was in a house. He checked his own career by running into a fence. About the only damage done was to the harness.

"Fits Like the Paper on the Wall."

This applies patly and pertinently to the beautiful and useful "Kitchen Wall Cook Book," issued by the ladies of the George street Methodist church. The hundreds of recipes are indexed in a manner admitting of instant reference. The editorial caput does not contain enough culinary lore to criticize the recipes, but if the delicate and delicious viands spread by the ladies at their entertainments is any test of their value, these "Kitchen Wall" recipes are worth their weight in gold. In both a figurative and literal sense the cookery treatise in question "fits like the paper on the wall." It hangs closely and conveniently on the kitchen wall, and suits the housewife's convenience admirably; she can take the clean end of a spoon in her floury hands and lift the leaves of the book and consult what excellent recipe she needs among the hundreds the book contains.

Missionary Boxes.

The St. Luke's Band of Hope has been very busily employed preparing the annual Christmas boxes to be sent to the poor in the sparsely settled districts further north. It is right that some gleams of happiness should penetrate into the lowly homes of those who have so much to contend against. Letters come to us describing dull and cheerless lives, and little children barefoot and scantily clad that they cannot even venture outside in the inclement winter weather. Those who undertake to bring some comfort and happiness, however little, to such unfortunates, are deserving of assistance. The Lord Himself came into the world at Christmas to bring happiness into every home, but more especially to the poor. Many articles of clothing and toys have already been received, and the children, as the result of their own labors, have a large stock. The boxes will be closed on Saturday next, and parties desiring to aid in this excellent work will send their gifts at once.

The Divine Healing Mission.

Dr. Dowie took Job's afflictions as the subject of his lecture in the opera house last night, arguing that they were sent by the devil and removed by the Lord. Mr. Dowie was rather mild-mannered last night. In consequence of the action of the Baptist Church authorities the remaing meetings of the mission will be held in the opera house. At last night's meeting Mr. Dowie read a letter from a Mr. Fenton, in Toronto, a whilom infidel who had been converted by means of that self-same lecturer, and was now going to Africa with his family as a missionary. Mr. Dowie says he has also received letters from others who have experienced divine healing, one from a man who came from New Brunswick to Toronto during the mission there and was healed. To-night's lecture in the opera house will be on the subject:—"Answer to New Testament difficulties, including remarks on the man born blind; is faith essential? Paul's thorn in the flesh; Trophimus left at Miletus sick; whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth, etc."

The Baptist Church Refused to Dr. Dowie.

At a church meeting held in the Baptist Church after the prayer meeting last night in relation to the use of the church building by Dr. Dowie, the Apostle of Divine Healing, the feeling of the majority of the meeting, as expressed by several, was that the character of the language used by Dr. Dowie, and the spirit shown by him, were not in keeping with the character of an edifice sacred to the worship of God, and that his abusive language towards Christian ministers was such as should not be allowed in any Christian church. Others, on the contrary, thought that no evil results would follow. However, the matter was put to a vote, and the further use of the church was refused to Dr. Dowie by about a two-thirds majority. It was said that when Dr. Dowie was allowed the use of the church that the Committee thought that his meetings would be of the same character as those held about eighteen months ago by Miss Gordon, and that the whole Christian community would be benefitted by them. But the members said they were grievously disappointed in his language, and though they had courteously refrained from interfering so far, they felt the time had come to show their disapproval.

Other Veterans of the War.

An Interesting Letter From Burleigh Township—One From Chicago.

EAST CHICAGO, IND., December 14th, 1890.

Peterborough Examiner Printing Co:

GENTLEMEN.—Herewith I enclose one dollar as subscription for your WEEKLY EXAMINER, which please mail to the above address. I left Canada about a week ago and have taken up my residence with my son here. I am one of the veterans of '37, and now 72 years of age, and therefore unable to work, so am living with my son. But being an old citizen of Peterborough county, I want your paper so that I may still know what is going on. I have been living in the district of Sound for the last 14 years. Yours Respectfully,

WM. O'BRIEN.

JACK'S LAKE, TOWNSHIP OF BURLEIGH, 12th Dec., 1890.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I trust that you will pardon the liberty I take in addressing you on the following subject: I understand that the government intend to recognize the services of those who served as volunteers during the McKenzie Rebellion of 1837 and 1838. I was out as private in a volunteer company commanded by Capt. Correll and I. R. Benson, on a march to Lindsay to intercept any body of rebels who might be coming down through the back country by way of Lake Simcoe, Balaam Lake, and present Trent Valley route. We also marched to Port Hope on our way to Toronto, where Col. McDonald got a despatch telling him his force was not needed. We returned to Peterborough. After this the 7th Provisional Battalion of volunteers was raised in and about Peterborough, which was headquarters. It was commanded, nominally by Col. McDonnell, by really by Major Couch (late captain in H. M. First Royal Regiment) and in this I got an appointment as lieutenant, and remained and did duty through the winter of 1837 and spring of 1838, when we were disbanded. Although many of the rank and file are yet alive, I believe all the officers are dead, with the exception of Samuel Carow, (late post master of Peterborough) who was also a lieutenant, and Mr. John Rubidge (son of the late Peterborough Registrar Captain Rubidge) who was ensign. I only heard about this matter last evening, although I am told it had been mentioned in the public prints for some time. I thought you were the best person to refer to, and have therefore taken the liberty, trusting you will tell me the necessary steps to be taken to obtain recognition, that is, if there is any truth in the report. I think I have a document which may prove of use if there is any enquiry to be made of who actually served in the 7th. It is the regimental muster roll, in which is inscribed every man's name, rank and regimental number in the hand writing of Capt. and Adjutant James Armour (eldest brother of Chief Justice John Armour.) I left it at my old residence in Lakefield some time since, but I think if wanted it is obtainable.

I remain, with much respect,
Yours truly,
WILLIAM ALEX. SHAIRP.

Dr. Dowie Interrogated.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will Dr. Dowie kindly answer the following question? I want an answer, even if he does call me some ugly names while doing so. In his pamphlet, "Divine Healing Vindicated," he says:—"We make no charge of any kind in this mission, and we undertake all financial responsibility." Is this so in this mission?

J. J. W.

Peterborough, Dec. 16th, 1890.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The ladies' auxiliary met yesterday afternoon. Mrs. H. S. Griffin presided. Arrangements were completed for the "At Home" on New Years Day, when our ladies will be at home to the young men of our town from two p.m. to ten p.m.

The membership committee held a meeting last evening. Especial efforts are being made to collect all outstanding fees. We hope all members who are in arrears will confer a favor by calling and paying up, so we can close the year with a clean sheet.

On Friday evening a reception will be given our Junior Branch. A programme of vocal and instrumental music will be given, afterwards refreshments will be served by a committee of ladies. Programme begins at 7 p.m.

News Nuggets.

—Catarrh indicates impure blood, and to cure it, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood. Sold by all druggists.

—A number of people went from Peterborough to-day to take part in the election contest in South Victoria.

—The EXAMINER thanks Mr. T. Wills Gibbs for a neat little diary issued by the North American Life Assurance Company, of which he is the local representative.

—The examinations for entrance to the Collegiate Institute will take place on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, beginning at 9 o'clock on Monday at the Institute building. The examiners are Principal Fessenden and Dr. Tilley.

—The public school promotion examinations are now in progress—to-day and to-morrow. The papers were prepared by Dr. Tilley, inspector of schools, and the examinations are conducted by the staff, no teacher examining the papers to his own pupils.

Light for Night Work.

Poles are being laid down to the Edison Co's grounds for electric light wires. It is the intention to begin night work as soon as possible, so as to hurry on the work of construction. By using the electric light, work can be carried on until midnight. Supplies are being laid down at the grounds every day.

Wouldn't "Merry Christmas" be merry indeed for you if you were rid of that horrid Catarrh? Nasal Balm has cured thousands of others; it will cure you. Try it. eodw

Day Meets Death Smilingly—Death Deals Gently With Him and He Dies Easily.

(Special to the Examiner.)

WELLAND, Dec. 18.—Arthur Hoyt Day, the Rochester criminal who brought his wife to Niagara Falls last summer and murdered her by pushing her over the banks of the river, and whose trial and conviction and sentence to death were almost contemporary with similar events in Birchall's career, to-day paid the penalty of the law. Radcliffe, the professional hangman, who presided at Birchall's death, was to have officiated in sending Day out of the world, but at the last moment sent a substitute. He had to go to Sherbrooke last night to be ready to hang Lamontagne on Friday.

Day's manner was as cool and gamey as Birchall's. He walked firmly and apparently without fear to the scaffold, and submitted calmly to the attentions of his grim valet de mort. His face bore a smile. The hangman did his work well, and the victim of the law died easily. The weight fell at 8.01. The apparatus used was that used for the hanging of O'Neil, at Toronto, and Harvey, at Guelph.

A Canadian Passenger Train Meets with Disaster—A Number of Passengers Killed and Wounded.

(Special to the Examiner.)

SOUTH QUEBEC, Dec. 18.—Word has just been received from St. Joseph de Levis to the effect that the west bound Halifax express went through the bridge at that place shortly before noon. The entire train, excepting the baggege car and the engine, went through. A number of passengers were killed and others injured. Assistance has been sent from Levis. There are no particulars as to the number of killed and injured, but it is said that the cars are smashed to pieces.

Young's Point.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FLOUR MILL.—Owing to the death of Mr. Jas. Golborne, who so successfully ran the flour mill here for more than a year, the proprietor, Mr. C. Young, has employed Mr. Ed. Young to take charge of the business. No doubt the interests of the farming community will be looked after as heretofore.

SHOEMAKER.—Mr. F. Lemais has opened a boot and shoe shop in this place, and is prepared to half sole and heel the public with neatness and despatch.

TELEPHONE.—The Bell Telephone Company have extended their line to Warsaw, with this place as the central office. W. J. Doughby has been appointed local manager in that place. This new connection will be a great convenience to the residents of Warsaw and surrounding country.

IMPROVEMENTS.—The proprietor of the Carleton House has placed in his kitchen a handsome steel range, manufactured by E. & C. Gurney, of Toronto. He purchased it through Doughty Bros., of Warsaw, and it gives entire satisfaction.

PERSONALS.—Miss Finlason, sister of Mrs. Jas. Stewart, has returned home after a five months' sojourn in England and Scotland. Her many friends are pleased to see her again in their midst looking so well.

We are pleased to learn that Mrs. MacFarlane is rapidly recovering from her recent severe illness.

We learn with regret that Mrs. Costello and family are leaving this place to take up their permanent residence in Peterborough. The good wishes of her many friends go with her and family.

A Fight for Dear Life.

Startling Adventure of Four Shantymen Out in the Bush on the Kippewa River—Attacked by Ravenous Wolves—Ten Minutes of Deadly Peril Before the Raging Brutes Were Beaten Off by Axes.

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—Word comes to the city of a desperate encounter on Monday of last week between four shantymen, who belong to this city, and a pack of ravenous wolves in the woods in the vicinity of Gordon creek, on the Kippewa river. John and James Barrett, Peter Murphy and John McManus are working in a shanty near Bois Franc depot, on the limits of Messrs. Booth and Gordon. All four had quit work on Monday evening and started to return to their camp. The Barrett brothers who were ahead verged a little from the bush road, in order to examine a trap which they had set in the woods to catch marten. Their two companions went on ahead, but had not proceeded for more than ten minutes when they heard loud shouting mingled with the barking of wolves. They hurried back along the path and soon discovered the cause of the terrible uproar. A short distance from the road at the foot of a big pine the Barrette were standing, their backs to the tree, desperately defending themselves with their axes against a pack of fifteen ravenous wolves. Murphy and Burns ran to the rescue and not a minute too soon. The animals had torn the trousers off James Barrett and inflicted a wound on his leg with their sharp teeth. The four men then laid about them, appalled to see that the pack of wolves were growing larger, being reinforced by a number of equally desperate animals. After fully ten minutes of this fighting for their lives seven of the wolves had been killed, which had an effect upon their companions, for they turned and fled. All the men were bleeding from the legs and sides, where they had been bitten, and when they met Foreman Charles O'Neil and his men a short time afterwards, their blanched faces showed plainly the ordeal they had undergone. No doubt remained in the camp that if the Barretts had been left to fight it out alone, they would have lost their lives. All four men are well known.

W. A. Sanderson, the Jeweller.

Since the days when human friendship and love demanded tokens as aids in the expression of these sentiments, jewels of gold, precious stones, and dainty bric-a-brac have been prime favourites as love and friendship tokens. These facts are especially suggestive as the great gift season is now at hand, and another far more suggestive and pertinent fact is the fact that Sanderson, the jeweller and giver of second sight, has at his establishment, 367 George street, Peterborough, the finest, most extensive, best selected and most attractive stock of jewellery, silverware and allied goods to be found in Canada outside of the larger cities. One of his great features, after his optical department, is his watch department. He has a stock of gold and silver watches for both ladies and gentlemen, which defies competition, in both excellence, variety and reason ableness of price. Next to watches, common clocks in great variety, and silver plated goods, comprising every article that modern ingenuity has produced or the highest refinement of social display demanded. In his sparkling cases will be found full assortments of every kind of ring, brooch, hair ornaments or pin, flashing its reflected light from the polished faces of every known variety of gem. A present in the shape of the precious metals or precious stones which cannot be found at Sanderson's the jeweller, will not repay further search. Especial reference should be made of the optical department of Sanderson, the jeweller. This department is fitted with the best trial lenses which optical skill can produce, which at once detect every defect or disease of the eye, and indicate what strength of glass should be selected. This examination is made free of charge, and a stock of the best pebble glasses made, and mounted in every style, kept constantly on hand. Repairs to all sorts of spectacles, eye glasses, etc, promptly and neatly made. The beautifully bright and cheerful store of Sanderson, the jeweller, is well worth a visit.

As Christmas Draws Near

All are laying in their little store of luxuries, so I wish to call their attention to my immense stock of Liquors. I have a very fine Port Wine, well aged, which I am running off very cheap. Fine Ginger Wine. Natives, from the finest Concord Grapes. Some special lines of very old Port, which may be considered high in price, but when the age is taken into consideration, it appears low. I may speak the same of Brandy, Cherry, Whisky, Gin, Claret, Rum, Old Tom, Sherry, J. Bull. My stock of Liquors not only being the largest, is considered the most complete of any in town. My bottled Goods consist of Clubs, Gooderham & Worts, Imperial, Old Times, White Wheat, Hennessy, Martell, Jamieson's. Liquors of all kinds, etc., etc. W. J. MORROW 340 George street. dw

Canada's Talented Humourist.

DOWN AN EMBANKMENT.

FRIGHTFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT NEAR QUEBEC CITY.

An Express Train Leaves the Rails and the Cars go Over the Bank—Six Killed, Among the Number a Well-known Member of Parliament.

QUEBEC, Dec. 18.—News flew like wildfire through the city this afternoon that a harrowing railway accident had occurred at St. Joseph de Levi about noon nearly opposite the city front. The inbound Halifax express, due at 11.40, had run off the track and five persons were instantly killed and many injured. In an incredibly short space of time those eager to witness the scene of the accident and results had gathered at all parts of Levis, and the ferry boats which cross from this city to within a mile of the scene of the disaster were crowded to their utmost capacity.

The spot where the accident occurred is a steep embankment about 30 feet high and is connected in two places by bridges of the stream of the St. John. The train was made up of three passenger coaches, a mail and a Pullman car. It had just descended a steep grade and was turning a sharp curve, when suddenly the whole train, with the exception of the engine, left the track. The cars which were wrecked were a Pullman, two first-class coaches, one second-class and a baggage. These were completely destroyed. At this time, according to the conductor's statement, the train, which was behind time by about 30 minutes, was running at a rate about 30 miles an hour. Passengers who were on board express the opinion that it was nearer 50.

Rolled Down the Embankment.

The cars left the track one after another and rolled down the embankment, almost everyone in them being more or less injured. They began to leave the track about 400 yards before the spot where the victims were killed, but the reason is at present unknown, some attributing it to the track spreading, others to a broken axle and others again to a broken rail. The general impression here, however, is that the accident was entirely due to the culpable high rate of speed maintained while rounding the curve, and that the pressure consequently exercised on one of the rails had caused it to spread, or that the cars jumped from the rails. The Pullman car "Miramichi" was the first to leave the track and was followed soon afterwards by the two first-class cars. These cars were ruined, but their inmates were all fortunate in escaping with only slight bruises and cuts. It was the second class cars which next left the track, which contained those who were most seriously injured. It ran along on the sleepers for some distance and then on to the iron bridge, which spans one of the streams. This bridge it ran along for a short distance, the wheels which were between the tracks smashing through the 12-inch sleepers, and those which were on the outside of the track snapping off the end of the sleepers like matches. When the cars had almost crossed the bridge it rolled off the track and fell on one of the stone but tresses of the bridge, which almost cut it in two and it was here that much of the fatality occurred. The car was so splintered and damaged as to be almost unrecognizable. It seems a miracle that any one in this car was saved, or in fact any of the wrecked carriages which are all upturned. The bridge from which this carriage fell is over the road leading to the dock. The last to leave the track was the baggage car in which were Messrs. L'Abbe and Dorion and Mr George Walker the conductor of the ill-fated train. The first-named gentleman had charge of the mails. The car was badly broken up and Mr. Walker received a severe scalp wound, which is not likely, however, to be dangerous. The men got out by climbing on to the top of the car through a broken plank in the floor, the car being upside down at the time. All the mail clerks escaped uninjured. They gathered the mail and reached the postoffice at 1 p.

The Dead.

ALEXIS DESAINT, M.P., Liberal member for Kamouraska, died from injuries.

J. B. BLAIS, merchant of Kamouraska, caught under car while jumping and crushed to death.

XAVIER LECLERC, aged 17, of Levis, machinist apprentice, had gone to Harlaka Station on a pilot to meet his father who was on the ill-fated train. The boy was so mangled beyond recognition.

WEBB, a train news agent.

LEWIS MAX DRESSPOOL of New Glasgow, N.S., passenger.

Unknown Jew pedlars found close to each other pinioned to the ground by car wheels.

It is believed there are two or three more bodies under the wreckage. The bodies have been placed in an old bank building in Levis pending the inquest.

The Injured.

Michael Lebel, both legs broken, Madame Comette of St. Claire, Dorchester; Madame Gagnon of Levis; Madame Beauchemin, Nicolet; Stanislas Dionne, merchant, St. Denis; Thomas Wilson, chief engineer, steamer Newfoundland; Mr. and Mrs. F. Cote, St. Gervais, all badly and internally injured, and several will die. Cure Garneau of Beaumont; Dr. Morissette, St. Henedine; Dr. Tanguay, St. Gervais, slightly cut about the face. Abbe Mignault of Sand Bay, arm broken and left eye crushed in; E. S. Farwell, Dundas, Ont., slightly bruised.

Engineer Murphy, who drove the train, noticed by the jerking of the rear cars that something was wrong and immediately applied the brakes but, found that they failed to work. Then he reversed his engine, but it was of no use, as the catastrophe had occurred before the pace of the train could be perceptibly slackened. Perceiving the nature of the disaster Murphy rushed to Levis under a full head of steam for assistance and doctors. Mr. Whitney of Moncton and Mr. Chanciel, Superintendent of the Intercolonial Railway, happened to be at Levis and immediately rushed to the scene and assumed the direction of the work of removing the debris and repairing the track.

In the first-class smoking car were several priests, who miraculously escaped. They were returning from St. Anne de Lapocatiere and only one or more of their number received slight bruises. They were therefore able to administer to the injured and dying.

The Mail Clerk's Story.

Mr. L'Abbe when interviewed gave the following story: "We were running about 30 miles an hour and in a couple of minutes more would have reached the station. Conductor Walker had just completed the collection of the fares, when we found our car and ourselves carried off the track almost against a brick house on the south-east side of the road. A portion of the remainder of the train jumped the track and fell on the other side. The engine and tender did not leave the rails. The driver's name is Murphy. I cannot account for the accident. When I discovered myself in the débris I heard pitiful screams in the car ahead."

[illegible] many passengers in the second-class coach and but few in the first and also the Pullman. There is a dangerous curve and down-grade here. All the Levis medical men were soon on the scene, and messengers to this city also procured the aid of the greater number of our local physicians.

When your correspondent arrived on the scene of the catastrophe the picture presented almost beggared description. The material of wrecked cars was scattered in all directions and everyone in the neighborhood had thrown open his door to accommodate the suffering. The Pullman car was the least injured of any car in the train and only contained three passengers, Miss McGarry and two Englishmen lately arrived at Halifax. The Canadian elocutionist, Miss McGarry, sustained many painful injuries, but none of a dangerous character.

Miss McGarry, to whom reference has already been made, was badly bruised, and was met at Levis by Mr. John McKay and conducted over to the city, where she is the guest of Mr. T. A. Young, rector of the Quebec High School on account of her injuries.

As soon as the news reached him Chief Denis of Levis police force and his men hastened to St. Joseph to prevent any illegal action on the part of the that is sure to assemble on such occasions and to give their aid in the work of saving the wrecked passengers. The clergy of Levis also proved themselves equal to the occasion and by their ministration comforted the sufferers. Among others were noticeable Fafford, cure of St. Joseph, and the vicars of the parish abbes Scott, Gauvreau and Delisle.

As many of the injured as were able to be moved have been brought over to this city and placed in the Hotel Dieu.

There is little hope, it is said, of saving the life of Mr. Dobson of Campbellton. He suffers very much from internal pains.

Two Whole Families Injured.

Among the passengers on the ill-fated train were two families from Prince Edward Island on their way to New Mexico. They were Mr. Coffer and wife and three children and Mrs. Henderson and her five children. All were more or less injured, but slightly, and are staying at the Kennebec House Levis. At the same hotel yesterday afternoon were T. Mullane, conductor of the Pullman car "Miramichi," and the colored porter of the same, Archibald Martin. Both escaped injury, though Martin went feet first through a window on the low side of the car when it turned over and Mullane had his head knocked through a mirror, his stiff official cap, which was smashed about his ears, saving his head from serious harm,

AN M.P. AMONG THE DEAD.

Rouge Member for Kamouraska Dies from His Injuries

Intense gloom was cast over all in the Parliament House to-night when the news arrived from Levis by telegraph that Mr. Alexis Dessaint, M.P. for Kamouraska, had died from the result of the injuries sustained by him in the disaster. It had been reported that Mr. Dessaint had escaped serious injuries, and so it was reported in some of the evening papers. Singular to relate, however, one of the unidentified bodies in the morgue was taken for Mr. Dessaint by several who saw it. It appears, however, that he was seriously hurt in the wreck and removed to the residence of a friend in St. Joseph, some say to that of Mr. Turgeon. At all events Mr. Turgeon received a message before the House rose for recess to the effect that Mr. Dessaint was dying. About 10 o'clock the sad news came that he had died at 9½ p.m. The deceased was much esteemed by all who knew him. He was a lawyer practising at Kamouraska and 43 years of age. He had sat in the House of Commons since 1887, and was a married man with a family.

Six Employes Injured.

HARRISONBURG, Va., Dec. 18.—On the Valley branch of the Baltimore & Ohio, two miles north of here to-day, a train ran into a snowbank, derailing the engine and scalding the engineer, conductor and two firemen.

Another Fatal Wreck

NORWICH, Ont., Dec. 18.—A passenger train on the Wheeling & Lake Erie road broke through a trestle near Bolivar to-night. The killed include two lady and two male passengers. The wounded number 15.

THE CARP MURDER

Murray's Discoveries Langford's Body to be Exhumed—How the Suspected Murderer Eluded an Officer.

OTTAWA, Dec. 18.—Detective Murray arrived in town to-day for the purpose of consulting Crown Attorney Lees and Coroner Mark regarding the murder of Richard Langford at Carp. The detective says he has clues which lead to the belief that Goodwin committed the murder, but that there were accessories before the fact. Goodwin, he believed, would soon be arrested. It had come to his knowledge that on one occasion Goodwin was hiding under the bed whilst the county constable was searching a room in the house of his friends. He asked the coroner to have the body exhumed so that a further examination might be made and more complete evidence obtained for the trial. The body has accordingly been exhumed. It is possible that additional evidence will be taken at the inquest and the enquiry then adjourned for 8 or 10 days. It was reported round town that Goodwin had been arrested at Almonte and jailed and that he was wearing the murdered man's coat and vest. Neither Coroner Mark nor Detective Murray had heard of the reported arrest and discredited it. Detective Murray says Langford was not struck on Saturday night, as in such a case he certainly would have been frozen to death before being found on Monday by Clarke.

Fairbairn Elected.

LINDSAY, Dec. 18.—Full returns give Fairbairn (Con.) a majority of 125 in South Victoria in the election to-day for the House of Commons. The election was rendered necessary by the death of Mr. Hudspeth. The latter's majority at the last general election was 62.

English Farmer Killed.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 18.—An English farmer named John Ellis, who lived near Calgary, was killed last night on the Morley trail three miles from there. He had been up to the Foot hills for a load of fence posts, when in coming down the hill part of the harness broke, causing the horses to run away, throwing Ellis under the wheels, which passed over his face and skull, killing him instantly.

KILKENNY STILL QUIET.

PARNELL DEFIES THE ADVICE OF THE DOCTORS.

And Delivers a Series of Addresses Throughout the County—Michael Davitt Calls Him the Most Unscrupulous Tyrant That Ever Rode Rough-shod over the Hopes of a Nation.

DUBLIN, Dec. 18.—Parnell left Kilkenny to-day to attend meetings at Goresbridge and Gowran. He left the hotel in a closed carriage. His right eye was covered with bandages. It is not expected that he will speak at either meeting. On the way to Goresbridge the carriage broke down, but another was procured by Parnell and his party proceeded. When they entered Goresbridge Mr. Parnell and his colleagues descended from the carriage. The other members of the party ostentatiously guided the steps of Mr. Parnell. This action had a dramatic effect on the onlookers.

The bitterness between the rival factions is growing greater hour by hour. The followers of Mr. Parnell hold that he is a martyr, while the supporters of Mr. Davitt make the same claim for their leader.

A meeting of McCarthyites was held at Johnstown to-day at which Mr. Healy made an address. At the same time and place the Parnellites held a meeting. Among the speakers was Edward Harrington.

Sir John Pope Hennessy addressed a meeting at Urlingford.

Davitt's Terrible Arraignment.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The Labor World, Mr. Davitt's paper, in an article on the Irish situation says: Every hope founded upon Mr. Parnell's supposed honor, patriotism and political honesty has been dashed to the ground. He has more than justified all that his worst foes have ever said about him. His tactics in Ireland are the crowning disgrace of his career. False to his friends, false to his country, he stands revealed as the most unscrupulous tyrant that ever rode rough-shod over the hope- and sentiments of a nation. Let the end be what it may, Parnell will be forever more impossible as the leader of a united Irish people.

Parnell Still Fighting.

Mr. Parnell started for the village of Goresbridge to-day despite the protests of his doctors. Mr. Parnell drove for 12 miles with his eyes bandaged and with a shawl wrapped round his head and shoulders to protect him from the bitter cold. He was accompanied by Messrs. Scully, John Redmond, O'Brien and Nolan. A crowd of many hundreds of persons headed by a band of music met the Parnellites as they were entering Goresbridge.

Mr. Redmond opened the speech-making. He said an assassin had been found to throw quicklime into the eyes of a defenceless man whose name, whatever his shortcomings might be, would live in history as that of one of the greatest Irishman since the days of Hugh O'Neill. [Cries of "Shame."]

Amidst continuous cheering Mr. Parnell was then assisted toward the front of his wagonnet and addressed the people. He referred to the split in the Irish party as due to English dictation. Throughout the address, however, he generally expressed himself in terms he had used in previous speeches.

At the conclusion of the meeting in Goresbridge Parnell and his party proceeded to the town of Gouran. They were well received there and Parnell spoke briefly from a window to a large crowd gathered in front of Dr. Morris' house where he was stopping.

Davitt's Latest Manifesto.

Mr. Davitt has issued a manifesto entitled, "Facts for Voters," and the Parnellite party have sent out a counter manifesto summing up the arguments for their side.

The Healyites held a successful meeting at Urlingford to-day. Healy and Davitt were the principal speakers.

Rev. Mr. Park, moderator of the Presbyterian Assembly of Belfast, has issued an address to his brethren in Great Britain in behalf, he says, of a million and a quarter of Irish Nonconformists who are unanimously opposed to Home Rule except in the shape of a local Government measure conferred by the Imperial Parliament, which alone is competent to deal with remedial legislation for Ireland.

John O'Leary, the Fenian leader, who is here to-day, said: "Everything really National on both sides of the Atlantic has gone straight for Parnell, while everything against him is agrarian, socialist or cosmopolitan. His antagonism to the plan of campaign has been to Parnell a Nemesis because although disliking the scheme he failed to stop it, allowing Dillon and O'Brien with their following of rogues and fools to desolate whole districts and half ruin Tipperary. Parnell is bound to win. He has most of the rural laborers on his side.

A conference of priests at Castlecar today passed a resolution condemning Parnell and denouncing The Freeman's Journal.

The corporation of Mitchelstown, by a majority of 1, have adopted a resolution opposing Parnell.

HIS ASSOCIATES WERE PUPPETS.

Parnell Simply Ignored These Who Acted With Him.

CORK, Dec. 18.—At the city and county convention yesterday Mr. McCarthy said he remembered that in one important instance Mr. Parnell, while presiding at a meeting, told the members of his party that if the majority opposed he should not feel justified in retaining the chair. But of late years, said Mr. McCarthy, by steps so gradual as to be hardly perceptible, Parnell's authority has been sweeping and spreading over all the actions of the party. Recent revelations showing that important facts had been kept secret for a whole year led them to feel the danger of a want of implicit confidence between the leader and the party. They were now entitled to speak in the name of the Irish people and they would stand firm at their posts. They would welcome help from every English party generous and brave enough to assist them, but the very essence of their life was that the Irish party should never absorb itself with or attach itself to any English party whatever. No matter what gratitude they might justly feel toward any great Englishman or English party, they would never place their dependence at the dictation of any authority but that of the Irish people.

Mr. Sexton said if Parnell was Premier of England, and any man dared to oppose him, that man would find him little different from Balfour.

The correspondent of The Daily News at Kilkenny asserts that only bags of flour were thrown at Parnell and his companions at Castle Comer and that Parnell's eye was injured by a stone which must have contained [illegible].

A MURDERESS CONVERTED INTO A HEROINE.

But the Prospects Are That She Will go to the Guillotine—Judge, Audience and Mob Indulge in Unseemly Levity at the Paris Murder Trial.

PARIS, Dec. 18.—At the trial of Eyraud and Gabrielle Bompard to-day, Dr. La Cassagne, who performed the autopsy on the victim's body, was asked whether the fracture of Gouffe's neck was due to hanging or to pressure of hands. The witness replied he was not certain but it was probably caused by hands.

Mlle. Bompard here stated that Eyraud threw the cord around Gouffe's throat, the cord slipped, whereupon Eyraud seized Gouffe by the throat and strangled him.

Eyraud exclaimed, "That was not what happened. I hanged Gouffe." "Doctors," he asked, "can you say how long it takes to strangle a man?"

This question elicited murmurs of horror from the spectators.

Dr. La Cassagne replied that a very short time might be necessary.

Eyraud then enquired whether the doctor thought he could put a body in a sack without help.

Dr. LaCassagne answered that he thought it not impossible.

Eyraud protested that he could not do it, adding, "I won't ask that experiments be made."

Dr. Bernard testified that Gouffe's body was found in a sack, head downward. The legs were folded up.

Eyraud interposed saying, "That could not be. While the body remained suspended I let it slip [illegible] feet."

The [illegible] strengthened the trunk for Gabrielle by putting two iron bands upon it testified to having done so. As he was stepping up to the trunk to examine it more closely the president playfully advised him not to go too near, as the trunk smelt very strongly, and there was a laugh in the audience.

Was She Hypnotized?

The laborer who found the sack gave testimony confirming Eyraud's statement as to the position of the body in the sack.

Dr. Brouardel, who had been deputed to examine into the mental condition of Mlle. Bompard, expressed the conviction that she was perfectly responsible for her actions, although she would come under the category of the "morally deficient," being a person that would commit a crime with in difference.

Dr. Sucreste, the physician of the Bompard household, deposed that he had hypnotized Gabrielle and that he believed it possible that she had been brought in a similar way under the influence of Eyraud.

Dr. Brouardel being recalled denied the influence of hypnotism and a scene ensued.

Dr. Voisin, a physician connected with the police department who was called at the request of Mlle. Bompard, swore he had hypnotized the woman. He declined to enter into details on the ground of professional secrecy.

Mlle. Bompard's counsel declared that Dr. Voisin had important confidences given him by the prisoner and that the court must remove the seal of secrecy.

The public prosecutor opposed this demand and blamed Voisin for having resorted to hypnotism.

The president of the court decided the matter ought to be dropped. This decision brought out loud protests from the audience whereupon the court was cleared.

The Crowd in Attendance.

The portion of the court occupied by the public resembled the auditorium of a theatre during the progress of a matinee. The female spectators were as two to one in number compared with the men, and both sexes were dressed in the height of fashion. There were gay bonnets and luxurious furs, dainty gloves grasping jewelled opera-glasses on the ladies' side of the room. The men were in morning dress, and many wore boutonnieres.

Beyond the rail which separates the audience from the court, however, all likeness to a place of amusement ends, and a gruesome appearance is presented. Prominent in the heap is the trunk which once contained the dismembered body of the victim, the tablet of which is still stained, with the blood. This is surrounded by legal documents and the ghastly instruments of the crime, among them being the red and white silk cordeliere which Gabrielle took from her waist and placed around the neck of the man upon whom she was lavishing endearments and whom she professed to love so ardently. Then there is the sack which she made for his shroud and the block and the cord with which, it is alleged, the crime was committed.

Personal Liberty vs. Personal Slavery.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from Scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which disolves the bonds of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.

OUR TEXT FOR Christmas Morning.

"Let us have Warmth and Comfort if the Stockings should go Unfilled."

A well filled stocking certainly tends to make old and young feel glad and merry on Xmas morning; but it is only a very poor and transient sort of merriment unless we are warm and comfortable. There isn't much fun in a pair of skates to the boy who is a-freezing for a pair of warm stockings.

First and foremost, then, if you can't have both—if you can't have the full stocking and the warm clothing, too—by all means have the warm clothing.

This point being settled, the next important thing to do is to visit the People's Popular CITY CLOTHING STORE of

H. LeBRUN & CO.

PETERBOROUGH,

where you will find everything in the Clothing Line calculated to insure the greatest amount of warmth and comfort for the smallest amount of money.

For instance, in:—

OVERCOATS,

we have plenty of them for both men and boys, and as the season is now so far advanced, we have to cut them down in price so as to clear out the whole stock.

The fit and style of our Overcoats are such as to command your confidence.

We have all grades and sizes, ranging in price from $2 50 up.

Just now we are making a feature of OVERCOATS and can give you the pick of many styles. Further—our prices are from 25 to 30 per cent. below the regular selling figures.

PEA JACKETS.

The handiest coat a man or boy can put on while skating, or the best and most convenient garment for walking purposes. We have them made of Naps, to suit all ages at any price.

SUITS.

Beautifully finished in the newest Patterns of Imported Tweed, Cassimere, Cheviots, Diagonals, &c. We ask you to compare our Suits with other kinds. We don't mean simply to look at them through the plate glass windows; but get hold of them, turn them inside out, pull at the seams, see how the buttons are fastened and the button-holes worked, raise up the collars, turn out the sleeves, pull out the pockets, examine the linings, trimmings, and scrutinize all the hidden parts. That's how to judge Clothing.

After you have compared the Clothing, then compare the prices.

UNDERWEAR.

The blessings of Warm Underwear during the cold weather are inestimable. We keep all the leading and genuine Scotch and Canadian makes of Undershirts, Drawers and Hosiery. The prices in these will go down along with all other goods to the bottom figures.

The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its leading unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

Entrance Examinations.

Only One Examination to be Held Each Year Instead of Two.

The Department of Education have decided that after the close of the present year there shall be one instead of two examinations annually for the admission of pupils into the High Schools. The High School inspectors have for several years expressed their opinion that there should be but one examination; nearly all the High School masters and a considerable number of Public School masters hold the same view; and it was strongly expressed in a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the school trustees of the Province. There are several good reasons for making the change. Under the present system the teachers and the pupils who are preparing for the examination are under a pressure which never ceases during the whole year, and which is especially trying in the short session between the summer vacation and the December examination; and the tendency to study with a view to this direct result, rather than with a view to real culture and education, is strong. We are not so badly off in this respect here as, according to Matthew Arnold, they are in England, where "the round of endless examination reduces education to a professional cram." Nevertheless there is room here for improvement. And while candidates suffer from this forcing process there is danger that they may receive more than a due share of attention to the injury of the other pupils. It may be reasonably expected that when the excessive pressure is removed, the work of the school will proceed more deliberately and evenly, and what is lost in speed will be gained in thoughtfulness, thoroughness, and all the solid and enduring results of education. So much for the effect of the measure upon the Public Schools. The High Schools will be relieved of the inconvenience of a large influx of new pupils at the beginning of the new year, which now has such disturbing effect upon the arrangements. The intrants will henceforth be more thoroughly grounded in primary school work and their ages upon the average will be higher, and both these things will have a beneficial effect upon the efficiency of the High Schools. We think that the change will meet the general approval of the people of the Province and that results will justify it.—Globe.

Dr. Koch's Consumption Cure.

A Paris letter says:—Attention is keenly following the experiments with the Koch lymph, now in the hands of all the leading members of the Paris faculty of medicine, and who are inoculating patients of varying ages, afflicted with every form of tuberculosis, or consumption in lungs, joints and skin, in every stage. All Koch's predictions have been confirmed so far, but what medical men are on the watch for is, are the cured permanently cured? Time can only decide that question, as it did in the case of Pasteur—now eclipsed in glory—and his hydrophobia lymph. It is said that, in a course of a couple of months, the Academy of Medicine will publicly discuss the whole subject, and codify results. Patience all round. The persons to be pitied are those in the morbid stages of lung tuberculosis, who immigrate to the Paris hospitals to be inoculated. Happy—relatively—those who are but in the commencing stage of phthisis; all such who have been inoculated, irrespective of age, are doing well.

Death of Mr. William Cox.

Colborne Express:—Of the many sudden deaths it has been our duty to record during the year about to close, that of Mr. Wm. Cox was really the least expected—indeed there was no thought of it. He was in his fifty-fifth year, always healthy and vigorous, and seemingly destined for a good old age. Early week before last he started on a visit to friends in Peterborough, where he remained until Wednesday, 10th, returning that day and reaching Colborne by the 5.17 p.m. train. He rode up in Mr. Burleigh's 'bus, stepping off at the Brunswick House, and, remaining a while, expecting that his own rig would be along or waiting for him. At six or a few minutes later he started homeward on foot, but on reaching Dr. Willoughby's office he fell suddenly. Mr. Jas. McGlennon was close behind and at once helped him up, and, without speaking, he darted forward and fell again about one hundred feet further on. Alarmed at his utter helplessness, Dr. Willoughby was summoned, who soon realized that Mr. Cox had had a severe paralytic stroke, though never before the subject of one. The doctor and Messrs. McGlennon and Hollenbeck accompanied the unfortunate man, in Mr. Burleigh's sleigh, to his home, south of East Colborne. Mr. Cox never gave a signal of consciousness nor uttered a word from the moment of the second fall until he expired on Friday morning. Mr. Cox was one of our well-to-do farmers and one of our most respected citizens, born and living here all his life. He leaves a wife and five grown-up children (three sons and two daughters), whose awfully sudden and great affliction excites the heartfelt sorrow of this community. The interment took place at Salem burying ground on Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a large concourse of sympathizing friends and acquaintances.

Deceased was a brother of Mrs. Philip Lane, Peterborough, and cousin of Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Toronto, and Mr. Aaron Cox, Peterborough.

From Josh Billings.

There is a grate number of quite good people in the warld whose piety consists in repenting of the sin of their nabors. We see this very often practiced by some women; it is done in a semi-religious way, and is often thought to exert great good. It is indeed contemptible to hear a neighbour say: "Mrs. Johnston is extravagant in dress; there she goes in a new cardinal costume, and two weeks ago she came out with a lovely golden brown robe; I really pity her poor husband, who has to put up with it."

Thy would-be piety and commiseration, good neighbour, smacks of jealousy. Mrs. Johnston is a prudent, careful, saving woman; she is anything but extravagant; she has the faculty of appearing well-dressed at a very small outlay of her husband's money.

She has always used Diamond Dyes; this is the secret of her success, and undoubtedly the foundation of your uncalled for sermon.

She cannot afford as many dresses as you can, still she is better dressed as far less expense. Her old dresses are re-colored with Diamond Dyes, and appear in fashionable new shades; she has learned the true principles of economy. Go thou pious neighbour and do likewise.

Lives of others oft remind us
Married life may be sublime.

We trust to be forgiven this parody of lines from Longfellow's immortal "Psalm of Life." Husbands who are wise and thoughtful, know that the happiness of the home depends largely on the health of the mistress of the home. Many are the tasks which daily confront her. How can a woman contend against the trials and worries of housekeeping, if she be suffering from those distressing irregularities, ailments and weakness peculiar to her sex? Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a specific for these disorders. The only remedy, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case, or money refunded. See printed guarantee on bottle-wrapper. b

DAY LITERATURE.

The Nice Kind of Letter He Wrote to His Affectionate Sister.

WELLAND, Dec. 19.—Arthur Day, who was hanged yesterday, wrote in all five letters to his relatives last night, the following to his sister, Mrs. Quigley, being particularly interesting:

SISTER MARY,—I will drop you a few lines, hoping they will find you well and in misery, and I [illegible] sleep a wink night or day till you [illegible] know you swore my life away to save [illegible] but may God bless you. You ought to [illegible] me, you liar. I hope you won't [illegible] Rochester; they ought to tar and feather [illegible] rails you out of town on a rail. If I was in [illegible] would not give you one cent to support you, and if [illegible] was my wife I would feed you on [illegible] I would rather be here in [illegible] in your shoes. I don't see how [illegible] have Jeseriah's picture in your house [illegible] her six umbrella in your hands. I [illegible] it would haunt you so much. Well, dear Quigley, I will forgive your lies and I hope God will too, but I don't see how you can have the face to come to God and ask Him to forgive you in your sins. Well, I will tell you a long good-bye, for this is my last night [illegible] and all on account of you. So ta-ta, ta-ta.

ARTHUR.

P.S.—You are the cause of Dessie's death, and you were the means of killing [illegible] gave her some stuff to drink, and then you were the cause of her going over the cliff. Oh how I wish it had been you instead of her, and then you were not satisfied with her death, but you hung me too. Oh, you hag, you hag, you hell-hound!

He Imitates Birchall.

Day spent the greater part of the night in writing the story of his life. He denies that he is a murderer and claims that his sister, Mrs. Quigley, was more to blame than he, and that the murder would not have occurred but for her. And to wind up, not satisfied with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Quigley wished also to send his soul to hell. He adds, "I will not say Mrs. Quigley pushed her off the bank, but I will not tell on her as she did on me." He says that he leaves the world a saved man and wishes everybody "a happy Christmas," and concludes:

I thank Mr. McCuaig for his kindness to me and the only way I cannot pay him is to have my soul saved, which it is, and I wish him a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year, too, and may God bless my poor old mother in this trouble. Oh, God, bless my darling Jennie [his daughter] and may she grow up to learn to serve God and not sin, and may God guide her in her young youth and guide her footsteps in her young days and grow up to be a good girl too, and may God bless my brothers too, and may they get the love of God in their souls and trust in Him too and He will save them all, and may God bless all my friends here in Welland and I die here in your lovely town and among friends. Let this be told hereafter that I was not so much to blame as Mary Quigley was in this bad deed that has left a stain in your city and I hope I will be the last man that ever will hang in your town, but I have proven to be a gentleman since I came here and I wish you all a Happy Christmas and all a Happy New Year, for I will have mine in a new home. So I will bid you all a loving good night and a loving good bye for the last time in this world, but hope to meet you all in heaven. I will be so happy and full of joy and full of love for you all, so I bid you good night. It is just 1¾ o'clock of my last morning on earth and I think I will turn in my little bed, for if I don't the bed will get lonesome. So good bye. Will remain your loving friend.

(Signed) ARTHUR H. DAY.

SWALLOWED PARIS GREEN.

Sensational Suicide of an 16-year-old Boy at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Dec. 18.—Harry Lundy, aged 16, working as a farm hand for Neil Campbell, near Niagara Falls, committed suicide this morning by swallowing paris green. Lundy was found lying on the floor of his bedroom dying and when asked what was the matter replied "nothing." He died before a doctor could be summoned. Lundy had swallowed enough poison to kill half-a-dozen men. The young man hailed from Lundy's Lane, where his father resides. He has been very despondent of late and drinking freely. A couple of months ago he attempted to drown himself in Gill creek adjoining the farm on which he was working.

Hamilton Election Trial.

HAMILTON, Dec. 18.—The taking of evidence in the Hamilton election case was today postponed until Friday. The personal charges were gone into this morning. William Boyman, to whom Stinson was alleged to have promised $2, swore he had never seen Stinson until to-day. The rest of the personal charges were abandoned, except that of John Dent, which stands for judgment. Charge 107, that William Oxendale's expenses had been paid from Brantford, was dropped. The personating charges were abandoned, Arthur Jones, James Nichol and Robert Nichol denying that they had personated any person else. Jeremiah Gregg swore that R. Irwin treated him on election day. This case stands for judgment.

Purify [illegible] blood in [illegible] the condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

DOROTHY'S CHRISTMAS.

A TALE OF THE FIRST RECOGNITION OF THE DAY IN CONNECTICUT COLONY.

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

A BRAVE DEFENSE.

"Lie not to me," said he, "for it will be even worse for you."

"I speak the truth always or I speak not at all," she said gently.

"Then you will not deny that you were at the store this morning?"

"No, I will not deny that."

"What had you under your cloak?"

"I cannot say."

"You will say. Why were you there?"

"I cannot tell."

"You said these words to Samuel, 'I wish you a merry Christmas.'"

"Yes. I said those words."

"Well, who bade you a merry Christmas this day?"

"I cannot tell you."

"Did you not tell Samuel it was a heavenly man?"

"Aye. That is the truth. I did not mean to say so much, but I lie not."

"Who?" This word was uttered in thunder tone.

"I must not say." She spoke gently, but her tones were firm, and when he saw that she would not reply he went away, and at noon the magistrate had come.

They came for Dorothy, and led her to the building whence she came so cautiously in the morning. Here was the office as well as the store of Governor Leete, and here the magistrate held court. There were two or three who had been convicted of offenses, and among these condemned Abner placed the sweet faced maid.

The magistrate listened to the accusations that Abner made, that she was deceitful and had spoken lies, and when that was finished the magistrate said to her "You have heard these accusations. Do you deny them?"

"In that I have said or done evil knowingly I do, otherwise it has been as he has said."

"Did you say a heavenly minded man had said to you, 'I wish you a merry Christmas?'"

"I said that. It is true, and he said, 'Rejoice, for if we rejoice in the death of Christ for us we may rejoice in his birth.'" But she refused to tell who this man was or why she had slyly gone to the store that morning. The magistrate therefore, looking sternly at her, said:

"There is no doubt about it. You are guilty of a lie and deceit. You will be taken hence, and you will first receive ten lashes, and after that will be put into the pillory for one hour, that your punishment may warn others and convince yourself."

The girl seemed not to hear these words. She put out her hand as if for support, and when some one grasped it she seemed not to know it. It was Samuel who had taken her hand, and he stood by her side. His face was white. He had come into the room in time to hear the sentence.

"Let me take her place. If punishment is needed I will bare my back to the lash, and sit in the stocks for her," he said.

"No, Samuel," cries Dorothy spoke.

"You cannot take her place," said the magistrate.

"Then, let me say here before you all that this maid shall not be whipped and pilloried. I will kill the man who lifts his hand against her," and the young man threw his arm around the girl and held her in a firm embrace. "Do you wish to kill her? For if she is whipped it will kill her, and if her me."

Now the magistrate and deputies were amazed, for they had never before seen so strange a sight as this, so they consulted with each other what they should do, and then fixed upon a punishment for the young man. But when they looked up to pronounce sentence on him they saw another sight which amazed them even more; for there stood before them a man of strange appearance. His beard was as white as the snow and long, like that of a prophet. His hair fell upon his shoulders. His dress was concealed by a long cloak, and he had placed one hand upon the head of the maid, while the other was uplifted with admonitory gesture.

When he spoke his voice was soft, but like one who has authority, and his manner was solemn, and not like the manner of any man whom they had ever seen.

"This child has done no evil," he began. "If there be evil done I did it, for I taught her this morning that for all who love our Lord this is the day that commemorates his birth. To that blessed country where God reigns I soon, I trust, shall go, for I have kept the faith against such adversaries as you have never met. I warn you, oh, you proud magistrate, lift no arm of punishment against this child, for as truly as God reads all hearts [illegible] in hers as sinless a record as mortals can ever make. The judgment of God be upon you if you permit wrong to be done to this child."

He spoke as one inspired, and as he stood with one hand uplifted he seemed like a prophet among them.

"Who are you?" the magistrate asked with hesitating voice.

"God's servant, and I say that this maid shall be blessed and her children shall rise and call her blessed, because she has this day served him."

When the magistrate and the deputies heard these words they spoke with one another for some moments, and when they lifted their eyes again the old man had gone as silently and mysteriously as he came.

For an hour the magistrate and the deputies consulted together. Then the constable was commanded to take the girl and execute the sentence, but as he approached her Samuel put her behind him and faced the officer. His look was terrible, and the constable knew the strength of his arm, so they stood silently facing one another. Suddenly a noise like the coming of horses was heard. The door opened and there entered some of the king's officers, and with them the governor of the colony, Mr. Leete.

"In his majesty's name, if you know where Edward Whalley and William Goffe, [illegible] are to be found, I command you to [illegible]

367 GEORGE STREET, - - - PETERBOROUGH.

First to be concealed, he concealed I charge you to deliver them!" said an officer.

"The regicides!" said the magistrate, speaking in broken tones.

"Aye, the regicides. We have heard they are concealed here."

"Had one a venerable beard?"

"Aye. William Goffe."

"Twas he, Cromwell's general," said the magistrate, as though speaking to himself.

"'Twas he," said the deputies solemnly. Then Abner said to the officer, "One of them was here an hour ago."

"But is here no longer," said Governor Leete, speaking for the first time. "These men came to me many days ago and asked for shelter. As I had not then received the king's command to deliver them I permitted them to lie in the cellar beneath this room. For though I am loyal to the king I and my people honor Cromwell and his lieutenants. My maid Dorothy has for many days taken them food, and she and I alone knew of their presence. I charged her to tell no man. But when the king commands I obey, and I have brought the officers here. Yet I am glad to say that within the hour, being warned of your coming, but not by me, they have escaped. You will see their tracks in the snow, and they are now rapidly sailing in a vessel on the Long Island sound. What do you here, Dorothy?"

"They have sentenced me to the lash, master, because I kept my promise to you, and 'twas this heavenly minded man who greeted me this morning with these words, 'I wish you a merry Christmas.'"

"To the lash?"

"Yes, master."

"And were about to administer it?"

"But for Samuel they would already have whipped me."

"God be praised that this maid would have suffered the lash rather than betray either her word or these persecuted and righteous men, Goffe and Whalley. She shall henceforth be not my maid but my daughter," said the governor, embracing the girl. Then turning to the magistrate he said: "I will remit her sentence, and because it is indeed the Christmas day I will remit the sentences of all these prisoners. Let my house be opened this day. Let all come and make merry. It shall be made a merry Christmas for all, as I used to know it when I was a child in England."

And it was as the governor had ordered on that day and after. And then through Dorothy Leah's suffering and peril there began in that colony the habit, as in other lands, of merry making and good cheer upon Christmas day.

The prophecy of the regicide Goffe was fulfilled. The children of Samuel and Dorothy became men of authority, and they did call her blessed.

Wild cherry bark, elecampane, hoarhound, and senega. These are the remedies with which Dame Nature has supplied Canada for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping coughs, bronchitis and loss of voice. All these are contained in Wilson's Wild Cherry in their most active form, and with other medicines constitute this most reliable cure for all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Wilson's Wild Cherry is sold by all druggists. dw

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. At all druggists. dw

Winter Sports.

The gay winter season exposes many to attacks of colds, coughs, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, etc., which require a reliable remedy like Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for their relief and cure. Known as reliable for over thirty years. The best cough cure. 2w49d

A Source of Joy.

DEAR SIR,—My young sisters were attacked by croup so badly that we almost despaired, and had little hope of curing them. At last we applied Hagyard's Yellow Oil, and to our great joy it cured them perfectly, and they now enjoy the blessing of perfect health. 2w49 ANNIE JOHNSTON, Dalhousie, N.B.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles in dent to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

"The Young Canadian."

This is the title of a new aspirant for public favor. It is neatly printed, well illustrated, and filled with timely and well written original matter for the reading of the youth of Canada. The appearance of the first number of the "Young Canadian" is very promising. It consists of 16 large pages and issued weekly at the low price, for an illustrated weekly, of $2 per year.

Working by Electric Light.

The electric lamps placed in the Edison Company's grounds were lighted for the first time last night and the men worked until twelve o'clock. Some portions of the foundation are being piled to make them solid. The construction of the brickwork is to be proceeded with as long as the weather will allow. Every day supplies of stone and brick are arriving at the grounds. An agent has just returned from Beaverton, where a large quantity of brick was secured, the local supply being exhausted.

"Raise the Flag."

The Rose Publishing Company, of Toronto, has just issued a beautiful little edition of patriotic Canadian poems embraced under the general title of "Raise the Flag." The little volume consists of about 65 neatly printed pages inclosed with a beautiful illuminated cover in designs calculated to arouse patriotic feelings. The book is filled with stirring poems by such well known authors as E. O. Nelson, "Fidelis," H. C. Cockin, R. Burns, Esperance, Muir and others. "Raise the Flag" is a bright little brochure that should be a treasured volume in every Canadian home.

The Deserted Wife.

Mrs. Sutton, the elopement of whose husband from Ottawa with his wife's sister was reported in the EXAMINER about a week ago, has since returned to town with her child. Mrs. Sutton does not so much mourn the loss of her husband as the father of her child. She is left with the child on her hands and no means to support it. No tidings of Sutton and his inamorata, Miss Vinette, have been learned, though it is believed they are far beyond the reach of justice.

An Important Business Change.

Mr. Arthur Rutherford, who is well and favourably known in Peterborough as a contractor and builder, has purchased and taken possession of Mr. J. D. Reesie's mash, door and blind business, and will hereafter conduct it in all its departments, with that energy and mechanical knowledge that characterizes his operations. Mr. Rutherford has had a practical hand to hand experience of about forty years in all phases of building, public and domestic, and especially well qualified in every respect for conducting the mash, door and blind making, and furnishing general building supplies in a manner which will doubtless be satisfactory.

Bengough.
Wit and Humour.

Bengough, the well-known editor and caricaturist of Canada's only humourous paper, Grip, will entertain, in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening, December 22nd, all the educated and uneducated, the critically inclined and uncritical, the witty and the pretty, the ugly and the dull people of the town, by his unique illustrations in crayon and comedy, on "People you Know," supplemented by a humourously depicted chalk talk on the "Single Tax Question." Mr. Bengough is always the cartoonist. With unerring skill he chooses just the point in his victim that can be exaggerated with effect. A bumper house will greet him and enjoy a treat such as rarely falls to the lot of Peterborough audiences. 2d143

A Smashing Runaway.

Dr. and Mrs. George Burnham had a narrow escape from receiving serious injury in a runaway accident yesterday evening. The doctor was driving down Hunter street towards the bridge with his fine black ponies when a runaway team rushed out of a yard and up the street, taking a wheel off a bread cart and another off the wagon to which they were attached. Dr. Burnham tried to turn out, but there was another wagon on his left, and he had to meet the runaways. Both he and Mrs. Burnham jumped before the collision occurred. The runaway team upset Dr. Burnham's equipage, breaking the pole and runner of the cutter and upsetting both the ponies. The collision brought the runaways to a stop or further damage would have resulted, as the street was alive with traffic. Fortunately no serious injury was sustained by any one, and the ponies came through the encounter all right. The runaway team belonged to Mr. Robert Deyell, Otonabee.

Opera House Christmas Tree.

Don't neglect the great chance for getting choice Christmas presents afforded by the Three Days' Christmas Tree Entertainment to be given by the ladies of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral, in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 29th, 30th and 31st. During the day the price of admission entitles you to a draw for any of the hundreds of beautiful presents that adorn the trees. Refreshments will also be provided. The opera house will be open on Monday at about two o'clock and remain open the afternoon. On the other days it will be open at ten o'clock and remain open the afternoons. On Monday evening a concert entertainment will be given by the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral for the benefit of the Cathedral fund. On Tuesday evening a fine vocal and instrumental concert will be presented by the pupils of the Convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame in aid of the funds of that institution. A decided treat in the way of novel entertainment and good music will be afforded by the above three days' entertainment. 1d

The Christmas Examiner.

The annual Christmas supplement of the EXAMINER has been issued, and is now in the hands of thousands of the people of this county. It is a handsome and beautifully illustrated quarto of 20 pages, printed on richly tinted paper, full of interesting holiday reading matter, flanked with the advertisements of our best business men, who can supply all that people need at this season of the year. This is by far the finest edition yet sent out, and it will be treasured and read in thousands of homes. A practical tribute to the attractiveness and value of the EXAMINER Christmas supplement is afforded by the fact that though eight thousand copies were printed for free distribution only, applications are made for extra copies of the supplement to send away to friends in widely different parts of the country. This may be instanced: a copy was got to send to Gaspe, the eastern-most point of the Dominion, and others have been sent west to British Columbia, Waanington Territory, Calgary, Brandon, etc.

A Double Tragedy.

A Murderer Hanged and the Sheriff Called Suddenly Away.

(Special to the Examiner.)

SHERBROOKE, QUE., Dec. 19th.—Remi Lamontagne, the murder of Napoleon Michel, his brother-in-law, was hanged to day in the yard of the Sherbrooke jail at 9:27 this morning. This morning's tragedy was a double one, for it involved the death of Sheriff Webb as well. A few minutes before nine o'clock the Sheriff arrived at the jail, and was admitted to Jailor Reid's private apartments. Ten minutes afterwards messengers were running for Dr. Austin, but when he arrived the old

SHERIFF WAS DEAD.

Death was due to acute heart failure, induced by excitement.

Lamontagne walked to the scaffold firmly, and before he died said that he hoped soon to be in heaven, and he did not regret his act. He died easily.

A TRUMPED UP STORY.

There was a story current last night that Adina Leda, his sister, had made a deposition that her brother was innocent of the crime and that her husband was killed by a well-known public man, and that she was present at the murder. Telegrams were at once sent to the authorities, but no reliance was placed on her tale, and the law was allowed to take its course. No sympathy is felt for Lamontagne or his partner in crime, as he killed his brother-in law most atrociously to permit a continuance of his illicit relations with his sister.

False Reports.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I find on calling on my customers for their orders for ice during next season, that there are reports afloat to the effect that I have sold out, also that I am going to sell out my ice business to Mr. Wainright. These reports are false. I have never been asked this fall or winter by him or anyone else to do so, nor would I sell if I were asked to. The same reports were circulated last season, greatly to my loss, without any grounds for so doing. The author of the report had better be cautious, as I am prepared to prove damages caused by such conduct, having lost valuable customers by it who had fully decided to place their orders with me.

Yours truly,
GEO. A. HELSON.

Personal.

Grand Master Robertson returned to Toronto this morning.

Mr. George Whitla, after an absence of about twenty years in the North-West, arrived in town last night on a visit of a month to old scenes and associations.

Wouldn't "Merry Christmas" be merry indeed for you if you were rid of that horrid Catarrh? Nasal Balm has cured thousands of others; it will cure you. Try it. eodw

THE MASONIC "AT HOME."

A Brilliant Society Event Under Masonic Auspices.

Reception to Grand Master Robertson—Youth and Beauty, Wit and Wisdom in the Lodge Room—A Representative Gathering, Including Some of the Most Prominent People of Peterborough.

What was beyond doubt the crowning "At Home" of the season, took place under Masonic auspices at their beautiful lodge rooms last night. The evening had been looked forward to with pleasant anticipations in social circles, and the most happy expectations were realized. Nothing succeeds like success, and the Masons of Peterborough always succeed in what they undertake. Their concerts and "At Homes" are leading society events, invitations are eagerly sought for, and never fail in drawing together a large assembly of the elite of the town and district. The Masons are to be congratulated upon this their last brilliant success. Over five hundred cards were sent out, and as a consequence the lodge rooms, large as they are, were crowded. The Masons, attired in full regalia, moved in and out their guests, and endeavored to make all feel "At Home" in the true sense of the word. The apartments, the most complete and richly furnished of the kind in town, were further adorned with flowers and gay bunting, and with the added colour and motion of several hundred people in evening dress, presented a beautiful and animated scene. Additional importance was given the occasion by the presence of the Grand Master, Mr. J. Ross Robertson, of Toronto, a gentleman of provincial prominence who sheds lustre upon the Order in which he holds such a high position. The proceedings lasted till the early morning, and all the guests went away with most pleasant recollections of Masonic hospitality.

Among the guests were a number of Masons from a distance, and regrets were received by the committee from brethren high in the Order in Canada and the United States, among them Past Grand Master Walkem, of Kingston; Hon. J. M. Gibson, D.G.M., Hamilton; J. J. Mason, Grand Secretary, and many others.

RECEPTION TO THE GRAND MASTER.

Shortly after eight o'clock the "At Home" was formally opened by the chairman of the evening, W. Bro. Col. H. C. Rogers, who performed the duties of his station with grace and affability. Other prominent Masons occupied seats of honor on the dais, among them R. W. Bro. Wm. Miller, D.D.G.M.; V.W. Bro. Charles Cameron; V.W. Bro. R. J. Winch; V.W. Bro. W. Paterson; V.W. Bro. James Alexander; R. W. Bro. E. Peplow, P.D.D.G.M.; W. Bro. A. Dawson. After an overture by the orchestra the Grand Master was introduced by R. W. Bro. E. H. D. Hall. The distinguished visitor was received with honors led by R. W. Bro. B. Shortly, P.D.D.G.M., and the following address was read by the chairman, Col. Rogers:

Most Worshipful Bro. John Ross Robertson, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada:

M. W. SIR,—The Masons of Peterborough desire to take advantage of your first visit to them since your election to the highest position the craft can bestow on any of its members, to congratulate you on your unanimous election as Grand Master, and to express their sense of your eminent fitness for that office.

Your Masonic career has been one of steady and deserved advancement, and in each of the many positions you have filled you have evinced the same earnest, untiring and painstaking efforts to promote the interests of our Order, and have devoted your time and means without stint to further the true principles of Masonry. Your researches into the history of older lodges, your works on Templar and Cryptic Masonry and your efforts to improve the work of the D.D.G.M.'s would alone entitle you to the praise of the craft; but you have by your numerous charities and unostentatious benevolence, thereby displaying to the world the true principles of Masonry, earned the applause not only of your brethren, but of those outside the fraternity, therefore we feel more reason to congratulate ourselves on having you as our Grand Master than you on your election.

On your recent visit to the Mother Grand Lodge in England, we know that you were received as a distinguished and honoured brother, that you have received many warm welcomes from your own lodges since you return, but to no place do the Masons of Peterborough yield the palm of hearty and sincere respect and esteem towards yourself, and loyalty to our Order and the Grand Lodge of Canada, over which you so worthily preside.

And we supplicate the Grand Architect of the Universe that during your tenure of that office you may be blessed with health and strength to fulfil the many duties devolving upon you, and that you may be long spared to give the craft the benefit of your zeal, learning and experience.

Peterborough, 18th December, 1890.

Grand Master Robertson replied as follows:—

R. W. SIR, MY BRETHREN OF PETERBOROUGH AND LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I think I can fairly claim on behalf of those that have preceded me in the honored office of Grand Master, that we are not only ornamental but useful members of the fraternity, useful in the sense that we not only look after the general welfare of the Craft, but are expected at short notice sometimes to brighten the reunions of the membership, to rejoice with those who rejoice, as in to-nights very pleasant assembly, and at other times with our fellow-Craftsmen to speak the kindly words of comfort and consolation to those who are plunged into sorrow and sadness.

A natural or acquired diffidence makes me feel more comfortable—more at my ease, in the useful than in the ornamental spheres of activity. I can ride all day and meditate on the slow trains that crawl all over this province. I can get up almost before I go to bed. I can delight myself with midnight sleigh drives in order to catch the flyers on the main lines, on Saturday mornings, when my brethren are housed and bedded, and when I am anxious to get home. I can gulp moonlit breakfasts in the hotels at the cross-roads. I can digest bar-iron or beefsteak—the difference is often in name only—I can go to sleep on sight of a Pullman sleeper, and I can keep my temper when the colored porter routs me from my berth an hour before the proper time. But why continue this catalogue of hardships? You will think of me as an evangelist of commerce, who is the essence of good nature, and who will put up with almost anything, so long as he can stock up the shelves of his storekeeping friends with the varied requirements of life, at prices so close to cost that it is wonderful how the seller manages to exist, let alone live. Yes, indeed, life to me would be devoid of landscape if it were not that my most shady experiences are tempered, changed to joy by the warm-hearted welcome that has waited for me everywhere.

It is indeed pleasant for me to know that my work in the Craft is meeting with the approval of the brethren, and as I labor in the field of Masonic endeavor I can truly say that I have had honors showered upon me far greater than I deserve.

If my efforts gratify the brethren, and if I am even in a small way the means of encouraging the interest in the principles upon which the Craft is founded, I am abundantly content, for that alone is ample reward for the time I have to this work of works. My humble effort to place on record the story of the Craft in all its branches has been to me the day dream of my life, and although many would shrink from the task of throwing into cold type the thousands of old manuscripts, I feel that the craft lore of this country deserves a place on the tablets of history, so that those who follow us in our work may continue to cultivate the teachings of the Craft, and thus better mankind and brighten the path of humanity and instruct those who have just passed the limits of Craft knowledge.

My desire in life is not only to be happy, but to try and make others happy. We all owe our duty to humanity at large, and if we can gladden the heart, lighten the burden, or lessen the tear that creeps down the cheeks of those who are down-hearted, we but exemplify the feeling that sympathy is the flower that crowns our practical, everyday life. Providence has been good to me indeed, and if I have been able to open the door of comfort to those who are weary, or give a helping hand to those who are sick in body or in heart, I frankly admit that my connection with the Craft has led me in the path which has bettered me as a man and taught me that to gather and to give are jewels in the crown of the brotherhood of man. But to-night we are met to greet one another as friends, and enjoy the social sunshine of life, without which existence would be a dreary journey. Having now, by the forbearance of the audience, been spared to reach this the last mile-stone in my address, I may be permitted to say that in the toils of office and more at home than when serving as a candidate for a festive occasion—in consequence I may tell you that I am not as decorative as wall-paper of the most expensive pattern—but I am glad to see so many brethren, and, perhaps gladder still, to see the fair faces of those without whom home would be a desert or a boarding house. Woman may feel kindly to Masonry, for, if it once in a while robs the fireside of its noblest ornament, the footsteps of its mercy rings on the stairs of their distressed sisters, and the voice of its charity often bids the widow to be of good cheer, and tells the orphan child that the Craft's protecting hand will shield him as he climbs into manhood.

THE PROGRAMME.

After this pleasant incident, in which the Grand Master's happy reply was warmly applauded, the different numbers of a short but meritorious programme were rendered. The selections by the amateur orchestra were particularly acceptable. This organization cheerfully gives its services whenever called upon—a boon which the public should not be slow to appreciate. The vocal numbers were all well given and deserved the hearty applause they received. Following is the programme:

Overture	Amateur Orchestra
Reception of the Grand Master.
Solo	Mrs. Macklin
Solo	Mr. Ketchum
Selection	Orchestra
Solo	Miss Vair
Piano solo	Mr. Umpleby
Duet	Miss Rundlette and Mr. Ketchum

"God Save the Queen" was the last number, but it was not given until some time later.

IN THE LUNCH ROOM.

During the evening the dining room was thrown open to the guests. Mr. Fred Hall, caterer, supplied an excellent lunch, and it is scarcely necessary to state that this department of the "At Home" attracted a fair share of attention.

The committee of management deserve the thanks of their brethren and guests for the success which attended the "At Home." The committee was indefatigable, and last night's event will do much to increase the prestige of the Masonic fraternity in Peterborough. Mr. B. Shortly, as chairman, and Mr. D. H. Barrett, as Secretary, deserve special mention for their efforts in behalf of the "At Home."

The Prentice Boys' Hall.

A New Lodge Room in Peterborough—Election of Officers.

Jubilee Lodge of Prentice Boys is in a flourishing condition, and its prosperity is apparent in the fine new lodge rooms which have been secured in the block at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, and which were occupied for the first time last night. The rooms have been formerly used by the Masons and Knights of Labour, and are alongside the Orange Hall on the third flat. The entrance to the Prentice Boys' apartments is directly at the head of the stairs. The suite of rooms has been comfortably fitted out, with some pretension to elegance and finish. The spacious main hall, with its lofty carved ceiling, has experienced the tasteful touches of the painter and paper hanger's skilful hand, and the charming effect is enhanced by the wall pictures and the rich-looking furniture. The floor is nicely carpeted, as well as the dais at either end, and the raised platform running down both sides of the room for the benches. The officers' chairs are nicely upholstered, and all the furnishings being new the lodge room has a bright and tasty appearance. The 'Prentice Boys now have a lodge room of their own in which they may feel a just pride. The hall is lighted by gas, and the windows have been supplied with blue blinds lettered "P. A. P. B., Peterborough," which may be seen from George street. In addition to the main hall there are a couple of ante-rooms, one for committee meetings, the other for band or drill corps practice. It is expected a drill corps will be organized in connection with the 'Prentice Boys this winter.

The first meeting in the new lodge room was held last night, when the annual election of officers took place. The members of the lodge were very enthusiastic upon entering into possession of their new quarters, and there is every prospect that Jubilee Lodge No. 7 will be more prosperous in future than ever before. The officers elected for the ensuing term are:—

As Christmas Draws Near

All are laying in their little store of luxuries, so I wish to call their attention to my immense stock of Liquors. I have a very fine Port Wine, well aged, which I am running off very cheap. Fine Ginger Wine. Natives, from the finest Concord Grapes. Some special lines of very old Port, which may be considered high in price, but when the age is taken into consideration, it appears low. I may speak the same of Brandy, Cherry, Whisky, Gin, Claret, Rum, Old Tom, Sherry, J. Bull. My stock of Liquors not only being the largest, is considered the most complete of any in town. My bottled Goods consist of Clubs, Gooderham & Worts, Imperial, Old Times, White Wheat, Hennesy, Martell, Jamieson's. Liquors of all kinds, etc., etc. W. J. MORROW 340 George street. dw

Stapleton & Elcombe have just received a supply of comb and strained honey and Fearmand's choice hams and breakfast bacon. Now is the time to prepare for Christmas. Call and inspect their stock of fine currants, raisins, spices, and C. & B. peels; also their large stock of the purest brands of ales, wines and liquors. All are respectfully invited to call and satisfy themselves that it is Stapleton & Elcombe who give the best value for cash. dw

Huntley & Palmer.

Biscuit manufacturers by appointment to Her Majesty the Queen and to H. M. the King of the Belgians. Factories in Reading and London, England. A Young Husband's Dilemma.

Yesterday a young wife made her husband the prince of proud men by bringing into the world a man child, the first that had blessed their two-years' wedded life, and with a wan humour as weak as her voice, but which the happy husband at least appreciated, she said it was her Christmas box. The young father was in a sad dilemma as to how he would return the gift, but at last a bright idea struck him, and he ordered a box of hawley bro.'s tea, and now, what with oolong tea, saffron tea, and hawley's tea, there's not a happier household in the land. dw

PARNELL GOING IT BLIND.

ADDRESSING MEETINGS IN IRELAND WITH HIS EYES BANDAGED UP.

Davitt Says the Whole Scheme is a Subterfuge and that Parnell Was Only Hit With Mud by Women and Children.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—A despatch from Michael Davitt states that the injuries sustained by Parnell at Castle Comer were inflicted by women and girls who pelted him with flour and mud. The story that lime was thrown in his face and eyes the despatch says is Parnell's latest disgusting dodge to evoke sympathy and divert the peoples' mind from the real issue.

In consequence of Parnell's speeches the Queen's Proctor is reviewing all the documents submitted in evidence in the O'Shea divorce case.

Several tenants on Smith-Barry estate were evicted from their homes to-day. There was no disorder.

Messrs. Condon, Flynn, Sexton, Arthur, O'Connor and Maurice Healy have arrived at Kilkenny to reinforce the band of McCarthy's speakers. The priests who were removed from Kilkenny have been brought back to assist in the canvass for Hennessy.

Archbishop Walsh of Dublin has telegraphed to the London papers that the account of the meeting of the Chapter of Dublin, published yesterday by United Ireland, is a shameful fabrication. The dean of the Chapter has also written a letter contradicting the statement made in the publication regarding the action of the Chapter.

The article which drew forth these denials declared that the chapter has adopted a resolution urging the ecclesiastical authorities to abstain from taking any action on the Parnell matter as there was a wide divergence of opinion among the Catholic laity in regard to the question.

McCarthy at Kilkenny.

KILKENNY, Dec. 19.—Mr. McCarthy addressed a meeting here to-day. He declared Hennessy would certainly be elected, and the only question was as to the extent of his majority.

Mr. Sexton also spoke. He said he deeply regretted the violence done to Mr. Parnell, as I that whatever his present feeling towards Parnell might be, his gratitude for his past services to Ireland was unchargeable.

Parnell and his colleagues drove to Johnstown to-day. Parnell still wears bandages over his eyes. Redmond, alluding to the denials that lime was thrown into Parnell's eyes, declared that two doctors staked their reputation on the fact that it was lime they found in his eyes.

The Granard Board of Guardians have adopted resolutions advising Parnell to retire temporarily.

The Athlone commission has voted against Parnell.

Beer and the Rioters.

KILKENNY, Dec. 19.—The rural population is under the leadership of the priests and ardent anti-Parnellites. This curious deference between the city and the country is explained by the fact that the breweries are the principal industries of the city and the brewing working people the principal ingredients of Parnell's supporters. Recently the bishops and priests started a determined temperance crusade, greatly reducing the income of brewers and publicans. This engendered a bitterness which only required an occasion for its development. The Parnell split served the purpose, and accordingly beer flowed freely among the town rabble, which was agitated anti-clerically. At once the ecclesiastics took an anti-Parnellite attitude. Respectable townsmen sided with the priests, but respectability does not move mobs. Among the rural population the clergyman is king. The priest is at the head of every country league and controls its working. A forecast of the situation of Monday's poll is that Hennessy will receive 5000 votes and Scully, the Parnellite candidate, 1700. The one certainty is Parnell's crushing defeat.

Kenny and Redmond start for Paris to-day to endeavor to capture O'Brien for Parnell. It is probable McCarthy and Sexton will meet O'Brien also. Parnell's move after the Kilkenny defeat is now causing speculation. He, however, still entertains hopes of victory and declines to speak of his plans.

Mr. Parnell to-day was quite ill from the effect of attending meetings at Goresbridge and Gowran yesterday. The branch of the National League on the Island of Jersey has adopted a resolution against Parnell.

The Freeman's Journal says: Parnell will carry Kilkenny at the coming parliamentary election if the priests hold aloof in the contest. Their conduct, it says, jeopardizes the validity of the election.

Ridiculously Exaggerated.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The Kilkenny correspondent of The Daily News says, "I previously on information obtained from his doctor denounced the injury to Mr. Parnell as cowardly. It turns out however, that the danger was ridiculously exaggerated. Mr. Parnell would have done equally well without his bandage. The whole affair is clap trap and make believe.

ONLY 13 YEARS OLD.

Yet She Deliberately Embarked on a Journey to Death.

MIDDLETON, B.C., Dec. 20.—Laura, aged 13, adopted daughter of A. J. Hatfield of this place committed suicide by jumping into the Annapolis River to-day. Owing to some fault she was corrected by her mother, who threatened her she would inform Mr. Hatfield. The girl left her home about noon, waded down to the river, took off her shoes and her tracks could be seen to the edge of the ice. A colored man saw her shortly after some little distance below the bridge floating down the centre of the stream and splashing water with her hands. He ran to give the alarm, but on his return no trace of her was found.

A BLOW BETWEEN THE EYES.

What Wiman Has to Say in Reference to South Victoria.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Erastus Wiman to-day said that the defeat of the reciprocity candidate at the election in South Victoria, Ontario, yesterday was a blow between the eyes for the cause of reciprocity between the United States and Canada. Both Tories and Liberals had made up their minds to regard the results of this contest as an indication of what might be the outcome of the general parliamentary election next year. The chief cause of defeat, however, was the fact that there has not been the slightest indication on the part of the United States toward encouraging reciprocal arrangements. If Congress should pass the Sherman-Hitt reciprocity resolution which applies to Canada the whole aspect of the reciprocity question in Canada would change.

THE WHARF COLLAPSED.

AND CARRIED SEVEN MEN TO A WATERY GRAVE.

Terrible Accident in Halifax Last Evening—A Heap of Coal Falls In the River With Many Workmen—All of Them Drowned.

HALIFAX, Dec. 19.—Seven men were drowned at 10 o'clock to-night by the collapse of a wharf upon which 2000 tons of coal were being stored. The cargo of the steamer Oakdean, chartered by the Cunard & Co., was being discharged on their south wharf. The wharf was being roofed in and it was intended to store the coal there all winter. The work of discharging was being carried on night and day. Fully half the cargo had been placed on the wharf, when at 10 o'clock 40 feet of the structure under the centre of the coal heap gave way. Ten men were at work on the spot wheeling and trimming at the moment of collapse. Without the slightest warning the spiles and flooring gave way and the centre of the coal heap fell. The men at work were buried with the falling coal. One man named Anderson succeeded in jumping into a solid portion. These were drowned:

NICHOLAS BALDWIN, an old man with large family.
CORNELIUS HAYES, married.
HENRY WISE, single.
JOHN KELLY, married.
JOHN BROWN, married.
A young man named DEW.
MICHAEL POWER, boss of the gang.

No effort was made to recover the bodies to-night.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERIES.

Again the Subject of Discussion in the French Senate.

PARIS, Dec. 19.—While the members of the Senate were discussing the foreign estimates to-day, Admiral Veron asked if any treaty with Great Britain regarding the Newfoundland fisheries had been concluded, and insisted that the draft of any such treaty should be submitted to the Chamber of Deputies for approval. He thought the settlement Great Britain proposed was acceptable.

M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, declined to enter into the details of the proposals submitted. He said: "We will not agree to the principle of a money indemnity. We do not wish that there shall be any interference with our internal legislation. We are awaiting fresh proposals."

LOVES A SHINING MARK.

Death Was Busy in the Province Yesterday—Awfully Sudden Demise of Rev. Vicar-General Laurent of Toronto.

TORONTO, Dec. 20.—Vicar-General Laurent, rector of St. Michael's Cathedral, and one of the most prominent priests of the archdiocese, left the Palace in Church-street early yesterday afternoon for the Convent street early in the afternoon for the Convent of the Good Shepherd, Parkdale, of which institution he is spiritual adviser. He left there about 4½, and 15 minutes later was seen in Jamieson-avenue, near King, by an acquaintance. He then appeared to be suffering and in great pain. He was standing on the sidewalk pressing both hands to his side and groaning heavily. The gentleman went up to him, and seeing his condition assisted him to the residence of Chevalier Gianelli, the Italian consul, which was close at hand. He was carried into the parlor and laid on a sofa. When asked if he wanted a doctor, the Vicar-General nodded his head, and Dr. Lynd was sent for, and at the same time a messenger was despatched posthaste to Brockton to summon Very Rev. Dean McCann to the side of the sick priest. Both dean and doctor arrived too late, the Vicar-General dying about five minutes before their arrival.

Very Rev. Joseph M. Laurent, Vicar-General of the archdiocese of Toronto, was born in L'Angou, Maine Loire, France. His parents belonged to some of the old families of La Vendee Militaire and took prominent parts in the war of La Vendee. He came to Toronto as a Christian Brothers with Bishop de Charbonnel and since that time resided at Toronto, taking the greatest interest in the improvement of the city, especially in music. Having spent many years in the best conservatories of music in Europe he acquired the knowledge which made him one of the most successful leaders of church choirs in Canada. Father Laurent spent 16 years in St. Patrick's parish, Toronto, and by his great energy built up a very fine church a beautiful presbytery and commodious schools. His parishioners were very much attached to him and saw with sorrow his removal to St. Michael's Cathedral. He also labored constantly for 30 years in the cause of education and the relief of the poor. He was a gentlemen of high intellectual gifts and a very effectual preacher.

Other Sudden Deaths.

At Meaford, Francis Lipsett hitched up his horse to drive to town, and while putting on his overcoat dropped dead on the floor from heart disease.

Richard Cummings, a farm laborer, called into Dr. Cowan's office, Napanee, for treatment, and the doctor being absent in the country, he sat down on a couch to await his return. At 2½ the doctor arrived and found the unfortunate man gasping for breath, and he died in a few minutes.

William Storry, sr., of Stouffville, was found dead in his stable, whither he had gone to do some chores.

The wife of Rev. L. Cameron of Thamesford was found dead in bed at 7½ yesterday morning. She was a native of Guelph.

Moses Grue, a carpenter, was killed by a Grand Trunk train at Kingston Mills while unloading lumber.

At Masham, near Wakefield, Adam Jackson, a well-to-do farmer, was yesterday morning found dead on the road in sight of his home, beside his team. His sleigh was upset while he was en route home with a load of lumber the preceding night, and he was killed.

A GROWL FROM THE BEAR.

Proposition to Colonize Irishmen in Siberia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 19.—The Novoe Vremya publishes an article attributing the decline in Russian currency and securities to the agitation in London in favor of the Jews in Russia. The article contains this sarcasm: This concern evinced by Englishmen, who beggared India and Egypt poisoned China with opium, destroyed the dangerous insects natives of Australia, and who, under the pretext of abolishing the slave trade, are exterminating in a barbarous fashion the African races, is certainly touching. The writer of the article then proposes that the Russian Government plant colonies of industrious Irish in Southwest Siberia and give England two Jews in return for every Irish colonist.

INDIANS ON THE WARPATH

SITTING BULL'S FOLLOWERS HEADING FOR THE BAD LANDS.

Troops on Their Trails—A Ranch Besieged—A Big Battle Expected at any Moment—Funerals at Fort Yates.

DENVER, Dec. 20.—A News special from Cheyenne River, via Rapid City, at 3½ this morning, says: "A courier is just in and has aroused the camp. He states a party of 15 men are besieged 50 miles from here on Spring Creek at Daly's ranch. The Indians have made three attempts to fire the ranch, one being nearly successful. One of the occupants is Hon. M. H. Day, aide-de-camp to the governor. The courier who brought the news had to make a break through the Indians, firing both pistols right and left, one of their bullets penetrating his overcoat. He rode by a circuitous route to our camp."

General Carr has sent Major Tupper with 100 men to the rescue. Should the command meet three Indians they will make short work of them.

BISMARCK, N.D., Dec. 20.—It is reported that the negroes in Mandan are affected with the Messiah craze and that they are holding nightly meetings in an empty Government building. They were started by the negro who went from here to Kansas City and began stirring up the superstitious blacks in that section. Their orgies are harmless so far.

PIERRE, S.D., Dec. 20.—An Indian scout runner arrived at Fort Bennett last night bringing word that Sitting Bull's followers, who escaped when their chief was killed, had camped the night before at the mouth of Thunder creek, on the Moreau river, being on their way to the Bad Lands. This point is 60 miles from Bennett and on a direct line through Big Foot's and Low Dog's hostile camps on Cherry creek. A report was received from Quartermaster Pierce that Col. Merriam's command of the Seventh Regiment had left Fort Sully to-day and had crossed the Missouri at Fort Bennett and started to intercept the hostiles at Cherry Creek ford, on the Cheyenne river.

Napoleon Deschaux, a squaw man, has just arrived from Plum Creek, 75 miles west of here. He says Sitting Bull's men with stragglers picked up along the way, in all amounting to about 300 men with ponies, under the leadership of Old-Rain-In-The Face, passing going south about noon. They appeared to be in good trim and on the warpath and there is no doubt they were bound for the Bad Lands.

FORT YATES, N.D., Dec. 20.—The funeral of the five policemen who were killed in Monday's fight took place yesterday afternoon, with full military honors. Captain Minor's company, 33d Infantry, acted as military escort. The cortege comprised nearly 1000 persons. The burial services were very impressive. Father Bernard performed the rites of the Catholic Church and delivered an eloquent tribute to the dead. Having spoken in English, the priest addressed the Indians in the Sioux language, appealing to them to follow the example of the illustrious dead. He praised in the highest terms the gallantry of Fechet's command in their dash to the rescue of the police, and impressed upon the police and friendly Indians the proof thus afforded them that the troops would take risks to protect them. This, he said, should inspire them to unswerving loyalty and patriotism. Immediately after these services Sitting Bull's body was buried by a quarter-master's detail in a deserted corner of the military cemetery without any ceremony. A guard will protect the grave against attempts to secure the body.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Assistant Adjutant-General Corbin received the following despatch from Gen. Miles at Rapid City, S.D.: My information was reliable as I positive of Sitting Bull's emissaries and runners going to different tribes and inciting them to hostilities. The order for his arrest was not given too soon, as he was about leaving with 100 fighting men. The effect has been disheartening to many others. I have directed the troops to destroy or capture the few that escaped after his death from Standing Rock General Brooke has more than 1000 lodges, or over 5000 Indians, under his control at Pine Ridge, but there are still 250 lodges, or over 1000 fighting Indians, in the Bad Lands that are defiant and hostile yet.

SUCCI'S BILL OF FARE.

He Will Take His First Dinner in Public on Sunday Afternoon.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Succi's 45 days' fast will terminate this afternoon at 3.10 o'clock. Its near approach causes him so much excitement that he cannot sleep. When he attempts to do so he merely dozes. Yesterday his weight was 106¾ pounds. His aggregate loss is 40¾ pounds. He looks very much shrunken up but although his stomach is empty, his intellect is clear, and his business faculties are apparently as keen as ever.

A well-known firm of caterers will pay Succi a handsome sum for eating his first meal in public. In order to whet his appetite he will take a cup of cocoa, succeeded by another of bouillon at 8.11 p.m. to-day in full presence of his audience.

His first square meal will be eaten at 4 p.m. on Sunday before several invited guests and the public on the stage of Koster & Bial's Concert Hall.

The bill of fare will consist of rice, sardines, broiled chicken, spaghetti, quail on toast and salad. The fluids will be chianti champagne, coffee, chocolate, followed by fruits, nuts and confectionery. Three or four pounds of food are expected to disappear within the recess solong awaiting their reception.

Succi has received an offer to appear in a dime museum in Boston for one week at a salary of $1,500. Succi will leave for that city on Sunday night.

A Suicide's Philosophy.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Bogboly of Frederick Bohem, a tailor, 25 years old, was found on the sidewalk in Hall-place, in rear of Tompkins' market, this morning and beside him lay a revolver, with which he had shot himself through the heart. Bohem was an Anarchist. A letter was found in his pocket addressed to the public, in which he said:

"I unwillingly take my life, but having come to the conviction that it's impossible to reach my ambition I find it's the only relief to escape the cruelties and sufferings of this of this barbarous system. I believe there is a heaven and a hell for the poor man and two heavens for the rich man. As I'm in hell now I hasten out of it."

The Brokers and the Police.

PARIS, Dec. 19.—The police were to-day compelled to disperse the brokers on the Petite Bourse. Some of the brokers desired to have the bourse closed till Jan. 2, but others opposed this. From quarreling over the matter the disputants finally came to blows.

He Ought to Die.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION, Mo., Dec. 19.—C.E. Dyche, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, shot himself with suicidal intent last night in the hotel parlor. In trying to wrest the revolver from him Mrs. Combs, his mother-in-law, and F. M. Baker were both shot. Dyche will die.

OUR TEXT
FOR Christmas Morning.

"Let us have Warmth and Comfort if the Stockings should go Unfilled."

A well filled stocking certainly tends to make old and young feel glad and merry on Xmas morning; but it is only a very poor and transient sort of merriment unless we are warm and comfortable. There isn't much fun in a pair of skates to the boy who is suffering for a pair of warm stockings.

First and foremost, then, if you can't have both—if you can't have the full stocking and the warm clothing, too—by all means have the warm clothing.

This point being settled, the next important thing to do is to visit the People's Popular CITY CLOTHING STORE of

H. LeBRUN & CO.
PETERBOROUGH,

where you will find everything in the Clothing Line calculated to insure the greatest amount of warmth and comfort for the smallest amount of money.

For instance, in:—

OVERCOATS,

we have plenty of them for both men and boys, and as the season is now so far advanced, we have to cut them down in price so as to clear out the whole stock.

The fit and style of our Overcoats are such as to command your confidence.

We have all grades and sizes, ranging in price from $2 50 up.

Just now we are making a feature of OVERCOATS and can give you the pick of many styles. Farther—our prices are from 25 to 30 per cent. below the regular selling figures.

PEA JACKETS.

The handiest coat a man or boy can put on while skating, or the best and most convenient garment for walking purposes. We have them made of Naps, to suit all ages at any price.

SUITS.

Beautifully finished in the newest Patterns of Imported Tweed, Cassimeres, Cheviots, Diagonals, &c. We ask you to compare our Suits with other kinds. We don't mean simply to look at them through the plate glass windows; but get hold of them, turn them inside out, pull at the seams, see how the buttons are fastened and the button-holes worked, raise up the collars, turn out the sleeves pull out the pockets examine the linings, trimmings, and so unable all the hidden parts. That's how to judge Clothing.

After you have compared the Clothing, then compare the prices.

UNDERWEAR.

The blessings of Warm Underwear during the cold weather are incalculable. We keep all the leading and genuine Scotch and Canadian makes of Undershirt, Drawers and Hosiery. The price in these will go down along with all other goods to the bottom figures.

A MESMERIZED MURDERER.

Defence of Mlle. Bompard in the Great Parisian Murder Trial—Experiment in Court Refused.

PARIS, Dec. 19.—In the Eyraud-Bompard trial to-day D. Liegeois was called and he said it was possible Mlle Bompard received suggestions of which she retained no recollections when awake. To effect this twould be sufficient to place the subject in an anæsthetic condition. The prisoner ought again to be put asleep by mesmerism in order to revive her recollection of facts occurring at the moment of the commission of the crime. The witness pointed out that according to the indictment Eyraud had not been able to put Mlle. Bompard asleep, yet she had been proved amenable to the hypnotic influence of Garanjer, having revealed the crime to him while hypnotized. For his (witness) part if he were the judge in this case, bearing in mind previous miscarriages of justice, he would rather cut off his hand than pronounce sentence upon Mlle. Bompard.

When the sensation which this declaration caused had subsided the procureur asked: "By what scientific means can you determine whether hypnotic sleep is real or simulated?"

Dr. Liegeois: "The subject that is really put to sleep can bear without betraying any symptoms of sensibility to pain pin pricks in various parts of the body."

Dr. Brovardel recalled, said he held the opinion of the Nancy School of hypnotizers in small esteem. All hysterical patients were found to be addicted to making associations of pretended facts that existed only in their imaginations. Every possible precaution to prevent a simulated trance had to be taken in examining subjects at Salt Petriere. He did not doubt the good faith of Dr. Liegeois but the latter's struts wanted scientific proof. Witness was not in favor of again hypnotizing Mlle. Bompard, as she did not wish to run the risk of letting the audience hear the revelations that might be surprised out of the accused.

Drs. Mollet and Ballet shared Dr. Brovarde's views. Both thought the crime so complicated that it could not have been committed under hypnotic influence.

Mr. Robert, Mlle Bompard's counsel, here asked that his client be hypnotized in open court and M. Decori, counsel for Eyraud, joined in the request.

The procureur opposed the request on the ground that the experiments would not help to bring out the truth. In refusing to accede to the prisoner's demand he defended the imprescriptible privileges of justice against paradoxes put before the court.

The judges retired to consider the question. Returning several minutes later they declared the request was rejected. Counsel for the relatives of M. Gouffe then addressed the court. He pictured the murdered man as a father, full of tender solicitude for his daughters. He passed over Eyraud as having confessed the murder. Regarding the woman he asked the jury not to believe her denials, but to punish both prisoners alike.

A Novel Point Raised.

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—The point having been raised that the execution of Remi Lamontague in Quebec this morning was illegal, owing to the death of the sheriff before the death penalty was carried out, a reporter called at the State Department regarding the matter. He was informed that there was nothing in the point as to the legality of the execution, as the writ was directed to the sheriff and his assistants.

If Your House is on Fire.

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"If it be well to wash the skin—and we never heard the proposition questioned—it is well also that we should be familiar with the means by which that purpose may be most efficiently attained.

"We once knew a beautiful woman, with a nice complexion, who had never washed her face with soap all her life through; her means of polishing were, a smear of grease or cold cream; then a wipe, and then a lick with rose water. Of course we did not care to look too closely after such an avowal, but we pitied her, for soap is the food of the skin.—

Soap is to the skin what Wine is to the stomach,

The Lecturer on Divine Healing

And His Teaching Further Considered.

"Thou hast tried them that say they are apostles and are not."—Rev ii:2.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The excitement exhibited by the lecturer on divine healing in the Opera House on Monday night was, I am told, most exhilarating. For so I have seen a big fish when caug t make a great commotion in the water, and jump, and sp ash and plunge to extricate itself. So the poor Irishman said when charged with evil; "but why f el so bad?" said his comrade, "the thing's not true, you know, Pat." "Ah, but," said Pat, "That is the difficulty; if it were not true I would not feel bad at a'l, at all." So with the Rev. Mr. Dowie. The dimness of vision mentioned in my letter is, he said, a malachite stat ment, and the gentleman it is said b came so excited as to appear quite "wrathy," and p ured on my unhappy head all the vocabulary of his denunciations he could command. But why feel so bad if it be not true? There is not much harm done, merely a sli g a wrong impression. Ah! but there is the difficulty. The conviction exists that it is true, that it is an assured fact, and as such upsets the whole theory the gentleman propounds on this subject, viz.; That the bodies of believers are so redeemed, where there is proper faith, as to be free from all bodily ailment or disease. Mr. Dowie considers himself a believer and has proper faith. If then dimness of sight exists his theory is disproven. Now as to the grounds of assurance: This physical infirmity was observed first, not as he supposed in the hall, but the first night the lecturer held forth in the Baptist church and under the full light of the pulpit lamps, when a small hymn book being handed to him and he being unable to read the small print, a larger book was presented. This was seen and noticed not by the writer alone but by many others.

Now, we do not say, of course, that there is anything to blame in having this infirmity, but there is much to blame in denying it, and when the gentlemen was doing this in the hall on Monday night and opened the hymn book on the table to read to show the correctness of his vision, the fact of his inca. acity and infirmity was so apparent as to create a ltter of an hter I am told all round, about a confirmation unexpected. Yet the lecturer still persis ed in his denial, and fiery denunciation of Mr Davis.

This leads to the surmise that the dimness of vision extends to the mind as well as to the body, and particularly to the moral sense, hence the reverend gentlemen seems to discern nothing indecorous, nothing improper, no violation of Christian charity, nothing unbecoming in calling people fools, liars and dirty beasts, and speaking to the disparagement of all the ministers and churches of the town. This rudeness and coarseness, this violence of speech, this use of vindictive epithets it was that led the writer to suppose he had possibly been ministering to a peculiar class of people in Australia; in or about Sydney.

Now as to a point or two of the dogmas the gentlemen inculcates. First.—As to the origin of bodily affliction. Mr. Dowie says all diseases of every kind are of the devil. Is this speaking according to God's word? Assuredly it is not. Who inflicted the terrible judgment of the boils upon the land of Egypt? It was the Lord by the hand of Moses. See Ex. 9-10. Who was it inflicted the terrible plagues on the Israelites in the wilderness? It was a divine judgment. See Num. xvi, 46-48. Who was it that smote Miriam with leprosy? It was the anger of the Lord? See Num. xii, 9 and 10. By whom was Naaman, the servant of Elisha, made a leper? It was by the word of the Lord from the mouth of the Prophet. See ii Kings, 5-27. And what saith the Lord himself in later times respecting pestilence among His people? "I," says He, "have sent it." See Amos iii, 10. And in New Testament times how was it that Lazarus, whom Jesus loved, was sick? Was it by the devil? No. It was for the glory of God, it is said; and the devil doeth nothing for the glory of God. See John xi, 4. The same is said of the man born blind, to whom Jesus gave sight. John ix, 1 and 2. The same may be said of Peter's wife's mother, who had fever, and of Timothy, who had other infirmities, and others. What also says St. Paul? Does he speak of affliction as always of the devil? Hear him: "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth and scourgeth every son whom He receiveth." Heb. xii, 7 and 8. Does he teach that the body has been redeemed so as now to be free from disease and corruption? It is at present, he says, in the bondage of corruption, so that we who have the first fruits of the Spirit groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption to wit, the redemption of our body. See Rom. viii, 23.

Then, speaking of the body and the resurrection, he says: It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption." And yet, in face of all this, we are asked to believe that no disease or sickness can be originated by the laws or purposes of the Supreme. The Prophet Jeremiah says (Lam. iii, 33): "The Lord doth not afflict willingly;" and Job says (i, 10): "Shall we receive good at the hands of God, and shall we not receive evil?"

Mr. Dowie says the Lord does not afflict at all, or occasion any evil, and to believe He does is to disbelieve Christ when He says: "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit." Poor Job therefore it is said was mistaken when he said: "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord." Yet the Scripture saith (Job 1, 22): 'In all this Job sinned not nor charged God foolishly."

A word in conclusion as to Mr. Wesley. The lecturer has once or twice insinuated that Mr. Wesley believed and taught the views he propounds, and faith as taught by St. James and in the Scriptures generally, but Mr. Wesley was no fanatic. He believed in the use of means, in the use of those medicinal curatives which God has so graciously provided, and in the employment of men skilled therein. He published a book of medicinal recipes for his people, called "Primitive Physic." This book I have now before me. To seek, therefore, to represent Mr. Wesley as teaching faith healing as taught by Mr. Dowie, involving his unscriptural dogmas, is to misrepresent Mr. Wesley.

To pervert Scripture, to abuse ministers and church and to devise every perversions is a common practice, and characteristic of these wandering stars that visit us occasionally. And if it be any gratification to the lecturer on Divine Healing to know I think I speak the voice of the community when I assure him that for vituperative harangue and the use of vulgar and abusive epithets in his addresses, generally, he has indeed excelled—he bears the palm.

Yours respectfully,
G. H. DAVIS.

Twenty Years in the North-West.

When the Israelites, in the form of Hon. Wm. McDougall and the Canadian voyageurs, went up to take possession of our great North-West Canadian Canaan in 1872, Mr Geo. Whitla, whose return to town was mentioned in yesterday's issue, accompanied the expedition. "Twenty years after" he can tell a moving tale by flood and field, and portage and plain, almost equalling in its sphere, the thrilling scenes that lovers of Dumas found in his "Vingt Ans Apres."

The expedition went by the ordinary means of travel to Collingwood; thence by steamer to Port Arthur, and thence by portage and paddle to Winnipeg, then known as Fort Garry. The journey, through swamp and stream, over rock and through thicket, took six weary weeks. Roads had to be made, and at the portages the big flat-bottomed boats had to be unladen and their cargoes shifted past rapids to navigable water. The Winnipeg of that day was a petty trading post, with a population, all told, of about 200. Twenty years after it is a flourishing city, the metropolis of a new nation with a population of about 38,000 or 40,000 the latter figures being particularly insisted on by persons having city lots for sale. Mr. Whitla seemed to have got a more hospitable reception than Lt-Governor Macdougall. He stayed in the country, having escaped the delicate attentions of Louis Riel, then at the head of the disaffected half-breed voyageurs and coureurs des bois, which resulted in the Lieut-Governor taking French leave of the Northwest before he could have a chance to show what he could do in civilizing the great "lone land." Mr. Whitla was for some time in the employ of a navigation company, whose craft plied on the Red River, between Winnipeg and Moorhead. On the completion of this line, Mr. Whitla removed to the Saskatchewan, the line of steamers with which he was connected plying between Grand Rapids and Edmonton. And he has been following the windings of the sinuous Saskatchewan ever since. This steamer line does a lively traffic at present, which will be much increased when the new railway line to connect Calgary and Edmonton is completed—next July as expected. There seems to be a great future for Edmonton. It will be the distributing point for the Peace River district, and an immense tract of country surrounding it especially rich in agricultural possibilities and mineral resources, the latter including inexhaustible depo its of coal, and gold unusually promising in quality. The opening up of railway communication will open this great district for the surplus population of the old world. Mr. Whitla's home is at present at Prince Albert, and he reports the Peterborough people in that town and vicinity; Messrs. Isaiah McColl and the Goodfellow Brothers, are thriving finely and growing wealthy. The climate is very fine in that vicinity, much milder than in Winnipeg and other places to the south. When Mr. Whitla left the weather was quite mild, without any snow to speak of. Mr. Whitla spends a month in town, and will doubtless give any inquirers any information they may require concerning this new land of promise.

Purify the blood in every condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditted and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

SHOT HIMSELF IN THE HEAD.

Peculiar Affair in Strathroy—A Prisoner Shot While En Route to Jail.

STRATHROY, Ont., Dec. 18.—A peculiar shooting affray occurred here last night about 11 o'clock while Chief Wilson was taking Harry Dexter to jail on a charge of obtaining $80 from Fanny Joiner Cook at the Allan Hotel.

As the officer and the prisoner reached the jail door there was a pistol shot and Dexter fell to the ground. It was found that the bullet had entered his head above the right eye, making a severe wound and causing much pain. Dr. Henderson dressed the wound, and it was found necessary to send him to London Hospital. His own story is that he knew of the severeness of the law on any one carrying a revolver, and fearing lest the chief should find one on him, he took it from his hip pocket, and while in the act of throwing it from him accidentally discharged it.

He is the son of an English clergyman and comes from near London, Eng. He is well educated and a sergeant in the volunteers [illegible]

The Lymph in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 19.—The Montreal general hospital has received a consignment of Dr. Koch's lymph from Berlin and to-day experiments were tried at the hospital with it. Two women suffering from lupus in a highly developed state were inoculated with the lymph by Dr. Roddick in the presence of leading medical men and a large number of students. The experiments were successfully performed, but results will have to be awaited. The inoculation will be repeated.

Hamilton and Lincoln Petitions.

HAMILTON, Dec. 19.—The taking of evidence in the election protest was continued to-day. The time was occupied in the examination of hackmen as to the use of their cabs at the election.

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 19.—The petition against the return of Mr. Hiscott was dismissed yesterday with the costs, about $450 on the p ti oner.

THE MEN AROUND WHOM THE IRISH FIGHT CENTRES.

Parnell Blinded by Time and McCarthy Badly Hustled by the Opposing Faction Kilkenny, of Cat Fame, the Scene of the Battle for supremacy.

Just now Ireland is the scene of a political, physical and sing-song-singing battle such as is never to be seen in this country. The opposing factions, led on the one side by

CHARLES STEWART PARNELL,

for ten years the most successful leader of the Irish Parliamentary Party, and on the other by Justin McCarthy, the Irish historian of our own times, meet daily somewhere or other in the little green isle. The status of the respective leaders for supremacy of the Irish party in the House of Commons should not be misunderstood if Irish history of present events is to be read aright. Parnell was elected chairman of the Irish parliamentary party at a full meeting of its members. Events, social in their nature and affecting his private character (already fully laid before our readers) transpired, and after a week's wordy war fifty of the members left the room, and, holding a private meeting, elected chairman. Parnell appealed to Ireland in the election to fill the Kilkenny vacancy, and holds that his opponents have used with the English and that he has stood true to Ireland throughout. His opponents affirm that Home Rule cannot be secured without Gladstone's aid, and their battle-cry is Parnell or Ireland! On Tuesday, after innumerable wordy blows had been struck, resort was had to physical means, and Parnell received a mass of lime in the eye which caused him excruciating pain and which may yet permanently injure his eyesight. McCarthy was, on the other side, badly hustled about by the enraged mob.

JUSTIN M'CARTHY,

CANADA'S COMMANDER.

The New Chief of the Dominion Militia and His Record.

COL. IVOR CARADOC HERBERT, of the British Grenadier Guards, and who recently held the post of military attache of the British embassy at St. Petersburg, has arrived in Canada and has entered upon his duties as Commander of the Canadian Militia. Col. Herbert was born on the 15th July, 1851, and commissioned an ensign and lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards on the 5th of November, 1870, and a lieutenant and captain on the 20th of November, 1874, and raised to brevet-major on the 19th of November, 1882, and captain and lieutenant-colonel 2nd of May, 1885, being promoted to a colonelcy on the 18th of August, 1889, becoming regimental major 26th of October, 1889. Colonel Herbert has had much experience on the staff service, having been brigade-major of the Home district from the 25th of February, 1882, to the 31st of July, 1883, brigade-major of the expedition sent to Egypt, from the 4th of August, 1884, and brigade major of the Home district from the 11th of November, 1882, to the 1st of May, 1883. He became commandant of the school for auxiliary forces, Wellington barracks, on the 1st of November, 1885, holding the position until the 6th of April, 1886, when he was appointed military attache at St. Petersburg, which position he held until the present time. It is said he is highly, in favor with Lord Wolseley. He is only thirty-nine years of age. He was present at the action of Majuba and at the battle of Tel-el-Kebir in the Egyptian expedition of 1882, was mentioned in despatches and received the medal with clasp and bronze star in recognition of Medjidie. He was also with the Nile camel corps at the action of Abu-Klea in the Nile expedition of 1884-5 for which he received two clasps. Mrs. Herbert is considered one of the beauties of England and is also wealthy.

Popular Ben Franklin.

By his manners and ways of life he became the most popular man in France, so that when he gained his presentation to the king his future was assured. As he passed through the streets of Paris he was followed by admiring eyes and cheered loudly by enthusiastic voices, says the Century. A contemporary writes: "A friend of mine paid something for a place at a two-pair-of-stairs window to see him pass by in his coach, but the crowd was so great that he could but barely say he saw him. He was the Frenchman's embodiment of the ideal citizen, republican, philosopher and friend. He completely captivated and captured the people of France, whom he perfectly understood, and he well knew that a popular man becomes soon more powerful than power itself." Condorcet said: "It was an honor to have seen him. People repeated what they had heard him say. Every fete which he consented to receive, every house where he consented to go, spread in society new admirers, who became so many partisans of the American revolution."

WONDER WHAT I'M GOING TO GET?

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

WONDER what I'm going to get?
This is what begins to fret
All the little girls and boys
When they think of Christmas toys.
Long before the day is near
We are always sure to hear
From each happy household pet—
"Wonder what I'm going to get?"
Hangs around the house all day;
Doesn't seem to want to play.
Writes, with dirty little paws,
Begging notes to Santa Claus;
Hangs his stockings on a chair
So's to find the biggest pair;
By this question always met—
"Wonder what I'm going to get?"
Christmas day is here at last—
All our troubles now are past.
Santa Claus came down last night,
Spreading round him fresh delight.
With a twinkle in his eye,
"There," said he, "sleep on, young fry,
No more by the thought beset
As to what you're going to get."

Up the chimney quick he goes,
Softly rubs his ruddy nose;
Yet methinks I hear him sigh
As he nods a last good-by,
And methinks I hear him say
Ere he vanishes away,
Say with just the least regret—
"Wonder what I'm going to get?"

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE

ARE NOT a Purgative Medicine. They are a BLOOD BUILDER, TONIC and RECONSTRUCTOR, as they supply in a condensed form the substances actually needed to enrich the Blood, curing all diseases coming from POOR and WATERY BLOOD, or from VITIATED CONDITIONS in the BLOOD, and also invigorate and BUILD UP the BLOOD and SYSTEM, when broken down by overwork, mental worry, disease, excesses and indiscretions. They have a SPECIFIC ACTION on the SEXUAL SYSTEM of both men and women, restoring LOST VIGOR and correcting all IRREGULARITIES and SUPPRESSIONS.

EVERY MAN Who finds his mental faculties dull or failing, or his physical powers flagging, should take these PILLS. They will restore his lost energies, both physical and mental.

EVERY WOMAN should take them. They cure all suppressions and irregularities, which inevitably entail sickness when neglected.

YOUNG MEN should take these PILLS. They will cure the results of youthful bad habits, and strengthen the system.

YOUNG WOMEN should take them. These PILLS will make them regular.

Market Items.

There was a monster market to-day, and, in consequence, business was brisk. The principal offerings were meat and fowl. Turkeys ranged from $1 to $1 50; geese, 70 to 90c. There was an immense quantity of fowl sold. Butter sold 16 to 17c.; eggs, 25 to 28c. Next Wednesday the Christmas market will be a big one.

Funeral From the Station.

The funeral of the late Joseph J. Henry took place to-day. The remains were brought from Toronto on the C.P.R. train. A large number of friends and relatives of the deceased accompanied the remains to St. Peter's Cathedral, and from thence to the R. C. Cemetery. The pall-bearers belonged to the Toronto Celtic Branch of the I. C. B. U., of which deceased was president.

Upset But Not Hurt.

This morning a runaway occurred on Aylmer street. Miss F.O. Ferguson, daughter of Mr. Wm Ferguson, George street, was driving in a cutter when the horse became unmanageable and ran away. In turning a corner the cutter was upset and Miss Ferguson spilled on the road. She was not hurt, however, and rose up laughing from her uncomfortable position. The horse was stopped before running further. Some damage was done to the cutter.

A Couple of Vags.

Police Magistrate Dumble disposed of a couple of vagrants this morning. John Seney, an old man who not long ago was a flourishing quack doctor, but lately has been wandering homeless and friendless about town, was ordered to leave Peterborough before two o'clock in the afternoon under a penalty of going to gaol. Seney says his old home is in Hope township.

John Stewart, a middle-aged man who has been "looking for work" and stopping over night at the police station for some time, was committed to gaol for four months.

Oyster Social.

An oyster social, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, was held in the lecture room of the George Street Methodist Church last night. It was highly successful, as all entertainments gotten up by the ladies of the George Street Church are. During the evening oysters were served in the big oven room. Mr. Jas. Keachy was chairman. The following programme gave satisfaction to the large audience:—

Instrumental duet ..... Misses Bradburn and Rowden
Reading ..... Mr. Dobbin
Duet ..... Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Daly

INTERMISSION

Instrumental ..... Mr. Umbleby
Reading ..... Mr Bowes
Solo ..... Mrs. Shorey
Recitation ..... Mrs. Caldwell

Christmas Meats.

There's nothing nicer for a Christmas dinner than a tender, juicy roast of beef. Or if you prefer fowl, or sweet sugar-cured bacon, Mr. J. J. Howden, the butcher, can supply you with the very best. His stock of meats for the holiday trade is large and complete. Mr. Howden purchased some of the finest beef animals in the district, and shows a superb stock of beef, as well as mutton, pork, hams, etc. He also keeps a full line of fine fat fowl. Remember the place, 361 George street, and go there for your Christmas meats. 1d

Orthopedic Surgery.

Orthopedic surgery literally relates to making the feet straight and right. Technically it means that branch of surgery that rectifies deformities and distortions of the members of the human body and of the joints. Dr. McKenzie, of Toronto, lecturer on the subject in Toronto University and in the Women's Medical College, will make his first regular monthly professional visit to Peterborough on Friday, Dec. 26th, and may be found at the Grand Central Hotel. Dr. McKenzie stands high in his profession. He has been appointed examiner in surgery next year for Toronto University next year, and on Thursday last delivered one of the post-graduate lectures delivered in Toronto University by the leading members of the leading Medical College faculties of the continent. Reference is made to Dr. McKenzie's card elsewhere in this issue.

The Mission Band.

The Frazer Mission Band of St. Paul's church held a very successful sale and entertainment in the school-room last night. Proceedings began about seven o'clock, when the children of the mission band began to assemble and prepare for the business of the evening. The attendance was good and sales were brisk. Over $40 was realized. The sale table was presided over by Miss Tucker and Miss Stewart; the refreshment booth by Miss Bella Hazlitt and Miss Annie Hall; and the candy stall by Miss Sophie Cameron. These young ladies were assisted by the children of the mission band. During the evening music was given (on the piano kindly loaned by Mr. Jackson) by several of the girls, among them Misses Aggie Hall, Katie Ferguson, Georgie Dennistoun, Bella Taylor, Bessie Connal and Mabel Collins. The sale continued about half-past eight. The members of the mission band are elated over the success of their little effort.

An Early Morning Fire.

About half-past four o'clock the fire brigade was called out to a burning house on Louis street. The fire was in the kitchen and sheds and would not get into the main part but for an accident to a person who was endeavoring to remove household goods. The man started downstairs with a section of bedstead in one hand and a lamp in the other. He fell downstairs, and the coal oil spilling over the floor and stairway was the means of spreading the fire. However, the firemen soon got it under control. It was a double frame house, one half of which was occupied by Baptiste Lefort, the other by Mrs. Levesque. Most of their household goods was saved. The house was owned by Mrs. Levesque. It was damaged to the extent of about $300.

Condolence.

At a late meeting of Court Peterborough the following resolution was passed:—

MRS. THOS MARKS: Dear Madam,—The members of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C. O. F., desire to express their heartfelt sympathy for you in the bereavement which God in His infinite wisdom has called upon you to bear. You are called upon to mourn the loss of a loving husband, and your children of an affectionate father, whose memory will, as the years roll on, be cherished ever fresh and green in the hearts of those who remember his virtues while in life. An honoured member of Court Peterborough while in life, let us hope that he has met his reward in the High Court above. While the burden imposed upon you as wife and mother is exceedingly hard to bear, we trust that you will find encouragement in the belief that the parting is not final, and that we shall all meet hereafter as members of a united family; united to part no more.

A Tale of Christmas Buying.

DONE UP IN VERSE.

Come fathers, mothers, rich and poor, and bring your children all,
My large and well assorted stock will suit you,
great and small.
Your romping boy shod in King's boots, no matter where he tramps,
Will look to you awake at night with colic, chills or cramps.
My stock in trade now in fancy line, nice slippers, boots and shoes, Must be to the taste of every beast tanners and blacksmiths use,
To give the names of every one my pen could not begin.
From the huge alligator down to the tough grasshopper skin.
You will not fail to please your eye from my grand show of goods,
All choice designs and newest styles my well-filled shelves include,
Dry warm feet essentials to health as much as bread,
To save your own and dear friends' lives, come buy your boots from Reid.
No store in the Dominion can a grander stock display
From the old city of Quebec north-west to Hudson's Bay.
Cheap and shabbiness with strict honesty combined
Has public confidence secured increase in sales I find.
Now competition is the rage in every branch of trade;
I have cut all my prices down and great reductions made;
The season's underneath me, sure will break his neck I'm afraid
With bargain novice off the stock and leave the room to Reid.
To customers both old and new my thanks I do extend
And in the future as the past on me you may depend,
The price and quality of goods that I to you lay down,
Will knock the spots off any man, in the same trade in town.
The festive seasons are at hand, this year is getting scarce,
A Merry Christmas and New Year I wish you one and all;
May each joy come and go before you sleep among the dead,
Is the sincere and earnest wish of your friend R. J. Reid,

THE BOOTER.

Bobcaygeon's New Motel.

On the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Reid, over a hundred of their friends, local and from a distance, attended to irs house warming. A most pleasant evening was spent in various amusements, some thirty couples taking part in the dance. The folding doors in the dining room were thrown open, thus making a ball-room forty two by eighteen feet. The supper was elegantly spread in this room, the new silver, linen and trimmings presenting a very fine appearance. The new house is roomy, bright, and laid out with good judgment. The building, two stories, brick outside, with mansard roof, is a great improvement to the village, and is creditable to the contractor, Mr. J. Lancaster. There are twenty-five rooms, and the mansard flat, when finished, will give more. Mr. Reid has been well served, and altogether Mr. Reid has a house that will be certain to largely increase the popularity of Bobcaygeon as a summer resort.—Independent.

CHRISTMAS COMMENCEMENT.

Closing Exercises of the Peterborough Kindergarten.

An Admirable Department of the Public School—Directing the Young Ideas Proper Development—Programme of the Exercises.

Children are a constant source of delight to those who understand the childish mind and realize its future possibilities. The little tots entwine themselves around our hearts and become inexpressibly dear to us. They reflect our images in smaller and more delicate mould, and in all the freshness of their youth seem to supply the only cementing link between past and present. What a pleasure it is, too, to watch the gradual unfolding of the mind, the quaint expression of childish ideas, the boisterous jollity with which the little ones enter into their sport. As the age advances people begin better to understand the capabilities of the young mind and see the necessity of early training in order to fully develop its best qualities. From the home to the public school is an important step in the child's life. The tender home associations must be broken up, to a considerable extent at least, and the little fledgling is changed to an entirely different atmosphere. Scores and hundreds of unknown children are met with, harsh words encountered as frequently as previously were loving ones, greater restraint is exercised, the young mind has to grapple with problems and difficulties in school and out of it, that it timidly shrinks from, but which must needs be faced. Little wonder, then, that naturally lovely dispositions are sometimes marred and growing minds fall into unproductive channels. It is a sudden transition which leaves a lasting impression on the child. And here it is where the kindergarten school steps in as a sort of medium

BETWEEN SCHOOL-HOUSE AND HOME.

By easy stages the child gradually and almost imperceptibly begins the labour of acquiring information which, later on, must be followed with steady perseverance to enable the student to take his, or her, proper place in life. The kindergarten work partakes of the nature of play, and home influence is mingled with practical study in such a way that the budding mind is taught the first principles of education while, apparently, they are doing it "for fun." In this way the kindergarten fits the child to enter upon a regular course of hard study with the very best obtainable results. It is like a great nursery, where all is brotherly and sisterly love between the little folks, while they are playing and working together. Besides, the awkwardness of youth is knocked off and the pupils taught gracefulness and deportment. The ear is trained to music, the fingers to deftness, the eye to harmony, the mind to culture and the body to healthy exercise. All these things contribute to make the kindergarten a most valuable adjunct to the school system. This is, in brief, the purpose of the kindergarten, and the idea is receiving the commendation of all the prominent educationists in the Dominion. The system will, no doubt, take a firm hold in Peterborough, and probably in the course of a few years each Public School will be supplied with a kindergarten department of its own. At present there is only one school of the kind, which has been in operation about a year, and it has apparently given so much satisfaction that more will be established. Its costs very little. Parents of pupils pay a small fee, and the remainder of the expense is borne by the Board of Education. It is thus a public institution, where the children of rich and poor alike are welcome. The trustees wish to disabuse the public mind of any impression which may have gone abroad that it is a class affair. Such is not the case, and there need be no cause for petty jealousy on this account. All the children and become members of the same family for the time being.

MEET ON AN EQUAL FOOTING,

This preamble leads up to the report of the Christmas Commencement exercises of the Peterborough Kindergarten, a flourishing department of the public school under charge of Miss Warner. Invitations were issued for Friday afternoon at 2.30, and at that hour the room under the Collegiate Institute, where the Kindergarten class was well filled with ladies and gentlemen, including members of the School Board, teachers and parents of the children who attended the school. The room was gaily decorated by the skilfully-trained hands of the little folks. Festoons of evergreens entwined with colored chains swung from the central flag-draped pillar to the corners, and in one corner was a Christmas tree loaded with gifts. On the bright walls were pictures and samples of fancy work done by the juvenile students.

The programme showed what had been done in the way of educating the little ones. There were about sixty pupils, ranging from four to six years of age, all gaily dressed and good mannered, and as they the eyes of doting mammas and fond fathers followed their motions with interest and pride. Among the onlookers also was Mr. D. W. Dumble, "the children's friend" and originator of the kindergarten in Peterborough. His benignant smile and approving glance never turned as he watched the little folks at their exercises. Mr. Dumble has taken an active interest in the kindergarten, and it gives him great pleasure to see it a success.

First came some songs of welcome by the children, then a sign representing the seasons, next kindergarten gifts and occupations, and lastly the circle games and Christmas tree. During the performance of these the children were guided by their able teacher, Miss Warner, who was also helped by her assistants, Misses Davidson and McFarlane. The pupils were kept busy for over two hours, but their zest and good order never flagged, showing that their training had been thorough, and that the little ones fairly revelled in the exercises themselves. During the second part the pupils sat at small tables at their little chairs, and engaged in the various occupations. Then the room was cleared and the games began, in which the children sang and romped to their hearts' content, but all in a systematic way and with a graceful ease and tact showing the quickness of their young minds and the effects of careful training. It by appeared to be perfectly in touch with their teacher, and exhibited mutual confidence and esteem towards each other. They went through the various movements with a precision which warmed the hearts of all beholders, and sang sweetly and with spirit. Finally was despoiled and the gifts handed to the ones for whom they were designated. Among the presents were souvenirs for members of the School Board. The gifts were all the children's own handiwork, and reflected the highest credit upon their skill and ingenuity. There were paper canoes, coloured boxes, wall panels, etc., all cleverly designed and executed. A closing song was sung and the children marched out of the room to the air "The British Grenadiers," with the steadiness of little soldiers.

Before the gathering dispersed Mr. Dumble took occasion to refer to the good work done in the Kindergarten, and complimented Miss Warner upon the ability she had displayed in introducing and conducting the Kindergarten system. Inspector Tilley also addressed a few words commendatory of the Kindergarten, which he regarded as a most important department of public school work.

The expressions elicited from the spectators were most favorable to the Kindergarten. All appeared to be highly pleased with the closing exercises of the afternoon, and no doubt the school will be given fresh impetus as the result of the interest manifested in the Kindergarten by those present. Next July at the close of the term, a public entertainment will be given by the Kindergarten pupils in the largest hall obtainable in Peterborough. There is no doubt that an overflowing house will attend that entertainment.

As Christmas Draws Near

All are laying in their little store of luxuries, so I wish to call their attention to my immense stock of Liquors. I have a very fine Port Wine, well aged, which I am running off very cheap. Fine Ginger Wine. Natives, from the finest Concord Grapes. Some special lines of very old Port, which may be considered high in price, but when the age is taken into consideration, it appears low. I may speak the same of Brandy, Cherry, Whisky, Gin, Claret, Rum, Old Tom, Sherry, J. Bull. My stock of Liquors not only being the largest, is considered the most complete of any in town. Mr rotted friends consist of Cubs, Gooderham & Worts, Imperial, Old Times, White Wheat, Hennessy, Martell, Jamieson's. Liquors of all kinds, etc., etc. W. J. MORROW 340 George street. dw

Some Cures Claimed.

Dr. Dowie Lays on Hands, and it is Alleged Healing Follows.

At the Opera House yesterday afternoon Dr. Dowie conferred with a number of sick and afflicted persons, and in some instances laid on hands. There are conflicting reports of the results, some stating that no genuine good effects followed, but friends of the doctrine of divine healing claim that in a couple of cases at least the patients have been greatly benefitted if not cured outright. One is the case of a lady in town who has for four years suffered from rupture. She sent in a request for prayer, and yesterday sent in a written statement to the effect that she had been entirely cured. Another case is that of a well known lady living in the south ward, who has been scarcely able to move, and blind for some years, the result of spinal trouble. At the afternoon meeting Dr. Dowie laid hands upon her, and it is claimed that she afterwards walked out of the hall with no further support than her husband's arm whereas formerly she had to be carried from place to place, and was carried into the opera house that afternoon. Dr. Dowie states that her sight will also be restored.

Believers in Divine healing are not yet too sanguine, however, and do not wish to say much until the meeting Sunday night, when those who have received benefit will testify. The great majority of the public do not place any faith in Dr. Dowie's teaching, and all are waiting practical results anxiously.

At last night's meeting Mrs. Dowie related some marvellous cures which had taken place in California, and Omaha, Neb.

Dr. Dowie holds meetings in the opera house Sunday at 11, 3 and 7 o'clock. In the morning he will give his opinion of the ministers' attitudes towards the doctrine he avows, and in the afternoon and evening other subjects will be taken up. He promises to discourse on the evils of pork packing during the day. At the night meeting testimonies will be received.

The Marble Meat Mart.

Winch Bros.' Neat, Complete and Tidy Premises.

There is no gainsaying the truth of John Wesley's statement in his sermon on dress, "Cleanliness is indeed next to godliness." Messrs. Winch Bros. have shown their belief in it, at least in the furnishing and appointment of their handsome new meat mart in the market building, which especially at this Christmas season presents a most attractive picture. The furnishing is particularly directed to keeping the stock in the highest state of cleanliness, an eye being at the same time to elegance and beauty. The wood fittings of the shop are of oiled ash, a prominent feature being the immense meat safe which extends from the floor to the ceiling. It is enclosed in panelled ash. The safe, which has a capacity for six or seven tons of meat, is one of Malcom's, of Toronto, this particular one having taken 1st prize at the Toronto Industrial. All the stands, tables, counters and scales for meat, are of neatly made ash frames, covered with white marble. These are conveniently placed, and, of course, do not like wood, absorb grease or turn rancid and foul, but afford the most complete facilities for perfect cleanliness. With an eye to the same result the carcases are hung on racks, which prevent their contact with the wall, and these racks are now filled with luscious thorough-bred beef carcases, sheep, turkeys, geese, chickens, rabbits, hare and all the fish meat that our highest civilization demands, not to forget the most important part, an elegant cash desk, provided with the telephones of both systems, gives an air of style and refinement to the common place transaction of paying for a chop, steak or roast. Altogether Messrs. Winch Bros. have a most elegant and commodious meat market, and their present stock of magnificent meats fully sustains the reputation of the firm as among the leading meat merchants of the province.

He Robbed a Poor Widow.

"Billy" Oldfield in the Tolls—He Confesses a Theft, and Swop ples on Points Strongly at his Guilt of Many Others.

William Henry Oldfield, a man who has recently been employed as a night porter at the Oriental, was arrested last night at the Grand Trunk station, as he stepped off the train from the north, on a charge of having stolen $20 on or about the 30th September, from Mrs. Bessie Northcott, a poor washerwoman living on Charlotte street.

It seems that Oldfield when he worked at the Snowden House frequently stopped at Mrs. Northcott's. Over a week ago the widow missed the sum of $20 from her trunk. She had laid the money away a month or more before, to be used during the hard winter when work would be scarce, and did not miss it until last week. The matter was not reported to the police until Wednesday. Chief Reezel took the case in hand and has succeeded in fastening the crime upon the guilty man. Mrs. Northcott told the Chief she suspected Oldfield, as he was the only person who had been in the room where the trunk was. Oldfield had been discharged from the Snowden House for stealing cigars, and was suspected of having committed other petty larcenies. Mrs. Northcott said, further, Oldfield had told her he had a set of burglars' tools. Upon making enquiries at the Oriental Hotel, Chief Reezel learned that Oldfield had gone to Severn, Ont., to see his wife, but was expected back Thursday night. Meanwhile the Chief searched his room and, in a valise, found a bunch of keys, including a skeleton key. One of the keys, it was ascertained, opened the widow's trunk. Oldfield did not return until last night, when he was arrested as he came off the train.

Oldfield at first denied his guilt and said he would make it hot for his accusers, and it would perhaps have been difficult to convict him; but after he was in the cell a time Chief Reezel by a clever ruse excited the man's fears that everything was discovered and he then confessed that "the key had given him away," and he was guilty.

He pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning and was remanded for a week for sentence.

A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Eruption, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out up on my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names, but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places; that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentleman from England. He said me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,

H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Mo.

Bible class on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

The junior branch held their reception last evening. The attendance was large, some 60 lads being present, who enjoyed immensely the good things provided for their entertainment. Mr. E. J. Kidd, chairman of the junior branch, presided, and after devotional exercises a programme of instrumental and vocal music, recitations, etc., was introduced, which were given to the satisfaction and we trust, profit of the lads, by Miss Addie Armstrong, Masters Fred McFadden and Hudson, and Messrs. Elliott, Mount Pleasant; J. J. Turner, jr., J. Williams, E. Hudson, F. G. Saunders, and R. J. Colville, General Secretary. A hearty vote of thanks moved by the lads to the kind friends who had entertained them, was carried unanimously. At the close of the programme an abundant supply of cake and coffee was passed around by a committee of ladies, to which the lads did justice. The boys were greatly pleased with their evening's pleasures.

Bengough.
Wit and Humour.

Bengough, the well-known editor and caricaturist of Canada's only humourous paper, Grip, will entertain, in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening, December 22nd, all the educated and uneducated, the critically inclined and uncritical, the witty and the pretty, the ugly and the dull people of the town, by his unique illustrations in crayon and comedy, on "People you Know," supplemented by a humourously depicted chalk talk on the "Single Tax Question." Mr. Bengough is always the cartoonist. With unerring skill he chooses just the point in his victim that can be exaggerated with effect. A bumper house will greet him and enjoy a treat such as rarely falls to the lot of Peterborough audiences. 2d143

Mr. Laurance's special training and long experience enable him to select glasses to fit the exact needs of each patron, and the glasses themselves being superior to any made, the best of satisfaction is secured in every respect. d139-wtd

A Young Husband's Dilemma.

Yesterday a young wife made her husband the prince of proud men by bringing into the world a man child, the first that had blessed their two-years' wedded life, and with a wan humour as weak as her voice, but which the happy husband at least appreciated, she said it was her Christmas box. The young father was in a sad dilemma as to how he would return the gift, but at last a bright idea struck him, and he ordered a box of hawley bro.'s tea, and now, what with catnip tea, saffron tea, and hawley's tea, there's not a happier household in the land. dw

THE KILKENNY CAMPAIGN

NON LEE DENYING THAT HE SUPPORTS PARNELL.

Parnell Speaking at Kilkenny—Was Mud or Lime Thrown in His Eyes?—Parnell Ridicules McCarthy as a Leader Who Has Not Two Inches of Steel in His Body.

KILKENNY, Dec. 21.—Mr. Parnell, despite the injury to his eyes, continues to take an active part in the campaign of Vincent Scully. To-day he delivered an address from a window of the hotel at which he is staying in this place. At the opening of his address he referred to his treatment by the McCarthyites at Castlecomer, and denied the statement of his opponents that it was flour that was thrown in his face and eyes at that place. He was positive in his assertion that slate and lime were the substances thrown at him. Mr. Parnell then devoted himself to explaining the political situation. He declared that he would allow no combination, however powerful, to drive him from his duty to Ireland. He would not yield to English dictation.

Referring to Mr. McCarthy Parnell ridiculed him as the leader who did not have two ounces of steel in his whole body. The question before the Irish people, he said, was whether Ireland should take her politics from England or Ireland. The Irish people ought not to yield to old women humbugs, who were airing their virtue throughout the country. The whole policy of his opponents was a ventilation of lies about a miserable candal. They had nothing to stand upon but filth, but the pure waters of public opinion would wash them and their filth away. If the people trusted him he would aim to obtain for them a Parliament which would not be merely a big board of guardians, to be turned out by the batons of the police, but a really legislative body, not under the control of English public opinion, and powerful to administer to Irish needs and to give Ireland a place among nations.

Parnell made another speech last evening. In the course of his remarks he said: "In 1873 God told me to put my hands to the plough and I obeyed." Parnell concluded a follows: "I feel within me that the day of victory is near at hand, and that this is the last bitter and doubtful struggle before Ireland. I feel that the gates of darkness will open before us. We are even now walking in the valley of the shadow of death, yet the light will surely come—the light of the Irish sunburst, which has never been absent and never will be, but which will always be a beacon to our nation to encourage us to go forward and to light our path and show us the true road. On that road we will walk together to victory.'

Sunday's Meetings.

KILKENNY, Dec. 21.—Mr. Parnell and Mr. Scully, the Parnellite candidate for Parliament left here at noon to-day and drove in a closed carriage to Clare. They were accompanied by a long procession of cars filled with Parnell's supporters. Upon arriving at Clare, the Parnellites found a meeting proceeding opposite the Catholic chapel in support of Sir John Pope Hennessey. When Mr. Parnell reached the crowd, the priest, Father Walsh, addressing Parnell, said: "These are chapel grounds. You must not speak here." A local farmer here interposed, saying that the ground did not belong to the chapel, that it was Keogh's field and that Parnell had a perfect right to speak there. Mr. Parnell invited Father Walsh to hear both sides. Arrangements had been made to hold the meeting in that field, he said, and it must proceed. Father Walsh then requested everybody on his side to leave with him, and some few persons followed the priest and Sir Thomas Esmonde, who was also present. A meeting was then organized and Mr. Parnell made an address. He said that although his party did not have all the clergy on his side he had no harsh word for any one of them. He desired the people to listen to the voice of the priests and to reverence their position as priests. Yet as laymen the people could not admit the priests absolutely to control the elections. He proceeded to inveigh against the treacherous mutineers who were enfeebling the party at a most critical moment. He asked his hearers to consider his political past and to look into his innermost heart and say whether they found any wrong there as regarded his guidance of the national party. (Cries of "No! No!") He could not look an assemblage of his countrymen in the face if he did not speak the truth. After some further remarks Mr. Parnell concluded his speech, and leaving Clare, accompanied by Mr. Scully, drove six miles to Johnswell, where another meeting was held. While Mr. Scully was addressing this meeting Mr. Timothy Harrington arrived and was received by the crowd with much enthusiasm. Being called upon for a speech, Mr. Harrington addressed the meeting. In the course of his remarks he said that his colleagues in America had been led astray by messages from this side of the ocean. "We," he said, "regretting that the enlightened majority party in parliament had taken a leader bound hand and foot to a British statesman, asked: 'How much did you give for this man.' Nothing was better calculated to shame and discredit the party. Mr. Parnell next spoke.

Parnell reminded the electors that they had to deal with English state craft which was watching to seize every point of vantage ground that Irishmen surrendered. It was not a big Board of Guardians for which Ireland contended; it was a parliament that would fully satisfy the aspirations of the people. To achieve this the people must stand by their leader, and not leave Ireland to the incapable persons who were trying to step into his shoes. His opponents had elected an amiable man. A quiet, good-hearted soul. McCarthy was the sort of man to ornament a quiet and early tea party. [Laughter]. His opponents had also elected eight other men to take care of their leader, so he might be proud to find that it took nine men to fill his chair when his enemies had succeeded in dragging him out. He knew every one of them men and from the depths of his heart he could say that if he thought he could have the destinies of Ireland safely in their guardianship he would cheerfully and willingly step down and aside. But he knew such a thing was impossible, and it would be a coward's part to leave his country to be torn asunder by 80 factions contending for power and place. The men opposing him were not elected to sit in judgment upon him. They had no authority through the voice of the people and until Ireland gave him his dismissal he would regard himself as the commanding officer carrying the parliamentary banner through the battle, which, on abundant grounds, despite his many precious services, we find ourselves with regret forced to the conclusion that we must regard Mr. Parnell as a fallen leader no longer worthy of the people's confidence. I earnestly hope that the progress of events will not compel us to adopt an attitude of more active intervention."

foe. [Cheers.] He believed Kilkenny would decide for them. If not he would not be down hearted, but would still hold aloft the flag until every constituency in Ireland had an opportunity of declaring its judgment in a clear voice. [Cheers.] Mr. Parnell returned to Kilkenny to-night.

A Shindy at Cork.

DUBLIN, Dec. 21.—Mr. Harrington, M.P. arrived last night in Cork in company with the mayor of that city. A number of Parnellites had intended to greet him when he landed from the Aurania in Queenstown and had organized a torchlight procession in his honor. They missed being present on the steamer's arrival, but nevertheless they made a demonstration, assembling on the quay and marching through the streets with cheers for Parnell and groans for Healy. Finally a body of anti-Parnellites charged upon the paraders and routed them, throwing their torches into the harbor. The shindy was a sharp one and several were hurt. Mr. Harrington holds that the majority of the Irish in America are for Parnell, although he says most of the daily newspapers and leading politicians are against him. He says he thinks that Mr. Parnell will not retire even if his candidate is defeated at Kilkenny.

KILKENNY, Dec. 21.—In his speech at Goresbridge Mr. Davitt said that if Sir John Pope Hennessy were defeated, Irish people would no longer be able to count upon an alliance with any English statesman. Parnell, he continued, had in desperation appealed to hillside men, to the Fenian sentiment of the country. It would be criminal folly for him or any other man to ask the young men of Ireland to face the overwhelming might of England in the field. Parnell himself would be the last man to lead the way to this policy of madness and desperation and he was only making his appeal in the hope of snatching a victory in Kilkenny.

Mr. Davitt afterwards drove to Gowran. There he met a party of Parnellites, whom he tried to convert, but, after arguing with them for some time, he left them, apparently unconvinced. Then he addressed a throng of people who had just issued from the church, where they had been attending mass. He ridiculed the idea that Parnell had obtained all the land legislation that had been secured for Ireland. Such legislation, he said, was due to the league, which had been built up by the present followers of McCarthy practically without Parnell's help. The fact that the Orangemen wished Parnell to succeed ought to convince them of the danger of electing Mr. Scully. Mr. Davitt was frequently interrupted by Parnellite cheers.

KILKENNY, Dec. 21.—A meeting of Parnellites was held outside of Parnell's hotel here at 9 o'clock this evening. Parnell spoke. He began by saying he would not have troubled them had not Davitt, with an audacity exceeding even that of the previous utterances with which he had disgraced the combat, accused him of appealing to the Fenian sentiment. I have never, said Mr. Parnell, appealed to any section but to the whole Irish race. If young men are prominent among my supporter it is because they know that what I have promised them I will perform. I have never promised to lead them against the arm and might of England. I have only promised that if constitutional means failed to win legislative independence for Ireland I would instantly return here at the head of my party and consult with you as to the next step to be taken. [Cheers.] This is the extent and limit of my pledge which I made in Cork in 1885, and from which I have never departed. I had not been a member of many parties like Jackdaw Davitt. I was not an advocate of physical force in 1880 to desert in 1891. I did not join the league in 1879 to leave it in 1885. I did not join Patrick Ford in 1880 and Gladstone in 1887, nor did I attempt to undermine the party by the formation of a so-called labor party in 1888-1890. I have not signalized every year of my public existence by a fresh change or by treason to men owning my allegiance. I have remained true to the same pledge, and when Davitt taunts me with being a hillside man I can say to him: "I am what I am because I am known to be an honest, unchanging Irishman."

Canon Lee of Bray denies that he referred to Parnell as a dishonorable man.

Parnell goes to Avondale after the election in Kilkenny, and will proceed thence to Paris to confer with William O'Brien.

Davitt made an address at Goresbridge and Gowran to-day. Mr. Healy spoke at Ballyfoile. He asked: "Supposing Parnell succeeded in ejecting the 85 McCarthyites, to what pledge or platform would their successors be bound? Would they be puppets depending upon the personality of one individual? If Parnell had been actuated by singleness of purpose he could have fulfilled his mission far more effectively without dividing the country, He (Healy) would not accept the proposition that Ireland could find no political salvation save in Pope Parnell the first.

At a meeting in Cashel, Tipperary, to-day at which 4000 persons were present resolutions in favor of Mr. McCarthy were unanimously adopted.

The Freeman's Journal refused to print the foregoing letter.

The Cunard Line steamer Aurania, from New York, Dec. 13, for Liverpool, arrived at Queenstown to-day. Mr. Harrington, the only one of the six Irish envoys who went to America who espouses the cause of Mr. Parnell, was a passenger on the Aurania. He came ashore at Queenstown and received an enthusiastic greeting from a crowd which had gathered to meet him.

DUBLIN, Dec. 20.—Canon Lee, Dean of the Dublin Chapter, writes denying that the chapter met in Dublin, as asserted by Mr. Parnell, and adds: "In order that there may be no mistake about my personal opinion, I will say that I am convinced that Ireland should act in accordance with the hierarchy's manifesto. Mr. Parnell's character, as revealed in the divorce court, speaks for itself, and since the verdict he has given further abundant proof of his unfitness for the leadership of the Irish party."

Canon Lee proceeds at much length to state his opinion, that in view of the excited state of public feeling, misled as it has been by The Freeman's Journal and other papers, it is inexpedient for the clergy to mix themselves up with violent meetings. "This opinion," he continues, "which, I am happy to know, is identical with that of Archbishop Walsh, I gave when the Archbishop asked me at a recent meeting of the Dublin clergy, but I am no less clearly of the opinion, and I express myself to that effect, that the clergy, as the responsible advisers of the people, have a most serious duty to discharge, namely, on every suitable occasion to impress upon the people, and especially upon the leaders of public affairs, that

LITTLE DOUBT THAT HENNESSY WILL BE ELECTED.

A Canvass of the Situation Unfavorable to the Success of Pope Parnell the First—Scully Undoubtedly Defeated in the Opinion of The Daily News Correspondent.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—The correspondent of The Daily News at Kilkenny says: "In an interview to-day Mr. Parnell made light of the injury to his eyes. He called United Ireland's cartoon representing Davitt accepting a bag of English gold, while Hibernia is hiding her face from him in sorrow and despair, both absurd and disgraceful. I am told that when this cartoon was placed in his hands, Parnell crumpled it up and tossed it angrily aside. He appears to me to be fast losing the certainty of success that inspired his speeches a week ago. There was a note of sadness as well as of defiance in his reply to my query about to-morrow's poll. He said: "We are only at the beginning of our troubles."

At the Johnswell meeting to-day notwithstanding Parnell's manifesto calling the meeting there were only at the outside 400 men and few cheers were raised. In fact it was a complete and ignominious failure. Parnell's speech, saving a few sentences, was the best and most dignified that he has delivered since the beginning of the struggle, but it sounded like the knell of a lost cause. The McCarthyites addressed 36 meetings to-day over the whole constituency, with at least one Commoner at each.

This is Mr. Davitt's plan—to have the advantage of the last word, which is a great consideration in dealing with an Irish crowd. Mr. Davitt is confident of a majority of at least 1500. I have visited every corner of the constituency and must say there is good ground for this view. There has been a striking change of opinion in the Parnellite sections. Mr. Parnell's speech here this evening was delivered under intense excitement, and he is quite exhausted.

DUBLIN, Dec. 22.—Mr. Harrington at Queenstown, said he believed that if Mr. O'Brien had been at home, or if Mr. Parnell had seen his way to retire in accordance with the wishes of the majority, the present disastrous crisis would have been averted. He supposed, however, that Mr. Parnell had good reasons for the course he had adopted. Mr. Harrington further said that he regretted the personalities in which both sides had indulged. He was surprised that Mr. Parnell had descended to the use of scurrilous language and had applied offensive epithets to his late colleagues. The unfortunate split in the party, he said, had frustrated the objects of the American mission which it would be useless to renew at present, for while Irishmen were in their present bewildered state they would refuse to listen to either party.

Speaking at Cork, where the mayor presented an address to him, Mr Harrington contended that whether or not Parnell's action was right those who after re-electing him leader sought to oust him forfeited the confidence of the Irish people. The English democracy he declared would support Home Rule and it was only necessary to bring up to the scratch the English politicians who would likely betray them if disappointed in getting places after the general election. Mr. Parnell was not a mere political leader, but rather the general of the country leading his army to freedom. However men might shake their heads in the family circle this was not a time to desert him and with him Irish independence, which was more valuable than Gladstone's good intentions. The question of public morality was settled at Leinster Hall, and the seceders possessed no program or plan justifying their desertion of their leader.

SITTING BULL'S GHOST.

Said to Have Made its Appearance in the Bad Lands.

PIERRE, S.D., Dec. 21.—A ranchman named Hotlund, located 45 miles up Bad River, arrived yesterday, and what he tells creates a sensation. He says a peaceable, Christianized and semi-civilized tribe of two Kettle Sioux are now imitating the wildest orgies of the ghost dance. Night before last some Indians were returning from a social gathering when, as they assert, one of them pointed to the top of a bluff where stood a figure in white, perfectly motionless. Suddenly one of them cried out: "It's Sitting Bull." The Indians were greatly alarmed. The phantom suddenly commenced waving an arm as if motioning them to follow and with the speed of a bird glided from hill to hill top, finally disappearing in the direction of the Bad lands. The Indians declared this ghostly vision meant that Sitting Bull is the Messiah and that he was beckoning them to join his followers and avenge his spirit. A ghost dance is the consequence.

BISMARCK, N.D., Dec. 21.—It is learned to-night from a gentleman just from Standing Rock Agency that Sitting Bull's body when brought in from Grand River was taken to the military hospital to be dissected. The Indians at the agency, police and friendly Indians, would have nothing to do with the body. It is said the morning when the body was to be buried a couple of soldiers took the box supposed to contain the body and dumped it into an isolated grave away from the graves of other Indians and a guard was placed around it.

It is an open secret that the box did not really contain the body and that the guard was on the grave as a blind. It is believed Sitting Bull's body is now in the dissecting room, and that in time the skeleton will turn up in the government museum

TROUBLE IN THE NORTHWEST.

Indian Runners from Across the Border Arrive at Piapot's Reserve—Gabriel Dumont at Work Again.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 21.—A telegram from Regina says: "A detachment of thirty mounted police left town this afternoon at 5 o'clock for Piapot's reserve in response to intelligence that a number of Indian runners from across the border had arrived there. Another detachment of thirty police left for the same place at 9 o'clock to-night. It is said Gabriel Dumont is at the bottom of the trouble."

A Moose Jaw, Assa., despatch says Sioux Indians there and at Wood Mountain are greatly excited and that a number of armed Indians have crossed the line from the south.

Chief Black Bull, now at Wood Mountain, says the whites will all be exterminated.

Dumont's Nephew Killed.

Michel Dumont, nephew of the celebrated Gabriel Dumont, was fatally stabbed at Neche, N.D., last night before midnight. Dumont only lived about an hour after the stabbing. While drinking in a saloon he and Nicholas Damm got into a dispute over an old matter of three years' standing, when Damm struck Dumont. The latter retaliated and Damm pulled his knife and with an upward movement stabbed Dumont in the groin. Damm was taken into custody and confined in Pembina jail.

THE MAJESTIC ARRIVES.

She Brings Gold for Wall Street, And Lymph for the Doctors.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The White Star Steamship Majestic, arrived at her dock to-day after a voyage of six days, 14 hours and 23minutes, from Queenstown. She brought hither 472 cabin and 358 steerage passengers, a quantity of Professor Koch's lymph for the cure of tuberculosis, 1,030 bags of mail and $2,302,500 in specie. The specie was made up in 67 packages and was consigned to eight houses in Wall street.

OUR TEXT
FOR Christmas Morning.

"Let us have Warmth and Comfort if the Stockings should go Unfilled."

A well filled stocking certainly tends to make old and young feel glad and merry on Xmas morning; but it is only a very poor and transient sort of merriment unless we are warm and comfortable. There isn't much fun in a pair of skates to the boy who is suffering for a pair of warm stockings.

First and foremost, then, if you can't have both—if you can't have the full stocking and the warm clothing, too—by all means have the warm clothing.

This point being settled, the next important thing to do is to visit the People's Popular CITY CLOTHING STORE of

H. LeBRUN & CO.
PETERBOROUGH,

where you will find everything in the Clothing Line calculated to insure the greatest amount of warmth and comfort for the smallest amount of money.

For instance, in:—

OVERCOATS,

we have plenty of them for both men and boys, and as the season is now so far advanced, we have to cut them down in price so as to clear out the whole stock.

The fit and style of our Overcoats are such as to command your confidence.

We have all grades and sizes, ranging in price from $2 50 up.

Just now we are making a feature of OVERCOATS and can give you the pick of many styles. Further—our prices are from 25 to 30 per cent. below the regular selling figures.

PEA JACKETS.

The handiest coat a man or boy can put on while skating, or the best and most convenient garment for wa king purposes. We have them made of Naps, to suit all ages at any price.

SUITS.

Beautifully finished in the newest Patterns of Imported Tweed, Cassimere Cheviots, Diagonals, &c. We ask you to compare our Suits with other kinds. We don't mean simply to look at them through the plate glass windows; but get hold of them, turn them inside out, pull at the seams, see how the buttons are fastened and the button-holes worked, raise up the collars, turn out the sleeves, pull out the pockets, examine the linings, trimmings, and scrutinize all the hidden parts. That's how to judge Clothing.

After you have compared the Clothing, then compare the prices.

UNDERWEAR.

The blessings of Warm Underwear during the cold weather are inestimable. We keep all the leading and genuine Scotch and Canadian makes of Undershirts, Drawers and Hosiery. The prices in these will go down along with all other goods to the bottom figures.

THE QUEBEC DISASTER.

Another of the Victims Died Yesterday Morning, Making Seven.

QUEBEC, Dec. 21.—Madame Beauchemin of St. Perpetue died this morning from the result of severe injuries received in the disaster to the Halifax express on the Intercolonial Railroad Thursday. Madame Beauchemin is the seventh victim of the disaster. The coroner's inquest was resumed this morning. Among the witnesses was a man from St. Joseph de Levis, who swore that he saw the train coming toward the bridge and saw it jump the track and roll down the embankment, which is 35 feet high at that place. He also testified that the train was running at a higher rate of speed than usual at the time of the accident.

A journal of one of the forward trucks of the baggage car, which was the first to leave the track, has been found among the ruins, broken. This may account for the derailment of the car, and Superintendent McDonald of the Intercolonial Road gives it as his opinion that the journal having been heated by the long run cracked upon the slowing down of the train on account of the change of temperature.

NOT ALL CAN BE CURED.

Every Case Will Not Yield to Prof. Koch's Remedy—Results of the Treatment of Patients in Berlin.

BERLIN, Dec. 21.—The number of American doctors who have been waiting here trying to get some of the Koch lymph is fast being diminished. Several of them succeeded in procuring small supplies for use in their private practice before Prof. Koch issued his prohibition limiting the supply of lymph to hospital or medical colleges. The majority have returned without the lymph, but weighted with experience acquired in studying cases. During the present week Prof. Gerhardt closed his exhibition of cases to all foreign physicians, excepting some Americans. Prof. Gerhardt has now treated 79 patients, giving two milligrammes of the lymph as the first dose and in some instances only one. Four of his patients who were suffering from advanced phthisis died. Three left the hospital much improved. Twenty-four remain and are progressing favorably. Prof. Gerhardt expresses his increasing satisfaction with the results of the remedy, especially in tuberculosis of the larynx, where the chances of recovery are better than in pulmonary phthisis. He confirms Prof. Koch's experience that the remedy is most useful in the initial stage of disease.

The Heater Exploded.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 22.—As train No. 6, west-bound, on the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railroad pulled into Nicholas at 3 a.m. the Baker heater in the first-class coach exploded, filling the car with gas and burning coal. Two men jumped out of the windows and were severely cut. The windows were quickly broken out. This saved the passengers from suffocation. The woodwork and seats caught fire and several passengers were painfully burned.

Will Be Hanged To-Morrow.

LONDON, Dec. 22. Home Secretary Matthews has declined to reprieve Mrs. Nellie Pearcey, sentenced to death for murdering Mrs. Hogg and her infant.

Sir Forbes Winslow, the noted alienist, examined the condemned murderess and has expressed the professional opinion that she committed the murder of Mrs. Hogg while in an epileptic fit and consequently was not responsible for her actions. The Under Secretary, however, declined to interfere

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronising a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

REV. DAVID SCOLLARD

Ordained at Ennismore by Bishop O'Connor.

An Impressive Ceremony at St. Martin's Church—Description of the Ordination Rites—Rev. Father Scollard's Ordination—His First Blessing—Presentation to His Lordship—An Admirable Sermon by Rev. Father Kelly.

Sunday was a memorable day in the history of the parish of Ennismore. It saw the ordination to the priesthood of the Catholic church of a young man who had been born and bred in the parish, had grown up and received his early education and religious training amongst the people, and was known to them for his piety, zeal, and manly qualities. Rev. David Scollard—for such he now is—is a son of Mr. John Scollard, of Ennismore. After leaving the local school, and resolving to take holy orders, he went to St. Michael's college, where he learned his classics, and thence to the Grand Seminary at Montreal, to complete his theological course. He has but recently finished his studies, and on Sunday he was received into the Catholic church as one of her priests.

St. Martin's church, inside and out brightened with wreaths and arches of evergreens, was crowded with the good people of Ennismore, and some from neighboring parishes, who felt proud and pleased that one of their number was to receive such a high and holy office. The occasion was of special importance on account of the presence of the beloved Bishop of the Diocese, who in person ordained Rev. Father Scollard and thus cemented the bonds of love and respect between himself and his parishioners.

Shortly after half past ten o'clock the sacredotal procession left the manse and entered the church, the acolytes preceding, followed by the priests and the Bishop. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor ordained the priest, and was assisted by Rev. Father Laurent, V.G., Lindsay, Archdeacon; Rev. Father D. O'Connell, Parish Priest, Deacon; Rev. Father Connolly, Emily, sub-Deacon; Rev. Father Rudkins, St. Peter's Cathedral, Master of Ceremonies; and Rev. Father Keilty, of Douro, (a former pastor of St. Martin's) who preached the sermon.

BEGINNING OF THE CEREMONY.

The ordination of a Priest is one of the most solemn and impressive ceremonies of the Catholic Church. The ceremony was conducted in Latin, but printed English forms were distributed amongst the congregation so that they could follow the observances closely throughout. Bishop O'Connor celebrated Mass clothed in full Pontificals—Amice, Alb, Cincture, Cross, Tunic, Dalmatic, Maniple, Stole and Chasuble. These were emblematic of the sacred power which, in obedience to the divine commission, he conferred upon the suppliant for ordination. Having previously received Tonsure, the four minor orders—Porter, Lector, Exorcist and Acolyte, also the sacred orders of sub-deaconship and deaconship, and after being duly examined concerning his conduct and morals, his knowledge of the sacred Scripture, theology, etc., the candidate was arrayed in the vestments of a deacon. The Bishop proceeded with the Mass as far as the Tract, when having taken his seat the ordination commenced.

He who was to be promoted to the order of priesthood was then presented, holding on his left arm a folded chasuble, in his right hand a taper, and in his left a purificator for binding his hands.

The Archdeacon, in answer to the Bishop's question, "Do you know him to be worthy?" replies that as far as human frailty permitted him to judge, he knew and attested that he was worthy of this sublime office.

The Bishop then addressed the assembled clergy and people, impressing upon the candidate for holy orders and the congregation the importance of the position and demanding if any man knew anything against his promotion to come forward and speak.

After a moment's uninterrupted pause the Bishop proceeded to address the candidate upon the dignity and holiness of the office he was about to assume. Then the candidate prostrated himself before the Bishop and the Litany of the Saints was chanted, during which the Bishop, standing with crosier and mitre, blessed the prostrate candidate thrice. After the conclusion of the Litanies the imposition of hands was performed by the Bishop and the clergy in stole, followed by an invocation for divine assistance and grace for the candidate. The Bishop then extended his hands and prayed as in the preface of the mass and supplicated for God's favour upon the candidate. Resuming his seat, the Bishop, removing the stole from the candidate's left shoulder, crossed it on his breast, saying, "Receive thou the yoke of the Lord, for His yoke is sweet and His burden light." Then the candidate was invested with the chasuble, folded on his shoulders, and the Bishop, taking off his mitre, uttered a prayer. Then the took place. The Bishop made the sign of the cross with the oil on the hands of the ordained, and, after praying, he bound them together; then, to signify the conferring of the power to offer sacrifice to God and offer mass for the living, as well as for the dead, in the name of the Lord, the ordained was presented by the Bishop with a chalice containing wine and water, and patena with a host. Having arrived at this stage of the ceremony, the Bishop continued mass, and, after the offertory, proceeded to the middle of the altar, where he was presented with the taper which the newly ordained priest carried. The Bishop gave the priest communion, after which he washed the priest's hands and read an admonition. Then the Bishop, with mitre on, turned to the ordained, who, standing before the altar, made a profession of his faith by reciting his creed. He then knelt before the Bishop, who, placing both hands upon his head, said: "Receive the Holy Ghost; whose sins you shall forgive they are forgiven them, and whose sins you shall retain they are retained." Then the chasuble is unfolded and the priest clothed entirely with it, and the Bishop, taking his hands between his own, said: "Do you promise to me and my successors reverence and obedience?" "I promise," was the reply, and the Bishop gave him the kiss of peace and said: "The peace of the Lord be with you forever," to which all responded "amen." Then, having received his mitre and crosier, the Bishop admonished the priest and, rising, pronounced a blessing. The mass was continued until after the benediction, when the priest, kneeling before the Bishop, received the following injunction:—

"Most beloved son, consider diligently the order you have received and the burden placed upon your shoulders; strive to live holily and piously, pleasing Almighty God, that you may acquire His Grace, which may He Himself deign to grant you through His mercy. Say after your first mass three other masses; one to the Holy Ghost, another to the Blessed Virgin, and the third for the faithful departed, and pray the Almighty God for me also."

This closed the ordination ceremony.

THE SERMON.

Rev. Father Keilty, then stepping to the altar, delivered an excellent sermon from the text, "The Lord hath sworn, and he shall not repent him, thou art a priest of the order of Melchesedic." This day, he said, was one of great joy for the people of this and neighboring parishes. They had seen a young man for whom they held the highest respect, and who was well known to them all, kneel before the bishop, as the successor of the Apostle Paul, and rise a priest of the Catholic church, who has power to change wine and bread into the body of Jesus Christ. The people see this and glorify God on account of the power He has given man. And this was not only a day of rejoicing for the people but also for the young priest, to whom the Lord has said, "I will not call you servant, because the servant knoweth not what the Lord doeth, but I will call you friend because all the things I have learned from my Father I will communicate unto you." The joy he feels on this occasion is also tempered with a sense of his responsibility. The people only see the crown of priesthood laid on by the Bishop, but the young priest looks more upon the cross he has received. Rev. Father Keilty then spoke of the divine origin of the Catholic priesthood. The everlasting priesthood referred to in the text was the priesthood of Jesus Christ, which was to-day exercised through the priests of the Catholic church. Through them Jesus Christ would continue to live until the last moment of recorded time. All power was given to Him on earth, and He had given the priests His power. What meant of Christ? The words meant mediation; that Jesus Christ is the Mediator between God and man. When man first fell a promise of a mediator was given, and Jesus Christ is its fulfilment. The Son of God came down in person, and offered to take human flesh, and make satisfaction for man's great crime, and thereby establish a new and sanctified and regenerate humanity. The need of a mediator was great, and so in accordance with God's promise the blessed Mother Mary brought forth our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ—the Mediator for the world. In the beautiful words of the Scripture, the Word was flesh and dwelt amongst us. With infinite condescension Christ came down on earth to raise up and to make us His brethren in the Kingdom of the Father, and this he has accomplished in His priesthood. Sacrifice is the highest form of worship. The life of Jesus Christ was one continued sacrifice. The sacrifice contains the essence of all other forms of worship, adoration, thanksgiving, propitiation and supplication. It would seem that the infinite God could never receive adequate worship from finite man, who is so far beneath him. But the wisdom and mercy of God has put it within man's power to do so. This was accomplished through the crowning mystery of the Incarnation. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, the eternal, infinite, took upon Himself human nature, so that He was at the same time Creator and Creature, divine and human, God and man. But all the acts of Jesus Christ were divine. He confessed and declared the sovereignty of God and the entire subjection of His human nature to the divine. He filled up the measure of personal homage by suffering every pain and hardship, and consummated it by laying down His life. These sufferings were all in His human nature but it was the act of God and therefore a sacrifice. The death on the cross was the completion of the eternal priesthood of Jesus Christ, but not the termination, for it endures forever. Next, what is priesthood on earth as exercised by priests of Catholic Church? It is a continuation of the essential priesthood of Jesus Christ through the ministry of mortal man. The sacrifice Christ is continually offering to God on high in our behalf, he is pleased to make visible and audible to us in the holy sacrifice of the mass, in which, therefore, we have an adequate and divine sacrifice. Jesus Christ comes upon our altars in the form of bread and wine and there offers the same atonement and supplication for renewed favour and grace, and the same testimony He sealed by death on the cross. Therefore it is He has appointed priests and given them His power. The priest takes the bread and wine and at the altar utters the mysterious words of the Lord Jesus Christ, and at that utterance the bread and wine are changed. Jesus Christ descends upon our altar. He is lifted up by the hands of the priest for the people's adoration, and offered on behalf of the people to the Holy Father. "He that eateth Me the same shall live by Me"—"as often as ye do this do it by Me." In this sense the priesthood of Christ is communicated to mortal man. There is only one sacrifice, and it is made by the living priest Jesus Christ. The priest at the altar is the mortal agency through whom He exercises His priesthood. What sublime dignity has the priest who thus shares in the priesthood of Jesus Christ!

THE ETERNAL PRIESTHOOD

PERFECT, ADEQUATE AND DIVINE

SACRIFICE AND PRIESTHOOD

have always been associated together. From the beginning of the human race it was recognized that sacrifice should be offered and men appointed to offer it. This original tradition was implanted in man and has been everywhere and in all ages universally recognized. It was the form of worship God demanded from man, and now in the holy sacrifice of the mass, when Jesus Christ is both priest and victim, the people unite around the altar with Him and supplicate for mercy; and Jesus, receiving the prayers warm from the lips and hearts of his brethren, makes them all His own and lays them before the Father. Jesus Christ gave life to us on the cross, and on the altar He also gives us life; and every man, woman and child can come and say, "Most unworthy sinner though I am, I offer Thee a worship adequate for Thyself." In former times typical sacrifices were practised in faith in the promise of a Messiah, and now that the Messiah has appeared they are no longer necessary because the great sacrifice has been accomplished and the Divine reality is offered from the altar. To those who do not believe in sacrifice there is food for thought in the names of celebrated in English countries—Christ-mas, Michael-mas, etc., which tell that men formerly believed in the adoration of the mass. And in our day when Jesus Christ is lifted up before the people four millions of them bow their heads in adoration. They believe that Jesus Christ is on the altar as much as was the Babe in the manger, who was our Lord and Saviour. Rev. Father Keilty said he would like to dilate, had he time, upon how the priesthood of the Catholic church has safeguarded the morals of the world through the confessional and the power to forgive sins. It was no wonder that Catholics loved and reverenced their priests as they do. Who but the priest first took them from their mother's arms, and consecrated them to God; and impressed upon the parents the necessity of teaching them concerning the divine Babe of Bethlehem, and afterward undertook the teaching of morality, prayer and faith; and when wounded unto death by their transgressions it was the priest in the confessional who pointed them to the right way, and gave encouragement not to relapse into sin, by forgiving their iniquities through the power received on ordination day from the Holy Father; and in the last day the priest will anoint us with holy oil for the last struggle with the enemy of mankind, and close our eyes in peace when we enter into the divine rest and happiness. In conclusion the preacher hoped that all his hearers might enjoy eternal happiness with God on high.

THE GREATEST FESTIVALS

ADDRESS TO THE BISHOP.

Then a very pleasing incident took place. Half a dozen or more of the sturdy yeomen of Ennismore came forward in front of the Bishop's seat. One of their number, Mr. F. J. Sullivan, stepped out, and reverencing to His Lordship, read the following warm and dutiful address:

To the Right Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D. D., Bishop of Peterborough:

MY LORD.—We the parishioners of the parish of Ennismore gladly assemble here to-day to welcome your Lordship and offer you the expressions of our most filial and respectful homage.

During the short period of six years you have become our third Bishop and consequently our beloved father, friend and chief pastor.

We are exceedingly pleased and indebted to your Lordship's condescension in coming here to-day to honor us with your presence, and in conferring the holy orders of priesthood on one of our worthy young men, in the person of the Rev. Mr. Scollard, whom we have known from childhood, and whose elevation to-day to the sacredotal dignity gives us universal joy and pleasure.

This we may say is the first opportune occasion afforded us to express to your Lordship our highest appreciation of your Lordship's person, and the distinguished qualities which marked you out for selection by the gifted and learned hierarchy of the province from among the body of noble priests in the Archdiocese of Toronto, and happy we are that such a selection was promptly ratified by our Holy Father Pope Leo XIII.

Further, my Lord, we assure you of our firm and unwavering attachment to our holy and ancient faith, and we shall never cease to instil and instruct our children in that glorious inheritance delivered to our fathers by St. Patrick.

In the midst of a world cloudy with doubt, error and impiety, we thank God for the happy benefit and privilege of feeling secure in the only true and holy fold of the Catholic Church against which, from her very foundation, all impious men have spent their impotent rage.

Notwithstanding all this, and the prevalent fashion of this free-thinking age, we rejoice to say that we consider it our highest privilege on earth to be members of that holy and indefectible edifice planted and fastened by our Divine Master Himself and transmitted to the care of St. Peter and his lawful successors to continue to the end of ages.

With this strong and unflinching faith, to say wonder that we, as all true Catholics all over the world, should yield a loving submission and ready obedience to our priests, bishops and Holy Pontiff—confirming the words of our blessed Lord, "He that hears you hears Me, and he who despises you despises Me."

In conclusion, my Lord, we thank you again and again, and from our hearts we beg God to grant His choicest blessings on you to govern and direct those confided to your paternal care.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,

Cornelius O'Connor, Reeve.	Wm. Creegh, ex-Reeve.

HIS LORDSHIP'S REPLY.

His Lordship in reply thanked the donors of the address very cordially for their expressive words of congratulation and very good wishes, and hoped their prayers would be continued that God might direct him in the performance of his duties. It gave him especial pleasure to come to Ennismore, on account of the elevation of one of themselves whom God had called to the high office of priest, to be Jesus' representative on earth and undertake His good offices. He felt sure what they had witnessed would inspire many fathers of families to endeavour to so bring their sons up that more may become priests of the church to offer up holy sacrifices to God. The Bishops of the church in this country were interested when they find Catholics becoming sufficiently numerous that each parish ought to have one or more young men piously inclined, who may be elevated to that high dignity and offer prayers for themselves and the church. This was His Lordship's first ordination in this diocese, and he prayed that one who had such piety and grace as the young man who had just received holy orders might become useful and valuable to God and an ornament to the parish. His Lordship was pleased also to observe the pious faith of the people of the parish; he urged them to be ever faithful and obey particularly their pastors and thereby become good citizens, good fathers and good children. He again returned thanks and a prayer that God might bless them temporally and spiritually, and for eternal life. His Lordship then uttered a benediction upon the bowed heads of the congregation.

HIS FIRST MASS.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor then announced that Rev. Father Scollard would say his first mass on the morrow at 9 o'clock and on Christmas Day would assist the pastor in the masses.

Then Rev. Father Scollard administered his first blessing upon his father and mother, then upon his brothers and sisters and other relatives, and upon the congregation generally, the choir singing the Te Deum. All were anxious to receive the blessing of the newly ordained priest, and priest and people alike received much spiritual benefit from this their first contact after their changed relationship. Henceforth Rev. Father Scollard will be entitled to receive the reverence and obedience of the people as being the living representative of Christ on earth. He is no more a young man in the ordinary sense of the term; but as a priest of the church he will be tendered the deep homage and respect of all good Catholics, irrespective of age or condition.

Purify Your Blood
importance of pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts, and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

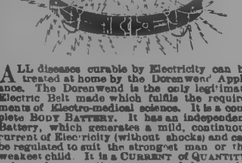
Self Application of Electricity
FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES
BY THE
DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT
And Attachments,
THE WORLD'S BEST



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF ELECTRICITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the great curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

THE DAY OUT ON A RANCH

THEODORE ROOSEVELT TELLS OF AN EXPERIENCE IN THE WEST.

Having an Empty Larder the Ranchmen Set Out to Hunt Deer—They Strike Trail, Secure the Game and Get a Cold Ducking.

One December, while I was out on my ranch, so much work had to be done that it was within a week of Christmas before we were able to take any thought for the Christmas dinner. The winter set in late that year and there had been comparatively little cold weather, but one day the ice on the river had been sufficiently strong to enable us to haul up a wagon load of flour, with enough salt pork to last through the winter, and a very few cans of tinned goods to be used at special feasts. We had some bushels of potatoes, the heroic victors of a struggle for existence, in which the rest of our garden vegetables had succumbed to drouth, frost and grasshoppers, and we also had some wild plums and dried elk venison. But we had no fresh meat, and so one day my foreman and I agreed to make a hunt on the morrow.

The air was bitterly chill; the cold had been severe for two days, so that the river ice would again bear horses; it had already frozen once and then again thawed. Beneath the light covering of powdery snow we could feel the rough ground like wrinkled iron under the horses' hoofs. There was no moon, but the stars shone brilliantly down through the cold, clear air, and our willing horses galloped swiftly across the long bottom on which the ranch house stood, threading their way deftly among the clumps of sprawling sage brush. A mile off we crossed the river, the ice cracking with noises like pistol shots as our horses picked their way gingerly over it.

As the dawn reddened, and it became light enough to see objects some little way off, we began to sit erect in our saddles and to scan the hillsides sharply for sight of feeding deer. Hitherto we had seen no deer tracks save inside the bulberry bushes by the river, and we knew that the deer which lived in that impenetrable jungle were cunning white tails, and in such a place could only be hunted by the aid of a hound. But just before sunrise we came on three lines of heart shaped footmarks in the snow, which showed where as many deer had just crossed a little plain ahead of us. They were walking leisurely and from the lay of the land we believed we would find them over the ridge, where there was a brush coulie. Riding to one side of the trail we topped the little ridge just as the sun flamed up a burning ball of crimson beyond the snowy waste at our backs. Almost immediately afterward my companion leaped from his horse and raised his rifle, and as he pulled the trigger I saw through the twigs of a brush patch to our left the erect, startled head of a young black tail doe as she turned to look at us, her great, mule like ears thrown forward.

The ball broke her neck, and she turned a complete somersault down the hill, while a sudden smashing of underbrush told of the flight of her terrified companions. We both laughed and called out "Dinner!" as we sprang down toward her, and in a few minutes she was dressed and hung up by the hind legs on a small ash tree.

No sooner was the sun up than a warm west wind began to blow in our faces. The weather had suddenly changed, and before an hour the snow was beginning to thaw and to leave patches of bare ground on the hillsides. We left our coats with our horses, and struck off on foot for a group of high buttes cut up by the cedar canyons and gorges in which we knew the old bucks loved to lie. It was noon before we saw anything more. We lunched at a clear spring—not needing much time, for all we had to do was to drink a draught of icy water and munch a strip of dried venison.

Shortly afterward, as we were moving along a hillside with silent caution, we came to a sheer canyon, of which the opposite face was broken by little ledges grown up with wind beaten cedars. As we peered over the edge my companion touched my arm and pointed silently to one of the ledges, and instantly I caught the glint of a buck's horns as he lay half behind an old tree trunk. A slight shift of position gave me a fair shot slanting down between his shoulders, and, though he struggled to his feet, he did not go fifty yards after receiving the bullet.

This was all we could carry. Leading the horses around, we packed the buck behind my companion's saddle, and then rode back by the doe, which I put behind mine. But we were not destined to reach home without a slight adventure. When we got to the river we rode boldly on the ice, heedless of the thaw, and about midway there was a sudden, tremendous crash, and men, horses and deer were scrambling together in the water, amid slabs of floating ice. However, it was shallow, and no worse results followed than some hard work and a chilly bath. But what cared we? We were returning triumphant with our Christmas dinner.—Philadelphia Times.

MR. GRADY'S LAST CHRISTMAS.

He Enjoyed It at Home with His Aged Mother.

There are so many little incidents of his life among us which are made up of pleasure and pain at this hour. Well do I remember how he spent his last year's holiday season, and the little story he told me of it as I sat in his office one morning after New Year's.

He had visited his mother in Athens Christmas week, and he said: "I don't think I ever felt happier than when I reached the little home of my boyhood. I got there at night. She had saved supper for me, and she had remembered all the things I liked. She toasted me some cheese over the fire. Why, I hadn't tasted anything like it since I put off my round jackets. And then she had some home made candy she knew I used to love; and, bless her heart! I just felt sixteen again as we sat and talked, and she told me how she prayed for me and thought of me always, and what a brightness I had been to her life, and how she heard me coming home in every boy that whistled along the street. When I went to bed she came and tucked the covers all around me in the dear old way that none but a mother's hands know, and I felt so happy, and so peaceful, and so full of tender love-and tender memories that I cried happy, grateful tears until I went to sleep."

When he finished his eyes were full of tears and so were mine. He brushed his hand across his brow swiftly and said laughingly: "Why, what are you crying about? What do you know about all this sort of feeling?"—Atlanta Constitution.

In a fire in a tenement house at Newark, N.J., yesterday Ann McGuire and her 5-year-old grandchild were burned to death in sight of hundreds who were unable to render any aid.

Young Housewife—And this?

Marketman—Eighteen.

Young Housewife—What a difference. I suppose it is because one is so much smaller than the other.

Wild cherry bark, elecampane, hoarhound, and senega. These are the remedies with which Dame Nature has supplied Canada for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping coughs, bronchitis and loss of voice. All these are contained in Wilson's Wild Cherry in their most active form, and with other medicines constitute this most reliable cure for all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Wilson's Wild Cherry is sold by all druggists. dw is about 10,000, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection on the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large Bottle 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists. dw

The Population of Peterborough

Winter Sports.

The gay winter season exposes many to attacks of colds, coughs, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, etc., which require a reliable remedy like Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for their relief and cure. Known as reliable for over thirty years. The best cough cure. 2w49d

Passed Away at a Ripe Old Age.

The death of Mrs. Andrew Daly occurred this morning about seven o'clock at the family residence, 90 Weller street. Mrs. Daly was 88 years old, and death was due to senile diseases. Deceased came with her father, the late Richard Powers, from Ireland in 1825, and after living a couple of years in Smith, was married to Mr. Andrew Daly—who survives his deceased helpmeet. Mrs. Daly belonged to a long lived family, her father dying not long ago at the age of 107. She was a devout member of the Roman Catholic church. An aged husband and seven children mourn the loss of the good old lady. One son, Eugene, and two daughters, Frances and Katherine, live in Peterborough, two sons and a daughter are in West Bay City, Mich., and one daughter in Rochester. The funeral takes place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The "Divine Healing" Mission Closed.

Sixty-four Persons Profess to Have Been Healed — Testimonies in Support of their Claims—Dr. Dowie's Addresses—The Worthy Doctor Still Pursues Fork Preaching—A Remedy on Swine's Flesh and Bald Heads.

In the morning the hall was well filled. After the usual religious exercises Dr. Dowie gave as his subject the false shepherds of Israel, as referred to in 35th Ezekial, beginning with Aaron and ending with the reverend shepherds of the flock of the present day. The subject was dealt with in his usual vigourous style.

Dr. Dowie attracted large crowds to the Opera House in the afternoon meeting. After the usual religious exercises, including a prayer by Dr. Dowie for help to speak words of truth and soberness "wisely and lovingly," and prayer for those who had made requests for healing, Dr. Dowie gave a scripture reading. He denounced again in severe terms tobacco, which he said was a cause of blindness and cancer, the latter almost as frequent as consumption; and swine's flesh, which produced scrofula and leprosy. He read passages from Isaiah to prove swine a taboo animal, and also the parable of the evil spirit being sent into the herd of swine so show New Testament disapproval of pigs' flesh. He raised a laugh when he spoke of our Lord going into at Gadara—among the "pork packers." Dr. Dowie went into disgusting details of the swine's habits, and said that eating pork made the eater gross, fleshly and sensual, and closed by another reference to "a pork packer and a leading member of the Baptist church," which was received with applause, laughter and hisses. Dr. Dowie asserted that a pork grower and pork feeder was no more a good citizen than a distiller, and the tobacconist and whisky seller were grouped in one list of condemnation. Referring to the remarks made as to his (Dr. Dowie's) baldness, the doctor quoted Scripture to show that baldness was not a disease, and instanced the danger of speaking lightly of the baldness of the prophets of God, and the fate of the forty children devoured by bears. After the rest afforded by singing a hymn, Dr. Dowie went on to speak of the parable of the ten virgins, the five wise representing those Christians who believed as Dr. Dowie did, and the foolish by those who did not so believe. In thus dividing Christians he was quite impartial, for he had all the preachers in the black list; they cared more for their salaries than for the people—the preachers wanted all the financial help they could get from "pork packers" (laughter, cheers, hisses.) The Dr. denounced the Jews as all that was bad, dishonest and unreliable, and gave unconscious point to his denunciation by claiming that he was of Jewish decent. Christians were asleep. After going on in this strain he came to the point of summing up, and he dropped Roman Catholic and Protestant ministers into one hat and dumped them into the "deep"; in fact everybody was wrong that did not agree with the speaker, whose lengthened harangue was brought to a close by the people departing from the hall.

THE EVENING MEETING.

There was an immense jam. Mr. John Carlisle gave an address, a hymn was sung, and then those that professed to have been healed were invited to the platform and (Dr. Dowie's count) 39 took their seats there and 25 stood up on the floor of the hall, in response to Dr. Dowie's invitation, as having been healed. The testimonies of those professing healing were then given. The first was:

Miss Hudson, of town, who said she suffered for nineteen years from rheumatism and was healed by the laying on of Dr. Dowie's hands in California.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Hudson also claimed to have been healed by faith.

Mr. D. Smart also said he had been healed in California by faith. He had to give up tobacco before Dr. Dowie would treat him.

Hester Ryan, 12 Union street, also asserted that she had been healed by faith.

Mrs. Henry Best was another that had been healed by faith.

Miss Jennie Hall, Otonabee, was healed by faith of weak eyes and general debility.

Miss A. Thompson testified that the Lord took away the dizziness with which she had been troubled.

Dr Dowie made the significant statement that of 15,000 healed under his ministrations 11,000 were ladies.

An after meeting was held to form a local association.

A branch association of the American Divine Healing Association was formed, with the following officers:—

PRESIDENT—Dr. Dowie.
VICE PRESIDENT—John Carlisle.
SECRETARY—F. H. Best.
TREASURER—D. Smart.
COUNCIL OF TEN—Messrs. J. C. Turnbull, W. Anderson, Alex. Gillespie, John Miller, F. Cunninghan, Mrs. P. H. Green, Mrs. H. Best, Miss Hudson, Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. David Smart.

Struck By a Train.

A Wonderful Escape From Death — A Thrilling Ride on the Cow-Catcher.

Saturday evening about six o'clock information was received in town of an accident which had occurred at Downer's Corners, shortly after five o'clock. The circumstances of the case are most remarkable. Mr. Wm. Hunter, an elderly farmer of Otonabee, was driving home with his daughter, and in crossing the G. T. R. track near the junction their buggy was struck by a tie-train which was proceeding to Belleville. The train had been waiting on the Lakefield siding for the way-freight to pass down, and in pulling out the driver did not see the approaching equipage until too late to avoid accident. Those acquainted with the topography of Downer's Corners know that houses shut out the view on the north side of the crossing and render the place rather dangerous. It is said Mr. Hunter did not see the train until too late, and his horse becoming frightened and unmanageable, he allowed it full rein in the hope of clearing the track before the train reached the crossing. But another buggy ahead of him blocked the way and prevented the success of this attempt. A collision occurred. Mr. Shaughnessy, who was driving ahead of Mr. Hunter, just safely cleared the track but Mr. Hunter's buggy was struck

SQUARELY IN THE MIDDLE.

The vehicle was smashed, the horse stripped of every vestige of harness but not injured in the least, Miss Hunter was hurled some distance down an embankment, and Mr. Hunter found himself sitting on his buffalo robe upon the pilot of the locomotive, with the lines still in his hands. He clung tenaciously to his perilous seat, and after a thrilling ride of about an eighth of a mile in this precarious position, the train was stopped. The engineer had observed the accident and put back to ascertain what damage had resulted and do as much as possible to repair it. Mr. Hunter, whose appearance in such a strange manner greatly surprised the train hands, rode back with them. He was badly shaken up but almost miraculously escaped without any positive injury. Miss Hunter was also favored by Providence, and besides a severe shock from her fall, and a cut on the side of her head, she did not suffer from the mishap. Both were taken into the residence of Mr. Dawson and Dr. King summoned, but his professional services were not necessary, their injuries being so slight.

It was a close call, and Mr. and Miss Hunter are being congratulated on their fortunate escape. No blame attaches to the trainmen.

A Liquor Case.

At the police court this morning Police Magistrate Dumble delivered judgment in the liquor case against Jas. Fanning, who was charged with a breach of the Act on Dec. 13th. The evidence went to show, the magistrate said, that there was a light in the bar room and men were heard ordering drinks after hours, which he considered sufficient to warrant a conviction, and he had less hesitation in coming to this conclusion because the defendant had persistently refused to comply with the law. The argument of defence that this could not be registered as a second conviction, because the first information (for which conviction was admitted) was laid under the Liquor License Act, and this charge under the Rules and and Regulations of the License Commissioners, was over-ruled, the magistrate holding they were practically one, as the Commissioners acted in compliance with the requirements of the Act. A conviction for a second offence was, therefore, made and a fine of $40 and costs imposed.

DONE UP IN VERSE.

Come fathers, mothers, rich and poor, and bring your children all,
My large and well assorted stock will suit you,
great and small.
Your romping boy shod in King's boots, no matter where he tramps,
Will not keep you awake at night with colic, chills or cramps.
My splendid show in fancy liner, nice slippers, boots and shoes,
Made from the skin of every beast tanners and makers use.
To give the names of every one my pen could not begin,
From the huge alligator down to the tough groundhog's skin.
You will not fail to please your eye from my grand show of goods,
All choice designs and newest styles my well-filled shelves include,
Dry warm feet essential is to health as much as bread,
To save your own and dear friends' lives, come to buy your boots from Kidd.
No store in the Dominion can a grander stock display
From the old city of Quebec north-west to Hudson's Bay.
Civility and kindness with strict honesty combined,
Has public confidence secured increase is mine I find.
Now competition is the rage in every branch of trade;
I have cut all my prices down and great reductions made;
The man that undersells me, sure will break his solvent thread
With bankrupt notice off the stock and leave the cream to Kidd.
To customers both old and new my thanks I do extend
And in the future as the past—on me you may depend.
The price and quality of goods that I to you lay down,
Will knock the spots off any rush, in the same trade in town.
The festive seasons are at hand, this year is getting small,
A Merry Christmas and New Year I wish you one and all.
Many many come and go before you sleep among the dead,

A Young Husband's Dilemma.

Yesterday a young wife made her husband the prince of proud men by bringing into the world a man child, the first that had blessed their two-years' wedded life, and with a wan humour as weak as her voice, but which the happy husband at least appreciated, she said it was her Christmas box. The young father was in a sad dilemma as to how he would return the gift, but at last a bright idea struck him, and he ordered a box of hawley bro.'s tea, and now, what with catnip tea, saffron tea, and hawley's tea, there's not a happier household in the land. dw

THE RESULT OF THE VOTE TO BE DECLARED TO-DAY

The Priests Form a Procession and Accompany Voters to the Polls — Their Extraordinary Activity Against Parnell — Over 4500 Votes Polled Out of a Total of 5700 Available.

KILKENNY, Dec. 23.—Polling opened briskly this morning. The town was occupied by a company of soldiers and a large force of police and military were scattered throughout North Kilkenny. Parnell and his candidate, Vincent Scully, arrived upon the scene at an early hour. As the morning advanced the harmonious state of affairs was somewhat clouded by an altercation which took place between Mr. Harrington and a number of priests. This wordy warfare was occasioned by what Mr. Harrington termed the priests' interference with voters. Hot words were exchanged on this subject, and in spite of Mr. Harrington's protest the priests continued the work of influencing voters thought to be leaning toward Parnell. The priests later marched to the polls amid cheers and counter cheers at the head of a body of voters.

At Castle Comer Parnell met with a hostile reception. It is said the miners voted almost solidly for Hennessy.

Davitt raised warm objections to allowing Scully election bills and campaign posters to appear on the wall of the Gowran court house where the polling is taking place. Amid much excitement Mr. Crilly, M.P., summoned the returning officer, who ordered Scully's placard to be removed.

The town is intensely excited to-night, but no disorder has occurred. The streets are full of people eagerly discussing the day's elections. Opinions vary widely as to the result of the poll and nothing definite can be learned from any source.

Another Phoenix Park Outrage.

DUBLIN, Dec. 22.—Two carters employed by The Insuppressible newspaper assert that while driving through the streets with wagon loads of papers they were attacked by a number of masked men, who compelled them to drive to Phoenix Park, where the papers were torn in pieces and scattered in all directions.

Timothy Harrington says priestly coercion was rampant throughout North Kilkenny today, and the Parnellites have good ground to petition against the validity of Hennessy's election. Not content with writing letters against Parnell to the newspapers and with preaching against him from their pulpits, they personally visit the homes of their parishioners, imploring them to vote against Parnell, and in many cases exacting specific promises from them to so vote. They gathered crowds and marched with them to the polls. Singularly enough the priests met with great hostility from the women, who urged husbands and sons not to pledge themselves to vote against Parnell.

The polls do not close until 8 o'clock tonight and the count will not begin until tomorrow morning. It will certainly be Tuesday afternoon before the result is declared.

It is stated that out of 5700 persons entitled to vote at to-day's election 4500 cast their ballots. Those who abstained from voting are said to be mostly Unionists.

Parnell Thinks It Will Be Close.

In an interview Mr. Parnell said he expected that the majority would be small whichever party won. He hoped the bitterness of language that marked the contest would be forgotten, and in fact, considering all things he said that the battle had been fought with little ill-feeling on either side. Mr. Parnell said his eyes were much better. He will go to Avondale to-morrow, and will remain there a day, proceeding thence to Paris. He will not resume the campaign in Ireland until January.

Davitt's Opinion.

Mr. Davitt in an interview this evening said he was confident Sir John Pope Hennessy had won by a majority of about 1000.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—A dispatch from Kilkenny to The Daily News says there is not the slightest doubt that Hennessy is elected by a majority of at least 500.

Sudden Death of a Boy.

GUELPH, Dec. 22.—John Jefferson of the 12th con. Peel went with an older brother to the woods for a load of wood. On arrival at the wood-pile the older brother proceeded to put on a load. Noticing that the boy did not respond he went to him and to his consternation found that he was dead.

SIR JOHN HENNESSEY.

A Pen and Ink Sketch of the Successful Candidate.

Sir John Pope Hennessy is an interesting man as a man with a history, in fact. He is a son of the late John Hennessy of Cork, where he was born in 1834. He was educated in London and was admitted to the bar at the Inner Temple in 1856. Two years before this he entered the House of Commons as the member for Cork. In those days he was a Tory in politics and a great admirer of Mr. Disraeli. He was the first Catholic Conservative to sit in the House of Commons. As a member of that body he devoted attention to the amendment of the Irish [illegible] so as to provide for the rearing of paupers children outside workhouses and the passage of the Prison Ministers Act and amendments to the Minors Reformation bill. He also drew the attention of the House of Commons to the decline of the population of Ireland, urging the Government to keep the people at home by amending the Irish land laws and reclaiming the waste lands. Although a nominal Conservative his whole course in the House of Commons was an exceedingly liberal one. In 1867 Sir John left Parliament to enter the Colonial service. He has served successively as Governor of Labuan, the West African settlements, the Bahamas, the Windward Islands, Hong Kong and the Mauritius.

The Battleground.

The population of the north division of Kilkenny in which the contest was waged is about 40,000, whilst the voters number nearly 9000. At the election of 1885, the first held after the division of the county, the late E. P. M. Marum, the Parnellite candidate, received 4681 votes in contrast to Sellar, Conservative. The returns of the constituency being almost unanimous to Irish Nationalists. Mr. Marum was returned unopposed. Mr. Marum died [illegible] John Hennessy who [illegible] the split, [illegible] position, while Mr Power [illegible] Scully as his opponent.

The System of Voting.

The ballot contained the names of the two men. Polling booths were erected in the different centres of population, where order was carefully preserved by the police, who had no votes and are simply the servants of the people. On the ballot papers were printed the names of both candidates, and the elector on going to the compartment of the booth put a [illegible] and made a cross opposite the man's name for whom he voted. While he was doing this no [illegible] official or otherwise, was permitted in the [illegible] the elector. Instead of handing the [illegible] counted he folded it up, put it into an [illegible] locked and sealed receptacle, walked [illegible] when another voter was permitted to enter [illegible].

The names of all the electors entitled to vote were publicly posted on the door of the court house several days before the election so that everyone could see who could vote, and check the number of votes cast with the number of electors on the roll.

The seal cannot be broken until the ballot box is deposited in the High Sheriff's room in the county court precisely as it left his hands when the actual papers and returns are counted up in the presence of representatives of both parties. This count will take place to-day (Tuesday).

Maimed for Life.

TORONTO, Dec. 4.—Frank Dunn, aged 17, whose parents live in Madoc, Hastings County, lies at the hospital maimed for life the result of his own indiscretion. He wanted to spend Christmas with his friends, but having an objection to paying fare attempted to board a C. P. R. passenger train as it was leaving North Toronto Station. In doing so he missed his hold and was thrown violently to the ground and the wheels of the train passed over his left arm, tearing out the elbow joint. He was taken to the hospital, where the injured member was amputated near the shoulder joint.

Loss of the Eurydice.

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 22.—The American schooner Horace B. Parker arrived at Shelburne to-day with 70 men, crew of the St. John ship Eurydice from Liverpool. The ship was badly demoralized in storms and the crew frost-bitten. Two passing vessels refused to respond to the Eurydice's signals of distress. They were taken off by the Parker two days ago with great difficulty and the ship sank four hours later.

Tipperary Takes a Hand.

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—At Carrick-on-Suir, Tipperary, to-night a crowd of Parnellites attempted to make a bonfire of a pile of copies of Davitt's paper, The Labor World, whereupon they were attacked by a party of Davitt sympathisers and a sharp scrimmage ensued. The fight ended in the rout of the Parnellites, several of whom were wounded

SLOWLY POISONED.

ILLICIT LOVE LEADS TO DELIBERATE MURDER.

The Old Kentish Town of Feversham Stirred to its Depths by the Murder of an English Physician by His Step-Brother in Order to Secure His Practice.

FEVERSHAM, Eng., Dec. 21.—A remarkable occurrence that is rapidly developing into a sensational murder mystery is creating intense excitement here as the very peculiar attendant circumstances are gradually coming to light.

Dr. W. R. Lyddon was at one time the most popular physician in Feversham. He had a large practice and was said to enjoy a correspondingly large income. He drove a dog cart and a variety of other vehicles supposed to be the accompaniment and guarantee of success.

He also had a pretty wife, a charming woman with an attractive personality and a magnetic influence. She led in the social entertainments among her neighbors, was prominent in the amateur theatricals that every winter form so attractive a feature in this old Kentish town, and formed the centre of a brilliant coterie.

Mrs. Lyddon, although to all appearances a happy wife, and looked upon with envy as such by all her woman acquaintances, was destined to meet her fate in her husband's step-brother, whom Dr. Lyddon brought down from London one evening and introduced as a young medical student with all the honors of his alma mater fresh upon him. The embodiment of a peculiar type of manly beauty, Charles Lyddon was not long making a favorable impression upon the Kentish matron.

It was in the course of these visits that long strolls were taken by the banks of the sleepy Swale; at other times the lovers wandered through the echoing aisles of the old abbey, where lie the remains of the royal founder, King Stephen, whose "breeches coat him but a crown;" while on other days the doctor's dog-cart would be utilized for journeys through the leafy hop fields. Progressing thus favorably with the wife, Charles began to make himself "solid" with the husband, and by dint of much persuasion brought the latter to agree to a sale of his practice, possession to be given on his death.

Insignificant and harmless as this provision seemed to the doctor, the agreement containing it proved to be the unfortunate man's death warrant, as no sooner was it signed than his step-brother, with devilish malignity, began to plan the crime that he has just succeeded in accomplishing. Not long after the prosperous and until then exceptionally healthy medical man had put his name to the fatal document he was seized with a mysterious illness, which, however, Charles pretended to thoroughly understand and consequently took full charge of the treatment.

His remedies, however, seemed to aggravate rather than alleviate the malady, as Dr. Lyddon grew steadily worse. Not content with this deliberate assault on his brother's life, Charles did not attempt to disguise the hatred and lust that filled his heart. In fact, he treated him with such cruelty that Mrs. Lyddon was repeatedly heard by the servants to exclaim: "Don't hit him in the face, Charley," "For God's sake don't strike him," "He won't anger you again, dear," and similar adjurations.

When the last hour arrived and the strong constitution of the physician had been completely broken down by the powerful drugs ruthlessly administered to him, and his heart had been broken as the hideous facts of his wife's falsehood and his brother's treachery were revealed to him, Charles locked himself in the room with his victim and proceeded to perform the last act in the tragedy. What then occurred is only known to heaven and the occupants of the fatal chamber.

It was the finding of an emptied bottle of morphine in an adjacent lumber room that first aroused suspicion and led to the arrest of Charles Lyddon. Then came the story of the horrible details as they were sworn to by different witnesses before the coroner's jury, which was not long in finding a verdict of guilty.

Then there was a scene of wild excitement, such as is seldom witnessed in quiet English provincial towns. The crowd that had gathered yesterday around the town hall, standing for hours in a driving snowstorm, soon heard the news of the jury's verdict, and received it with a yell that would have done credit to a chorus recruited from an insane asylum. Soon the culprit appeared at the door surrounded by a guard of 20 policemen. He was first taken to his hotel and afterwards to prison, amid a dense shower of snowballs.

The Scotch Railway Strike.

GLASGOW, Dec. 23.—The railway strikers have succeeded in paralyzing traffic throughout this district. Very few trains are running and those which the railroad officials have succeeded in running can only be taken out at irregular intervals. Pickets of strikers are trying to induce the few engine drivers at work to join the ranks of the strikers.

About 3000 men have already done so. The Lanarkshire strikers are conducting their operations with much vigor. Their pickets are doing good work. All the freight and most of the passenger traffic has already been stopped, and there does not seem to be any prospects of an early settlement.

At a meeting of railway strikers here today it was announced that 4500 men had quit work. This number includes the men of the Caledonian, North British and Southwest companies. There is an absolute cessation of freight traffic and only a few passenger trains are running. The railway managers are making a firm stand against the strikers. They have given the men a day's notice to return to work, and assert they are quite able to get new men to fill the places of the strikers.

Business Practically Suspended.

GLASGOW, Dec. 23.—The strike has caused an almost total suspension of freight traffic on the railroads, but passenger trains are being moved, though irregularly. Crews to work these trains are only secured by the employment of station masters and superior officers of the roads and by engine drivers and firemen lent by private firms who possess engines.

The latest report is that the strike is extending. The men are firm and are inducing others to leave.

Mr. Tillett, the labor leader, to-day addressed the strikers at Dundee. One instance is reported of a locomotive being derailed, it is supposed, by strikers. The postal service is still uninterrupted.

Commodore Henry Parsell said that during the voyage very rough and stormy weather was encountered. Early yesterday he fell in with the howling northeaster that made us all so uncomfortable. The ship rode it out handsomely.

Twelve Girls Drowned.

BERLIN, Dec. 22.—At Gelenter Lake in Holstein, 12 girls were crossing on the ice today, when the ice suddenly gave way, and all were drowned.

Revolution in Buenos Ayres.

BUENOS AYRES, Dec. 22.—A rumor is current here that a plot to overthrow the Government has been discovered. Several conspirators are said to have been arrested.

A French Brig Founders.

TOULON, Dec. 22.—A violent storm prevailed here to-day. A number of vessels were forced to take refuge in the harbor. A French brig foundered and five of her crew were drowned.

A SHOCKING TRAGEDY.

KILLED WHILE KNITTING SOCKS FOR CHRISTMAS.

An Old Man Kills His Wife and Then Cuts His Own Throat—One of the Most Horrible Tragedies on Record.

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—Henry Christiansen, 61 years old, shocked his aged wife to death in the bedroom of his home at 3109 Drexel-avenue and cut his own throat sometime during Saturday night. The tragedy was seen by no one and the exact time it occurred is unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Christiansen have been living with their daughter and son-in-law. They were absent until midnight. When Mrs. Nelson went to the room to waken her parents this morning he first glance did not show anything wrong. Approaching the bed she was horrified to see that her father's face and breast was all bloody, and as he breathed spurts of blood came from the great gash in his throat. In a moment she called her husband and they attempted to waken the mother, only to learn that she was dead. The blood on the yarn and on the blade showed that the act had been committed early in the night, a the blood was dry. Christiansen was still alive and conscious. He could not speak, but could understand what was said to him. When asked if he had killed his wife, he nodded affirmatively, and a horrid gurgle came from the wound in his throat as he attempted to reply. As he acknowledged the crime he motioned with his hands to show how it had been done. He also signified that he had cut his own throat, and pointed to the razor as he nodded his head, sending spurts of blood out and over his shirt. He cannot recover. It is difficult to find a motive for the crime. Christiansen was somewhat morose and taciturn, but was not usually quarrelsome. His son-in-law suggests that he was somewhat jealous of his wife. She was knitting stockings for Christmas presents and this did not please the husband and he frequently objected. Possibly this enraged him last night, as she frequently sat up to knit after he wanted her to go to bed. The supposition is that she did not go to bed when he wished, and then in a fit of jealous fury choked the life out of her. She was found in the bed but with her clothes on. Christiansen was also in bed by her side but was dressed.

RATS EAT DEAD MEN.

Two Horrible Cases in New York—One of Them a Suicide.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The body of John McDonough, who for the past week has been living in lodging houses in Brooklyn, was found this morning in a hallway. His face and hands had been horribly mutilated by rats. They had eaten away his nose completely, and with great holes in both cheeks around the chin and in the region of the left temple he presented a horrible sight. Alongside the body was an ordinary soda water bottle containing a dark liquid which was found to be a solution of bromide of potassium. Another case somewhat similar was reported by the police this morning. It was that of Richard Stokes, 60 years old, who was found dead in the cellar of Bahr's demijohn factory, No. 270 Humboldt-street, yesterday afternoon. His lips had been eaten away by rats and his face was covered with blood.

Practical Sympathy, This.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—H.M.S. Magnet left Portsmouth to-day for the coast of Galway. The Magnet is loaded with meat and potatoes, with a quantity of Government stores of all descriptions. This cargo is one of a series sent and to be sent by the Government to relieve the distress of the famishing in*habitants of certain sections of* Ireland. Three other British gunboats, the Seahorse, Britomarte and Grappler, which have engaged in similar work for some time past, have been ordered to continue this duty for three months longer.

Died at the Dance.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 23.—A tragical event occurred at Malcom's Hall just before midnight. It was a private dancing party of well-known society people. Just after the fourth number on the program Mrs. Jessie M. Smith, a well-known young lady, after taking a few turns about the hall together with Frank L. Conkey, suddenly became pale and asked to be taken to a seat. Before Mr. Conkey could comply she reeled and would have fallen to the floor had he not caught her. He half carried her to a seat and called for water, and a physician was sent for. The lady never even stirred after first fainting, and when, a few minutes later, Dr. Martha Ripley arrived she pronounced her dead. She was 27 years of age.

A Self-Confessed Convict.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—A peculiar case came up at the New York Barge office yesterday. William Norman was a passenger on the steamer Britannic. He is a young man of good appearance, apparently well educated and is 32 years old. He was en route to Chicago from Bristol, England, as the agent for a bicycle company. The registry clerk asked him the usual questions, and when he reached the one respecting his character he frankly made the following statement: Some time ago he was arrested on a charge of forgery; he was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine, pending which payment he was committed to jail. He finally neglected to pay the fine at all, and spent nine months in durance.

While Norman was evidently not of the class which the law intended should be barred, yet the officials had no alternative and he was detained. The law prohibits the landing of convicts. Norman confessed himself a convict, though it was evident he was not regarded as a criminal or he would not have been trusted to represent the bicycle company.

Collector Erhardt will take the matter under advisement, but under the letter of the law the young man will be sent back.

The Cree Ghost Dance.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 22.—A telegram to-night from Moose Jaw says: "Several Sioux warriors left here to-day to join the Crees in their war dance. Mounted police are following them and probably will force them to return."

Snaps and Snarls Like a Dog.

MONTICELLO, Ill., Dec. 23.—A remarkable case of supposed hydrophobia is that of Miss Vena Simpson, aged ten years, living here. She was suddenly taken with convulsions and snapped and snarled like a mad dog at all who came near her. So desperate was she that it took three strong men to hold her in bed. No one has ever known of her having been bitten by a dog. The convulsions continue and the physicians are baffled. Her case is critical.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Mr. Gladstone in his letter to Sir Robert Peel's grandson (Speaker Peel's son), who is the Home Rule candidate in the Marleybone district, says: "For the first time since commencing in parliament the struggle under O'Connell the Irish party, bent on a constitutional and effective scheme of Home Rule, is looking to Great Britain to pronounce judgment in the contest between it and the minority of seceders under Parnell. The Liberals of Great Britain, who themselves since 1886, have had to resist and overcome a similar secession, will not doubt which side they are to recognize with the name and true title, "The Irish Party," with its honorable tradition of resistance to wrong. Assuredly you enter the field at a moment of extreme interest when the cause of wisdom, justice and freedom has claims upon all who would have it enhanced beyond the ordinary standard."

Life in Misery

To thousands of people who have the taint of Scrofula in their blood. The agonies caused by the dreadful running sores and other manifestations of this disease are beyond description. There is no other remedy equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla for Scrofula, salt rheum and every form of blood disease. It is reasonably sure to benefit all who give it a fair trial. Be sure to get Hood's.

The Proposed Cobourg Railway Bonus.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The town of Cobourg is about to vote on a bylaw giving a bonus of $30,000 to the C. P. R. towards building a road from Cobourg to Havelock.

Those who are conversant with railway matters are quite aware that the line proposed forms part of the line which the C. P. R. are about to construct running parallel to the Grand Trunk along the lake shore to Toronto.

Whether the Cobourg bonus is given or withheld the C. P. R. are equally certain to build the Toronto road.

My object in writing to you is to ask you to point out to the Cobourg people that if they can afford to give any railway bonus it should be given towards the opening of the Harwood branch to Peterborough. The G.T.R. has this year re-constructed the line to Harwood, and purpose continuing it to this town, and then across Mud Lake to a junction with the Victoria branch, which will be extended to Mattawa.

If Peterborough and Cobourg joined hands and pressed their plans forward, there would be a general public advantage gained. For Cobourg to give a bonus to the C.P.R. lake shore road to Toronto is quite unnecessary. That line will be built anyhow. Cobourg should keep any bonus it can now give and hold it ready for the Harwood extension to this town.

It would be proper for this matter to be brought before the notice of the Cobourg people.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

Canadian Cheese.

The Kelso, Scotland, Chronicle, of Sept. 12th, says: It is not generally known what an immense quantity of cheese reaches this country from Canada. Last year the imports amounted to nearly 90,000,000 lbs. weight, and up to the middle of August the shipments from Montreal numbered 665,865 boxes, as against 553,449 boxes in the same period in 1889, and 500,000 in 1888. Canadian cheese is more popular than American and fetches a higher price. This fact has not escaped astute dealers in the United States, and for some time past an endeavour has been made to ship American cheese by way of Canadian ports as the genuine product of the Dominion factories; but steps have been taken to prevent the packages being interfered with while in bond, and the brands being altered or added to.

Omemee,

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Surprising to all in South Victoria, the farmers' candidate, Mr. Lowndsborough, has been defeated by a majority of about 130. Boodle and the promises of the C. P. R. extension to Boboaygeon through the township of Verulam, carried both those places in his favor almost unanimously. In many other parts of the riding the Reform candidate's majority was increased owing to his advocacy of more extended trade relations with the United States.

It is said if Mr. Fairbairn don't succeed in getting the railway he will resign his seat Messrs. Hall and Dixon, of their respective law firms, Peterborough, acted as scrutineers for the Reformers at the polls with much acceptance and ability. The news of Bobcaygeon's and Verulam's majorities show how people are affected by the hard times, Boodle and promises of a railway did their work.

The holiday entertainments on 'Xmas promises to attract large driving parties should the circumstances permit, that is, good weather and sleighing. Tea served in the Methodist church from 5 to 7 p. m., followed by a good programme. The band concert at eight o'clock in the evening, carried out chiefly by some of Peterborough's best talent, promises to be the concert of the season. Messrs. Jackson & Co., of Peterborough, furnish the piano and organ at the concert.

A man calling himself John Woodsworth has been in this neighborhood for the last two weeks looking at some farms, pretending he was a man of capital and wanted to secure a good farm. It is almost needless to say he did not effect a purchase. He called at Mr. Robt. Doughty's and engaged rooms and board, but on Monday he went away and has not returned, besides forgetting to pay his board bill. He broke open a money box and extracted its contents, $3; also lifted some gold studs and about $2 50 in cash besides. It is a pity the scoundrel cannot be caught. He said he had a wife and family staying in Ottawa.—Reporter.

SHOT A NUN.

A Young Man Fires at a Reverend Mother and Then Shoots Himself.

VIENNA, Dec. 22.—A curious case of attempted murder, followed by suicide, has just been reported from Porsck, near Glatz. A young man named Franz Pfan was once nursed through a sickness by a nun belonging to a hospital in that city and he became devotedly attached to her.

By some means he heard that she was lying ill in the convent, and, accompanied by a friend named Rankusit-Motenburg, who had at one time been a student of theology, he went to the Mother Superior and asked if he allowed to see the girl, of whom he was enamored, since the rules of the institution forbade her leaving it.

The mother refused to grant him this favor and Pfan thereupon drew a revolver and fired upon her. She fell immediately, and the young fellow thinking he had killed her turned the revolver on himself, and before his friend could interpose fired and dropped fatally wounded.

SUICIDE WHILE PURSUED BY A MOB.

Bert Cadwallader Shoots Himself to Cheate His Enemies out of Revenge.

BLANCHESTER, Ohio, Dec. 22.—Bart Cadwallader shot himself to-day while a dozen bullets from the pistols of a mob in pursuit were whistling about his head. Death at the hands of the mob seemed inevitable, but the young man, who was only twenty years old, preferred killing himself to allowing his enemies the satisfaction of obtaining revenge.

Cadwallader quarrelled with Jasper Lazure in the latter's saloon about some financial matter. The saloon keeper was shot and killed. Cadwallader jumped through a window and fled, pursued by a mob of one hundred angry men. Some of the men were armed. They fired at Cadwallader whenever they were in range. Many bullets whizzed about the young man's head, and he had several narrow escapes. Finding that the leaders in the chase were gaining on him, Cadwallader shot and killed himself.

A Blast From Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—"Irish-Americans in mass meeting, 6000 strong, send greeting. Victorious or vanquished in North Kilkenny we are with you to the last," was the message a meeting in Battery D ordered cabled to Parnell. The enthusiasm displayed was phenomenal. Every mention of Parnell's name brought wild outbursts of applause, in which scores of staid-looking matrons joined with a will. Every reference to the Fenians, to an Irish republic, to the use of physical force or to the time when England becomes involved in a war with a foreign power was cheered to the echo.

A Clergyman's Sudden Call.

PORT PERRY, Dec. 22.—The Rev. Dr. Carry dropped dead in the street this afternoon. He was on his way to administer the sacrament to an aged parishioner. It is supposed he ruptured a blood vessel. The deceased was a man of letters, an able writer and was regarded as one of the best informed men in the church, which he devotedly served. He was in his 67th year.

Purify Your Blood

importance of the blood in condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. OUR TEXT
FOR
Christmas Morning.

"Let us have Warmth and Comfort if the Stockings should go Unfilled."

A well filled stocking certainly tends to make old and young feel glad and merry on Xmas morning; but it is only a very poor and transient sort of merriment unless we are warm and comfortable. There isn't much fun in a pair of skates to the boy who is suffering for a pair of warm stockings.

First and foremost, then, if you can't have both—if you can't have the full stocking and the warm clothing, too—by all means have the warm clothing.

This point being settled, the next important thing to do is to visit the People's Popular CITY CLOTHING STORE of

H. LeBRUN & CO.

PETERBOROUGH,

where you will find everything in the Clothing Line calculated to insure the greatest amount of warmth and comfort for the smallest amount of money.

For instance, in:—

OVERCOATS,

we have plenty of them for both men and boys, and as the season is now so far advanced, we have to cut them down in price so as to clear out the whole stock.

The fit and style of our Overcoats are such as to command your confidence.

We have all grades and sizes, ranging in price from $2.50 up.

Just now we are making a feature of OVERCOATS and can give you the pick of many styles. Further—our prices are from 25 to 30 per cent. below the regular selling figures.

PEA JACKETS.

The handiest coat a man or boy can put on while skating, or the best and most convenient garment for walking purposes. We have them made of Naps, to suit all ages at any price.

SUITS.

Beautifully finished in the newest Patterns of Imported Tweed, Cassimere, Cheviots, Diagonals, &c. We ask you to compare our Suits with other kinds. We don't mean simply to look at them through the plate glass windows; but get hold of them, turn them inside out, pull at the seams, see how the buttons are fastened and the button-holes worked, raise up the collars, turn out the sleeves, pull out the pockets, examine the linings, trimmings, and scrutinize all the hidden parts. That's how to judge Clothing.

After you have compared the Clothing, then compare the prices.

UNDERWEAR.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE

ARE NOT a Purgative Medicine. They are a BLOOD BUILDER, TONIC and RECONSTRUCTOR, as they supply in a condensed form the substances actually needed to enrich the blood, curing all diseases coming from POOR and WATERY BLOOD, or from VITIATED HUMORS in the BLOOD, and also invigorate and BUILD UP the BLOOD and NERVE SYSTEM, when broken down by overwork, mental worry, disease, excesses and indiscretions. They have a SPECIFIC ACTION upon the SEXUAL SYSTEM of both men and women, restoring LOST VIGOR and correcting all IRREGULARITIES and SUPPRESSIONS.

EVERY MAN Who finds his mental faculties dull or failing, or his physical powers flagging, should take these PILLS. They will restore his lost energies, both physical and mental.

EVERY WOMAN should take them. They cure all suppressions and irregularities, which inevitably entail, chronic ill health.

YOUNG MEN should take these PILLS. They will cure the results of youthful bad habits, and strengthen the system.

YOUNG WOMEN should take them. These PILLS will make them regular.

MINISTERS, LAWYERS, TEACHERS, and others whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and biliousness. One is a dose. Try them.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts, and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

MURDER OF THE NOTARY.

DEVELOPMENTS IN THE TRIAL OF EYRAUD AND BOMPARD.

The Extreme Sentence of the Law Imposed on Eyraud The Man Condemned to Death and the Woman to Imprisonment.

PARIS, Dec. 21.—The trial of Michael Eyraud and Gabriella Bompard for the murder of Notary Gouffe, was continued in the Assize Court Saturday. Public interest increases as the case draws to its close, and the crowd of spectators at to-day's session was the largest since the trial began. The physical and mental strain imposed by the trial is beginning to tell upon the prisoners, both of whom plainly showed evidences of the fatigue and anxiety to which they have been subjected. Mlle. Bompard was especially nervous and excited.

The proceedings were opened by the public prosecutor, who summed up the case on behalf of the Government. He began by promising to confine himself to the murder and robbery of M. Gouffe. He begged the jury to follow him closely, and to dismiss from their minds all the evidence that had been presented regarding hypnotism. He said he would make every effort to uphold justice against theories of suggestion, which, he declared, constituted a menace of society.

He denounced the theories of the Nancy School of Hypnotizers, and citing the results of Prof. Charcot's experiments in support of his contention, urged that a person who was hypnotized retained sufficient will power to resist the operator's will. He said that Prof. Charcot's experiments showed that no operator could bring a subject so absolutely under control as to force him or her to commit a crime. The theories of the Nancy School were nothing less than the old story of the "evil eye," and were on a par with fortune-telling with cards. If such theories were once admitted, personal responsibility would be at an end and the laws on which society depended for protection would disappear in anarchy. Regarding Mlle. Bompard, the public prosecutor said that the woman's intellect was not weak, but it was depraved. Both prisoners were equally guilty. The evidence showed that everything in the room in which the crime was committed had been prepared for the hanging of Gouffe and it was idle to assert the contrary. The murder of the notary could have been impossible unless the man had been taken unawares. It was the jury's duty to reject the story of the woman, who was as culpable as her companion who frankly avowed his guilt. It was the woman's girdle that strangled the victim to death; it was the woman who delivered Gouffe into the hands of her lover, who waited for a favorable moment to draw the cord with which Gouffe was strangled. He demanded that the extreme sentence of the law be imposed upon Eyraud. He did not ask for indulgence in the case of Mlle. Bompard, but the jury must consider her age, her defective education and her condition of life and decide whether there were extenuating circumstances in the part she had taken in the crime.

When the public prosecutor had concluded, M. Decori addressed the court in behalf of Eyraud. M. Decori admitted that his task was a difficult one. The hour, he said, seemed about to strike, not for justice, but to sound the triumph of the huntsmen who had secured their prey. The clamorous crowd appeared sure of their quarry, but he hoped the jury would not allow themselves to be influenced by this clamor. Eyraud, he continued, had been an industrious man, but had become weak in the hands of a woman. The evil influence of Mlle Bompard had made him a mere puppet. In order to show the character of Bompard, counsel read a letter written to her by her first lover.

During the reading of the letter Mlle. Bompard burst into a fit of weeping and would have fainted had not restoratives been applied.

M. Decori, proceeding, contended that Bompard, and not Eyraud, conceived the crime for which they are now being tried. The original intention of both, he said, was not to murder M. Gouffe, but to extort money from him. This had led rapidly to the greater crime.

M. Robert next addressed the court in behalf of Mlle. Bompard. He maintained that Eyraud had enticed her into participation in the crime. The evidence he held, proved that she had submitted entirely to her lover's influence. As soon as an opportunity had arrived to escape from him through Garanger she had seized it, and had made a full confession of the crime to the authorities.

Regarding the manner in which the deed had been committed, he said the indictment furnished only an hypothesis. He would tell the whole truth as revealed by M. Bompard to Dr. Voisin while she was under hypnotic influence. The story of the crime as thus recited by the woman was that it had been agreed between herself and Eyraud that she was to throw her girdle over Gouffe's neck, but just as she was about to do so she was seized with a nervous attack which rendered her helpless, and Eyraud, seeing her unable to perform her part, rushed upon his victim, and, seizing him by the throat, strangled him to death. "Gabrielle is ill," he consoled M. Robert, "and sick women are not condemned, they are nursed."

Upon the conclusion of counsel's address the jury retired to consider their verdict. After an absence of an hour and a quarter they returned and announced the result of their deliberations. The verdict was that both prisoners were guilty, but extenuating circumstances were found in the case of the woman. No protest against the verdict was made by either the prisoners or their counsel, and after a short deliberation on the part of the judges sentence was pronounced. The court condemned Eyraud to die by guillotine, and sentenced Gabrielle Bompard to 20 years' imprisonment at hard labor. The woman, upon hearing her sentence, appeared to be utterly overcome and fell back into the arms of her doctor. Eyraud showed not the slightest sign of emotion.

While being conducted to his cell Eyraud inaudibly muttered: "Condemned to death at last, but I expected it." Eyraud refused to take his dinner. He expressed the hope to the keepers that he would be granted a reprieve. Mlle. Bompard is also hopeful that her sentence will be reduced. She showed a good deal of appetite when her meal was brought to her.

ONE OF THE THINGS
we are apt to grumble at
IN FRANCE,
THE providing of one's own soap at hotels! Permit me to remark that this is one of those things
They do manage better in France
than we do here. I am strongly of opinion that every one when travelling should carry his or her own soap as one takes one's own hair-brush or sponge. It is much more cleanly, and there can be no better providing in this respect for the hot sun and warm winds and dust of travel than a cake of which, under such circumstances, I have found very efficient in the prevention of sunburn and allied annoyances.

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its liberal unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

The frame is laid and the new steamer will be built in the staunchest manner of the very best material and provided with the very best appointments, the best of machinery, and all the equipments will be first-class in every respect. The "Sunbeam" will be a big addition to the travelling facilities of Stony Lake.

Ashburnham Elections.

The municipal pot is beginning to boil across the river, and already a large number of candidates for the village council of 1891 are in the field. There will be no opposition to Reeve Burnham; but five new men are spoken of as candidates for seats at the council board. All the present councillors will again offer themselves—Messrs. H. Calcutt, F. Adams, Wm. Wand and J. Throop. The new men spoken of, and it is believed all or nearly all of them will stand, are Messrs. R. Tivey, J. Craig, Thomas Brady John McWilliams and John Anderson. There promises to be a lively contest across the river.

The Fatted Calf is Killed.

"Christmas comes but once a year, and when it comes it brings good cheer"—in the shape of a table laden with meats and fowl and puddings and pastry and all the other concomitants of the festive season. Every household needs a double quantity of food for the holidays, and Morris & Howden, the Hunter street butchers, can supply you with everything you want in the line of meat. Their shop, nearly opposite the post office, is filled with huge slabs of tender, juicy beef, choice fowl, of every variety, mutton, pork and fancy meats of all kinds. Morris & Howden guarantee satisfaction and prompt delivery. Leave your order with them. 2d

Three Days Christmas Tree.

Any contributions to the great Three Days' Christmas Tree to be placed in Bradburn's Opera House, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 29th, 30th and 31st, by the ladies of the Congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral may be left at the Presbytery, Reid street. The public are particularly urged to attend this entertainment. It is unique, entertaining, and cannot fail to be of profit to all who attend. The programmes for both concerts, the Cathedral choir on Monday night and that of the Convent pupils on Tuesday night, are under diligent preparation, and will be worthy of the public patronage in every respect. Further particulars furnished hereafter. 1d

With Pencil and Speech.

Mr. J. W. Bengough's lecture in the opera house last night was attended by a much slimmer audience than he is accustomed to or merits. His sketches were as racy and pointed as ever, and his clever burlesques were loudly applauded. The solid part of the entertainment deal with the question of single tax and business tax, which he fully explained by means of crayon and verbal illustrations, and advocated this new principle of assessment as the only feasible scheme for the amelioration of the poverty and distress in the world. The local bits were also good, portraits being drawn of several well-known gentlemen, amongst them Mr. J. H. Burnham, President of the Single Tax Association, and Mr. George Ball, the candidate for councillor in No. Two Ward on the business tax platform and Mr. Geo. Giroux the energetic canvasser of No. one ward.

The New Master.

The committee on appointments, after most careful investigation of the merits of the forty applicants, have decided to recommend the appointment of W. R. Rutherford, B. A., to the mastership of the first form in the Collegiate Institute. Mr. Rutherford is a graduate of Toronto University, with a most brilliant record. His standing at the University examinations was: 1st year, 1887—1st class honors in classics, 1st class honors in French; 2nd year, 1888—2nd class honors in classics, 2nd class honors in English, 1st class honors in history, 2nd class honors in French, 2nd class honors in German, 1st class honors in Italian, 2nd class honors in mental philosophy, 1st class honors in logic; 3rd year, 1889—1st class honors in classics, history, French, 2nd class honors in English, German, Italian, Spanish, moral philosophy; 4th year, 1890—2nd class honors in classics, German, Italian, Spanish; 3rd class honors in French. Mr. Rutherford's standing at the training institute was exceptionally good. With such a record the committee feel that Mr. Rutherford will add one more to an already able staff of teachers, and that our institute will be second to none in the Province.

Presentation to a Principal.

Saturday evening a deputation of girls from the senior class of the South Ward School waited upon Mr. John Stirling, their esteemed Principal, and surprised him by making a presentation on behalf of their class of an address and handsome plush writing desk. The girls were Misses Emma Watt, Rebecca Jackson and Ethel Savigny. The address read as follows:—

DEAR TEACHER,—The pupils of your class desire to show their appreciation of your kindness, urbanity, constant attention to your duties, and the interest you have always evinced in furtherance of our general well-being and our progress in the various branches of educational subjects pertaining to our class.

In asking you to accept this our free-will offering, we know that you will appreciate it, not as much for its intrinsic value, as for the exhibition of that affection which should always exist between the teacher and his pupils.

And we trust that whatever position Providence places you in in the future, your lot may be a happy one, and your intercourse as pleasant, whoever you come in contact with as it has been with these your grateful pupils.

THE RESULT IN KILKENNY

The Anti-Parnellite Elected by 1,171 Majority.

A Sad Blow to Parnell—Considerable Excitement in Kilkenny—Mr. Parnell's Candidate Swamped.

(Special to the Examiner.)

KILKENNY, Dec. 23.—The official count shows that Sir John Pope Hennessy, (anti-Parnellite) is elected by a majority of 1171. The figures are: Hennessy, 2,527; Scully, 1,356. There was not much excitement in the streets.

The Town and the Grand Trunk

An Explanation of the Present Position of Affairs Between Them.

Some talk has been created by the fact that the Grand Trunk Railway Company has charged the town $2 freightage on some cars of material brought over their line for the Edison Company, and the EXAMINER has been requested to make the facts of the matter public, so that there may be no misapprehension.

In the first place, Mayor Stevenson states, the town will not be put to any loss. True, the Grand Trunk Company is charging the corporation about $700 for freightage on 350 cars of stone to be brought down from the north, but Manager White has assured the council that as soon as the Grand Trunk Company gets direct connection with the Edison Company's premises this money will be refunded. The G.T.R. Company are determined to have a siding of their own, and are making arrangements to run a switch line around the Carbon Works into the Edison Co.'s grounds. When this is accomplished the town council has the assurance that the money will be refunded. The charge of $2 per car at present made is only on traffic from non-competing points. From all points where there is competition with the C. P. R. the Grand Trunk brings supplies at the usual rate and no extra charge is made the town for transfer into the Edison Works; but upon material brought from non-competing points the G. T. R., says the mayor, take advantage of their monopoly of the traffic and compel the town to pay for the transfer over the C. P. R. siding. This is an unexpected state of things for which the council could not make any provision. However, though the Grand Trunk company are at present apparently squeezing the town, Manager White gives his word that as soon as their own siding is built, which it is expected will shortly come about, the money will all be returned.

That is the position of affairs at present. The Grand Trunk has amply taken advantage of the town by a process which it would have been difficult to provide against. No mention of such a possibility was ever made in the negotiations between the town and the railway company.

At the Salvation Army Barracks.

Special Meetings Led by Brigadier Margetts—A Reformed Drunkard and Prize Fighter.

The meeting at the barracks Monday night was led by Brigadier Margetts, who is in charge of the Central Brigade, composed of the Toronto and Peterborough divisions, assisted by Staff-Capt. Beatty, divisional officer, Peterborough, also Capt. Wilcox and Lieut. Purdy, Lakefield; Capt. Rowan, Lieut. Prest, Lindsay; Capt. Barker and Lieut. McKay, Omemee; Capt. Rawling, Capt. McKenzie, Capt. and Mrs. Desson, Capt. Andrews and Lieut. Ralph, Peterborough.

A great many soldiers testified in the usual Army fashion, accompanied by the usual clappings of hands and singing of choruses. There was a good audience in the hall and a happy time enjoyed, such as Salvationists know how to have.

Lieut. Prest sang a German song, and Capt. Wilcox and Capt. Barker also sang beautiful songs. Brigadier Margetts sang, accompanied by his concertina.

Ensign Steel gave a short and rapid sketch of his life. He said he had been on the spree for thirteen weeks, and during that time never laid on a bed. He had delirium tremens when his mother died and had to be locked up in a room at the time. Ah! he said, that mother who used to wash away the blood and lave his wounds after a fight, for he was a pugilist and carried off the light weight championship belt. He went out for prayers in the old theatre, where he used to dance and box to amuse the boys. He went out five times in one night and each time went out and got more liquor. He was matched to fight at the time and this was the difficulty; but he got the victory in his soul. The boys who had staked their all on him asked him what about the fight. He said, "Boys, I'm done"—and for ten years he has been working for God.

During the special meetings seven persons came forward and professed conversion.

On the 13th of January next the Commissioner will visit Peterborough, when there will be a tremendous "splurge."

The Screws Applied.

"Willie dear," said Mrs. Avery to her little son, "run over to Cater's drug store and buy two packages each of Diamond Dyes, Pink and Old Gold; here is the money for them."

Willie rushed off to buy the dyes and was told by Mr. Cater, in a very plausible way, that the ——dyes were quite as good as Diamond Dyes, and would suit his mother; and sent Willie home with the parcel.

Willie's mother felt sorely vexed when she found what had been done, and believed her druggist had wilfully tried to deceive her. Mrs. Avery very shortly after her son's arrival walked over to the drug store, and politely requested Mr. Cater to refund the money if he did not keep the Diamond Dyes in stock.

"Why, Mrs. Avery, these —— dyes I sent you are"—"Not another word, Mr. Cater, if you please, about them; you cannot be persuasive enough to mislead me, if you have been misled yourself. These dyes you speak of have been the cause of much annoyance and loss already to some in the village. I have always been one of your best customers, and will in future buy elsewhere if you continue selling those trashy dyes, and many of my friends will do likewise." This we are told had the desired effect on Mr. Cater, the druggist; he soon sold out his entire stock of crude dyes to a Russian peddler, and retained all his old customers by selling only Diamond Dyes. Thus it is clearly shown that ladies can exert a very powerful influence in the package dye business.

News Nuggets.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

A Tale of Christmas Buying.

DEDE UP IN VERSE.

Come fathers, mothers, rich and poor and bring your children all.
My large and well assorted stock will suit you, great and small,
Your reasons beg shed in King's boots, no matter where he tramps,
Will not keep you awake at night with colic, chills or cramps.
My splendid show in fancy lines, nice slippers, boots and shoes,
Made from the skin of every beast tanners and makers use,
To give the names of every one my pen could not begin,
From the huge alligator down to the rough groundhog's skin.
You will not fail to please your eye from my grand show of goods,
All the latest styles and newest styles my well-filled shelves beholds,
Dry warm feet essential is to health as much as bread,
To save your sons and dear friends' lives, come buy your boots from Kidd.
No store in the Dominion can a grander stock display
From the old city of Quebec north-west to Hudson's Bay.
Civility and kindness with strict honesty combined,
Has public confidence secured increase in sales I find.
New competition is the rage in every branch of trade:
I have cut all my prices down and great reductions made;
The man that undersells me, sure will break his solvent thread
With bankrupt notice off the stock and leave the cream to Kidd.
To customers both old and new my thanks I do extend
And in the future as the past—on me you may depend,
The price and quality of goods that I to you lay down,
Will knock the spots off any man, in the same trade in town.
The festive seasons are at hand, this year is getting small,
A Merry Christmas and New Year I wish you one and all.
Many many come and go before you sleep among the dead,
Is the sincere and earnest wish of your friend
R. J. Kidd.

As Christmas Draws Near

All are laying in their little store of luxuries, so I wish to call their attention to my immense stock of Liquors. I have a very fine Port Wine, well aged, which I am running off very cheap. Fine Ginger Wine, Natives, from the finest Concord Grapes. Some special lines of very old Port, which may be considered high in price, but when the age is taken into consideration, it appears low. I may speak the same of Brandy, Cherry, Whisky, Gin, Claret, Rum, Old Tom, Sherry, J. Bell. My stock of Liquors not only being the largest, is considered the most complete of any in town. My bottled Goods consist of Clubs, Gooderham & Worts, Imperial, Old Times, White Wheat, Hennessy, Martell, Jamieson's. Liquors of all kinds, etc., etc. W. J. MORROW 340 George street. dw

A Young Husband's Dilemma.

Yesterday a young wife made her husband the prince of proud men by bringing into the world a man child, the first that had blessed their two-years' wedded life, and with a wan humour as weak as her voice, but which the happy husband at least appreciated, she said it was her Christmas box. The young father was in a sad dilemma as to how he would return the gift, but at last a bright idea struck him, and he ordered a box of hawley bros.'s teas, and now, what with catnip tea, saffron tea, and hawley's tea, there's not a happier household in the land. dw

SHE "DIED LIKE A MAN."

THE MURDERESS OF MRS. HOGG EXECUTED AT LONDON.

History of One of the Most Brutal Crimes of Modern Times—The Crowd Cheered After the Hanging—The Woman Confessed Her Fate was Just.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Pearcey, alias Mary Eleanor Wheeler, was hanged this morning for the murder of Mrs. Hogg and her baby. Mrs. Hogg was the wife of a London porter. The crowd outside the prison walls set up a loud cheer when the black flag, showing that the woman was hanging on the scaffold, was hoisted upon the prison flagstaff. During the night the unfortunate woman was quiet and resigned and for several hours prayed in company with the prison chaplain. To the latter she confessed that the sentence passed upon her was a just one, though she said the evidence upon which she was convicted was false.

She "Died Like a Man."

While upon the scaffold Mrs. Pearcey appeared to be thoroughly calm and prepared to meet her doom. Previous to being pinioned the woman shook hands with the hangman, and said she would "die like a man." On her way to the scaffold Mrs. Pearcey positively refused any assistance, saying: "I can walk by myself." The woman never faltered.

History of the Crime.

On the night of Oct. 24th a Mr. Somerled Macdonald was walking homeward along the Cross Field road, South Hampstead. His attention was casually directed to a dark looking object lying on the ground, and, on inspecting it, he found it to be the corpse of a woman. Policemen and doctors were summoned to the spot without delay, and it was then clearly established that a most shocking crime had been committed. The poor woman's skull had been fractured; her throat was cut and the spinal column broken; and the head was merely attached to the body by the muscles at the back. The corpse was loosely wrapped in an old cardigan jacket belonging to a man, and some little way off was found an important piece of evidence in the shape of a brass nut which had formed part of a bassinet or child's perambulator. On the same evening at about 7½ a perambulator, somewhat damaged and without an owner, was found by a domestic servant in the front garden of a house in Hamilton Terrace, St. John's Wood, and two days later a Gypsy hawker named Oliver Smith discovered, while lounging on some vacant building ground off the Finchley Road, the dead body of a female infant fully dressed with the exception of one shoe and one sock hidden under a growth of nettles.

An Interesting Drama.

Not many hours passed before the mystery was fully investigated, and a drama of an interesting if painful character was revealed to an eager public. At 141 Prince of Wales Road, Camden Town, there lived a man named Frank Hogg, whose occupation was that of a furniture remover, and who had previously been the manager of a provision shop. This man had married in November of 1888 a young woman whose maiden name was Phoebe Styles; and six months after their union she had given birth to a female child. At 3 Priory-street, Kentish Town—about a mile from Frank Hogg's house—resided in apartments a woman who went by the name of Mrs. Pearcey, but who was in reality a single woman, named Mary Eleanor Wheeler. She was 34 years of age, had originally made her living by working for furriers and had subsequently fallen in with a carpenter named Pearcey, with whom she cohabited for three or four years as wife, adopting his name. During her cohabitation with Pearcey she made the acquaintance of Frank Hogg, for whom she seems to have conceived an unpardonable passion, not uncommon among women of her class. Mary Wheeler, or Mrs. Pearcey, was under the protection of a gentleman, at whose expense she lived; but Hogg was the favored lover and had a latch key with which he could let himself into her house whenever he pleased. To make matters smooth he had also introduced Mrs. Pearcey to his wife; and the two seem for a period at least to have lived on terms of friendship, the paramour nursing the wife during a severe illness. That Mrs. Hogg, however, had her suspicions there is every reason to believe and we may attribute to her resentment as an injured wife the coldness which after a while sprang up between the two women.

Invited to Her Doom.

It is known, for instance, that on October 24th Mrs. Pearcey sent a letter to Mrs. Hogg, asking her to come to tea at the house in Priory-street, but it has not been definitely ascertained why Mrs. Hogg, who was not very friendly with Mrs. Pearcey, should have accepted the invitation. Accept she did, however, and accordingly at about 8 o'clock, wheeling the perambulator in which contained her baby, she repaired to the house, and was seen to enter it. What passed cannot be told with any precision; though it is certain that Mrs. Hogg never left Mrs. Pearcey's kitchen alive.

Nothing was discovered until some hours later, when the police searched the premises and found the walls and ceiling spattered with blood; an ensanguined poker and carving knife, various articles of clothing, also with blood upon them, and traces everywhere of a struggle and a crime. There cannot, however, be a shadow of doubt that the woman Wheeler or Pearcey fell upon Mrs. Hogg, fractured her skull with a poker, cut her throat with the carving knife and subsequently sought to hide the deed by conveying the dead body in the bassinet to South Hampstead and leaving it in the road there; removing afterwards the perambulator to St. John's Wood, and concealing the corpse of Mrs. Hogg's infant—smothered. It is not known how—near Finchley road. Mrs. Pearcey was seen wheeling the bassinet and staggering under its load, and the cardigan jacket in which Mrs. Hogg's body was wrapped was identified as a discarded garment, formerly belonging to the carpenter Pearcey.

His Mode of "Raising The Stakes."

PARIS, Dec. 23.—La Bruyare, the American journalist who admitted he aided Padlewsky to escape though the latter was suspected of having murdered Gen. Selivalskoff, and Mme. Daquercy who admitted she concealed Padlewsky in her house shortly after the murder, were to-day charged with conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice. La Bruyare said he considered that in befriending Padlewsky he acted as an honest man would have acted. He considered he had done something which tended to raise the status of newspaper reporting. He confessed to having received 3000 francs for his expenses, though the latter, according to the statement he submitted, only amounted to 500 francs. He could not say what had become of the 3000 francs. Several witnesses who travelled with La Bruyare testified they thought the party consisted of duellists who were trying to conceal their identity for fear of being arrested.

The procurer contended that La Bruyare's sole motive was to advertise himself and thereby earn money.

Judgment was deferred.

HARTLEPOOL, Dec. 23.—An explosion of gas took place to-night in the Alahambra Theatre. The building was wrecked and several employes were injured. The explosion occurred shortly before the opening of the theatre for the evening's performance. It had happened a little [illegible]

THE BIG GLASGOW STRIKE

IS EXTENDING RAPIDLY TO ALL PARTS OF SCOTLAND.

The Signalmen Join the Engineers and Firemen—Traffic Almost Suspended—An Explosion of Gas in a Durham Theatre Injures a Number of Persons.

GLASGOW, Dec. 23.—In spite of all efforts made to bring about a settlement of the matter in dispute between the railroad officials and the railroad employes the strike continues to extend in many directions. Traffic is now hopelessly behind time everywhere along the lines of all roads affected. The engine drivers report that many of the signal towers are empty, having been deserted by their regular occupants, and that in other cases where the signalmen remained at their posts the signals were so worked as to be misleading and consequently delaying the passage of trains in a most annoying and dangerous manner.

At Holytown the coal miners have ceased working, as there are no cars available.

Should the strike continue much longer local trade of Lanarkshire will be paralyzed.

Traffic in Edinburgh Stopped.

The directors of three railroad companies met here to-day and resolved to stand firm.

The North British station was totally closed to passenger traffic after the London train left at 9 o'clock to-night.

The block is increasing all the way to Carlisle.

All the suburban trains at Edinburgh have stopped.

At Dundee and Arbroath the men came out in a body at midnight, stopping all traffic to Edinburgh and Aberdeen.

At a meeting in Perth late last night the railroad men resolved to strike.

Railroad Men in Hull to Strike.

LONDON, Dec. 24.—It is announced that 1200 railway workmen in Hull will strike tomorrow. They demand an increase in wages and a reduction of hours of labor.

The cotton masters of Lancashire have conceded an increase of 5 per cent. in the wages of their employes.

Edmund Yates' Gossip.

LONDON, Dec. 24.—It is said that the German Emperor has announced his intention of paying a visit to England next year and will probably be here during the London season. Buckingham Palace will be prepared for him.

We shall probably hear in the course of the next year that the eldest of the four daughters of the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh, Princess Marie, is going to be betrothed to Prince Ferdinand of Roumania, the nephew and presumptive heir of King Charles.

Lord Roseberry, who has been staying at Mentmore since his wife's funeral, will not take any part in political affairs for a long time to come, as he proposes to start early next year on a tour to the West Indies and South America.

I hear that Dean Vaughan has the refusal of the deanery of St. Paul's and it is most unlikely that he will accept it.

It is expected that Parnell will order all his personal following to withdraw from the National Liberal Club. The leader of the Irish race is afraid that they will be corrupted by contact with what Mr. Conway calls the dirty radicals of Ireland.

McCarthy on the Situation.

BOULOGNE, Dec. 23.—Justin McCarthy arrived here to-day. He says the result at Kilkenny surpassed his expectations, as Sculley's forces included 400 to 600 Conservatives, and the total Parnellite strength was [illegible] of the total poll. McCarthy believes that would disorganize the opposition and make many waverers to come to Parnell.

A British Ship Sinks With Her Crew.

The Australian Will Never Visit America

McLean still more [illegible] America," said Ned Hanlan confidently last night.

"You see, continued the world's greatest sculler, "the new champion possesses a domestic disposition, also a wife and family; besides there is no benefit in peddling the title. So John McLean will not in any likelihood leave the Australian shores, and if the championship be brought to this country the lucky American sculler must himself be the traveler."

Hanlan spoke with pardonable pride of the great record of his protege and that Stanbury did not weaken. He was simply rowed to a standstill, and subsequent reports must show Kemp to have been treated in a similar manner.

Hanlan also opined that neither Kemp nor Stansbury will visit America the coming season.

Hanlan evidently made another hit with the Dark Secret Company last season, for yesterday the manager of that company sent an anxious inquiry from Fall River, Mass., with the result that Ned will likely begin to win the diamond sculls at Henley nightly a fortnight hence.

Championship Skating in England

LONDON, Dec. 23.—In the skating race for the 1½ mile championship of England to-day Smart won in 4 min. 52 1-5 sec. Nee was second and Kent third. The American amateur champion, Joe Donoghue of Newburgh, N.Y., skated the same course in faster time than Smart.

Third race, 7 furlongs (Shetlain (favorite) 1, Sir William 2, Faustina 3. Time 1.33¼.

Fourth race, 4½ furlongs—Topmast 1, Barrientos 2, Millerton (favorite) 3. Time 1.00¾.

Fifth race—Tartar 1, Lita 2, Owen Golden 3. Time 1.30¼.

Sixth race, 1 1-16 miles—Quotation 1, Rapine 2, Pollander 3. Time 1.50.

GUTTENBURG, Dec. 23.—The fourth race at a mile found My Fellow a hot favorite at the post, 1 to 10 on. My Fellow got off in the lead, but was soon passed by Brussels, and the latter kept in front until 7/8 furlongs, when his backers cheered to half a length. My Fellow at once responded with Trestle last than half a length behind, and came a whopping finish and Taylor had My Fellow to the front by a clean head. Brussels was in the sixth race but made a poor showing, never even getting as good as third in the procession. Ida Girl was entered for this event, but was scratched. Summary:

First race, ¾ mile—Josie M. (favorite) 1, Ball [illegible] 2, Facial B. 3. Time 1.16¾.

Second race, 5½ furlongs—Frances S. 1, Alma Belle 2, Brick 3. Time 1.09½.

Third race, 6 furlongs—Ida Colvine 1, Little Willie (favorite) 2, Ozone 3. Time 1.15½.

PARNELL BADLY BEATEN.

HENNESSY'S MAJORITY IN KILKENNY NEARLY 1200.

The Defeated Candidate Will Protest the Election Owing to the Action of the Priests—Quietness Restored on the News Now that the Battle of the League is Over.

KILKENNY, Dec. 24.—There was little or no excitement in the streets of Kilkenny yesterday. Fence and quiet, outwardly, at least, seemed to reign on all sides, the streets being the quietest portions of the town. Opposite and about the Court House a small crowd gathered. Messrs. Parnell, Harrington, Redmond, Scully, Hennessy and Healy were inside the Court House at an early hour awaiting with varying emotions the actual announcement of the result.

In view of the almost vital importance to both sides of the exciting contest just decided it is claimed that both sides deserve great credit for the fact that no collision took place between their followers, and that the last day of the campaign at least was conspicious for the almost entire absence of the personal abuse which has recently been exchanged by broadsides between the followers and the opponents of Mr. Parnell. During the morning, as has been the case since the polls closed, the door of the "counting-room" in the court house was strictly guarded by police, but there was no attempt to create any disturbance. Shortly before noon Mr. Davitt came out from the court house and told the associated press correspondent that he (the correspondent), could accept it as a fact that Mr. Hennessy's majority would be about 1200 and that the Parnellites had suffered a hopeless, crushing defeat. The actual figures are: Hennessy 2527, Scully 1356.

Vincent Scully will lodge a petition protesting the election of Sir John Pope Hennessy, on the ground of undue influence on the part of the priests, particularly referring to the priests acting in connection with the illiterate voters of Castle Comer.

Dr. Tanner will bring suit against Parnell for libels contained in speeches made by the latter during the campaign.

The first public meeting of the McCarthyites committee took place to-day. Everybody present was filled with enthusiasm over the result of the contest in North Kilkenny.

Davitt Returns to the Attack.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—Michael Davitt's paper, The Labor World, to-day renews its onslaught on Parnell. In a lengthy attack upon the "uncrowned king" The Labor World says: "If by any compromise Parnell remains leader of the Irish party a number of anti-Parnell members threaten to abandon public life, which would be disastrous to the public at large." The Labor World adds that Parnell is a greater danger to Ireland than any outside enemy has ever been.

"No foreign force," says the paper, has ever so endangered Ireland's liberty and honor as this pretender, unmitigated trickster and unscrupulous enemy of liberty and democracy who attacks Ireland's honor in its most vital part and who betrayed his trust of honor. Parnell should not be permitted to hold power which would be abused and which would render Ireland's condition under her dictator worse than that of a South American republic Parnell's "honor," says the paper, is a byword. His mendacity is boundless, his vindictiveness and tyranny are infamous, and his hypocrisy is calloused and he will lead Ireland to disgrace. Those seeing him now, in his hideous deformity, will not rest until they have deprived him of the power to injure the untarnished cause of Irish liberty.

Parnell Will Continue the Fight.

In connection with the formal protest to be made by Scully against the validity of the election of Hennessy it is stated over 900 votes are challenged by the Parnellites. Immediately after the sheriff had officially announced the result of the polling the Parnellites present moved to the front of the court house and, with a cheer, hoisted Parnell upon their shoulders and gave him a rousing reception. Parnell was about to make a speech to his followers when Timothy and Maurice Healy appeared among the crowd. The Parnellites assumed menacing attitudes and made threats impliying personal violence to the Healeys in case they did not leave the scene. Finally Parnell, in order to prevent a row, asked the police to induce the Healys to withdraw. The police acted upon the suggestion and the Healys were prevailed upon to depart. While they were being escorted out of danger Parnell diverted the attention of the crowd by a speech. He said he would not be turned aside from his determination to do his duty to Ireland, seeing that the result of the contest in North Kilkenny was brought about by conspiracy. He would go through Ireland fighting every election and he felt confident of eventual triumph.

Dillon on the Result.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—John Dillon and T. P. O'Connor to-day made the following statement: "We learned the result of the Kilkenny election with great pleasure. The majority is greater than we had hoped for. It is a vindication of the patriotism and sagacity of the constituency because it shows that consideration of the good of the country and safety of the National cause has prevailed with the electors over natural feelings of gratitude and affection for a great leader like Parnell, which have blended so many to the true issue at stake. The result of the election offers, in our judgment, a chance of reuniting our party, and we earnestly hope that both sides will co-operate with Mr. O'Brien in bringing about a reunion in the Irish national ranks.

Parnell in Dublin.

DUBLIN, Dec. 24.—Friendly demonstrations were made at most of the places at which Parnell stopped on his journey from Kilkenny to this city. He made several brief addresses on the trip, in which he declared the fight had not been an equal one and that the electors had been mislead, but the fall of the first fence he said need not cause despair. His friends had been forcibly prevented from doing their part at Kilkenny where 1900 electors voted blindly against him. He would not falter in his fight against the Davitt-Steal conspiracy. The men in their hearts were enemies of the Irish movement. He had the materials, and would expose the method of the conspiracy.

At a meeting of the National Committee here to-day William K. Murphy, who was in the chair, said Parnell had disregarded Ireland's voice and it would be necessary to stop him in his mad career by every legitimate means. The committee decided to start a daily morning newspaper, which will be edited by Mr. O'Brien.

AN OHIO CYCLONE

Descends on a Syndicate Town—The Killed and Injured.

AKRON, Ohio, Dec. 23.—A fierce tornado struck the new syndicate town of Bailberta, five miles south of this city, at 5½ this afternoon. The only building destroyed was the shoe shop of the Creedmoor Cartridge Company. Seven men at work on the building were thrown into heaps of timber and brick.

The Dead.

JOHN TRIPLATT of Newport, aged 39.

The Injured.

FRANK STEVENS of Akron, ribs crushed against heart. Will die.

LOUIS KANALLA of Akron leg broken, ribs fractured and shoulder dislocated. May not recover.

ISAIAH TOWER of Newport, injured internally. Condition critical.

Three others suffered broken limbs and ribs. The loss on the building is $25,000.

JAMESON'S DIARY.

Claims that the Trouble was Due to Stanley's Neglect.

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Jameson's diary will be published to-day. Mrs. Jameson and the dead man's brother in a preface to the work bitterly attack Stanley for making Jameson the scapegoat for all the trouble which occurred and claiming they were due to Stanley's own bad judgment and neglect.

Under date of April 10, 1887, Jameson explains that Stanley rejects his advices to give the sick a period of rest and compels them to continue the march "with the result," he adds "that the camp regards me as a brute and Stanley as a sort of guardian angel." The diary is a record of the daily progress and adventures of the expedition interspersed with disputes between Stanley and his followers. For instance, he says: "While marching to Nkalama, after ordering a hundred lashes to be given a man for losing a box of ammunition, Stanley accused me of losing three boxes and said: 'If this happens again we must part.' If this continues and Stanley reproaches me before the men I shall not be sorry when we do part."

The Chiefs in Chains.

The diary records that Stanley degraded three chiefs the best men Jameson had ever seen among the natives, and only released them from their chains on the intercession of Tippo Tib. In a letter to his wife Jamieson complains that he has no time for pursuits of a naturalist. He declares that his whole time is employed "in beating and loading niggers." "While at Leopoldville," he writes, "they all had disagreeable moments with Stanley, but they think they are ended for the present." "I cannot help admiring him immensely," he says, "for his great strength of will power in overcoming difficulties but there are some points in his character which it is impossible to admire. Again when Stanley discards his reserve he is most agreeable and full of information. Later he describes "the most disgraceful row I ever heard between Stanley, Jephson and Stairs in reference to the complaint of the Zanzibaris, whose word Stanley takes in preference to that of his officers."

Jameson also says: "On June 6, having by his mistake lost the officers while steaming to Arumwhime, Stanley said if he had failed to find the steamers he would have treated us all as deserters. He used hard and unfair words and appeared to distrust us if a yard from him. Yet, except himself, who was seedy, the officers have worked the hardest in the most horrible swamps to procure wood. This distrust sickens us and is frightfully disheartening."

Being encamped at Yambuya Jameson again writes to his wife: "I cannot get over the disappointment of being left alone with Barttelot. Stanley left us 76 of the very worst men under one worthless chief. The camp is pitched in a frightfully damp place."

Flogging the Sentries.

In numerous entries Jameson expressed dislike to the necessary flogging of sentries caught asleep, and sets forth the difficulty of suppressing mutiny among the natives who were weary of waiting for Stanley. He describes stirring adventures on the journey to Kassonga.

On May 8, 1888, he records the cannibal incident as already published. In the final chapter he expresses deep sorrow at the death of Barttelot, and says: "The closest friendship existed between us. He was a straightforward, honest gentleman, his only fault being a hasty temper. He loved plain, straightforward dealing far too much even to get on well with the Arabs. He hated their crafty, roundabout manner and showed it and was disliked in turn. He was far too good a man to lose his life in this miserable way. God knows what I will do without him." In a subsequent letter Jameson says: "Little did I think when I spoke to you of my feelings of duty that I should ever be placed in a position as now where all I feel for you and your little ones cries out against what I must do as an officer of this expedition. With one word, or even a show of weakness on my part, I could stop the whole expedition, which seems fated to meet nothing but reverses, and return to you, but God knows such a thought has never entered my heart although I could easily defend such a course. Later he writes: "Assan's stories are a tissue of falsehoods. It is awful that such a scoundrel is allowed to traduce one behind one's back when there is no chance of defending oneself."

Ward, in describing Jameson's death says: "The drums were sounding to cease the day's work. He opened his eyes, started and clinched my hands, saying huskily:

"Ward, Ward, they're coming. Listen! Now, let's stand together."

Ward explains that Jamieson was thinking of the drums calling the savages to fight while they were drifting up the river.

BURNED THEIR VICTIMS ALIVE.

The Horrible Crime of Chinese Villagers and Their Punishment.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—Chinese advices report the execution of the sentences on the villagers near Shanghai for the cruel murder of 14 salt inspectors and the burning of the bodies of the wounded and dead. These salt inspectors made a raid on a village last March. They were no uniforms and the villagers mistook them for pirates. The inspectors seized a pile of contraband salt, and while removing it to their boats were attacked by villagers and overpowered. Nearly all were only stunned by blows, but the villagers, learning that they had attacked Government officers and fearful of severe punishment, carried the injured men to the boat, set fire to it and burned the whole to hide their crime. The chief criminal was sentenced to decapitation, but committed suicide before the day arrived, and, according to law, his body was exhumed and the head struck off and exhibited as a warning to the public. Four others were strangled and four exiled, after being heavily fined.

A Talk with Mr. Greenway.

TORONTO, Dec. 24.—Hon. Thomas Greenway, Premier of Manitoba, is a guest at the Queen's. Mr. Greenway has just returned from England, where he has been in the interests of immigration to his province.

"What are the prospects of a tide of immigration setting in towards Manitoba?" the reporter asked.

"I think they are exceedingly bright," said the Premier. "We want many more people in Manitoba, and I think with some extra effort in the Old Country we will get them. That is our expectation and wish." Mr. Greenway also intimated that he had been talking with some Winnipeg gentlemen that morning and he had every reason to believe that the amount of wheat for export from the province would reach every expectation.

Pierre Martin, aged 56, of Point St. Charles, was discovered by his son dangling by a piece of clothes line from one of the rafters in a shed in rear of his residence yesterday. No cause is assigned for the suicide.

Emperor William has decided to visit Paris. The Emperor will travel in strict incognito and will not take up his residence at the German embassy. Subsequently the German Emperor will proceed to Cannes and San Remo.

At Newcorydon, Ind., last night Wesley Tullis, a prominent business man, shot and instantly killed Miss Verona E. Travel, tried to kill her mother and then committed suicide. The mother objected to his marrying the girl.

Mr. Burton of Ohio yesterday introduced in the U. S. House a bill to amend the Interstate Commerce Act by adding a section relative to a railroad company doing business partly in the United States and partly in adjacent foreign countries. It requires such a company to obtain from the interstate commerce commission a license to engage in such business

If Your House is on Fire.

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. A Christmas Gift

To Readers of the Examiner.

In Him who rules both lands and seas
There are undoubted mysteries;
All this we know, for can He lie,
Who with His word fills earth and sky?
What is of truth in Him must be,
Before whom angels bend the knee.

By just a wish, He once did call,
From nothing out, the sun and all
The planets which around it shine;
What was this word except divine?
Or can a poor and finite power
Give welcome light and heat and shower?

His wondrous earth with all its size
Within His power forever lies;
He makes it round an axis run
And gives it how to seek the sun.
From this kind act of His great might
It has with seasons day and night.

Each little sand upon seashore
Tells us that Him we must adore;
All things proclaim the Deity,
In It He says there's Trinity,
'Fore It must bow each Heavenly host,
Its Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

W. A. Nevin.

Grip, 1891.

At the beginning of each year the intelligent man—especially if he be the head of a family—decides upon the papers he will subscribe for. This is a matter of very great importance, and as the amount thus to be invested is usually limited, not a little thought must be exercised if a wise choice is to be made. Next to the local paper—for no public spirited citizen will fail to support one or other of his local papers—the journal which affords the best value for the money in this country is Grip, our national humourous journal. It weekly visits, freighted as it always is with fresh, bright and cleanly fun of pen and pencil, are events of the most pleasurable description. In Canadian homes, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Grip is hailed with delight by the children as well as their elders, and for all it is a source of profitable instruction and healthful laughter. The splendid success of Grip, which is now in its thirty sixth volume, is a credit to Canada, for, in the opinion of good judges, so far as pith and point are concerned, it stands in the front rank of the world's comic journalism. It costs only $2 per year, and, if patronage were always granted in accordance with merit, it would be in every Canadian household without question. Parents who wish their growing boys and girls to be influenced in a right way, should not overlook this powerful agency. We have made arrangements with the publishers by which we are enabled to offer Grip and the Examiner for $2 75 per year. Subscriptions may be sent direct to Grip, Toronto, or to this office.

Otonabee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Meeting of Otonabee council Dec. 15th. All the members present. Edmund Conroy made application to be taken out of school section No. 16 and placed into school section No. 8. The council agreed on condition that the ratepayers of said section consented. On motion, the following accounts were passed:—J. Cleghorn, work on roads, $2 62; J. Hayes, gravel, $2 70; J. Yourex, plank for sidewalks, $6 47; James Wood, cedar, $10.72; George Stewart, jury selecting, $4; to each of the councillors $22 for seas. allowance and $12 as road commissioners; R. Hope, cedar plank and putting in crossing at J. Byrnes $3; H. H. Burnham, gravel, $17.50; F. Weir, gravel, $8 40; F. Burnett, cedar plank for culverts. $16.07; W. Dorey, gravel, $2 40; W. Hunter, cedar, $2 48; Hall & Hays, legal advice, $7. Messrs. Wood and Nelson were appointed a committee to procure $8 50 worth of clothing for O. McGowan, and to enquire as to the necessity of granting relief to Mrs. Barry. $60 was voted as Otonabee's portion for repair in 1889 of Locks bridge road; and G. W. Rumney to be tendered $5 for cinch account; R. A. Smyth to be allowed three days statute labor in 1891 for constructing a culvert. The clerk was instructed to notify James Gillespie to remove his fence off road line opposite lot 12 con. 12. It was decided if there is a municipal election on January 5th to take a vote of the electors to decide whether to abolish statute labor, and have a payment of a commutation of 50c. in lieu thereof. The treasurer presented his financial statement, and 100 copies were ordered to be printed for posting up and distribution to the electors. A bylaw appointing the following deputy returning officers was passed: Mr. James Ashburn, at his house, Villiers, poll div. No. 1; Mr Jno. Anderson, at No. 3 school house, poll. div. No. 2; Mr. Wm. McFarlane, town hall, Keene, poll. div. No. 3; Wm. Girven, his house, poll. div. No. 4; J. M. Drummond, Union Hall, Mather's corners, poll. div. The Queen's Latest Offer.

A Free Education or One Year's Travel in Europe.

In the Queen's "Word Contest," which the publishers of that magazine announce as the LAST ONE THEY WILL EVER OFFER, A Free Education consisting of Three Years' Course in any Canadian or American Seminary or College, including all expenses, tuition and board, to be paid by the publishers of The Queen, or One Year Abroad, consisting of One Entire Year's Travel in Europe, all expenses to be paid, will be given to the person sending them the largest list of words made from the text, which is announced in the last issue of The Queen. A special deposit of $750 has been made in the Dominion Bank of Canada to carry out this offer. Many useful and valuable prizes will be awarded in order of merit. The publishers of The Queen have made their popular family magazine famous both throughout Canada and the United States by the liberal prizes given in their previous competitions, and as this will POSITIVELY BE THE LAST ONE OFFERED, they intend to make it excel all others as regards the value of the prizes. Send six two cent stamps for copy of The Queen containing the texts, complete rules and list of prizes. Address The Canadian Queen, Toronto, Canada. 2d

Harvey Council Meeting.

The Harvey council met Dec. 15th, 1890, as provided by statute, to receive and dispose of the treasurer's financial statement from January 1st to date. The council noted the clerk to procure one hundred copies of the said statement for distribution. Total receipts since last statement $2 918 67; expenditure for schools, $1 050 54; roads, bridges and miscellaneous, $1.543 96; assets, due from the collector's roll, $3 040 46; and balance on hand, $32 17; on notes, due schools, salaries, etc, $2,094 45. Orders were drawn on the treasurer in favor of the trustees of the several school sections, viz: Union school section No. 1, levy on the Harvey part, $135; S S. No 2, levy for 1890, $280; S. S. No. 3, $224 48; S. S No. 4, $202 47; S S No. 5 $240; S S. No. 6, $235; S S No 7, $130; S S No. 8 $418. Other accounts and salaries, $281.40 On motion Charles McElmoyle was appointed to sell all the hardwood on the 17th and 18th concession lines to the highest bidder. A bylaw was passed appointing polling places, and deputy returning officers for holding the municipal elections in the township of Harvey. The council adjourned to call of Reeve.

Hawkers and Peddlers.

What ear-splitting cries we hear daily on the streets of our large cities! But these itinerant dealers who hawk their wares about are, when under proper restrictions, useful members of the community, and not such nuisances as the catarrh hawkers. This is a stubborn disease to conquer, but Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy does it. It is mild, soothing and antiseptic, unlike snuffs that irritate or solutions that burn. It corrects offensive breath and restores taste, smell and hearing. Nasal catarrh often ends in consumption. Apply the only cure in time. Price 50c., by all druggists. c

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Pure Your Blood

Purity of the blood is not generally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

OUR TEXT
FOR Christmas Morning.

"Let us have Warmth and Comfort if the Stockings should go Unfilled."

A well filled stocking certainly tends to make old and young feel glad and merry on Xmas morning; but it is only a very poor and transient sort of merriment unless we are warm and comfortable. There isn't much fun in a pair of skates to the boy who is suffering for a pair of warm stockings.

First and foremost, then, if you can't have both—if you can't have the full stocking and the warm clothing, too—by all means have the warm clothing.

This point being settled, the next important thing to do is to visit the People's Popular CITY CLOTHING STORE of

H. LeBRUN & CO.
PETERBOROUGH,

where you will find everything in the Clothing Line calculated to insure the greatest amount of warmth and comfort for the smallest amount of money.

For instance, in:—

OVERCOATS,

we have plenty of them for both men and boys, and as the season is now so far advanced, we have to cut them down in price so as to clear out the whole stock.

The fit and style of our Overcoats are such as to command your confidence.

We have all grades and sizes, ranging in price from $2 50 up.

Just now we are making a feature of OVERCOATS and can give you the pick of many styles. Further—our prices are from 25 to 30 per cent. below the regular selling figures.

PEA JACKETS.

The handiest coat a man or boy can put on while skating, or the best and most convenient garment for walking purposes. We have them made of Naps, to suit all ages at any price.

SUITS.

Beautifully finished in the newest Patterns of Imported Tweed, Cassimere, Cheviots, Diagonals, &c. We ask you to compare our Suits with other kinds. We don't mean simply to look at them through the plate glass windows; but get hold of them, turn them inside out, pull at the seams, see how the buttons are fastened and the button-holes worked, raise up the collars, turn out the sleeves, pull out the pockets, examine the linings, trimmings, and scrutinize all the hidden parts. That's how to judge Clothing.

After you have compared the Clothing, then compare the prices.

UNDERWEAR.

The blessings of Warm Underwear during the cold weather are incalculable. We keep all the leading and genuine Scotch and Canadian makes of Undershirts, Drawers and Hosiery. The prices in these will go down along with all other goods to the bottom figures.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts, and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES

BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete Body Battery. It has an independent Battery which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a Current of Quantity, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for Indigestion, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Weak Back, Spinal Disease, Heart Disease, Nervous Debility, Paralysis, Vertigo, Female Complaints, Impotence, Sexual Decline and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the Dorenwend Belt is very latest invention in the line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

SANTA CLAUS—1890.

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

ROM the belfry sweet and low,
Hidden in the midnight's gloom.
Sound the bells across the snow
Through the casements of my room.
And I cry a blithe Amen!
To the burden of their lay,
As they singing seem to say
Santa Claus has come again.

How the bells imprint a smile
On the child in happy sleep!
How they sleepless souls beguile
As they sound from deep to deep!
How they preach to weary men
Grown half hopeless with the years!
How they teach, 'mid joyous tears,
Santa Claus has come again!

For too often care and doubt
With their shadowy sister, pain,
Casting darkness all about
Quench the sunlight of the brain.
So a joy comes o'er me then
Which no words can ever frame,
When the merry bells proclaim
Santa Claus has come again.

Yet methinks that Santa Claus,
Though unseen, dwells ever near,
And through nature's august laws
Brings unceasingly good cheer;
And that all the sons of men,
If they listen in this life,
Hear above all earthly strife,
Santa Claus has come again.

For I see without, within,
Something whose resistless might
Slowly crushes strife and sin,
And with wisdom aids the right.
So, no matter what has been,
Well I know that every hour,
Clad in sweetness, love and power,
Santa Claus has come again.

CHRISTMAS IN PERU.

THE GREAT FESTIVAL IN A SUMMER-LIKE SETTING.

It Comes in the Height of the Outdoor Bathing Season and Is Celebrated Amid Blooming Wild Flowers—A Solemn Religious Holiday.

As the season consecrated by all Christian peoples, of whatever race or clime draws near, how few of us realize how differently it is observed according to the position of the observer on this globe of ours itself so small an atom in the immensity of the universe! The northern nations of Europe welcome it with good cheer and social gatherings; the dwellers on English soil with yule log and mistletoe; our own people with wreaths of evergreen and holly, and among all these there lingers the fragrance of the ancient traditions of good old St. Nicholas, the children's friend, with team of reindeer and burden of toys, which the legends tell were meant for distribution among the good little children.

But this is talk too serious for Christmas-tide. How do our neighbors of warmer climes keep the festival? For them Santa Claus and his outfit would be a mystery too deep to be penetrated. The only snow they have ever seen lies miles away on the slopes of their volcanoes. They have never heard the merry jingle of the sleigh bell nor the keen ring of the skate on a frosty morning, while a snow storm would astonish them as much as we should be amazed by the importation of one of their earthquakes.

Let us take a peep at Peru, our lovely southern sister. Blessed with a climate almost perfect, where the heliotrope grows wild on the hillside and flowers bloom all the year round, there is no more gentle, kindly, hospitable people on earth. Lima, the capital, is renowned for the beauty and grace of its ladies, and the children are like animated Christmas cards. There is no jealousy of the foreigner. He is welcomed, entertained and treated kindly and fairly by the government and the people. Life in Peru is of a quieter, gentler character than as we know it in the hurry and rush of our business awakeness and one who has lived among them and learned to appreciate their lovable qualities will often send back a grateful glance of retrospection.

As travelers oft look back at eve, when eastward darkly going,
To gaze upon the light they leave still faint behind them glowing.

Among the Anglo-Saxon dwellers in Peru Santa Claus is not forgotten, and the approach of Christmas is looked forward to with eager expectation in many a childish heart. The fabled shoe of the ancient dame with her numerous progeny, the glass slipper of Cinderella, and the trials and triumphs of the Sleeping Beauty are as familiar to them as to our own little ones. Perhaps some who may read these lines may remember a dozen years ago to have seen the parlors of one of the leading foreign families in Lima filled with a delighted audience to witness the debut of the daughter of the house as Cinderella, the beautiful child bearing herself with as perfect self possession as the bride of the prince as she afterward showed when, at the drawing room of her majesty in London, she bowed before the queen, herself the fairest among them all.

But Peru lies a few degrees south of the equator, and while the American boy is burnishing his skates or putting his sled in order, his Peruvian brother is hastening to the seashore, and the summer bathing season is at its height. Christmas gifts are not so plentiful, the shops not so crowded with puzzled customers, nor their windows so filled with dazzling novelties as with us; but a beautiful custom obtains there, as throughout all South American countries. As the season rolls on apace and the sacred anniversary draws nigh, one of the largest rooms is set apart, and a stage improvised, on which is built up, in varying degrees of detail, according to the ability of the family, a representation of the scene at Bethlehem, with all its surroundings faithfully shown. In the distance are the shepherds watching their flocks—the wise men of the east in royal robes, bringing gifts from afar, and in the foreground the humble manger, with the holy family grouped around the cradle, while the star of Bethlehem shines brightly in the sky above. Gold, silver and jewels are lavished on the decoration of the scene, days are devoted to perfecting its smallest detail, and on Christmas eve, and for days thereafter, friends and visitors are admitted to gaze and admire.

At the Christmas season in Lima—coming as it does at midsummer!—the skies are cloudless and the air is tempered by the breeze from the Pacific, which rolls placidly along the shores of Peru. As the brief twilight of the tropics fades, the jeweled cross of the southern hemisphere rises in the sky, the avenues of the plaza begin to fill, bright eyes flash brief glances of recognition, friends exchange pleasant greetings as they meet, the well trained bands of the garrison play softly in the summer air, until at last the sweet voiced bell of the cathedral tolls the "Animas." There is a momentary hush, a whispered prayer for the souls of loved ones gone before, the crowd begins to melt silently away, and as the moon rises soft and full over the distant peaks of the Andes we turn from the scene, bearing with us a pleasant memory of a Christmas in Peru.

—Ex-Mayor Grace in Troy Times.

Took After Her Father.

"Yes, I am saving up for Christmas, I am," said a Hartford little girl. "I've got fourteen cents now, and I'm going to buy papa something, mamma something, aunty something, and everybody I know something."

"I'm afraid, my dear, your purse will hardly hold out."

"That's just what papa said about your purse yesterday."

We are all about in the same boat during these days.—Selected.

IN THE OLDEN TIME.

"What did they do in the olden times?"
Asks blue eyed Belle, as to and fro
She rocks while the joy bells clash and chime;
"What did they do in the long ago,
When Christmas came with its snow and rime,
In the brave old days of romance, you know,
And powder and patches and furbelows
And buckled shoes with the funny toes?"

I look at the dreamy, questioning face
And the starry eyes upturned to mine,
And feel the spell of her girlish grace.
Some sweet sensation I can't define
Draws me nearer the fireplace.
Nearer the maid, demure, divine,
And I can thank my stars and the mistletoe
That I did not live in that long ago.

"In the olden time," I at last explain,
Hovering over her rocking chair,
"The joys of the dance began to wane,
And the gallant lords and the ladies fair
Roamed through the palace halls again,
Daintily dressed and debonair,
And the lover sat down by the firelight's glow,
Just—just—as we are doing, you know."

"And then," asks Belle, with downcast eyes.
"And then, Sir Hubert (imagine me,
If you can, appareled in lordly guise)
Knelt down as I am doing, you see,
And put his arm, as you may surmise,
Around her so—quite tenderly,
And under the mistletoe a kiss
He gave her something like this—and this!"

A Reduced Appetite.

Mr. Bingo—What part of the turkey do you want, Tommy?

Tommy Bingo (who has been stuffing himself with candy all the morning)—I don't know as I want any (hesitatingly). I don't feel very hungry.

Mr. Bingo—Come, that won't do. You must eat something, my son.

Tommy—Well, you might give me a drumstick and a wing and some of the breast and a little stuffing and gravy and —and the wishbone. I know I couldn't eat any more than that.

As well as the handsomest, and others are invited to call on any druggist and get free a trial bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, a remedy that is selling entirely upon its merits and is guaranteed to relieve and cure all Chronic and Acute Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Large bottles 50 cents and $1 dw

Wild cherry bark, elecampane, hoarhound, and senega. These are the remedies with which Dame Nature has supplied Canada for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping coughs, bronchitis and loss of voice. All these are contained in Wilson's Wild Cherry in their most active form, and with other medicines constitute this most reliable cure for all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Wilson's Wild Cherry is sold by all druggists. dw

Winter Sports.

The gay winter season exposes many to attacks of colds, coughs, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, etc., which require a reliable remedy like Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for their relief and cure. Known as reliable for over thirty years. The best cough cure. 2w49d

High Time.

When weakness, loss of appetite, lack of appetite, lack of energy and other symptoms of dyspepsia appear, is high time Burdock Blood Bitters was made use of. There is nothing else "just as good." It is the B. B. B. that cures dyspepsia, so be sure you get it. 2w49d

A Source of Joy.

DEAR SIR,—My young sisters were attacked by croup so badly that we almost despaired, and had little hope of curing them. At last we applied Hagyard's Yellow Oil, and to our great joy it cured them perfectly, and they now enjoy the blessing of perfect health. 2w49d ANNIE JOHNSTON, Dalhousie, N.B.

Big Interest.

The biggest interest on any investment is that obtained by buying a bottle of B.B.B. The dividends of strength health, and vigor are always realized, and there are no assessments. Burdock Blood Bitters, the great blood purifier, costs one dollar a bottle—about one cent a dose. 2w49d

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equaled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders on entering fall to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life has been largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, as our keeping to Dominion investments rather than those of foreign states.

December Weather Notes.

Mr. Thomas Telford writes:—Freaks and sudden changes of the weather are popular this month. On the 19th at sunrise we had it 2° below zero, and on the 20th at 6° below; in early morning of the 21st the wind taking a flank movement and wheeling into the south, brought the thermometer up to 38° and 40°, which it maintained during the day with considerable rain and only losing 3° at sundown; the 22nd at sunrise at 22°, sundown 35°; the 23 d at 25° in the morning, which it kept all day, but the wind gaining its stronghold in the northwest, accompanied with flurries of snow, drove the southern invaders back into the Mexican gulf and settled itself down to stern hard work, with the thermometer this morning 4° below zero.

The Opera House Christmas Tree.

Don't fail to bear in mind that any contributions to the great Three Days' Christmas Tree to be placed in Bradborn's Opera House, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 29th, 30th and 31st, by the ladies of the Congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral may be left at the Presbytery, Reid street. The public are particularly urged to attend this entertainment. It is unique, entertaining and cannot fail to be of profit to all who attend. The programmes for both concerts, the Cathedral choir on Monday night, and that of the Convent pupils on Tuesday night, are under diligent preparation, and will be worthy of the public patronage in every respect. Further particulars furnished hereafter. 1d

A Christmas Gift

To Readers of Examiner.

Is Him who rules both lands and seas
There are undoubted mysteries.
All this we know; for one He lie,
That with His word fills earth and sky?
What is of truth in Him must be,
Before whom angels bend the knee.

By just a wish, He once did call,
From nothing out, the sun and all
The planets which around it shine.
What was this word except divine?
Or can a poor and finite power
Give welcome light and heat and shower?

This wondrous earth with all its size
Within His power forever lies;
He makes it round an axis run
And gives it how to seek the sun.
From this kind act of His great might
It has with seasons day and night.

Each little seed upon seashore
Tells us that Him we must adore.
All things proclaim the Deity.
Is It He says there's Trinity.
'Fore It must bow each Heav'nly host.
It's Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

"At Home" of the Collegians.

The Institute Girls and Boys Hilariously Inaugurate the Holidays.

There was a happy gathering of about one-hundred and twenty-five Collegiate Institute pupils and their friends at the market building hall last night. Among those present were the Chairman of the School Board, Principal Fessenden, Messrs. Fife, Ross and Jeffers, masters, Mr. Ketchum, singing master, and Sergt.-Major Randle, drill instructor. After a pleasant hour spent in the usual social gathering games, the following programme was admirably presented:—

Instrumental Duet..... Miss Lily and Mr Fred [Clarke
Instrumental Solo.....Miss Abbie Robinson
Song.....Master Harbie King
Recitation.....Miss Muncaster

Club swinging class of six young ladies, Misses Lily Clark, Lily Davidson, Bella Rutherford, Lizzie Best, Abbie Robinson, Mary Fife.

Drill, 1st Form of boys, commanded by Capt. Rupert Mason, Lieut. Tom Brown, Sergt. Lee.

These several numbers were excellently done, but without disparagement to any, the recitation of Miss Muncaster and the physical exercises, are deserving of specion mention. The club swinging was done with metronomic precision, and at the same time, graceful ease, and met with the heartiest applause. The exhibition company drill done by the first form boys was superb. They paraded in admirable, soldierly set-up, received the general in review order, gave the usual general salute, with music, marched past in column, quarter column, and at the double, formed into line, then into column, moved to the right in fours, front formed, charged in line, gave a royal salute and three cheers for the Queen. This exhibition was deservedly received with enthusiastic applause, and the visitors warmly complimented the boys on their splendid proficiency, and their instructor, Sergt.-Major Randle, on the skill with which he had trained the young warriors, whose perfection in drill, if witnessed by the average volunteer company, would excite a temptation to mutiny.

At the conclusion of the programme abundant refreshments were served by the young ladies, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by the pupils, and brought to a close by the singing of "God Save the Queen."

The committee of young people who had charge of the "At Home," and to whose efforts its success was due, was composed of Misses Eva Wrighton, Gertie Denne, Vina Bellegham, Phenia Paterson, Eva Denne, Bella Morrow, Lilly Clarke, Clara Clarke, Messrs. Geo. Edmison, Jno. Edmison, P. G. Goldsmith, Jas. Bradley, Will. Boswell, Herb. Bell, Bert. Brooks and Will. Dumble.

The committee wish to thank Mr. Thos. Dunn, of the Palace Restaurant, for the use of his kitchen kindly granted them for the purpose of making coffee, etc.

County of Peterborough Sabbath School Association.

The following circular has been issued:—

The churches of the village of Norwood invite the Sabbath school workers of the county of Peterborough to hold their annual Sabbath school convention in the new Methodist church on Thursday and Friday, 15th and 16th January, 1891.

Please call your teachers and officers together at once. Appoint your delegates. Give your statistics and report of your school to one of them, also any questions on Sabbath school work you desire to have discussed.

The president of township associations will see that a report of township work is presented, with any suggestions they have to give to the county convention.

Workers from the county of Hastings are cordially invited to take part in the work of the convention.

A detailed programme will be issued about the New Year.

Hospitality is extended to all delegates duly appointed. Their names should be forwarded to the chairman of the local committee, whose name will be announced on the programme.

A Drop of Hennessy.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—I do not know whether or not it is worth while, or would be of interest to any of your readers, to have an error or two in the sketch quoted in yesterday's issue relating to a gentleman whose name during the last few weeks has come out very prominently before the English speaking people of both hemispheres,

I refer to Sir John Pope Hennessy, now, it is reported, the member elect for North Kilkenny.

In the sketch I see he is put down as having been born in 1834, and as having been educated in London.

Well, he and I were at school together in Cork in 1846, '47 and part of '48.

In October, '49, he and I entered college together in Cork, he taking a scholarship in arts, and I a scholarship in engineering. We both remained there until 1852 when I went to Dublin and he, I think, entered a law office in Cork, and after some time went over to England, where he was not educated.

In 1846 he certainly was more than twelve years old, and in 1849—17th of Oct. 1849—when he obtained the scholarship referred to, against some advanced competitors, he as certainly was more than fifteen years old.

His brother, immediately older than he, was the first Librarian of the College. This position he afterwards vacated to accept that of Professor of Mathematics in the Catholic University.

Another brother held, at the same time, a position in the Custom House at Cork.

As the sketch further goes, truly enough, Sir Pope Hennessy has since filled many important positions, as Governor, in the Colonial service of England. He was always an ambitious, dapper, dandy little fellow.

In this country he would be called a dude.

Yours, etc.,
J. W. FITZGERALD.

A Dual Presentation.

The Manager and Foreman of the Carbon Works Remembered.

After the whistle blew for noon to-day, a number of the employees of the Carbon Works filed into the office of the manager, Mr. J. W. Taylor, and there surprised him and the foreman of the works, Mr. Castle, by presenting them with handsome gifts. Miss Montgomery, who is attached to the office, read the following address:—

Mr. J. W. Taylor, Superintendent of the Brooks Manufacturing Company, Peterborough, Ont.:

DEAR SIR,—We, the employees of the Brooks Mfg. Co., cannot allow this festive occasion to pass without showing in some tangible way our regard for you.

We recognize and appreciate your personal worth, your interest in our welfare, and your kindly fellow feeling towards us; ever treating us, not as inferiors, but as men and brethren. Your genial and affable manner has won the esteem and affection of your employees.

We would ask you to accept this pair of gauntlets as a small token of our respect, coupling with it the wish that you may be long spared to superintend these works, and when done with the things of time and sense may you advance to that upper land where friends meet to part no more.

Wishing you and your beloved partner a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

(Signed)

Jas. Logan,	W. Williams,
Jno. Morrencey,	D. Bolin,
Chas. Rabey,	F. Bolin,
J. Rose,	R. Armstrong,
W. Hogan,	B. Moore,
H. Sabin,	T. Henry,
J. Heathorn,	W. Vass,
F. Fuller,	J. Rabey,
W. Sandford,	G. Drake,
	S. Foster.

The handsome fur gauntlets were presented by Mr. Jas. Logan.

MR. TAYLOR expressed his thanks briefly, and said there was as fine a lot of workmen in the Carbon Works as he had ever seen. He hoped the pleasant relations would always exist between himself and his employees. He wished the men all the compliments of the season.

ANOTHER ADDRESS.

Miss Montgomery then read another address, as follows:—

Mr. James Castle, Foreman Brooks Manufacturing Company, Peterborough, Ont.:

DEAR SIR,—At this season of the year, when happy greetings and kind words are the order of the day, we, the employees and fellow-workmen of the Brooks Mfg. Co., wish to express our esteem for you and to show you that we appreciate your kindly manner and gentlemanly bearing toward us while in your employ. We feel that while you expect every man to do his duty, you exact it in such a kindly manner that it is a pleasure to comply.

We ask you to accept this ring as a slight token of our kind regard for you, wishing yourself and Mrs. Castle a merry Christmas and a happy new year.

(Signed as before.)

Mr. Castle received a beautiful gold Oddfellows' ring also also from the hands of Mr. Logan, and in reply referred to the cheerful obedience he had always received from those under him. He hoped he might always merit their good opinion, and returned his warmest thanks for their kind remembrance.

Christmas Church Chimes.

—A purse containing a small sum of money and a skate key was found on the street and left at the EXAMINER office for a claimant.

Personal.

Rev. J. C. Davidson is attending the funeral of the late Rev. Dr. Carry at Port Perry to-day.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, and Rev. Fathers Rudkins and Conway, of Peterborough attended the funeral obsequies of the late Vicar General Laurent in Toronto yesterday. His Lordship celebrated Pontifical High Mass.

Missionary Meeting.

Despite the stormy weather a good sized audience gathered in the school-room of St. Paul's church last night, when the annual congregational meeting was held. Rev. E. F. Torrance and Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Lindsay, delivered addresses, but Rev. Mr. Jones, of Port Hope, who had promised to speak on the subject of home missions, telegraphed late in the afternoon that he would be unable to come. Rev. Mr. Torrance in his address compared the missionary gifts of St. Paul's church last year with other churches in the province, to show that St. Paul's had given most liberally, but there was always room for improvement. Rev. Mr. Johnston in an admirable address dealt with missions in its home and foreign aspects, and argued that home missions were the more important of the two, because if Canada did not look after her own North-West and other benighted portions of the Dominion, who would? All the nations of the world took an active interest in foreign missions, but Canada would have to look after her own needy children. The spiritual neglect of the North-West would mean its lapse into a state of semi-barbarism and wickedness such as existed in the Western States a few years ago. But while home missions are the more important, foreign missions still had urgent claims for support, and the speaker exhorted his hearers to apply the principle of giving the "first fruits" to the missionary cause. The meeting was closed with singing and prayer.

A Tale of Christmas Buying.

DONE UP IN VERSE.

Come fathers, mothers, rich and poor and bring your children all.
My large and well assorted stock will suit you, great and small.
Your roaming boy shod in King's boots, no matter where he tramps,
Will not keep you awake at night with colic, chills or cramps.
My splendid show in fancy line?, nice slippers, boots and shoes
Made from the skin of every beast tanners and makers use,
To give the names of every one my pen could not begin,
From the huge alligator down to the rough grounding's skin,
You will not fail to please your eye from my grand show of goods,
All choice designs and newest styles my well-filled shelves include.
Dry warm feet essential is to health as much as bread,
To save your own and dear friends' lives, come buy your boots from Kidd.
No store in the Dominion can a grander stock display
From the old city of Quebec north-west to Hudson's Bay.
Civility and kindness with strict honesty combined,
Has public confidence secured increase in sales I find.
Now competition is the rage in every branch of trade;
I have cut all my prices down and great reductions made;
The man that undersells me, sure will break his solvent thread
With bankrupt notice off the stock and leave the screen to Kidd.
To customers both old and new my thanks I do extend
And in the future as the past—on me you may depend,
The price and quality of goods that I to you lay down,
Will knock the spots off any man, in the same trade in town.
The festive seasons are at hand, this year is getting small,
A Merry Christmas and New Year I wish you one and all.
Many many come and go before you sleep among the dead,
'Tis the sincere and earnest wish of your friend R. J. Kidd.

A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out upon my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names, but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places; that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentlemen from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,

H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

MANY XMAS TRAGEDIES.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING CASE NEAR AMHERSTBURG.

A Young Colored Man Murdered at an Xmas Eve Entertainment—Deliberate Murder at Victoria—A Long List of Terrible Crimes in the United States.

AMHERSTBURG, Dec. 25.—On Christmas eve John Simpson, a colored man 21 years of ago, stepson of James Holbart of this town, was shot through the head behind the school on the second concession of Anderdon. He was attending a Christmas tree entertainment and had gone to the yard with three other young men. While there they were comparing revolvers and drinking together.

An inquest was held here to-day by Coroner Bell, and the evidence was very conflicting. Walter Mann, son of Hartwell Mann of Anderdon, James Campbell, son of Alexander Campbell of Windsor, and David Holbert of this town have been arrested, charged with the crime. They all deny that they did the shooting.

Simpson was killed instantly, the ball passing through his head. His revolver was found in his pocket, where he could not have had time to put it. No reason is assigned for the crime, as the boys were on the best of terms.

The general impression is that Mann did the shooting and that it was accidental, but this he denies.

The investigation was adjourned until to-morrow (Friday) afternoon for more evidence and to allow the doctors to hold a post mortem. Simpson's family are in stringent circumstances and a handsome amount was subscribed to assist them.

Another Canadian Murder.

VICTORIA, B.C., Dec. 25.—Early this morning, while David F. Fee, well known in town, and a friend were walking quietly along the street a man near by said: "You challenged me," and shot Fee dead with a gun. The murderer escaped. A man named Kelk was arrested. He said a man named Whalen had told him he had just shot a man. The police are looking for Whalen.

Xmas Tragedies.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 25.—Edward McLoud was to-day shot and killed and his mother, Mrs. Mickle, had her throat cut and is dying. Mrs Mickle told a policeman that her husband committed the deed. The dead body of Mackle was found with two revolvers and a bullet hole showing how he died.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—In an altercation in Michael Gallvin's livery stable to-day Gallvin shot and killed James Cumming, aged 52, and also shot Edward Hurley in the left cheek.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 25.—J. E. Brady, a fireman employed by the Cotton Compress Association, shot and killed Private Watchman C. J. Colcutt as he was eating his dinner, which had been brought him by his wife and grandchildren.

JERSEY CITY, Dec. 25.—Maggie Murphy, aged 15, and Edward McDermott got into a row at a party here to-day and the girl hit McDermott on the head with an axe, crushing in his skull.

HOLDEN, Mo., Dec. 25.—Samuel Malone's house was burned here this morning. Malone and John Hicks, his brother-in-law, perished. Their charred remains were found in the ruins. It is believed Malone and Hicks were drugged, the house robbed and then set on fire.

CARROLTON, Miss., Dec. 25.—James Prentiss Matthews, the Republican postmaster here, was killed to-day by W. S. McBride, a wealthy and prominent druggist. Matthews was coming down the street towards the drug store of McBride & Co. when a Winchester rifle, when McBride stepped towards him and fired the fatal shot while Matthews was preparing to shoot McBride.

HINCKLEY, Dec. 25.—Three of the Kane boys came here to-day from their camp in the lumber regions and got intoxicated. Becoming troublesome Marshal Booth attempted to arrest them. Two resisted arrest and attacked the officer. He shot both through the head, one dying instantly, the other dying after a few hours. They were tough characters and had defied everyone. The surviving Kane was jailed.

The Canadian Game Laws Violated?

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—The Revised Statutes of Canada forbid the exportation of game to this country and Thomas Derry of Montreal is charged with breaking this law. A customs accountant of Canada called at the Custom House at this port about a month ago and told Special Treasury Agent Wilbur that Derry was suspected of violating the Canadian game law. Mr. Wilbur went to work and learned that Derry had been furnishing deer, partridge, woodcock, wild turkey, quail and game fowl to many hotels and dealers in this city for two years. To Austin & Co. he had shipped about 1000 partridges, to the Brunswick Hotel about 350, Knapp & Van Nostrand about 3000, Murselle 2000 and A. M. Robbins 2000. The penalty for each offence is $100 and it is said that Derry has incurred fines amounting to $22,600.

Saw Louis XVI. Beheaded.

SANTA FE, N.M., Dec. 25.—News of the death of Pedro Antonio Lopes, aged 113, was received here to-day. He was conscious and especially talkative up to the last moment. He knew the end was coming, and he had his children and grandchildren gathered around him. He talked to them of the service he had done as a soldier under the Spanish kings, and said he remembered when a certain king and his wife were beheaded, Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette.

No Bibles in Chicago Schools.

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.—The City Board of Education last night unanimously voted down a proposition that extracts from the Bible be read daily in the public schools. The report on which the vote was based said simply that the committee on school management after hearing the arguments advanced in favor of Bible reading had carefully considered the subject, and decided that for the general welfare of the school the prayer of the petitioners ought not to be granted.

Disastrous Iowa Wreck

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Dec. 25.—A head end collision occurred on the Iowa Central last night near Grinnell between a passenger train and a wrecking train. One engine landed squarely on top of the other and both were badly wrecked. Six passengers were injured.

The Pope yesterday received the congratulations of the cardinals upon the 53d anniversary of his first celebration of the mass. In his reply he said he deplored the war of sects against the Church and condemned the rights of the regime. The Pope took occasion to say that [illegible]

9000 MEN ARE IDLE

IN CONSEQUENCE OF THE SCOTCH RAILWAY STRIKE.

Non-Striking Engineers Pelted with Stones and Seriously Injured — Attempt to Wreck the Night Express Near Kilbride by Piling Obstructions on the Track.

GLASGOW Dec. 25.—There are no signs of improvement in connection with the railroad strike [illegible] and it is estimated about [illegible] are out on strike and business [illegible] is entirely at a standstill. One of the North British lines of traffic has been opened, while others are working in an irregular manner. Business people residing in the suburbs are obliged to walk from their out-town residences to the city, thereby suffering much inconvenience. In and about Glasgow the price of coal has advanced seven shillings per ton with the prospect of a still further advance. In addition to the coal trouble, which seriously affects the poorer classes, it is said a gas famine is imminent, and the police are taking steps to provide a force of special constables to guard the city in case the supply of gas should give out.

All the shipbuilding yards and public works are without fuel, and they expect to be forced to close their doors unless the strike is settled within a very short time.

Strong detachments of police are guarding the railroad depots, which are surrounded by crowds of strikers accompanied by their wives and families, who jeer and laugh at the bungling efforts of the railroad porters, lampmen, sweepers, clerks and others who have been pressed into the service of making up and running the few trains which the railroad officials manage to despatch.

9000 Men Now Out.

GLASGOW, Dec. 25.—A railway chair was found fastened to the tracks on the line between this city and Kilbride, but the obstruction was discovered just in time to prevent an accident. The purpose was to derail the night train, and strikers are accused of the fiendish act.

Numbers of the Aberdeen strikers are resuming work. There are prospects that the strikers in Glasgow and Edinburgh will consent to arbitration.

Owing to the railroad strike several sugar refineries in Greenwich have been compelled to suspend operations.

It is now estimated that about 9000 men are out on strike on the various railways in Scotland. Traffic on the North British Railway has almost ceased. The company will suspend the operations of its steamers on Loch Lomond and the Clyde in order to obtain employes to work the railway.

Two engineers who refused to quit work were pelted with stones by a number of strikers near Glasgow and were seriously injured. Many minor assaults by strikers are reported.

The employes of the Caledonian Railway Co. are gradually joining the strikers.

The Glasgow docks are closed.

The gas supply at Perth is threatened with exhaustion owing to inability of the companies to obtain coal.

The Caledonian Company claims an improvement in the working of the road and gives out that it is more determined than ever not to yield to the strikers.

1000 Men go Out at Hull.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—One thousand railway men at Hull have struck for an increase in wages and shorter hours.

May Extend to England and Ireland.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The English and Irish railway societies have issued a joint manifesto asking railway hands generally to abstain from helping the Scotch railway companies at this juncture. They are asked to remain neutral, and if the employers bring pressure to bear on them to assist the crippled companies they are told they must strike

NEITHER WORK NOR BREAD,

Mother-of-Pearl Workers in Vienna Spend Christmas in Jail.

VIENNA, Dec. 25. The mother-of-pearl workers who were thrown out of work as a result of recent tariff legislation in the United States, made a demonstration to-day in front of the Home office clamoring for bread or work. Not receiving assurance of either from Premier von Taaffe, the crowd rushed in the direction of the police headquarters, intending to make a demonstration. The police interfered, however, and made 38 arrests.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 25.—The Coal Mining Company of Belgium to-day decided that on and after Dec. 30 there must be a general reduction of the wages of their employes. The Miners' Federation has issued a proclamation that a general strike will be ordered unless parliament so revises the constitution as to give the miners protection against arbitrary action upon the part of the companies.

Severe Weather in England.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Seldom has such a severe Christmas season been experienced. There are frequent alterations of fog, frost and snow. Yesterday there was a heavy snow storm, and between 9 and 10 o'clock a night there came a sudden thaw. All the busy thoroughfares such as the Strand and Fleet street were turned into rivers of slush. Soon after midnight a violent snowstorm set in and the thaw continued until 5 o'clock. A sharp frost then ensued, which lasted until 7 o'clock this morning, when a dense fog settled down and concealed everything, causing serious delay, inconvenience and general disorganization of business. Large quantities of ice are floating down the Thames, and river traffic is entirely stopped.

Koch Defends Kochine.

VIENNA, Dec. 25.—Prof. Koch in a conversation with municipal officials here to-day denied that his lymph was in the smallest degree dangerous to life providing it was employed in reasonable quantities by skilful physicians. He ascribed all the deaths that had occurred to improper uses of the lymph and asserted that neither he nor his associates had caused a single death.

Playing with Fire.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Regarding Emperor William's proposed visit to this city, it is asserted although sure that a majority of the people abstain from offensive demonstrations thinks the Emperor in coming to Paris will be playing with fire.

O'BRIEN AT BOLOGNE.

INTERVIEWED BY M'CARTHY AND BY PARNELLITES.

Will an Arrangement be Perfected Between the Factions in Order that the Sinews of War May be Forthcoming?—Parnell on the Result in Kilkenny.

DUBLIN, Dec. 25.—In an interview to-day before his departure from the city Mr. Parnell said: "Being aware of the conditions we had to fight in Kilkenny I know that the carrying of the seat was almost hopeless. I never expected to win."

"But the majority" said the reporter, "was even greater than the most confident of your opponents hoped for. You made allusions to influences used unfairly against Mr. Scully."

"Yes," said Mr. Parnell, "the conduct of the priests almost surpasses belief. The pressure brought to bear upon the masses of the people, who would have voted for me had they been left to exercise their own judgment without intimidation, was undreamt of. Was it kind for a priest to hold over his flock threats of spiritual penalties? It is a serious matter certainly. Interference with the liberty of an elector cannot be tolerated. This is not all. Cases occurred of which there is the fullest proof that threats of personal violence were used. Had another Sunday elapsed before the voting it is not improbable that our votes would have been diminished. It is a remarkable and an encouraging fact that in the districts where the people were not coerced by the priests we polled 90 per cent. of the votes. I wished to penetrate the district around Castle Comer, but was prevented by the fear of bloodshed."

"You may have observed," said the reporter, "that Mr. McCarthy has been saying that North Kilkenny was one of the worst districts for anti-Parnellites to fight."

One of the Worst Districts.

"It is one of the very worst for us," Mr. Parnell declared. "The southern division has been better. The priests led the people in North Kilkenny to the polls like sheep. In many cases where they could not coerce the people they prevented their voting. If a petition were lodged it could be backed with such evidence to prove undue influence as to make a result in our favor certain. Mr. Scully is a strong Catholic, but he sees clearly that if the priests are permitted similarly to influence the coming elections Ireland will be lost. The general election is not far distant and I shall push forward preparations for it."

"What view do you hold of the prospect of the different parties?"

Mr. Parnell replied: "Should a dissolution occur soon Mr. Gladstone will have very little chance of returning to power. As to my position time is on my side. I propose leaving Kingstown by to-night's mail. I may be detained in London for a few days on matters concerning the reorganization of the party. I expect on Monday to start for France to meet Mr. O'Brien. On my return from Paris I shall take a few days' rest. I intend to resume the campaign in Ireland early in the new year, opening at Limerick. From there I go to Innis, Waterford and other centres."

Mr. Parnell went aboard the mail boat at Kingstown at 7½ this evening. There was no demonstration at his departure.

The Delegates Arrive in France.

BOULOGNE, Dec. 25.—Messrs. O'Brien and Gill, the Irish delegates who left New York on the steamer Obdam arrived at 11 o'clock this morning. They were met by Messrs. McCarthy and Sullivan. They said they were overjoyed at the result of the Kilkenny election.

Mr. Byrne, editor of The Dublin Freeman's Journal, has an interview to-day with William O'Brien, lasting two hours. Mr. Byrne reported his position as a Parnellite and endeavored to prepare a way for the holding of a conference of the leaders of the two sections of the Irish party in Paris.

A tug having on board Messrs. McCarthy, Sexton and Condon, Father Humphreys and M. Raffalovitch and his wife, the parents of Mrs. William O'Brien, met the Obdam outside the harbor. The party gave Messrs. O'Brien and Gill a most enthusiastic welcome. During the return trip of the tug to the steamship pier Mr. O'Brien held an animated conversation with his political friends. When interviewed by the reporters he refused to express his opinion on the present situation in Ireland. He said he required time to inform himself of the events which had taken place since he and his companions had left Ireland. Mr. O'Brien started from Boulogne for Paris this evening. Mr. Sexton and the others will return to England.

The Sinews of War.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The Post considers William O'Brien the only man who can do anything towards terminating the deadlock between the Parnell and McCarthy factions. As the funds on deposit in Paris are payable only to Mr. Parnell and Mr. McCarthy jointly neither section, The Post says, can oppose any arrangement which will result in an equitable division thereof. Although Mr. Parnell stands in a more advantageous monetary position than his opponents, he is more deeply pledged than anyone to render aid to the Smith-Barry tenants. Therefore it is quite conceivable that he will be ready to make some sacrifices in order to secure the "sinews of war."

The News says: "Mr. O'Brien's desire to effect a reconciliation does him credit; but he will soon find that a compromise is impossible. To retire or not to retire is the question for Mr. Parnell, and there is no middle course between."

Sullivan Interviewed.

DUBLIN, Dec. 25.—Mr. T. D. Sullivan, who returned from the United States, arrived in Cork to-day and received an address from the McCarthyite committee. In his reply to the address Mr. Sullivan said that when he left Ireland he had a leader in whose sagacity, good temper, reticence and self-restraint all had confidence. He did not recognize those qualities in Parnell now. All the bright hopes the delegates had when they left for the United States had been changed because one man had gone wrong. A vast majority of intelligent Americans were against Parnell. Mr. Sullivan urged Irishmen not to look on the question as one of loyalty to a man. Mr. O'Brien had started for France fondly believing that he could heal the breach and re-unite the Irish party. He wished Mr. O'Brien success, but was firmly convinced that the action taken against Parnell was the proper course to be taken in the matter. He believed that history would commend the Irishmen for what they had done.

SEQUEL TO AN ELOPEMENT.

Husband and Wife Re-united after 60 Years Near Whitby.

VIVIAN, Dec. 23.—On Monday evening a stranger stepped from the 6¾ train and entered into conversation with some of the bystanders, questioning them as to the whereabouts of a former resident of this place. The answers elicited were not to the resident's credit, which seemed to affect the stranger considerably. It has since transpired that the stranger and the former resident were one and the same person, a Mr. Falkner, who 19 or 20 years ago eloped to the United States with his cousin, leaving a wife and child behind him. Last spring the cousin died and he has now returned to claim his wife, who since his elopement has been living with Mr. G. Thomas. Displaying a beautiful roll of American bank notes and two American revolvers, he at length persuaded his wife to accompany him. Mr. Thomas mourns the loss of his faithful housekeeper of 19 years.

YORK'S ARCHBISHOP.

Death of Dr. Thomson, the "Society Bishop."

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The Archbishop of York is dead.

William Thomson, D.D., F.C., F.R.S., Primate of England and metropolitan, was born in 1819 at Whitehaven, Cumberland, where his father carried on a drapery business. The deceased was consecrated Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol in 1861, and two years later was transferred to the archiepiscopal see of York. He belonged to the evangelical party and was a staunch temperance advocate. Latterly he had suffered from an affection of the heart, which prevented him presiding over the recent church congress at Hull. Dr. Thomson was the author of "Aids to Faith," "Logic" and several volumes of sermons. For many years he presided with great ability over the convocation of York. He was a few years ago known as the Society Bishop, and was a favorite at court. In earlier years he was tutor to the Prince of Wales. Of commanding person, above 6 feet in height and corpulent, he looked every inch an ecclesiastic of the old school. He was of the most conciliatory disposition, and was personally grieved when under a sense of duty he had to prosecute Rev. Charles Voysey, vicar of Healaugh, a few miles from Bishopthorpe, the archbishop's seat, for heresy. Dr. Thomson married a Greek lady and has several sons and daughters. One of his sons is a colonel in the army. The value of the see is £10,000 and residence.

IT COST HIM HIS LIBERTY.

The Anarchist Imitator of Jules Verne's War Correspondents Sent to Jail.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—The trial of La Bruyere and Gregoire, Anarchist journalists, and Madame Duquercy, charged with conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice by aiding in the escape of the Russian Anarchist Padlewsky, who is alleged to be the murderer of Gen Seliverskoff, was concluded to-day. Bruyere was sentenced to 13 months' imprisonment, Madame Duquercy to two months and Gregoire, who is in Palermo, by default to imprisonment for 6 months.

Boulangism is Now Merely a Historical Fact in France.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—General Boulanger was a subject of interest and discussion in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. A little more than a year ago at the election for a member of the chamber in the Clignancourt constituency of Montmartre Boulanger headed the poll. His votes, however, were rejected and the seat was awarded to M. Joffrin. Early in November of this year Joffrin died and an election followed Nov. 16. Boulanger came forward with a manifesto, advising his partisans to remain neutral at the election, on the ground that he was the rightful member. There were 27 candidates in the field and when the votes were counted it was found no one had received the requisite majority. A new election was then ordered for Nov. 30 and Boulanger addressed another letter to the electors, reiterating his claim to the seat and urging his supporters to abstain from recording their votes at the second ballot, as an effective method for the democracy to become free from parliamentarists and to become sovereign. At the second ballot there was again a multitude of candidates, but the real contest was between M. Lavy, municipal councillor and Possibilist, and M. Lessagary of Commune notoriety. In this contest

Eyraud Reported to be Dying.

PARIS, Dec. 23.—The murderer Eyraud is dying by inches and will, in all probability, never live to be guillotined, unless the execution should be ordered at once.

He is suffering from an aggravated case of Bright's disease and will, in all likelihood, soon be removed to the prison infirmary.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—There is a revulsion of feeling in Paris in favor of Eyraud, the strangler of Gouffe. It is generally felt that his companion, Gabrielle Bompard, was the greater criminal of the two, and the fact that she was let off with a term of imprisonment, while Eyraud was doomed to the guillotine, has aroused a feeling of protest against the apparent injustice of the verdict.

This sentiment is strengthened by the news that only five out of the 20 jurymen were at first inclined to give the woman the benefit of extenuating circumstances, though the others finally consented to take that view of the case. The theory of hypnotism has also been disproved to the satisfaction of the public, and the belief that Eyraud was the tool of a modern Lady Macbeth in the person of the wicked Gabrielle finds more and more wide acceptance. It is probable that a new trial will be granted, and in that case it is doubtful if the verdict of the last trial will be repeated.

The latest Parisian novelty is a small model of the trunk which figured in the Gouffe murder case as the receptacle of the victim's mutilated body. It is a puzzle to open the trunk, and when the experimenter has overcome the difficulty, the lid flies open, and he is rewarded by the sight of a leaden image of the unfortunate police notary.

A Lioness at Large.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 23.—A lioness discovered lurking near the Halebank Railway station this morning was shot. Its presence, which created terror in the neighborhood, cannot be accounted for.

A German Professor Murdered.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Advices have been received to the effect that a German naturalist, Professor Rains, has been found murdered at Canea, in the Island of Crete. Everything, even to the clothes, had been stripped from the body. The governor of the island has instituted an inquiry into the outrage. Fifteen Christians have been arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the crime.

Duties on Beet Root.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—The Chamber of Deputies, by a vote of 360 to 29, to-day adopted the budget with all the Senate's modifications. The customs committee has agreed upon a general tariff of 80 francs on beet root seed, the minimum being 60 francs, and a tariff of 40 francs per 100 kilos on foreign beet root.

The German East Africa Coast.

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—The Reichsanzeiger says that payment will be made to a representative of the Sultan of Zanzibar in London on Dec. 27 for the concession of territory to Germany. After that date the German commissioner will formally take possession of the German East Africa coast. Goods imported to the mainland from Zanzibar will be liable to duty the same as foreign goods.

She Left a Personal.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The day before Mary Eleanor Pearcey was hanged she asked her counsel to insert the following "Personal" in a Madrid newspaper: "Have not betrayed you." It is believed that this indicates that she had an accomplice in the murder of Mrs Hogg and her child.

HORSES ROASTED ALIVE.

Street Car Stables With Their Horses Destroyed by Fire.

QUEBEC, Dec. 25.—A fire broke out early this morning in the stables of the St. John Street Railway Company. The whole building was reduced to ashes in a few moments. Twenty horses perished. Summer carriages, with a large supply of hay and grain, harness, etc., were consumed. Loss between $40,000 and $50,000; insurance unknown.

Killed by a Hat Pin.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—An unknown woman apparently about 60 years old, fell on the sidewalk at 11th-avenue and 54th-street today. Passers-by hurried to assist her and an ambulance was called. When it arrived the woman was dead. The woman in falling had struck on the back of her head and had driven a long hat pin through the skull into her brain.

MUNICIPAL INSURANCE.

On the 22nd ultimo, we noticed, says the Ottawa Citizen, a proposal made by the municipal council of Galway to insure all the buildings in the township for a small increase of the municipal rate. The idea seems to have found favor in other quarters, as we have before us a report of "A Committee of the Walkerton Board of Trade, which was recently appointed to investigate the subject of Fire Insurance," which deals with the question, and recommends that legislation be urged to empower municipalities to insure themselves. The Walkerton Committee quotes statistics to show that "in 21 years, from 1869 to 1889 inclusive, the people of Canada paid to insurance companies for fire premiums, the enormous sum of $60 000,000, out of which the companies repaid to the people, for losses by fire, $36 610 352, keeping to themselves for profits and expenses $23,391,148," and goes on to argue that the companies make too much profit, and that the insurance could be done much cheaper by the municipalities themselves. This may be quite true, and, as we previously remarked, the idea appears to be a good one when applied to a whole township of ten or fifteen miles square; but it is very doubtful if it would answer in the case of a large town of four or five thousand population, like Walkerton. In a township, where the buildings are comparatively few and far apart, the scheme would, probably, work satisfactorily; but in a town where the buildings are compact, and a fire once started might sweep the whole place, or at least a very large portion of it, it is extremely doubtful whether this system of co-operative insurance would answer, for, in the event of a big fire the town would be quite as badly off as if it had no insurance at all. It would be too much like a man endorsing his own note with the idea of making any better security. The principle of a township levying a small extra assessment (which should be funded in some way) and thereby insuring from fire loss all the buildings scattered over the township, seems good enough, as it is not at all probable that more than one building, or, at most, two or three, would be burnt at the same time, and the strain on the fund would not, therefore, be likely to be great, and the security would be ample; but to extend the principle to towns and cities would take away the element of security almost entirely. The best and soundest insurance companies are those which have their risks most scattered, and, it will be remembered, that in the case of the great fires in Chicago in 1871, and St. John in 1877, the departure from this rule, and the concentration of too great risks in one locality, caused the wreck of several companies which were apparently strong, and seriously crippled a number of others. It would be well for the Walkerton Board of Trade to think the matter over again before urging the adoption of any wholesale insurance scheme for so large a town.

FOUND JESSE JAMES' CAVE.

Secret Tunneling Place of the Celebrated Robber Discovered by Hunters.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 22.—Great excitement prevails in Lesueur and Nicollet counties over the discovery in Lake Prairie township, Nicollet county, of the subterranean rendezvous of the Younger and James boys and their band of outlaws before and after their raid upon the Northfield Bank in 1876, in which six men were killed. One of the Missouri bandits evidently died in this wonderful constructed home in the earth, as his bones were found there.

A party of young farmers started out yesterday on a rabbit shooting expedition, and while traversing what is known as the Barney Fay ravine one of the party stumbled and fell, rolling down an embankment to the bed of a creek. In attempting to scramble up the bank he discovered an old weatherbeaten door, which was held to its place by a couple of pieces of leather. This door stood partly ajar. It opened into an apartment dark as midnight and as mysterious as it was dark.

A careful examination, however, revealed the fact that these logs formed a "blind" door which led into a room twenty feet long and perhaps sixteen feet wide, along one side of which bunks were arranged, something after the fashion of a berth on a steamboat. Judging from the number of these, at least thirty persons had found sleeping accommodations in this secluded and mysterious place of abode. This room contained several benches and stools, an old table, tin plates and cups, kettles, a No. 9 cook stove and various cooking utensils. In one corner stood an old box on end, which had evidently served as a cupboard, near which was found a rough board box which has been used as a flour chest. This box was partitioned off and one end contained 30 or 40 pounds of buckwheat flour.

The young man shouted to his companions, who promptly responded, and after carefully surveying the exterior of the mysterious premises a lantern was sent for and a thorough exploration of the interior was commenced. The first apartment entered was a common dugout, only about eight feet square, and had seemingly been used as a sort of anteroom. On the back end or side a space of about six feet was covered from the ceiling to the ground floor with hewed logs, stood on end and close together. In the logs were numerous nails, driven apparently for the purpose of hanging clothes.

Some old, faded decks of playing cards and an old newspaper and a badly dilapidated copy of "Kit Carson" were found scattered about on the rude slab floor. In the book was found a poorly-written letter from Frank Jones to James Younger in reference to the stealing of some horses.

Connecting with the strange abode is an artificial cave with 18 hitching-posts, where the horses of the outlaws were kept.

A skull and other bones belonging to a human being were found under a pile of partly decayed corn stalks. This is probably the body which Coleman Younger carried away from Northfield after the terrific fight at the bank and which has never been accounted for. The place is as impregnable as Gibraltar and 120 men, with plenty of food and ammunition, could hold it against a regiment for a month. The only possible way to get to it with a force is to follow the creek bed from its head, some five miles west at the age of the prairie.

Hand Cut Off.

SARNIA, Dec. 25.—David Griffin, a brakeman on the Grand Trunk Railway, while working on the construction train at the tunnel approach, had his right hand caught between the buffers while trying to couple the cars with the result of losing the hand.

Hanged in His Cell.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 25.—Kinch Freeman a negro charged with the murder of N. Badkins and his aged mother near Aulander, Bertie County, N.C., Oct. 4, was hanged in his cell in the jail at Winton this morning by a party of 25 or 30 masked men, who forced the jailer to give up the keys.

Santa Claus Arrested.

FITTSBURG, Dec. 25.—Last night William Strong, aged 22, was arrested on the charge of robbing his former employers, Scheutte & Co., of $1000. When arrested Strong was taking the part of Santa Claus at an entertainment at the M. E. Church. A sensational scene followed, as Strong was very prominent in church work.

BIG MEN AND WOMEN.

Some of the Giants and Giantesses of Whom History Tells.

The Irish Times says: At all times and in all countries, kings and nobles had a fancy for including among their retainers either a giant or a dwarf, sometimes both. Frederick the Great had his corps of gigantic grenadiers; and in the Tower of London may be seen a lance and some enormous armor of sixteenth century work, which doubtless belonged to some giant knight or trooper of the King's bodyguard. James I had attached to his person a porter named Walter Parsons, commonly called the Staffordshire giant, a handsome, brave, and strong young man, who had begun life as a farrier. His height was seven feet seven inches, and his portrait exists, engraved by Glover. Parsons lived on into the reign of Charles I, and was succeeded by another giant, William Evans, two inches taller than his predecessor. It is a curious fact that the population of France has rarely produced a giant; Great Britain, Germany, Poland and Switzerland carry off the palm; and this may perhaps be attributed to the prevalence in France of a vegetarian diet, which does not tend to develop to so great an extent.

THE GROWTH OF MUSCLE

as does the stronger diet of meat. The eighteenth century, to judge by contemporary letters and newspapers, seems to have been more than usually prolific in giants and giantesses.

Horace Walpole mentions a giant and giantess who were on view respectively at Spring Gardens and Half-moon Court, Ludgate Hill. They were both, it seems, handsome and well-proportioned persons, and without the usual awkward ungainliness peculiar to their kind. At this time also appeared a young Italian giantess seven feet in height, "who was the admiration," said the handbills, "of the Emperor of Germany, of eight Kings of Europe, and of the Grand Czar of Muscovy himself." Her appearance seems to have been followed in 1741 by that of Cajanus, the famous Swedish giant, commonly called the "living Colossus," who came over to England and established himself at a house opposite the Mansion House. He was the son of a pastor of a little village in Finland, and stood eight feet four inches in his socks. In 1755 London was visited by another Italian giant, named Bernardo Gigli, or Gilli, who measured eight feet in height, and seems to have created an immense sensation by the colossal proportions of his limbs. But no giant ever created such a furore as did Charles Byrne, the Irish giant, who was eight feet eight inches in height and possessed of enormous strength. He was clever and shrewd and of his mother country; but unfortunately the large fortune he rapidly gained by the exhibition of himself led him into habits of gluttony and intemperance, and he died at the early age of two-and-twenty, leaving instructions that his body was to be buried at sea; but the College of Surgeons in some way obtained his corpse for the sum of £300, according to certain reports, and the skeleton was "set up" in their museum by William Hunter, the famous anatomist.

Pimply Your Blood

Is the condition of your blood known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. Nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

"It is the Safest and Fairest Policy I Have Ever Seen,"

Was the remark made by a prominent representative of one of the largest and best American Life Insurance Companies when he had carefully examined the ordinary life policy of The TEMPERANCE AND GENERAL Life Assurance Company.

This is the only policy offered to the Canadian public that can neither lapse nor expire as to its paid up value till death ensues, after three annual premiums have been paid on it.

Our Limited Payment Life Policy, or Instalment Bonds, our Common Sense Renewable Term Policies and our Survivors' Endowment Bonds are all possessed of new and excellent features and are all worthy of careful consideration.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts, and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the great curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, ANALYSIS VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not close the belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

A TETE-A-TETE DINNER.

"Any letters for me, porter?" said Capt. Deerhurst as he entered his club at noon on Christmas day.

"Yes sir; two, and a tel—"

The captain took [illegible] a letter—the address [illegible] his handwriting—and [illegible] to the telegram. Five [illegible] which were brief, were [illegible] wore a satisfied smile as he [illegible] the fire and pitched the missive [illegible] The purport of the telegram [illegible] so satisfactory, and a near bystander might have heard Deerhurst make use of a big, very big, D. Like the letter the telegraphic message was also short, and merely said, "Coming home this afternoon youngest has measles—Maria." The sender was Capt. Deerhurst's wife, and his most intimate friend would have been puzzled to discover why it should have so disconcerted him.

To the world in general the Deerhursts were a model couple. He a retired officer, with ample means and in the prime of life, a handsome, good figured man of forty. She some ten years younger, and if not exactly handsome still a fairly good looking woman. They had been married some years, and, although not blessed with a family, none of their acquaintances would have dared to hint that matrimony was a failure in their case. They seemed to understand one another thoroughly. Mrs. Deerhurst had just been a little talked about in consequence of her being seen so much with young Lornton; Deerhurst did not seem to mind. He apparently kept himself amused with Mrs. Vernon, a clever little grass widow.

Both went much into society during the season, and, as Deerhurst was passionately fond of racing—a pursuit his large income enabled him to enjoy with ease—he frequently preferred Ascot and Newmarket to accompanying his wife to garden parties or the park. On many of these occasions she was escorted by Lornton and others of her male friends, and Deerhurst always made a particular point of being gracious to her cavaliers, thanking them for the trouble they took in looking after Mrs. Deerhurst—and, in fact, her friends were his. Racing, nowadays, is so much patronized by ladies that it was not to be supposed that Capt. Deerhurst held himself aloof from the fair dames he met at Sandown park and other race meetings, and, being a gallant man, he found plenty of time to squire them about the paddock and advise them as to their trifling speculations. Mrs. Deerhurst was not particularly fond of horse racing, and at any time would go to a concert or spend the afternoon at Hurlingham rather than accompany her husband to his favorite sport. Her husband's female acquaintances were consequently not all known to her; she was too much a woman of the world to stigmatize them as fast, but in her own mind she no doubt considered them as ladies whom it was all very well for Deerhurst to know on a race course, but she had no desire to become intimate with them. This Christmas Mrs. Deerhurst had arranged to spend in the country with an old school friend who had married a rector of some distant parish. Her husband did not care to go, as he professed that the worthy clergyman, his spouse and the large family bored him to death. He decided to remain in town until they started for the south, which they had settled to do early in January. Christmas in London en garcon seemed to suit Capt. Deerhurst admirably.

It is true there had been no racing, although he was due at some sporting meeting on Boxing Day; but he and some club friends had done the round of the theatres where light entertainments were the leading attraction, and had not denied themselves a visit to the Empire or Alhambra. Christmas day itself was bound to be a somewhat dull one, as it always is in London, where one lacks the cheer parties that assemble in country houses—the renewal of old ties among our relations. Capt. Deerhurst had thoughtfully provided for this, and had arranged a little tete a tete dinner with Mrs. Vernon, who happened also to be passing through town, and whom he had seen much of during the past season. She, like Deerhurst, loved horse racing next to gambling at Monte Carlo, and for a woman was wonderfully au fait with the sport; consequently she was a great favorite with sporting men, as she could converse sensibly on matters which to the average lady are unknown subjects. Hers was the letter which had so delighted Deerhurst when he arrived at his club, only to find his scheme thwarted by the telegram from [illegible]. As he warmed into the smoking room he was terribly vexed, for he did not see how he could possibly keep his engagement, which he was the more anxious to do as it was only after considerable solicitation that he had prevailed on Mrs. Vernon to accept his invitation. As he had put it to her, there was no one in town and not a soul would be any the wiser. And now, what possible excuse could he make? His first thought was to go home, pack up his things as if he was going out of town, but a few moments' reflection showed him that this was out of the question; his wife would know that he had gone away after the receipt of her telegram, and it was not without misgivings that Capt. Deerhurst wended his way home to receive his wife.

"What brings you back so suddenly," said he, rather ungraciously, as he greeted his wife.

"As I told you in my wire Jane's youngest, Jemima, was seized with measles, and although I did not mind, and would just as soon have stayed, Jane packed me off. It was a dreadful bore and a terribly cold journey. Fortunately I saw Mr. Lornton on the platform at Rugby and [illegible] him get into my compartment, so [illegible] had company part of the way."

"And no doubt very agreeable," hazarded Deerhurst.

"Agreeable, of course he was. Mr. Lornton always is," replied Mrs. Deerhurst, warming one of her shapely feet on the fender. "More so than my lord and master seems to be," added she.

"Well, it is a nuisance having one's arrangements spoilt," began Deerhurst.

"Arrangements! What arrangements can you have on a Christmas day that you can't put on one side?"

"Fact is," replied Deerhurst, "I have promised to dine at the club with Fuddleby and one or two others who are stranded in London, and I don't quite know how to get out of it."

"Very simply; say your wife's come to town and you must give her a dinner," said Mrs. Deerhurst. Deerhurst shook his head. "Afraid they wouldn't believe it. They'd think I was crying off."

"But, my dear George, what am I to do? There's no one here who could cook me a chop, and I doubt it there is anything else in the house. You know nearly all the servants are away for their holiday; I have even told Smithers she may go to her friends for to-night."

"Couldn't you go and dine with your sister?"

"I doubt if they are in town, and, if they are, I don't care about forcing myself on [illegible] Day for Dick's Yorkshire [illegible] them uninvited. No; you must take me to some restaurant. A tete-a-tete dinner with me will be a novelty, and I will let you go to the club early if you want to."

"My dear, I can't possibly throw over Fuddleby"——

"George, it isn't Fuddleby; it's someone else. It's all fudge about not throwing him over; why, you have done it dozens of times."

"All the more reason why I should not let him be alone at this season."

"Very well, then, bring the man with you. He is an odious old prosy, but I suppose I must put up with him."

This was a facer for Deerhurst, who began to stammer out something—his confusion naturally confirming his wife's suspicions.

"Look here, George;" said she, "Fuddleby or no Fuddleby, you have some reason for not dining with me to-night. Well and good; I shall not ask for the confidence you deny me. Go and dine with your friends"—this with great scorn—"I shall choose my own companions also," and with this she swept from the room. After some cogitation she evolved the following letter:

DEAR MR. LORNTON—I am in a fix and want your assistance. It is really an absurd confession to make, but I am in need of a Christmas dinner! George has foolishly made an engagement for tonight that he cannot break; we have no servants, and, if we had, I do not feel a bit like dining at home. Will you take pity on me, and give me something to eat at some nice quiet place—although I suppose all places will be quiet to-night? Of course if you are otherwise engaged do not hesitate to tell me, and I will try and put up with my solitude. Yours very truly, Bearer waits MARIA DEERHURST.

(To be Continued.)

Ujoobu Bungo of the Cannibal Isles, at Christmas dinner. "My dear, what part do you prefer?"

His spouse. "The funny bone, please."

The Handsomest Lady in Peterborough

Remarked to a friend that other day that she Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs was a superior remedy, as it stopped her cough instantly when other cough remedies had no effect whatever. So to prove this and convince you of its merit any druggist will give you a sample bottle free. Large size 50c. and $1. dw

Wild cherry bark, elecampane, hoarhound, and senega. These are the remedies with which Dame Nature has supplied Canada for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping coughs, bronchitis and loss of voice. All these are contained in Wilson's Wild Cherry in their most active form, and with other medicines constitute this most reliable cure for all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Wilson's Wild Cherry is sold by all druggists. dw

Winter Sports

The gay winter season exposes many to attacks of colds, coughs, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, etc., which require a reliable remedy like Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for their relief and cure. Known as reliable for over thirty years. The best cough cure. 2x49d

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up their own cities rather than those of foreign states.

A Teacher Remembered.

Christmas afternoon the pupils of Miss Nellie Wrighton's Sunday School class in connection with St. Andrew's church, called upon their teacher at her home, and presented her with an address and a handsome portfolio. Miss Wrighton has been their teacher for a year, and the boys wished to show their love for her and their appreciation of her labors. Miss Wrighton received the boys and entertained them. The address was signed by Tom. Tully, Herb. King, Jas. VanKirk, Fred Logan, Rube Glover, Fred Milliken, Marshal Mulligan and Bruce Anderson.

The Great Three Days' Xmas Tree.

Preparations are now well advanced for the Grand Three Days' Christmas Tree and Entertainment to be held in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 29th, 30th and 31st. The ladies of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral, who have charge of affairs, are leaving nothing undone to make the occasion a superb success, and they will gladly receive any donations to the Christmas tree, which may be left at the Presbytery, Reid street. Remember the two concerts; one on Monday evening, under the auspices of the Cathedral Choir, and the other, at which a splendid programme will be presented, by the Convent pupils, on Tuesday evening. d148

An Epidemic of Runaways.

Why men should leave their horses standing out in the cold unprotected, while their thoughtless owners are inside seeing a man or cracking jokes with a friend, is incomprehensible when they know the impudence and danger of such a course. Horses object to such inhumane treatment, and in a great many cases run away to warm themselves up. There has been a number of runaways within the past few days, and it would be safe to say that nearly all, if not quite all, were due to this cause. Wednesday afternoon a grey team belonging to Mr. Robert Lynn, of Dummer, careered down Water street, and at the market square the wagon striking the sidewalk parted company with the horses. The crash started three other farmers' teams, two of which were easily stopped but a third ran down Charlotte street and disappeared. Mr. Robt. Carroll, of Millbrook, complained to the police that he had lost a keg of butter through the incident. Then this morning a fine team belonging to Mr. Strickland, of Lakefield, ran up George Street from the C. P. R. station and were stopped in the north end.

"Bleak House."

The Cincinnati Enquirer has this to say of Miss Jane Coombs, who will appear as Lady Dedlock and Hortense, in her great production of Charles Dickens' "Bleak House," at Bradburn's Opera House on Saturday evening:—"Miss Jane Coombs appeared at Buck's last night as Lady Dedlock and Hortense in Charles Dickens' 'Bleak House,' to a large and brilliant audience, and achieved success in two entirely dissimilar characters. She is an ideal Lady Dedlock. Charles Dickens' heroine was one of the most beautiful and accomplished women in his day, full of dash and courage in trying situations in which she was placed. Cold as an icicle at one moment, and warm with passionate love for her child at another. Miss Coombs thrilled her audience in her powerful scene with Tulkinghorn in the third act, where she defies him to do his worst, and won a magnificent recall for brilliant rendition of the scene. As Hortense, the crafty, cruel and relentless French woman, she displayed an intensity, a thirst for revenge, a subtle cunning entirely in keeping with this wonderful creation of Dickens. The supporting company was excellent, superb." 1d

A Merry Christmas.

How the Day was Spent in Peterborough —In the Home, the Church and on the Street.

Christmas, the day of festivity and rejoicing, when all the world takes on a brighter hue and hearts are warmed towards each other by the joyousness of the season, passed very quietly in Peterborough. Christmas of 1889 was marked by rainstorms and general depression, but the weather Thursday was perfect—clear and frosty—and only the scarcity of snow prevented the day being an ideal one. At night the moon shed upon the white crusted earth a flood of soft light which made the frost crystals sparkle like gems and cast a mellow shade over the landscape. It was a glorious night.

The holiday season so far has been a favorable one for the merchants, the majority of whom report increased sales over last year. This means that there were more presents purchased, and that there were so many more happy hearts in consequence.

The day was a quiet one on the streets of Peterborough. A few went out for a drive or walk and a great number went to church. Those who were able to, gathered around the crackling fire and talked and laughed and romped, eating the Christmas turkey and plum pudding with joyous hearts and making merry the whole day long. Sadness reigned in some homes, but even the saddest of them were brightened by the cheerful Yule tide. Furthers, the world waged on the same as ever, without any variation of their humble duties whatever. The policeman, the hack-driver, the railway man, the hotel employe and many others scarcely realized that Christmas was a holiday. But these faithful servants of the public will no doubt meet their reward in other ways.

To the public institutions of Peterborough the day was marked by special gastronomic preparations. The hotels provided in some instances elaborate bills of fare, the Oriental and Grand Central showing off their cuisine by setting the tables. At the hospitals, the Protestant Home, and the gaol, the inmates were treated to special Christmas dinners, the donations to the charitable institutions being most generous. The poor of the town were also looked after by church benevolent societies and private charity-working individuals. Few families in Peterborough, but enjoyed an extra Christmas dinner.

The railway trains Wednesday took great crowds away from town and brought great crowds in. Everybody likes to spend Christmas "at home," and the special railway rates were taken advantage of.

Christmas Church Chimes.

ST. PETER'S.—At St. Peter's Cathedral the Christmas services were of especial interest. The altar was nicely decorated with flowers and evergreens, and there were besides two new pieces of statuary, representing the adoring angels, the gift of the young ladies of the Sodality, and some altar ornaments by the altar society. Both these societies were publicly thanked by the Bishop. At six o'clock high mass was celebrated, the boy choir supplying the music. During the mass a couple of boys rendered an angel duet, "Gloria in Excelsis." Masses were continued until nine o'clock, and at 10 30 high mass was celebrated, at which His Lordship Bishop O'Connor pontificated. The choir sang Concone's new mass to orchestral accompaniment, and at the offertory they sang Lamb's Pastorial. Rev. Father Nevin preached an appropriate sermon, and his Lordship gave the Papal benediction.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.—Christmas day was duly and reverently observed at St. John's on Thursday. In honor of the occasion the church was beautifully decorated by a small but indefatigable band of workers, and the chancel was splendidly adorned with flowers by the Chancel Guild. There was a large number of communicants at the early celebration, and a large congregation at eleven o'clock. Dr. Davies had taken great pains with the musical portion of the services, which was much more elaborate than usual. The anthem, an adaptation of the familiar hymn, "While Shepherd's Watched Their Flocks by Night," was excellently rendered, Mr. W. H. Budden taking the solo in splendid voice, and investing his rendering with great expression. The sermon appropriate to the day was preached by the Rector from the text found in St. Luke's Gospel, II. 17:—"The babe lying in a manger."

ST. LUKE'S.—At St. Luke's (Ashburnham) the music and decorations were of a special nature. Evergreens and flowers ornamented the church. The choir gave an anthem, "Hark, What Mean Those Holy Voices," by Verdi. Miss Lily Jackson took the solos, and also sang an obligato solo with chorus. The choir also rendered Dyke's Te Deum. The hymns and the sermon by Rev. J. W. McCleery were appropriate to the day.

In St. Paul's, the George Street and the Charlotte Street Churches services were held, sermons being preached by the pastors. No special music was given.

The Vespers Club met at the usual place and hour Wednesday evening, the President in the chair. After the roll had been called and 199 absent members fined a Christmas turkey each, the next order of business was called. Then a subdued thrill of excitement agitated the (last week's) shirt-bosoms of those present as the janitor, in flowing robes of state, supported on the right by the Secretary and on the other by the Grand Watch-Dog of the Treasury, advanced towards the throne in full view of the hundreds of eyes which were gazing admiringly upon the brilliant pageant. The President, overcome with surprise by this unwonted display of grandeur and ceremony, nearly fell off the soap-box which constituted his seat of honor. At first he feared mutiny and perhaps attempted assassination, and she thought that he might be obliged to slaughter the whole Society in self defence made him nervous. His suspicion was increased when he observed the Treasurer trying to conceal what appeared to be a long-bladed weapon beneath his robes. Still, they looked "the mildest mannered men that ever scuttled ship or cut a throat," and thinking that they might simply wish him to abdicate, the President bravely determined to show no fear. On the noble trio came to the foot of the throne, and having made profound obeisance the janitor cleared his throat, waved back his 28-inch chest and in a mellifluous voice that echoed through the rafters and dislodged several bottles on the top shelves, read a pathetic address which visibly affected the president and extracted a few dry tears from those who enjoyed back seats and couldn't hear what was said. One member in his excess of emotion was actually seen to make surreptitious use of a handkerchief, and the article was at once confiscated and its owner reprimanded with becoming severity. The address set forth the president's many graces of person and qualities of mind, and his faithful performance of the duties of his station, especially in the way of telling bear stories, of which he spoke from personal experience—always. As the janitor concluded and the scribe's pen ceased its scratching, the treasurer presented the president (Mr. R. W. Grabbe, of the Bank of Toronto) with a handsome, long-stemmed Dolar-croak pipe, on behalf of the club. The president made a feeling reply (feeling if there was any tobacco in the pipe), and expressed his thanks to the club for their gift. The great and glorious institution of which he had the honour of being chief officer would continue to be an ornament to mundane society and a power in the community. The Vespers Club based its claim for notice upon the force and originality of its principles; and the president was pleased to observe that in this instance the members had carried out the fundamental rule of never giving more than one present at a time. He was equally pleased to observe that he had himself been the recipient of the one gift, and hoped that they would long live to give presents and he to receive them. Vociferous applause followed the president's speech, and the orchestra struck up "Hail to the Chief." After cheers and Christmas greetings all round, the club broke up, an escort being first provided for the president to see that he got safely home with his prize.

The Pound Social.

A Pleasant Evening With the Band of Hope.

The "Pound Social" held by the Band of Hope on Monday evening was a decided success. A goodly number of "pounds" was donated and carried by the children to the needy. A short programme of songs, readings and recitations was rendered, Miss Lizzie Bailey acting as pianist.

Rev. Mr. Parker addressed the children with whom he is very popular, and bade them "good-bye," assuring them of his kindly remembrances and willingness to be of service to any of them when called upon.

A pleasing feature of the entertainment the presentation to the Superintendent, Mrs. Paton, of a pretty work box, accompanied by the following address:—

DEAR MRS PATON.—It affords us unusual pleasure this evening to express the feelings of affection and gratitude with which you are regarded by the members of the Band of Hope of Peterborough, among whom you have labored so faithfully for the past two years. We have always found you a true friend and a wise counsellor, ready with service of hand, purse or brain as required to meet every emergency.

Your teachings have been and will still be of great practical use to us, and will, we trust, influence our lives and actions long after the teacher has gone to her reward. We feel sure that your dearest hope for us is that we may always be total abstainers, earnest prohibitionists and true Christians.

You have just passed your sixty-fourth birthday and we take advantage of this occasion to present you with this work-box as a very slight token of our affection and respect. At the same time we wish you many happy returns of the anniversary, followed by years of increasing usefulness, and hope that, when we reach your age, we may be found, as you are, in the paths of righteousness and working for the good of our fellowmen. By that time we hope the rum traffic will be a thing of the past and our land free from this terrible curse.

Wishing you a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year, we are, dear Mrs. Paton, on behalf of the Band of Hope,

Yours for God and home and native land,
ESTELLA PRICE,
ETTA DEACON,
STANLEY CLARKE.

Mrs. Paton was completely taken by surprise and made a suitable and pleasing reply.

A few articles of fancy work made by the sewing class were sold to the ladies present, and the entertainment was closed with the temperance doxology.

The Inebriate's Christmas.

How Some of Them Flew High on Christmas and Drooped Their Crests To-day.

"Merr' Christmus! Whoop 'er up! Yip!" and the poor inebriate who believed he was enjoying himself did "whoop 'er up" until he was bowled out by the fiery glass or fell into the clutches of the ever-vigilant policeman. It was well for some of these Christmas celebrants that the argus-eyed cop was on duty, for there would have been one or more cases of freezing to report if the drunks had been left to themselves.

A couple of arrests were made Christmas eve. A drunken Indian, who was making himself obnoxious in Alex. Elliott's grocery store by importuning for whisky, which was refused him, was thrust into the street and gathered in by Chief Roszel and P. C. McGinty after a slight struggle. A gray-haired pale-face meddled with the policemen in the performance of their duty and was also taken to the police station. Not wishing to be hard on the drunks, they were allowed to go enjoy their Christmas at liberty.

Owen Baker, a Lakefield blacksmith, got drunk in Ashburnham on Christmas Eve, and ran foul of the village constable, who cheerfully put him over the bridge into Peterborough to be cared for. On his way over Baker fell and scraped his face, besides losing all of the liquor out of the jug he carried. He was taken to the police station and spent the night in sobering up. Christmas morning he was dismissed in time to eat his turkey at home.

Yesterday three strangers fell victims to the Christmas cheer distressed over the bars of Peterborough. Evidently the fame of Peterborough whisky has travelled abroad, for it is a noticeable fact that all the drunks arrested belonged to outside places. They came from as far as Kingston and Toronto to get drunk in Peterborough. One of them would inevitably have frozen to death but for the merciful attentions of the police. They were fined $2 and costs each, or ten days in gaol; and as there was only $c. left among the trio, they all went up on the hill to serve their time. Their names were:—James West, Kingston D. Wm. C. Finney, Tweed; E B. Lang, Toronto.

Sunshine in the House!

"I'm weary with work!" the good wife sighed
"But father sir," she said,
"It's sweet to labor for those we love—
No wonder that maids will wed."

A wise housewife lightens her toil and gladdens the home circle by her cheerfulness. But health is the first requisite, and her just prerogative. Health follows the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which repairs the ravages caused by those peculiar diseases which afflict womankind. It enriches the blood, cures the cough, increases the flesh prevents hysteria, nervousness and low spirits, and is a veritable fountain of health to women, young and old. A Large Industry.

A Prosperous Branch of Matthews' Pork Packing Establishment in Ottawa.

The Ottawa Free Press says:—The establishment in this city of a large packing house such as that owned by Mr. George Matthews on York street in the building formerly known as the Royal theatre, marks an epoch in that industry in this portion of Ontario.

Fourteen years ago Mr. Matthews founded the Lindsay Packing House, his venture succeeding so well that four years later he started a branch house in Peterborough. The latter is now one of the leading packing houses in Ontario, and Peterborough hams and Peterborough bacon are known throughout the Dominion, from Halifax to Vancouver customers being supplied in both places. For years before opening in Ottawa Mr. Matthews' bacon was represented by Mr. H. A. Small, who continues to act in that capacity.

A year ago Mr. Matthews bought the pork curing business of Messrs. Thompson & Slattery, and finding the premises too small, he resolved to build himself a packing house of more modern style. With this end in view he bought the land and walls of the Canadian Institute, and during the past summer erected a packing house second to none for its size in Canada. The building is 110 feet long, by 52 feet wide, and is four stories high, beside the basement or cellar. A Turnbull & Leitch hydraulic elevator does the carrying from one flat to the other, and an immense ice house 25x36x45 feet high, furnishes cold storage for the summer months.

The ground floor is occupied as offices, salesroom and showroom. In the latter are at present some 3500 dressed hogs, bought on this market and at neighboring local points. Mr. Matthews is always open to buy any quantity, thus making a reliable and steady market for farmers in this section.

The Free Press also scores the market committee for enforcing a by-law which prevents the sale of less than a quarter of fresh pork on the market without a license. The article explains that Mr. Matthews sells no fresh pork except small portions that cannot be cured; he sells only to retailers and does not come into competition with the butchers, but supplies through the retail dealers a good article of cheap food for the poorer classes of the city. Yet the Ottawa authorities seek to handicap one of their leading industries by this petty device. As Mr. Matthews says: "As long as I supplied the Ottawa market from Peterborough, sending ton upon tons of fresh pork to my customers, nothing was said, but when I spend my money in Ottawa, pay taxes in Ottawa, and employ Ottawa labour, then the by-laws interfere and say I must not do the trade that can be done by an outsider. Why, in Hamilton, Toronto, Peterborough and other places where there are large packing establishments, the people consider it a benefit to the place to have a steady market for the class of farm products we handle, and it is a blessing to many poor men to be able to procure good meat at a low figure."

Answers to Professor and Commissioner.

Professor: "Name a potent element in the art of drawing."

Student: "A mustard plaister." The professor collapsed.

This reminds me of another. School commissioner to bright girl in front row: "What are the first, or primary colors used in painting?' Bright girl: "Diamond Dyes, please sir." School commissioner: "Why so, my dear?" Bright girl: "Because at school and at home we color our maps with them, sir."

While the girl's answer was not the proper one to give to the school commissioner's question yet it was very ingenious and truthful, proving beyond all doubt that Diamond Dyes were used in many of the homes of the scholars.

Diamond Dyes are indeed used in many homes instead of paints for the purpose of coloring maps, sketches, drawings and photographs.

A much finer shading, and a brighter color is obtained from them than can be obtained from paints, as the dyes are so pure and unadulterated.

Diamonds Dyes used in this way give beautiful results; they are so easily prepared and the cost is very trifling.

Mr. A. J. Belcher, C.E., of Winnipeg, is spending his holidays in town.

Mr. C. H. Clementi has received the appointment of Collector of Customs at this port. Mr. Clementi received official notification yesterday as a Christmas box from the Government.

Mr. J. D. Laidlaw, of the Laidlaw Manufacturing Co., Hamilton, is the guest of Mr. Andrew Mercer.

Mr. John Stewart, of Plainfield, Illinois, is in town on a visit, the guest of Mr. A. C. Dunlop. Mr. Stewart left Peterborough twenty-two years ago and is prospering in his present home. He has been in Peterborough only once (about nine years ago) since he left twenty-two years ago, and naturally sees many changes. Off George street he is completely lost; where he remembered woods and marsh is now built up with the residences and laid out in streets. Mr. Stewart thinks Peterborough a most progressive town.

Man Wants but Little Here Below.

This may be true, but the little he wants he desires to enjoy, and to enjoy things in this world he must have health. Without it man can get no more pleasure out of it than can a graven image. With it the sun seems to shine perpetually, or, if ever does get clouded over, he can see the silver lining to the cloud. When health is so essential to happiness, it is strange that persons suffering from liver complaint, dyspepsia, low spirits, headache, or nausea, do not try Beecham's Pills. w624

THE STRIKING SCOTS.

THE CALEDONIAN RAILWAY COMPANY WIN A VICTORY.

The Other Companies will Probably Refer the Matter to Arbitration—Freight Traffic is Still Paralyzed, and There is Little Improvement in Passenger Transportation.

GLASGOW, Dec. 26.—The railroad strike continues to keep business almost at a standstill and to cause inconvenience and annoyance to many thousands. The statement having been made that the families of the strikers are beginning to feel the effects of the strike is denied by the men who are out. The latter claim they are in a position to hold out for at least six weeks without in any way causing distress to their families or themselves. Up to the present, with the exception of shooting and occasionally stoning an obnoxious employe who may have remained loyal to the railway companies, there have been few acts of violence.

This, to a great degree, is due to the admirable precautions taken by the police.

Freight traffic has not yet been resumed on the railways, but there is a slight improvement in amount of passenger traffic done.

Caledonian Railway officials say they anticipate an early collapse of the strike. They state that many locomotive engineers and firemen among the strikers will resume work Monday and that others have privately asked to be reinstated.

The strikers generally express confidence in their prospects. The Caledonian Company yesterday engaged 36 English engine drivers. The various railway companies express a willingness to treat directly with the men, but decline to allow officers of the union to be present at any interview.

A Settlement Looked For.

EDINBURG, Dec. 26.—As the result of a conference here to-day of provosts, railway directors and delegates representing the strikers, it is stated that there are prospects of settling the strike.

At Dundee to-day an unsuccessful attempt was made to derail a train.

One Company Wins.

GLASGOW, Dec. 26.—The Caledonian Railway Co., which had steadfastly refused to yield to the strikers, has practically won the struggle with its employes. The success of the other companies is thought to be doubtful.

Sixty Thousand Laborers Out of Work.

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—Trustworthy statistics are authority for the alarming statement that there are 60,000 laborers of both sexes out of employment. Remembering that many of them have aged relatives and young children dependent on them, it will be seen that the number verging upon actual starvation is very great. At the beginning of a winter that has opened with unprecedented severity and the agitation kept up by the Socialists the outlook is anything but encouraging

A REVOLT IN PERU.

Made in Behalf of Pierola, the ex-Dictator—Forty Lives Lost.

PANAMA, Dec. 26.—Rumors of revolutionary movements in Peru have been rife for some time, and it was known that a meeting was held in Fort Santa Catalina outside of Lima, and that an effort was made in behalf of ex-Director Pierola. The movement was suppressed, but at a cost of 40 lives. As matters stand in Peru it is not unlikely that similar risings will occur at short intervals, the conditions being entirely favorable. The extreme destitution prevailing throughout the republic is largely responsible for the unsettled state of affairs. Pierola was recently in Ecuador.

MAY RESULT IN WAR.

A Sensational Deduction From the Present Newfoundland Troubles.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 26. — Monsseigneur Howley, prefect apostolic of the West Coast of Newfoundland, publishes a sensational letter predicting that the condition of affairs over the French shore and Newfoundland fishery questions will inevitably result in war. The people of the French shore are desperate over the postponement of a settlement of their intolerable difficulties, and will, he is afraid, take every means in their power to precipitate a crisis. The Monseigneur describes the critical state of affairs, and says notwithstanding the large naval force maintained by England in those waters to prevent trouble occasions for a conflict between French and British fishermen occur daily during the season at scores of places along the coast in spite of the vigilance of warships. The Newfoundlanders will find means to committ some fatal act which will force England to either fight or abandon Newfoundland. The Monseigneur adds that it is useless for England to say she won't fight over a few codfish while she is creating a set of circumstances which must necessarily force her into war or dishonor. The proposition to cede Burin to France cannot be entertained for a moment. Newfoundland might just as well be asked to cut out her heart and give it to France. Dr. Howley declares that the modus vivendi has only served to intensify the strained condition of affairs, to inflict enormous losses on Newfoundland fishermen and vastly increase the probabilities of bloodshed between the rival fishermen.

ARRESTED IN GERMANY.

An Extensive Belleville Forger to Be Extradited.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 26.—A cablegram was received by Chief Newton this afternoon from Bremen, Germany, announcing that Chester W. Yourex had been arrested there on the charge of forgery. The news of his arrest has been received with satisfaction by the public in general. As it is possible to extradite the accused, he will in all probability be brought back to Canada and tried for the serious offence with which he is charged.

A Christmas Storm Down South.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 26.—The heaviest storm of sleet ever known here occurred yesterday afternoon, and during the night such wires and telegraph and telephone poles were broken and miles of wires were down. The city fire-alarm system was ruined, many boxes being burnt out. Not until 9 o'clock this morning had Lexington any communication with the outside world. There is now but one wire in operation between Lexington and Cincinnati. The electric street car lines were badly damaged. It is thought it will be weeks before all telephone service is fully restored.

TRICKED BY THE SCOUTS.

BIG FOOT AND HIS BAND ESCAPE INTO THE BAD LANDS.

The Messiah Craze Rampant in the Indian Territory—Invitations to an Iowa Ghost Dance a Few Miles from Guthrie—Several Tribes to Participate.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S.D., Dec. 26.—There was mounting in hot haste here to-day when the news came that 200 of the Sioux braves, who surrendered to Col Sumner had escaped and were on their way to the Bad Lands. Gen Miles heard the news first and wired Gen. Brooks to send out troops to head them off. In just an hour four companies of the Ninth Cavalry, with pack animals, two hotchkiss guns, and one mortar were trotting down the road and were soon lost to sight over the hills to the north. A wagon train and escort followed to-night. Col. Henry is probably too late to prevent the union of the warriors and will go into camp on White River, 20 miles east of Bad Lands. If these bucks unite with Kicking Bear's band in the latter's stronghold, there will be a bloody fight before the redskins are induced to surrender again. The Indians who got away from Col. Sumner were a part of Big Foot's band, and included many of Sitting Bull's followers.

A squad of Indian scouts was sent after the four troops of Ninth Cavalry to assist in the movement against the escaped hostiles. The Seventh Cavalry is under marching orders, and will move before daylight. Several friendly Indians have just returned from the Bad Lands, and report that Short Bull's band refuses to come in and defies the troops.

FIRE IN A COAL MINE.

Miraculous Escape of 150 Miners from Death.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Dec. 26.—An explosion took place this morning in the entrance shaft of the United Coal and Coke Works. It was caused by the ignition of kerosene. The report was terrific. One hundred and forty miners were at work, but all escaped. Some escapes were miraculous. The fire, which is still raging fiercely, destroyed all the coose property in the mine and has already done enormous damage. Every effort has been made to extinguish the fire. The coal is already said to be ablaze and an immense conflagration, which would practically ruin the mine, is feared. The United mine is pronounce done of the finest in the region.

Two persons were injured this afternoon by a fall of timber near the burning shaft. Over 300 men will be thrown out of employment.

A DEVOTED WIFE.

She Obtains Evidence of His Innocence of a Bunco Crime and He is Released From Jail.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 26.—Frank A. Aldrich of Stanford, Kansas, was on Nov. 3, 1889, sentenced to serve seven years and six months in the Western Penitentiary for buncoing J. R. Lemon, a wealthy resident of Allegheny, out of $10,000. To-day the State Board of Pardons gave Aldrich his liberty.

Aldrich is a man of not the best reputation, but evidence was presented to the Pardon Board which satisfied that body that he had been unjustly convicted. The victim of the bunco men is an aged man and he could give no clear description of the men who had taken his money. Six months after he had been victimized he was notified by Matthew Pinkerton of Chicago, a detective who has no connection with the famous Pinkertons, that for $5,000 he would produce the man who had robbed him.

Mr. Lemon consented to pay this reward and Pinkerton and an assistant named Quinn arrested Aldrich in Windsor, Canada. They persuaded Lemon that Aldrich was the robber and Lemon identified him so positively that, in the face of a dozen witnesses from Kansas, who swore Aldrich was at his home the day Lemon was robbed, Aldrich was convicted.

These facts were developed and brought before the Pardon Board through the perseverance and energy of Mrs. Aldrich. When he was arrested she possessed in her own right real estate and personal property amounting to $10,000. She induced well-known residents of Stanford, including Congressman Anderson, to come to Pittsburg and testify to their knowledge of her husband's presence in Stanford the day the robbery was committed.

When this evidence was ignored and her husband sentenced, Mrs. Aldrich set to work in another direction. She secured evidence that Mat Pinkerton and his partner had "put up a job" on Aldrich in order to get the $1000 from Lemon.

So convincing was this evidence that when it was laid before Lemon he confessed he had been deceived by the detectives and joined in signing the petition for the pardon. She convinced the police officials of Pittsburg and Allegheny also, and interested scores of prominent men, including United States Senators Ingalls and Quay, in the case.

Senator Ingalls wrote that he personally knew some of the Kansas witnesses who testified that they saw Aldrich at his home the day Lemon was robbed; that they were reputable people, and that the jury should have considered their testimony.

Senator Quay went over all the evidence and then joined in the petition for pardon. Mrs. Aldrich has spent nearly all her money in her efforts to secure her husband's vindication, and to-night there are few women in the country more happy than she.

Counterfeiters Unearthed.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 26.—A gigantic conspiracy to flood the United States with counterfeit silver dollars has been unearthed; 19 persons are already under arrest and $1100 in spurious coin is in the hands of the police. The money was brought from a central depot in New York city in Pittsburg by a gang of Italians employed to pass it. The money was all in silver dollars, and United States Detective McSweeney says it is the best counterfeit of the standard silver that was ever made. The coin is perfectly formed in every detail and its ring is identical with the good coin. The only fault about it is, it is a little light in weight.

A Cure for Leprosy Also.

MADRID, Dec. 26.—Two persons suffering from leprosy have been inoculated with lymph according to the method of Dr. Koch. The doctors of the hospital where the lepers are being treated report that the patients have perceptibly been gradually improving since the remedy was applied.

BURNED IN MID-OCEAN.

TWO BRITISH STEAMSHIPS TOTALLY DESTROYED.

Sixty Lives Lost by the Destruction of the Steamer Shanghai, Including a Number of European Officers—Progress of Negotiations in the Parnellite Fight.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—According to advices received here the steamship Shanghai recently caught fire at sea and is supposed to have become a total loss. The disaster is understood to have occurred near Wee Hu, a treaty port of the Chinese province of Kganhwui, on the Yangtsekiang, 50 miles above Nanking. The crew, consisting of about 60 natives with several European officers, are supposed to have perished.

Additional advices from China confirm the report of the burning of the Shanghai and say 260 lives were lost.

Another Steamship on Fire.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 26.—The British steamer Golconda from London is on fire at Diamond harbor in the Hoogly River, 34 miles below this city.

National Indian Congress.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 26.—The National Indian Congress was opened hear to-day. One thousand delegates were present and there were 5000 persons in the audience which listened to the deliberations of the meeting. Among those who attended were Charles Schwann and William S. Caine, members of the British House of Commons. Several Rajahs and Mahomedan nobles and a number of high caste native ladies. Advocate Ghose, a leading attorney of the high court, delivered an address of welcome to the delegates. He described the congress as the inevitable outcome of the generous policy of the British Government. Mervanji Mehta, a member of the Bombay Legislature, in his presidential address, made declarations as to the loyalty of the movement and its pacific aims. He said the congress desired to assist the Government in the work of social reforms. The time had arrived for consultative councils. Although the diverse nationalities of India were not yet ripe for representative institutions, yet the elective principle ought to be adopted in nominations to the Indian council and be appealed to the viceroy to watch the movement in a spirit of generous sympathy. The speech concluded thus: "Our congress asks but to be allowed to show the pitfalls and join in the blessing which England will assuredly earn, as there is an eternal that maketh righteousness. We appeal to Englishmen not to let the prayer rising from a growing and hopeful nation prove in vain.

Searching for Padlewsky.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The agents of the French police are here and are very active in their search for Padlewsky. Renewed energy has been imparted to their operations by the discovery of some important information. It is now certain that he did not embark from Trieste, as was alleged by La Bruyere, who was arrested on a charge of conspiring to defeat justice by aiding his escape.

He came to England the day after the murder of General Seliverskoff and remained for three days at the house of a well-known Anarchist in St. John's Wood, a northwestern suburb, whence he proceed to Liverpool and then escaped to America, accompanied by the person in whose house he stayed.

Tragic Occurrence At Berlin.

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—Two carmen, who were out of employment, had had too much drink, clubbed together the remains of their money and bought a revolver, with which they determined to commit suicide. They walked to the Thiergarten, and there, by arrangement between the two, one of them fired a shot at the other, the understanding being that the shooter should immediately afterwards kill himself. Fortunately, the man was not in a condition to take accurate aim, and the bullet inflicted merely a slight wound on his friend's temple. The report of the pistol attracted the attention of bystanders, who ran forward to seize the man who held the weapon. He made off, pursued by the people, and as he ran fired two shots at his own person, wounding himself, however, only in the shoulder and not dangerously. Both the men were ultimately conveyed to the hospital.

Was Sophie Gunzberg Tortured?

LONDON, Dec. 26.—A letter received from a Russian exile at Zurich charges that Sophie Gunzberg, the Nihilist who was condemned to death for being concerned in a plot against the life of the Czar, has been subjected to torture in prison. Her cries were heard by other prisoners, who managed to make the fact known. The object is supposed to have been to obtain revelations regarding other accomplices.

Fed For a Year Through a Tube.

EDINBURGH, Dec. 26.—Patrick McCabe the dynamiter who was convicted in 1883 of an attempt to blow up the Glasgow gas works, died in the penitentiary at Perth yesterday. He was to have been liberated to-day.

He had been insane since 1888, and, having refused food for the past twelve months, he was fed through a stomach tube.

Hard Road of Transgressors.

DUBLIN, Dec. 26.—The two carters who tell a story of having being compelled by masked men to drive to Phœnix Park, and there destroy the copies of The Insuppressible with which their wagons were loaded, have been arrested and committed for trial. The story is disbelieved, and the men are charged with having accepted bribes to do the work themselves.

Cremation of an English Judge.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The remains of the late Baron [illegible] were yesterday cremated at Enfield. [illegible] Woking, where they were afterwards interred. The pine shell enclosing them bore the inscription: "The Hon. John Walter Huddleston Died December, 1890, aged 75 years." Lady Diana Huddleston traveled to Woking, carrying a wreath sent by the members of the Oxford circuit. The funeral party also included the Duke and Duchess of St. Albans, Lord Falkland, Lord Justice Lopes, Sir Henry James, and many others.

Not Sure that He's the Man for Galway.

DUBLIN, Dec. 26.—Dr. O'Donnell, Bishop of Raphoe, in a letter to the Irish Catholics says he regrets that the Irish people did not immediately place the blame upon Parnell for his offence against morality instead of "giving him a handle with which to ruin the party and the country."

John Pinkerton, M.P. for Galway, a supporter of Parnell, announces that he will resign his seat if his constituents desire him to do so because of his allegiance to Parnell.

A Desperate Duel that was Not Fought.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—The proposed duel between M. Brousse and M. Dumay has been abandoned. M. Brousse has formally apologized for his assault upon the deputy and the affair has been settled to the satisfaction of both sides.

ONE KILLED MANY INJURED.

Disastrous Rear Collision on the Michigan Central.

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 26.—About 10 o'clock last night a rear collision took place between two fraight trains upon the M. C. R. about 2¼ miles west of Iona, resulting in the death of Brakeman Hector Grant of this city, and serious injury of several other employes. The rear train, drawn by two engines under Engineers Michael Blanche and W. J. Vippham, ran into the caboose of the forward train.

The Dead.

HECTOR GRANT, aged 30, rear brakeman and native of Palmerston, was in the caboose of the forward train and instantly killed. Leaves a wife and one child.

Injured.

COLE HAMMOND, conductor, had fracture of leg.

GEORGE BENEDICT, brakeman, foot crushed.

THOMAS BURKE, fireman, head badly bruised.

The other employes on both trains escaped by jumping, some of them sustaining slight bruises. The two cabooses on the first train were smashed to pieces. Grant was insured for $1000 in the Brotherhood of Railroad Brakemen and also in the I.O.O.F.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

"IN DARKEST ENGLAND."

General Booth Did Not Write Any Chapters of the Book.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The Times announces that Commissioner Smith of the Salvation Army has resigned. His resignation, the paper says, at this critical period in the history of the army is most important, because Mr. Smith formed the one substantial guarantee that an earnest and businesslike effort would be made to test the practicability of General Booth's scheme of social regeneration. The secret authorship of "In Darkest England" is now common knowledge, but the charitable hypothesis assigns to General Booth the credit for having written at least two chapters of the book. General Booth's explanation is that he supplied a professional writer with the material for the work. The question whether General Booth under these circumstances was justified in allowing the book to appear as if written by himself is one of the literary ethics wherewnto we have no right to expect General Booth to enter. We believe that when the whole story is revealed it will be found that the substantial parts of the scheme of city and farm colonies originated with Mr. Smith. General Booth, reluctantly accepting these statements, asserts that the ground of difference between Mr. Smith and himself is that while Commissioner Smith always held that it was absolutely necessary to keep the social working scheme as distinct as possible from the religious work of the Salvation Army, General Booth's method of inviting donations, despite his apparent willingness that the funds should be divided, leads to the mingling of all the separate funds into one common fund, rendering it obvious that every contribution to a specific department acts a proportionate amount of the general fund free to be spent at the discretion of General Booth. Nothing but a sense of duty, the paper continues, could have induced Commissioner Smith to resign at so important a juncture. There must be something wrong with the scheme and the management of the funds. Those who promised donations are now enabled to withhold them until a full and satisfactory account of Mr. Smith's resignation is given. He was the life and soul of the social reform wing of the army. It is likely his resignation is destined to be the death-blow to General Booth's more ambitious schemes.

Sexton Interviewed.

BOULOGNE, Dec. 26.—Thomas Sexton in an interview to-day said he considered Parnell's insulting references to his colleagues an insuperable barrier to his resumption of the leadership of the Irish party. He was quite certain that had Parnell consulted the party in regard to Morley's alleged offer of a place every man would have rejected indignantly the idea of sacrificing in any degree the independence of the party by an acceptance of the offer. Regarding the effect of the possible passage of the Land Act, Sexton said he thought it would render the farmers more independent, energetic and enterprising, but the measure of their success might be the measure of the laborers' discontent. In order to meet the just claims of the latter Sexton said he looked to the extension of the system of the act of 1888 to be inaugurated by authorising the Boards of Guardians to levy rates to be used in the construction of laborers' cottages. At present the boards have to pay four per cent interest and provide a sinking fund on the money advanced by the treasury and cannot let houses with a half acre of walled garden under one pound or one pound three shillings weekly, as the houses must be built according to fixed specifications from Dublin. This and the expense of inspection would increase the price of a house and garden to £120 which the rental is not sufficient to cover. Sexton hopes to change this system and get smaller houses built under local supervision at such reduced cost as to render the present rents profitable.

Messrs. Gill and O'Brien are staying here at the house of M. Raffelovitch. They are reading up the newspaper files and posting themselves on the events which have happened since they left America. O'Brien enjoys excellent health. He refuses yet to discuss the situation, but described as an atrocious libel the statement of The London Times that while in America he contributed to the columns of Patrick Ford's newspapers and that Ford—who, like his old guests Davitt and Healy, is greatly shocked at Parnell's moral obliquities—has just reaffirmed his faith in the gospel of dynamite. O'Brien asserts that he telegraphed to The Times for a retraction of the statement.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Times publishes Mr. O'Brien's telegram asking for a retraction. It states its authority is a despatch from America published in The Freeman's Journal, Nov. 13.

A Negro, a Mule, and a Live Wire.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 26.—A negro named Will Grosvenor was killed this afternoon by leaning up against an iron post, to which was tied a loose telephone wire. The wire was crossed with an electric light wire, and the full force of the current went into the post. A mule which the negro was driving had touched the post with its nose and was felled to the ground. The negro had gotten down from the wagon to see what was the matter with the mule, and leaned against the iron post with the result as stated. He died almost instantly.

A Fool and His Money.

WINDSOR, Dec. 26.—Yesterday afternoon a young man named Langlois and a stranger who gave his name as Walter Murray started out to have a good time, Langlois having all the money. They went to a saloon, where they had several drinks. Langlois says Murray then induced him to go into a vacant house, and when inside struck him over the head with a piece of scantling, knocking him down. He then took Langlois' overcoat and rifled the pockets, taking about $5, and left Langlois lying unconscious. Murray was arrested and sentenced to 6 months in the Central Prison.

Lost An Arm.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—Brakeman David Mille on the way freight between Hamilton and London caught his arm between the buffers and it was almost severed in two above the elbow. Drs. Burt and Dunton amputated the arm at the shoulder joint. The injured man was taken to Milton's Hotel, where he still is, doing well.

Claims to Have Walked from Toronto.

MONTREAL, Dec. 26.—Martin Murphy, aged 98, is resting at the Notre Dame Hospital. He arrived at the Bonaventure station this morning from Toronto, and he claims to have walked the whole distance. He does not look much the worse for the tramp, and after taking a little rest and medicine will be dismissed from the hospital and allowed to walk back if he wishes.

Cable Flashes.

The committee of the French Chamber of Deputies has reported against consideration of the bill for the abolition of taxation of titles.

The abnormally cold, foggy and wet season has increased London's annual death rate from 18 to 26 per 1000.

The French Government has asked the chamber to vote $500,000 for the encouragement of the silk-worm raising industry in France.

It is reported that many persons have perished in Russia owing to the extreme cold, and the a party of 30 were frozen to death while crossing a bleak steppe.

Advices from India state that the British merchants there view with growing concern the great influence exercised by the Germans in Siam, where the consul representing Germany has just been raised to the dignity of minister.

Tried and True.

Is the positive verdict of the people who take Hood's Sarsaparilla. When used according to directions the good effects of this excellent medicine are soon felt in nerve strength restored, that tired feeling driven off, a good appetite created, headache and dyspepsia relieved, scrofula cured and all the bad effects of impure blood overcome. Purify your blood, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"If it be well to wash the skin—and we never heard the proposition questioned—it is well also that we should be familiar with the means by which that purpose may be most efficiently attained.

"We once knew a beautiful woman, with a nice complexion, who had never washed her face with soap all her life through; her means of polishing were, a smear of grease or cold cream; then a wipe, and then a lick with rose water. Of course we did not care to look too closely after such an avowal, but we pitied her, for soap is the food of the skin.—

Soap is to the skin what Wine is to the stomach,

CANADA FOR CANADIANS.

When a book keeper at the end of a year has his balance sheet ready for presentation to his employer's inspection, he does not think of withholding it because it happens to be an unfavorable one and to give a rather hopeless forecast for the future. He knows the proprietor of the business would prefer the naked truth so that he might provide for the future as the occasion might demand. Now, we all know that things in Canada are not in a satisfactory condition, that something is rotten, and that something must be done before the ship of state hits a big rock herd. We have false watchmen, crying peace when there is no peace, prosperity when there is no prosperity, and it is not at all an unwholesome thing to be brought occasionally face to face with the situation—to hear some wholesome, if unpalatable truth. The following picture of our economic relations to the United States, drawn by Sir Richard Cartright at Meaford, contains a great deal that is worth studying. He said: "Canada, so far as the natural increase of her rural population is concerned, has come to a dead standstill. As I have put it to other audiences, Canada has become little better than a breeding ground for the propagation of citizens to go to the other side of the border and help to swell the population and resources of the United States. I don't like that. (Applause.) I am emphatically a Canadian; and my policy is, in the true sense, 'Canada for the Canadians.' (Renewed applause.) But I do not call it 'Canada for the Canadians,' when I find 1,000,000 of people of the best blood of Canada have been compelled, largely as I believe by a foolish fiscal policy, by an unjust fiscal policy, to seek to better their fortune on the other side of the border. (Great applause.) Now, Sir, that is only one out of innumerable details I could extract from this volume, all going to show that not only are the United States our chief customer but they are by far our best customer. I give you one illustration more: I take these various items by themselves. I find that of $4,419,000 the product of the entire, the United States take $4,755,000 worth, or about three-quarters of every mineral we had to sell went to the market which these gentlemen will tell you if of no importance. I turn to the fisheries, and I find that out of some $7,000,000 worth the Americans took $2,800,000 worth—nearly three times as much as Great Britain, nearly three times as much as the British West India Islands. Of the produce of the forest, out of $23,000,000 worth the United States took $11,000,000 worth. This was $1,000,000 worth more than Britain took, making the United States in the branch also our greatest customer. I turn to animals and their produce and I find that, excepting the single article of cheese, for which we find no market in the United States, but of which we sell large quantities in England, the United States took nearly two-thirds of our export. I come now to agricultural products, and it is worth the while of all the farmers of Canada to consider this point. Of these products we exported $13,414,000 worth, of this market which is said to be so insignificant, took $9,125,000 worth. Even in the article of manufactures, of which we sold $4,000,000, the United States were our largest customer; they took $1,822,000 worth, and there is every reason to believe that the returns which are given of our exports to the United States are largely undervaluated. The Government themselves admit an undervaluation of $3,000,000, but I believe the undervaluation is greater still. Now, I ask you, in the face of these facts, what can be said of a Government and of its subsidised press telling you that the trade with the United States is a matter of indifference to Canada!"

W. C. T. U. Letter to Lady Voters.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir.—Will you kindly allow me through the medium of your paper to say a word to the women in the town whose names are on the voter's list?

Dear Sisters.—We are glad that so many of you vote as you pray, and are true and conscientious in this matter. Your privilege is rightly esteemed and nobly made use of in the endeavor to secure as public officers, men who will voice the sentiment of the mother-heart of our community, and use their power and influence to remove the pitfalls from the path of the youth of our town. Our great at hope for the extirpation of the liquor traffic lies in woman's franchise, which we hope soon will stand on the same basis with manhood suffrage. But what of the fulfilment of this hope if you women allow yourselves to be influenced by party politics or social considerations as we regret to say is the case with the majority of men?

Sisters, we appeal to you for the sake of your youth, to look about you; notice the many snares laid for unwary feet; then use your votes and influence for the men who will be fearless and earnest in protecting those you love. There are some of you who scorn the idea of a woman voting, while others are "afraid of offending." This is unworthy of true womanhood. Remember God lays the responsibility upon you. What will you do with it? Will you meet it bravely in His fear, or will you shirk it and try to lull your consciences by talking about "keeping peace with your neighbors" or the unwomanliness of going to the polls?

Think about this matter, pray over it, and when the time for action comes be true to "God and Home and Native Land."

We are, dear sisters, on behalf of the Women's Christian Temperance Union,

Mrs. Geo. Paton, Mrs. A. M. Price,
President. Rec. Sec.

"A Free Trip Around the World."

The absorbing topic of the day is a Free Trip around the World offered by "The Home Facinator" Pub. Co., to the person sending the largest number of words constructed from letters contained in the sentence "GOD SAVE THE QUEEN," and found in either Webster's or Worcester's Dictionary. The purchaser is arranged to join the C.P.R. General Pass Agent, Mr. D. McNaught, for the thirty days' new passage steamer, reaching on the famous globe encompassing tour on March 15th next. And in order of merit, additional prizes of: A first trip to Europe; Silver Tea Set; Sewing Machine, Ladies' or Gents' 14k Gold Watch, etc. Everyone whose list contains not less than twenty-five words will receive a prize. Each one then 50 cents to pay for a year of the Canadian Corset Review, and six months' thereafter to the beautifully illustrated family paper. As the success of Canada's tour may not seem to make the extensive trip free, the publishers offer the option of $100 in cash, to those open to any person in Canada or the United States. Address "The Home Facinator," Montreal, Quebec. 5-52c or its equivalent in cash will be given to the person detecting the greatest number of errors, (words wrongly spelled or misplaced) in the December issue of "Our Homes." In addition will be given two cash prizes of $200 each, four of one $100, eight of $50, ten of $25 twenty-five of $10, fifty of $5, one hundred of $2, and one hundred and fifty of $1, distributed in the order mentioned to rules and regulations, which will be sent with a copy of December issue on receipt of 15 cents in stamps. Special cash prizes given away almost every day our competition closes February 1st 1891.

A $750 Cottage

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Indian River Station.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Christmas eve in our quiet neighbourhood was celebrated by a happy event for, at least, two persons—Miss Marion Elmhirst and Mr. W. H. Borland pledging each other life long love and devotion. Miss Maggie Shearer acted as bridesmaid, the groom being supported by Mr. John Breckenridge. About ninety or one hundred persons witnessed the event and enjoyed the good things provided by the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Elmhirst, at their home. The presents were very numerous and noticeably expensive, many beautiful pieces of silver ware being among the less expensive ones. We voice the entire community in wishing Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Borland much prosperity and many returns of as happy a Christmas eve.

Our little village—for such we may now call it—assumes quite a business aspect, grain coming in lively, good prices being realized owing, no doubt, to opposition, Messrs. Brown & Breckenridge and Mr. J. Duff vieing with each other for the lion's share.

Mr. J. S. Borland is now comfortably settled in his snug little home recently erected, having sold out and retired from the old homestead in favour of his youngest son, W. H. Borland, and his bride.

A very necessary commodity, in the shape of a cobbling shop, has just been opened. Parties hard on shoe-leather can now be accommodated.

Hawkers and Peddlers.

What can spit log cries we hear daily on the streets of our large cities! But these itinerant dealers who hawk their wares about are, when under proper restrictions, useful members of the community, and not such nuisances as the catarrh hawkers. This is a stubborn disease to conquer, but Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy does it. It is mild, soothing and antiseptic, unlike snuffs that irritate or solutions that burn. It corrects offensive breath and restores taste, smell and hearing. Nasal catarrh often ends in consumption. Apply the only cure in time. Price 50c., by all druggists.

The Best Spectacles and Eyeglasses,

Mr. L. Laurance, representing the celebrated firm of B. Laurance & Co., manufacturers of spectacles and eyeglasses, will be at John McKee's Drug Store on Tuesday, December 23rd, and will fit spectacles and eyeglasses to the requirements of each customer, free of charge. Mr. Laurance's special training and long experience enables him to select glasses to fit the exact needs of each patron, and the glasses themselves being superior to any made, the best of satisfaction is secured in every respect. d139-w3

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. uw

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

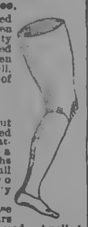
THE WORK WE ARE DOING.

Diseases of the Spine.
Grand Rapids, Mich.
Messrs. Authors & Cox:
Gentlemen,—I have had considerable experience in spinal supports, and have no hesitation in stating that the one you made for my daughter last summer is superior to any she ever had before.
Respectfully,
C. W. Mansfield.
Mrs. Mansfield has been not to one only, but several of the large institutions in the United States, where they claim to cure everything. But we accomplished, in a few months, what they after plead for years without success.
Another young lady writes, from Hamilton: "Dear Sirs,—I have much pleasure in testifying to the great value of your brace. I have used it now seven months and find it very satisfactory. CATHERINE PEARCE." This was a case of lateral curvature of the spine. The young lady is now almost well.

Disease of the Knee.



Miss L., Claremont, suffered from an inflamed knee for eleven or twelve years, with a probability of losing her limb. We supplied her with a support about eighteen months ago, and to-day she is well. We can refer to a number of similar cases privately.

Hip Disease.
Miss R., Ontario st., aged about twelve years, had been in bed seven months with a weight attached to her foot. We put on a hip instrument about five months since. She can now stand her full weight on that leg. There is no shortening of the leg or deformity of any kind.
Miss Cornwell, Thornhill, case of chronic hip disease of 2½ years standing, leg very much contracted. Applied hip splint about four months since. Leg is now straight; no pain; is going to school; will make a complete recovery.

Trusses.
We can give references by the score, but many object to having their names published. Anyone calling on our Mr. Authors or her at Peterborough or Lindsay will receive kind and careful attention. Mr. Author will be pleased to confer with any doctor on any case, our object being the welfare of the patient.

A TETE-A-TETE DINNER.

(Concluded from yesterday.)

This note she dispatched by a cab to Lornton's club, and she was not long in receiving his reply, which was somewhat gushing, as Lornton could not help feeling flattered at the apparent interest Mrs. Deerhurst took in him. He agreed to dine, he said, at the New Restaurant, and await her there at 7:30. Lornton was one of the class of young men whose chief aim in life seems to be to display devotion to other men's wives. He was really quite of the tame cat order of cavaliers, although in his own mind quite a Don Juan. At heart he probably meant no harm, and the very last thing he would think of would be that his marked attention to a married woman should in any way compromise her. Mrs. Deerhurst, who was a clever little woman, had, no doubt, thoroughly probed Lornton's character; he was useful to her in a dozen different ways, escorted her to various places of amusement in the absence of her husband, sent her books, flowers and music; and, however much her friends may have misconstrued his attentions, she felt perfectly safe with him. He never bored her with any pretense of love making; indeed he was, alone with her, rather shy than otherwise, and apparently was quite content to be her slave and execute her slight commands. Still, now that she had achieved her purpose, Mrs. Deerhurst regretted what she had done, and half a dozen times before the evening came was on the point of making some excuse and not going.

There was no knowing how the man might take her request; his escort to the opera was one thing, but dining alone in a private room quite another. True, he had always been most respectful, and she had no reason to suppose that he would take advantage of the situation. Yet sometimes these quiet youths forgot themselves, and she admitted to herself that if he should she could hardly blame him, she had certainly given him every encouragement. Then she determined that she would send to the club for her husband and insist on his giving up his friends. It was, she felt, humiliating, especially as he seemed so bent on keeping his engagement. Recollection of her husband's obstinacy, however, proved too much for her rather late good resolutions, and 7:30 saw her in a cab on her way to the restaurant. Meanwhile, Deerhurst was at his club, and in a not much more enviable state of mind than his spouse. He, too, felt that he was about to do a very stupid thing. Mrs. Vernon, he reflected, was a very jolly woman, but he saw her quite often enough without going the length of dining with her tete a tete. And a faint suspicion, very manlike, but very mean, crossed his mind that she was not quite all she should be in accepting his invitation. He, too, would have given a good deal to have been able to make some decent excuse and have put her off. He fidgeted about the club until it was time for him to go and dress, and just as he was leaving he was really more pleased than annoyed to receive a note from Mrs. Vernon. She could not come! An old aunt had been taken ill, and she had to go to her at once. The regrets expressed by the writer were hardly believed by George Deerhurst. She, too, he was sure, was only making a flimsy excuse; she had evidently thought better of the proposed breach of the convenances, and had decided not to risk it. With a light heart George dashed home in a cab, but he was too late. Mrs. Deerhurst had sent for a hansom, but the servant had not heard the address given to the cabman.

"I suppose she has gone to her sister's," said Deerhurst to himself. "I would go too, only I hate the whole lot so. I suppose I must go and dine alone at the club. I wonder where the deuce Fuddleby is to be found?"

Slowly he walked back to his club feeling very disgusted, as naturally on such nights the clubs are deserted; even the most lonely of men find some hospitable mahogany under which they are welcome to place their legs. There was not a soul he knew there and he was obliged to order a lonely dinner, to the evident annoyance of the waiters, who had looked forward to enjoying themselves in the lower regions. While he was waiting for it to be prepared who should run into the room but little Dick Merton.

"Hallo, George, what are you doing here? You look as lively as a hermit."

Deerhurst explained that a guest had thrown him over and that he was doomed to a lonely evening.

"Nonsense, my boy," said Dick; "come and dine with us. Wife's in the cab outside, and she'll be delighted. Come along."

Deerhurst, nothing loth, apologized for not being dressed and followed Dick out.

* * * * * * *

Mrs. Deerhurst arrived at the New Restaurant and was shown into the room engaged by "Monsieur Longtoun," that being the nearest the German waiter could get to Lornton's name. Lornton had not arrived, so she sat down to wait. She more than ever began to regret the foolish step she had taken. The tawdry looking furniture of the room and the chimney glass with dozens of names scratched all over it made her shudder. The waiter, too, wore an impertinent grin as he asked her, with familiarity bordering on contempt, if he should get her any refreshment. When he had left the room she suddenly made up her mind not to stop. She flung open the door and almost fell into the arms of her husband and the Mertons.

"Maria!"

"George!"

Little Dick Merton, glancing at the table, which was laid for two, saw the situation at a glance.

"My dear Mrs. Deerhurst," said he, giving his wife a pinch that almost made her scream, "so sorry we are late, but I had to stop at the club on the way, where I picked up your husband. Ha! ha! George, confess this is a surprise. You little thought you were going to dine with your wife. Come along. This is the wrong room; ours is No. 10."

George was surprised: so was Mrs. Merton.

Mrs. Deerhurst was the first to find her voice. "But where is Mr. Fuddleby?" said she.

"Fuddleby!" stammered Deerhurst. "Oh, he threw me over—gout or something, and I should have dined alone had it not been for Dick's kindness."

The party had a very pleasant evening, but one person, Dick had slipped out on the plea of interviewing the managers, and explained the state of affairs to a very disconsolate person who looked very like Mr. Lornton. Mrs. Deerhurst now counts the Mertons as her dearest friends, and both she and her husband have avoided by the leaving of that Christmas night. Neither of them has since contrived a tete-a-tete dinner unknown to the other—at least, when both have been in town together.—Lady's Pictorial.

It is more pleasure to fill a stocking than to hang one up.—Hartford Post.

A CHRISTMAS EVE IN IRELAND.

Christmas eve in the mountains of Ballycolman, in the County Cork, Ireland. A blazing turf fire on the hearthstone. In the chimney corner sat Daniel Donovan, 70 years old, who could talk nothing but Gaelic. He was twisting a little wooden wheel which connected by a passage under the hearthstone with the middle of the fire, which flickered and flared as the current of air swept through. Next to the old man sat Biddy, aged 20, with her hair brushed smoothly back from her forehead and tied in a Roman knot at the back of her head. Close to Biddy sat Mary, who had never seen a black man or a Chinaman.

Sandwiched between Mrs. Donovan and Mary sat the American visitor. The old woman was smoking and crooning, and a little granddchild with cheeks like ripe peaches stood with her golden head resting on her grandmother's knee.

The firelight danced and gleamed over the little group as the December wind came down the wide mouthed chimney. The scene was so suggestive of peace and rest that for fifteen minutes no one spoke. Then Mrs. Donovan said:

"And mebbe the Yankee gintleman 'll sing us a song?"

He would indeed have been an ungrateful fellow who should refuse such a request under circumstances at once so homely and so hospitable. And in that grateful atmosphere he felt some of the old time [illegible] come into his voice as he sang of the harp that once through of music shed in Tara's halls, and told in song the story of how two eyes of Irish blue looked up at Pat Malloy. And as he sang a look of rapt wonder and admiration came into the face of his homely listeners. He forgot that his audience was a few Irish peasants, and standing upright he clasped the back of his chair and poured out into the lowly thatched cottage that wonderful aria by Moligue, "Pour Out Thy Heart Before the Lord." He had sung it before in a massive cathedral accompanied by a great organ, and had heard the tones of his voice go ringing down the echoing nave, but never had he felt the sweetness and beauty of it as on that Christmas eve in the lowly little cabin in the mountains. And when he had finished the aria and resumed his seat, Mrs. Donovan suggested:

"Mebbe the gintleman will sing us a song about home?"

Almost before he knew it the visitor had begun, "Do They Miss Me at Home?" He reached the third line, "To know at this moment some loved one were saying, 'I wish he were [illegible]'" when he began to choke. The memory of his own home in far off America came to him. What was the baby doing? Did the children have the usual Christmas tree? Was everybody in good health? Was any one wishing for the absent one? And before the lines were out of his mouth he went all to pieces like a ship on the rocks. He was a strong man who prided himself on his cynicism and materialism. He could not remember the time when his eyes had been wet before. But sitting there upon a chair with a seat made of straw rope, and surrounded by as simple and ingenuous people as the sun ever shone upon, he placed his hands over his face, and the tears ran through his fingers and fell upon the hearthstone. An awestruck silence fell upon the little group, broken by the moaning of the wind in the chimney. Mrs. Donovan, her face shining with sympathy, gently tapped the stranger on the shoulder and whispered in his ear:

"If ye were to take a cup o' the Congo [tea] ye'd feel betther, sir!"

He took the "Congo" and felt better. Then he went outside and looking up at the stars wondered why it was necessary for him to go 3,000 miles away from home in order to make a fool of himself.

ERNEST JARROLD.

The Handsomest Lady in Peterborough Remarked to a friend the other day that she Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs was a superior remedy, as it stopped her cough instantly when other cough remedies had no effect whatever. The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders can fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by providing for investment here, and are helping to build up their own cities rather than those of foreign states.

A Grateful Reply.

The Secretary of the C.M.B.A. has received the following letter which explains itself:—

To the Officers and Members of Branch 20, Catholic Mutual Benefit Association:

GENTLEMEN,—Allow me to tender to you as brother members with my late husband, my most humble and sincere thanks for the prompt, affable, and satisfactory manner in which his beneficiary certificate has been transferred to me by J. J. Lynch, Rec. Secretary of the above branch, in the form of two thousand dollars, full amount of claim held in above Association. I would certainly recommend the C. M. B. A. to all who are eligible to become members and take advantage of the same at once. I would therefore, gentlemen, extend to you once more my ever grateful thanks for past favors and kindness. Wishing your Benefit Association future prosperity, which should attend it,

Lovely Beyond Compare.

Concerning Miss Jane Coombs, who appears in Charles Dickens' "Bleak House" at Bradburn's opera house Saturday night, the Cleveland Herald says:—Before a face lovely in its every expression, a character so endearing and a genius so majestic, the proper posture seems to be that of the bended knee. It would seem as if in no other way could we fully express our appreciation of the matchless woman who, during the present week, has afforded us so much pure and genuine pleasure. To those who have seen Miss Coombs in her varied and ever wonderful delineations of character, all other artists must fail to express in a satisfactory manner any idea of the imaginary beings whose peculiarities she portrays. The sweet and merry laugh, the too painfully natural sigh, quick changes of expression, each more attractive and wondrous than the last, the complete forgetfulness of self during the beautiful enunciation of words that seem to be the natural expression of the thoughts of her heart and worthy only of her make. "This daughter of the gods most divinely fair." Plan of hall at Greatrex's 1d

A CHRISTMAS CALAMITY.

Rice Lake Engulphs a Sleighing Party.

A Plunge Into Ice Cold Water—Terrible Exposure and Suffering—One Young Lady Dies on the Ice—The Others Severely Frost-bitten—The Gallantry of the Young Men—Mr. Ward's Heroic Exertions.

COBOURG, Dec. 26.—On Christmas morning while 23 young people were driving home across Rice Lake to Harwood from Bewdley, where they had spent the night dancing, the sleigh and horses broke through the ice, precipitating the whole party into the water. After a desperate struggle the men succeeded in getting the girls and themselves out on the ice. The weather was intensely cold, and before the half-drowned people could get ashore a number of them were severely frost-bitten. On their arrival on land they took possession of a vacant house, which fortunately contained a stove. Before a fire could be lighted Miss Elfie Johnson succumbed to the hardships she had undergone and died notwithstanding the efforts of the others to save her life. Several others of the party are in a critical condition, and fears are entertained that one or more of them will not recover from the effects of their cold plunge and exposure.

Since the above was in type Mr. Charles Harris, Gore's Landing, who reached the scene of the accident shortly after the death of Miss Johnson, states that that young lady died a minute or two after being taken from the water, and the young men who rescued her were compelled to leave the body lying on the ice wrapped in fur robes while they went to the shore and built a fire of brush to keep themselves from freezing to death, while waiting for a sleigh to come for the body of Miss Johnson. The remaining ladies of the party were taken to the vacant house mentioned, but very shortly afterwards removed to Mr. P. Ward's, whose family did all that lay in their power for the sufferers, giving them dry clothing and such remedies as the house afforded. A messenger had meanwhile hurried to Dr. Sands, of Harwood, who at once repaired to Mr. Ward's, and did all that medical skill could suggest. All were badly exhausted and chilled, the worst being Miss Johnson, sister, of the young lady that had died. Her feet are badly frozen and it is feared that amputation will have to be resorted to. Miss Whalley was also severely frost-bitten, and being of weak constitution, will feel the exposure severely.

The men, being more warmly clad and more inured to cold, suffered less severely, and it was fortunate that it was so, for had they suffered and succumbed as did the ladies, it is probable that the whole party would have perished. As it was, when the party reached the residence of Mr. Ward, the men were pretty well exhausted with the labor of carrying two ladies from the shore, and Mr. Ward's appearance was most welcome. Without waiting to put on a single garment Mr. Ward rushed out at the cry of distress and dragged into the house the two ladies, who had been carried to the house, more like logs than human beings, their limbs being chilled and their dress clothing frozen stiff. Mr. Ward then, still unclothed, made two trips to the shore, about six or eight rods, and brought in the other ladies. The sad calamity has cast a deep gloom over the whole community, where the sufferers are well known.

Worthy of a Jewel.

Mr. R. J. Winch, of Peterborough, Remembered by the Masons of Cobourg.

(Cobourg World.)

On Monday evening last the members of St. John's Lodge, A.F. & A.M., held a regular meeting of especial interest. They were reinforced by visiting brethren from Port Hope, Grafton, Frankford and other places. After going through the routine of the Craft, the Lodge presented V. W Bro. Winch (who has removed to Peterborough) with a magnificent Past Master's jewel, accompanied by the following address:—

To Very Worshipful Brother Richard J. Winch:

We, the undersigned members of St. John's Lodge, No 17, G.R.C., A.F. & A.M., of Cobourg, on this 22nd day of December, 1890 feel that we cannot let pass from our community and fellowship one who has endeared himself to us and with whom we have worked in brotherly love and affection through the different degrees and phases of our noble Craft for so many years past as yourself, without testifying our esteem for you by asking you to accept, as a token of all otion of the donors, this Past Master's jewel, which we trust you will be spared long to wear. As a man, a Mason, and a good citizen, we are loth to part with you, but trust that in changing the place of your residence you may in a financial sense greatly benefit and improve your circumstances. We will miss you much in the lodge-room, and will always think of you with the kindest feelings of fraternal regard. Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again,

Yours fraternally,

(Signed), GEO SPENCE Secretary.

Bro. Winch replied as follows:—

RIGHT WORSHIPFUL SIR, WORSHIPFUL SIR AND BRETHREN:—Your kindness has taken me by surprise so completely that I feel myself quite incapable of expressing my thanks in suitable terms. This beautiful jewel I will prize as one of the mementoes of greatest value that I possess, and it will ever recall to my mind the pleasant hours I have spent with my brethren in Cobourg. The surprise is so great to me, Brethren, that I cannot quite realize that you have deemed my services so acceptable to you, and have considered me worthy of so valuable a token of your esteem in the discharge of my duties. I have always thought myself well repaid by the kind and courteous treatment you have accorded to me on all occasions, and it never entered my mind that I would be honored with such a presentation as I now hold in my hand. I thank you, Brethren, from the bottom of my heart, and particularly for the kind words accompanying the jewel. They will never be forgotten by me, though I must say that I scarcely think myself deserving of the praise that you have bestowed upon me, and I ask you to accept my apologies for anything lacking in my expressions of gratitude on the present occasion, which I assure you does not arise through lack of appreciation on my part. I can only again thank you most cordially for your kindness to me, and assure you of my best wishes for the future well being and success of St. John's Lodge and all its members.

The lodge then adjourned to the supper-room, where an excellent bill of fare was nicely served by mine host of the Horton House. Bro. John Miller, W.M., presided. The toast list elicited speeches from R. W. Bro. P. J. Lightsburne, D.D.G.M. of Prince Edward District, V. W. Bro. R. J. Winch, V. W. Bro D. McNaughton, V. W. Bro. H. F. Holland and others. It was a grand success for the ancient fraternity.

Westwood.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

At the close of the Westwood school the pupils presented their teacher, Miss Katie Ryan, with a handsome album, valued at $14, and the following address:

DEAR TEACHER,—Knowing you are leaving our school to assume new duties elsewhere, we cannot let the present opportunity pass without expressing our sincere regret at your departure. Words fail to express how lonely we have felt since you told us of your intended departure, but particularly to-day, as it is the last and we have to say "Good-bye" to a teacher who has spent five and a half years with us. We have always admired the earnestness with which you have devoted yourself to us, and as a memento of the days we have spent together we beg you to accept this album and easel. This gift is not, we assure you, as valuable a one as our hearts prompt us to bestow, or such as you so richly merit, but it will, we hope, be accepted as the spontaneous offering of your pupils, who have for so many years been firmly attached to you in the closest bonds of friendship and regard, and also on behalf of our parents, who agree with us that from personal worth and sincerity of motive has sprung the admiration and the esteem which find their outflow on this occasion.

Signed on behalf of pupils of Westwood school,

Maggie Comstock,	Jimmie Sharp,
Nellie Weso,	Albert Gibson,
Lenora Cardwell,	Mary Slade,

The teacher made a short but touching reply.

An Enterprising Religious Weekly.

We have received from the publishers of The Presbyterian Review, Toronto, a copy of their handsome 16-page illustrated Prospectus for 1891. The Review has always been a very able and bright newspaper, strongly but not narrowly denominational, and as such has attained to wide and increasing popularity. The prospectus before us shows that it has determined to make great advances during the coming year in catering to the Presbyterian public. It promises advancement "all along the line." A guarantee of this is seen in the splendid list of over One Hundred special papers on no dry-as-dust but present-day topics, to be written for it by some of the most eminent men in the Christian Church both at home and abroad. Among those in Europe we may mention Dr. Cunningham Geikie, Dr. Parker, Prof. Blaikie, Prof. Bruce, Dr. Murray Mitchell; in the United States, Dr. Cuyler, President Patton, Dr. Pierson, Dr. Knowles, President Dwight, Prof. Green; in Canada, Principal Caven, Principal Grant, Principal MacVicar, Dr. Cochrane, Prof. Scrimger, Dr. McNish, and scores of others. Undoubtedly The Review is right in claiming that no such list of able contributors and attractive subjects has ever before been offered by any religious journal in Canada. It is rightly described by a contemporary as "brilliant." Readers of The Review during 1891 may depend on having served up to them 52 appetising literary banquets. Any one of these articles is alone worth the subscription price, $1.50. The publishers, as if determined to introduce their paper into every Christian household in the country, offer in addition a most tempting Club and Premium list. A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out upon my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places, that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentlemen from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,

H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

MANY DISASTERS ABROAD.

A PANIC ON THE ICE RESULTS IN THE DEATH OF MANY SKATERS.

About 250 Persons Lost Their Lives by the Burning of the Steamer Shanghai—Numbers Jumped into the Water to Escape the Fire and Were Drowned.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Further advices from China as to the burning of the steamship Shanghai near Woo-Hoo, in the province of Ngan-Hoei, about 50 miles from Nanking, show that the disaster was much more serious than at first imagined. The earlier advices received stated that the crew, consisting of about 60 natives, together with several European officers, were supposed to have met death either in the flames or subsequently by drowning while attempting to escape from the burning vessel. It now seems that the number of lives lost will amount to over 200, and that they all lost their lives by drowning. A terrible panic, it appears, occurred among the Chinese passengers and crew so soon as the alarm of fire was heard and the panic increased terribly when the flames spread beyond the control of the terror-stricken crew. The few European officers on board the Shanghai seemed to have done their best to maintain some kind of order among the Chinamen, but without result. The large majority of those who lost their lives did so by jumping overboard in order to escape from the flames; others met their deaths through the swamping of the clumsily-lowered and overcrowded boats.

English Skaters Drowned.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The ice broke yesterday on the River Avon at Fortobello bridge, Warwick. There were thousands of skaters on the surface at the time. A panic followed and there was a rush for the shores. Many persons broke through and were rescued with difficulty. Several disappeared under the ice and were drowned.

Rebellion in Formosa.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—A despatch from Shanghai states that the savage tribes of Formosa have again broken out in rebellion against the Chinese authority on the island and gained advantages over the imperial troops. A Chinese captain and several soldiers, captured by the savages, were afterwards found impaled and beheaded near the scene of the capture. The garrison on the island is being strengthened.

The India Congress.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 28.—The Government of India has notified its officials to abstain from attending the sittings of the National Indian Congress, and in deference to this order most of the Europeans have absented themselves. At the second sitting of the congress a petition was adopted asking the British Parliament to pass Bradlaugh's bill making a part of the Indian Council elective after the Viceroy shall have decided upon whom the franchise shall be conferred. A resolution favoring local option in excise matters was also adopted.

The congress also resolved that the age for the legal solemnization of marriage should be raised for females to 12 years and for males to 18 years, and the legal age for consummation of marriage to 14 and 20 years respectively.

The congress also resolved that the enforcing by imprisonment of decrees for restitution of conjugal rights should be abolished.

New Tipperary Doomed.

DUBLIN, Dec. 28.—The winter assizes in Ireland afford signs that the reign of order is returning. Heavy sentences have been passed on two ruffians convicted of outrage in Tipperary, and five more were severely punished for shooting a man named Donnegan. Many years of penal servitude were inflicted on two men in possession of dynamite. As juries are now carrying out their oaths, tenants are beginning to show more pluck and honesty. Every week increases the number of those who at New Tipperary are settling with Mr. Smith-Barry. Some have already gone back to their old homes in the old town. New Tipperary seems to be doomed.

Did Russia Offer Him a Throne?

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Count Franz von Sickingen of Vienna, who was recently arrested on a charge of defrauding a widow out of 16,000 florins, all she had, on the pretext that he was Russia's candidate for the Bulgarian throne and would make her daughter a princess, has presented the extraordinary defence that he was actually approached by high Russian authority with the proposal to become Prince of Bulgaria provided the Austrian court would consent to the removal of Prince Ferdinand. The Count is of distinguished ancestry, and his case arouses much attention.

A Berlin Scandal.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—A theological student named Stephen Jirgl is under arrest here on a charge of attempting to blackmail a high titled official. Jirgl wrote the official demanding 15,000 marks on the ground that his health had been injured through indulgence in certain immoral acts in which the official was particeps criminis. The official apprised the police of the affair, when he was informed that Jirgl had already voluntarily surrendered himself. Jirgl maintains the truth of his accusation. The newspapers refer to the official as "Freiherr von W." The scandal excites widespread curiosity.

A Woman Burned to Death.

BLACKVILLE, Dec. 28.—Mary Kent, aged 80 years, residing about two miles from this place, was burned to death yesterday. It seems that she has not been in full possession of her mental faculties for 30 years and was in the habit of smoking. Her sister went to the barn, leaving her alone in the house. When she returned Mary was found on the floor with her clothing on fire. In spite of the efforts of her sister her clothing was burned entirely off her and she was burned to death.

Telegraphic Taps.

Swipes, the New York newsboy, defeated Jack Brennan in a 5-round prize fight at Long Island yesterday.

The general store of F. Clark at Bolton was destroyed by fire on Friday night in consequence of the explosion of a coal oil lamp. Loss $4000, insured for $2000.

Near Fergus Falls, Minn., last night Henry Reier, a shoemaker, stabbed his wife to death, fatally wounded his son with a revolver, and stabbed him in the back, tried to kill his three daughters, lodging a bullet in the arm of one of them and then blowing himself at the same time [illegible]

BEGINNING OF THE END.

THE GLASGOW STRIKE WILL SOON BE A THING OF THE PAST.

The Freight Traffic is Yet at a Standstill, But an Improvement in the Passenger Service is Reported—Mills Continue to Close Daily.

GLASGOW, Dec. 28.—There is a slight change for the better in connection with the railroad strike. Even the strikers admit that the railroad companies are making improvements in the train services. The number, regularity and punctuality of the trains are increasing, and with this improvement the hopes of success for the strikers get smaller and smaller. The North British Railroad directors have declined to allow the Motherwell engine drivers to return to work despite of the fact that these men have tendered their submission and would be of great assistance in breaking up the remains of the strike, as coal, with the drivers' assistance, could be brought in considerable quantities from Motherwell, which is a coal district situated about thirteen miles from this city. The freight traffic is still in a state of almost complete paralyzation, and the number of factories and mills which are closed on account of the strike increases day by day.

The strikers at Glasgow and Dundee yesday marched in big processions with pipers and bands. The coasting traffic has immensely increased since the railway blockade began and many vessels usually engaged in the foreign trade have been diverted to the more lucrative occupation of conveying freight and passengers between the English and Scotch ports.

Following upon the announcement that mills, factories and docks were closing their gates, owing to lack of fuel caused by the railroad strike, comes the statement that the shipping trade of this port will soon be at a standstill, as the supply of coal available for the steamers is almost entirely exhausted. Should this state of affairs continue much longer considerable suffering must fall to the lot of the poorer classes of people, especially upon those who depend upon actual day's wages for their daily bread. Should the steamshipping trade come to a standstill here, many other trades directly or indirectly depending upon this shipping must also suffer. The steamship companies, it is understood, have ordered coal to be sent here by water, but several days at least must elapse before it can reach this port.

Sympathy with the Strikers.

EDINBURGH, Dec. 28.—At a public meeting held here to-day resolutions were passed expressing sympathy with the railway strikers. Many clergymen were present and delivered addresses. The passenger service continues to improve and all mail trains are running regularly. There are, however, no signs of a settlement with the strikers.

$3000 For The Strikers.

GLASGOW, Dec. 28.—The strikers allege that men dismissed for color blindness have been re-employed by the railway companies.

The Amalgamated Engineers Association has devoted £3000 to the strike fund.

The Northeastern Railway men on strike are being paid one day's pay weekly out of the fund.

The Aberdeen Strike Settled.

ABERDEEN, Dec. 28.—The railroad men on strike in this city and neighborhood have resumed work, the differences between themselves and their employers having been settled.

The Hull Strike Settled.

HULL, Dec. 28.—The strikers here have resolved to accept the managers' offer of an increase of wages without a reduction of the number of working hours.

CARVED HER BODY.

A Religious Lunatic's Horrible Representation of Christ's Wounds.

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—In the village of Watten in Rhineland a peculiar case of religious frenzy developed yesterday. Barbara Pfister, an unmarried woman 37 years of age, horribly mutilated herself and then appeared before a large number of people who had assembled at her home to participate in a religious ceremony. She presented a frightful appearance, being wounded in several places, from which the blood oozed in a sickening manner. Her hands and feet and head were gashed, and there were several wounds in the neighborhood of her heart. Standing before the terror-stricken assembly she exhibited her bleeding wounds and claimed that they were a wonderful example of the crucifixion of Christ.

As soon as the authorities heard of it the woman was arrested and taken to the jail. She was surrounded by more than one hundred peasants, who were taking money and food to her. The gendarmes who were sent to take her to the jail were obliged to force their way to the bed with drawn swords in order to get through the crowd of admiring and awe-struck spectators.

KILLED BETHROTHED AND SELF.

Sad Ending of Students Who Were Discovered to be Nihilists.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Tragic consequences have followed the discovery by the Russian police of a Nihilist propaganda among the students of the veterinary institute at Dorpat, the Athens of the Northern Empire. A number of students implicated in the conspiracy were arrested and doubtless will be on their way soon to the prisons of Siberia, to spend the rest of their lives in privation and misery. Two of the youths, however, determined to escape this wretched fate by taking their own lives. Having learned that the detectives were on their track one of them, after a farewell interview with the young lady to whom he was betrothed, shot her dead in his arms and immediately put another bullet through his own brain. It is supposed that the couple had mutually agreed to die together rather than endure a lifelong separation. The other young man, after exhorting his fellow-students to remain loyal to their oppressed fellow-citizens, and dividing his books and other effects among them, cut his throat with a razor. Both the suicides were sons of well-to-do and influential families. The affair has caused a great sensation in Dorpat, where there are hundreds of young men from all parts of the empire studying at the university and the various schools.

A Theatre Burned.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The theatre in Forts mouth was burned to-night after the performance. No one was injured.

GERMAN AFFAIRS.

The Socialist Leaders Attempting to Rally the Peasantry.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—The Socialist leaders issued a manifesto to-night. It affirms the determination of the Socialist party to rally the peasants around the flag of socialistic reforms. It says the life of the agricultural laborers is scarcely human, and they are serfs in all but name. They are exposed to the tyranny of capital quite as much as are the Russian factory hands. The bright dawning of the new era shall bring rejoicing to the peasants as well as to the toilers in the cities, and they shall learn that they have a right to the beautiful earth, the fruits whereof they may not stretch forth their hands and enjoy. They must be taught that the patriarchal system is the mortal foe of the agricultural laborer. The peasant proprietor and the aristocracy are becoming brandy distillers, and will make the peasants the slaves of machinery as the town workers have already been made. The poetry of country life has departed and can only be restored through relieving the peasants of the heavy burdens arising from their oppressed condition and giving them a higher sense of existence. The manifesto asks the members of the party to contribute money to assist in the rural propaganda. Behind the declarations in the manifesto which the government might disregard are practical arrangements for lecture tours, the dissemination of Socialist leaflets and the formation of rural branches, which are already having a disquieting effect on the official mind. The nature of the manifesto was known to the government before its publication, and the matter was referred to the emperor, who instructed that nothing should be done to suppress it.

O'SHEA TO HEALY.

The Captain Replies to the Brutal Attack of the Latter.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Having been advised that he cannot bring an action for libel with hopes of success, Capt. O'Shea has published a letter to disprove the truth of Timothy Healy's taunt that he bartered his wife's honor to gain a seat in parliament. The letter is dated Stalbridge, Dec. 24, 1890. The writer says: "When I was a Liberal whip I did my best to promote your (Healy's) candidature as a Liberal and supporter of Mr. Gladstone at Middle Armagh and afterwards at Liverpool in 1885. I quote from a letter from Mr. Chamberlain to me dated Dec. 18, 1890, in which he says: 'I assume that you will take some notice of the brutal attack on you made by Mr. Healy at Kilkenny, although, unless I am much mistaken, you will have no legal remedy. His statements are entirely inconsistent with what I know of the general election of 1885. According to my recollection Mr. Parnell neglected at first to give you any assistance and did not do so until he had seen letters from myself to another person pointing out that your services in the past as an intermediary between himself and the Liberal party had been of real advantage to both, and that such services continue equally necessary if it was desired to maintain any kind of friendly relations between Irish Nationalists and the Liberal party. Respecting Galway, I find that I wrote you to the same effect in January, 1886, which letter I authorize you to publish if you think it useful. This correspondence ought to afford sufficient evidence that no such complicity existed as your traducer has been base enough to insinuate."

I also quote from the above-mentioned private letter from Mr. Chamberlain, under date of Jan. 22, 1886: "In the present condition of Irish affairs it is more than ever unfortunate that you have not found a seat. Is there any chance of your standing for one of those now vacant in Ireland? Surely there must be an interest in the Irish party to keep open channels of communication with the Liberal leaders. If any possible co-operation is expected it is clear that a great deal of preliminary talk must be held, and I doubt if any Liberal leader is at present in direct or indirect communication with the Irish representatives. Certainly I find myself very much in the dark respecting their intentions and wishes. Cannot you get Mr. Parnell's exequatur for one of the vacant seats? It is really the least he can do for you after all you have done for him."

General Booth's Scheme Criticized.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The Times publishes a three-column article severely criticizing General Booth's scheme of social regeneration as set forth in his book, "In Darkest England and the Way Out." The writer of the article says: "General Booth cannot think he is to be authorized to collect by force the moral lunatics—irredeemable slaves of vice, crime and drink. He cannot expect us to believe he can compel to work men who admittedly will not work, or that any colony of such men, even under the stimulus of the lash, which General Booth is too clever to ask for, could be compelled to be self-supporting." The article accuses General Booth of a childlike ignorance of farming, and of recklessness in entering on a contract for the purchase of land for a farm colony in Essex at £15 per acre. It admits that there is likely to be a certain percentage of successes in connection with the farm and colony schemes, but questions whether General Booth is the right man to control the operations.

The editorial states that the article is the first instalment of a critical examination of the scheme by a well-qualified writer, and continues: "We do not affect to regard the scheme with anything but profound distrust. We urge the public not to conclude, in a fit of hysterical emotion, that Mr. Booth deserves to be intrusted with an immense sum of money, but wait and hear everything that can be urged against the scheme."

Disposition of League Funds.

DUBLIN, Dec. 28.—The Freeman's Journal announces that the conferences between William O'Brien and Timothy Harrington have resulted in an understanding whereby the funds of the National League now in the hands of that organization are to be devoted to the maintenance of tenants evicted for not paying their rents under the Plan of Campaign inaugurated on the different estates throughout Ireland by the National League. In addition these funds will be used to assist other sufferers who are depending upon the league for support. All disbursements will be made by Messrs. Kenny and Webb, members of parliament, the joint treasurers of the league. It is suggested by both Messrs. O'Brien and Harrington that funds being sent to the league from America should be sent to Messrs. Kenny and Webb.

Model of the German Rifle Stolen.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The German military authorities are much disturbed by the discovery that the model of the newly adopted repeating rifle has been stolen from the colonels' quarters at Munster. It is feared that it will be sold by the thief to the French.

Peculiar Accident.

PICKERING, Dec. 26.—The 2-year-old daughter of Warren Woodruff met with a terrible accident. The nurse girl while untying her shoe lace used a table fork. The fork slipped and the little girl, who was standing near, had her eye pierced with the tines. The sight is gone and fears are entertained that the organ will have to be removed. The child has been taken to the hospital at Toronto.

Three Brothers Wreck a Train.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 28.—Three brothers Dave, Jim and George Lille, are charged with placing the obstruction on the track which wrecked the Union Pacific passenger train last Sunday near Holmesville, and have made a tacit confession. All are in jail at Beatrice. The bridge inspector who was injured in the wreck died last night.

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it, and the reply will be positive in its favor. One has been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia, another finds it indispensible for sick headache, others report remarkable cures of scrofula, salt rheum, etc. Truly, the best advertising which Hood's Sarsaparilla receives is the hearty endorsement of its army of friends.

A WEIRD STORY.

But a True One, Nevertheless—A Young Couple United in Death.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 27.—A young couple who gave the name of Parisa, evidently foreigners, came to this city nearly two years ago and rented a cottage. They appeared to be wealthy and lived in great luxury. The husband recently became ill and on Christmas Day he died. The wife seemed broken-hearted. While the body was being embalmed she begged piteously that she might be allowed to lie under the winding sheet, but of course she was refused. Presently the physician missed his bottle of chloroform, and while searching for it found the young widow lying beside her dead husband fondly caressing the body and moaning, "Why could I not go with you; why could I not go with you?"

The physician gently tried to remove her, but she resisted and exclaimed: "Let us lie here together." Her words came thick and indistinct and the physician was led to seek the cause. He found she had taken carbolic acid and her mouth and chest were terribly burned. When accused of poisoning herself she said: "Yes, I must go to my husband," and with these words she died.

The story of their life was learned through the bank at which their account was kept. They were the Count and Countess Jessf. Parisa De Hochhofer of Trieste, Austria. The count's father is the head of the largest banking house in Austria. The maiden name of the countess was Mina Altof. She sprang from the German nobility, and her lineage, it is said, can be traced back 900 years. She was a cultured artist.

The count was wild and his father had sent him abroad. He stopped in this city for a little time and, liking the place, stayed on. Remittances came regularly through the San Francisco branch of the father's banking house. The father has been notified by cable of the death of the count and countess and when directions are received from him the two bodies will start on their long journey together back to their native land.

Dr. Keene, the attending physician, said to day: "It is the saddest romance I ever knew. The woman's grief was something beyond mortal apprehension."

Medical Men Marvel.

ORANGE, N.J., Dec. 28.—On Nov. 19 last Mrs. John Sullivan of Parrow-street, this city, gave birth to a baby which was strong and healthy and is doing well. Mrs. Sullivan recovered from her sickness and proceeded with her household duties until Tuesday, when she gave birth to a second child, also strong and healthy.

The Body Found.

KINGSTON, Dec. 28.—The body of the child murdered by Peter Sharbott was found in a swamp yesterday about a half mile from the place of murder by Constable Davis. Mrs. Sharbott, mother of the murderer, pointed out the place where the body was buried, under threat of imprisonment. It is said an inquest will be held to-morrow. Sharbott in jail is sullen.

A Baby's Fatal Fall.

HAGERSVILLE, Dec. 28.—Emerson, the 3-year-old son of Mr. W. A. Crozier, near Springvale, fell through a floor which was being repaired, receiving injuries from which he died the following day.

Exposure Killed Him.

TORONTO, Dec. 26.—James Young, the Leaskster postmaster, has succumbed to the effects of the exposure and exhaustion he suffered by falling into a culvert where he remained all Monday night. Mr. Young, who was 65 years of age, had been postmaster many years and served in the Township Council.

A Dangerous Mania.

OWEN SOUND, Dec. 26.—Chief Daley has brought over from Meaford Mary Miller, a young woman who was committed to jail as being of unsound mind. She has a dressmaker and lived alone in rooms. Her symptoms took the form of melancholia and she is now laboring under the hallucination that she has to drown herself to save her life, and she has made one attempt.

Attempt to Assassinate a Bishop.

DUBLIN, Dec. 28.—The Right Rev. John Healy, Bishop of Clonfert, was shot at last evening while sitting in the parlor of a parish priest whom he was visiting. The ball was fired through a window directly in line with the bishop. It missed him and buried itself in a picture on the opposite wall.

North Dummer.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A delightful and successful Christmas tree entertainment was held in Zion Methodist Church on Christmas eve. There was a large attendance. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. J. Crowe, superintendent of the Sunday school, who introduced an elaborate programme, consisting of seventy-three numbers, comprising music by the choir, songs, instrumental selections, readings, recitations, dialogues, etc. The several numbers were well presented by the children, reflecting great credit upon the teachers who had charge of their training for the occasion, and it is to their efforts and the cheerful and intelligent co-operation of the children that the Christmas tree of Zion Methodist Church Sunday school was such a splendid and enjoyable success. A word of commendation is also due to the faithful and energetic superintendent, Mr. J. J. Crowe, under whose administration the school has prospered and flourished, and who is building up a solid and, we trust, enduring superstructure upon the foundation laid by Mr. John Hunter, the former superintendent. There were on the platform besides the chairman, Rev. Mr. Power, pastor, Mr. John Hunter, ex-superintendent of the school, and the members of the choir. The latter deserve particular praise for the excellent music they furnished.

Consolers and Comforters.

Tom—"Why are government bonds called consols?"

Dick—"Because they are such a consolation to a man."

Diamond Dyes are known to the ladies as consolers and comforters, because they enable those who are economically inclined to dress well and stylishly. We know that there are many ladies whose circumstances in life will not permit them to have a new dress every few months. By the use of Diamond Dyes, faded dresses are re-coloured in any of the fashionable shades so as to fit them for autumn and winter wear, and with three old dresses any lady may go through the winter season as stylishly as if fifty dollars had been expended for new ones. The same coarse can be pursued with many other articles of wearing apparel. This, however, can only be done with safety if the Diamond Dyes are used. They will give lasting, bright and fashionable shades. Other makes of crude dyes destroy the fabric, and only produce muddy, dull colors.

Norwood.

The formal opening and dedication of the new Methodist church at Norwood takes place New Year's day, and on the following three Sundays the pulpit will be supplied by eminent divines. Rev. S. J. Shorey is announced to preach the evening of January 4th.

Mr. A. Hutchison, principal of the public school, is about leaving for Rochester, and on Friday evening was presented with an address and a Russian leather portfolio.

At the regular communication of Norwood Lodge, A. F. & A. M., No. 223, held on Tuesday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Purify Your Blood

The importance of purifying the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditted and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

Self Application of Electricity
FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE
DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT
And Attachments,
THE WORLD'S BEST

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

Horses and Dogs Which have Won Records in Various Fields.

Nelson is a very handsome bay horse, foaled in 1882, and bred by his present owner and trainer, Mr. C. H. Nelson of Waterville, Maine, who drives him in all his races. The stallion king stands nearly sixteen hands high and weighs 1,050 pounds. He has a fine, head, full eye and intelligent countenance.

NELSON, 2.10¼—FASTEST TROTTING STALLION

Nelson's performances stamp him as unquestionably the fastest trotting stallion, for his fame does not depend on any isolated fast mile. He has trotted miles in 2.12, 2.11, 2.11¼ and 2.11¾, the last on the same track where Axtell made his record of 2.13, with a very great likelihood that before the year closes his mark will be 2.10. He has campaigned and been a winner in many a hard race, drawing always about 30 lbs. over the regulation weight, for his driver tips the beam at about 180 lbs. All of Nelson's former achievements were overshadowed by his performances at Cambridge city, Ind., a couple of weeks ago. At the meeting there three watches caught the stallion under the wire at just 2.10¾. The first quarter was in 33¾s., the second 1.05¾ and the three-quarters in 1.38¼. A few days later he repeated this great performance going in 2.10¾ over the same track. Only five horses have trotted a faster mile. They are Maud S., Sunol, Jay-Eye-See and Guy, and none of those ever trotted so many fast miles in the same short period as Nelson has in the past month. His owner now places his value at $125,000.

A swift trotter and a consistent performer is Mocking Bird, 2:17¼, out of Mambrino King and Mabel A. The former is a son of Mambrino Patchen, out of Alexander's Edwin Forrest, and the latter is by Toronto Chief, Jr., out of a dam by a son of Magnum Bonum. Mocking Bird made her first appearance upon the turf in 1887 and won two races in her 3-year-old form, capturing a record of 2:58¾. At Poughkeepsie, in October, 1888, she won the 4-year old race in straight heats, her best time being 2:23¼. The remainder of the season she trotted with varying success, and was defeated by Frank S. and Mamie Wood.

In 1889 Mocking Bird won a straight heat victory at Poughkeepsie in 2:17¼, 2:19¼ and 2:17¾. She won a 5-year-old race at Buffalo the same year, but lowered her colors to Alcryon, Colvina Sprague, Amy Lee and Seymour Belle. This season, however, she seemed to strike her gait in dead earnest, and defeated Mambrino Maid three times, lowering her record to 2:17¼.

A dog that has come to the front rapidly of late is Dick Swiveller, the famous red Irish setter owned by George H. Covert, of the Chicago Killarney kennels. Although only 4 years of age he has made a tour of over 7,000 miles, met nearly all the famous Irish setters of America, defeated them all with a single exception and captured ten first and special prizes. He was whelped in August, 1886, and was bred by W. H. Child, of Philadelphia.

This year he won first and special prizes at Bay City, Mich.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Charleston, S. C., and first challenge prize at New York; Toronto and London, Canada.

The people of Flushing, L. I., who pass the residence of Mr. Fred Guild frequently behold the unique spectacle of a dog shinning up a tree in the yard. This has always been considered impossible; but Mr. Guild's pup Pincher has unceremoniously knocked this cherished idol into a cocked hat. Pincher is a handsomely marked bull terrier, a year and a half old. He is two feet high, weighs thirty pounds, and from puppyhood has been persistently trained in tree climbing. Pincher has proved a genuine surprise party to all the cats in his vicinity. The first obliqued-eyed pussy that Pincher had a misunderstanding with enjoyed a vicious scratch at Pincher's aristocratic nose, and then fled chuckling inwardly toward the nearest tree. Pussy shot up the trunk about ten feet, then turned and gave him a mocking, superior sort of smile, as if to say, "Ta, ta, Pinchy, old boy, you can't climb a tree!"

PINCHER CLIMBING A TREE.

But horror! the feline smile faded, and "Pinchy, old boy," was shinning up the tree after her.

HE KILLED THE BABE.

Trampled on the Child, then Ended its Life with a Pair of Tongs.

KINGSTON, Dec. 25.—Peter Sherbott is in jail, accused of infanticide. He recently married a woman who had an infant, called Mat Joco. In a drunken spree it is alleged he trampled on the child and then ended its life with a blow from a pair of tongs. The baby was buried in a swamp. The neighbors grew suspicious, the facts came out, and the arrest followed.

Heaviest Snowstorm in Years.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—The signal office furnishes the following special bulletin to the press: The present storm promises the greatest fall of snow in any single storm for years. Warnings were sent Thursday morning to railways in Pennsylvania and New York of coming heavy storms, which during Friday will extend to southern New England. From three to seven inches of snow have fallen to-day in the Ohio Valley. The snow now extends from Indiana to Virginia. Heavy easterly gales with snow and low temperature are expected Friday from North Carolina to New England.

Heavy snow storms are reported from Missouri, Ohio and Virginia.

Dan Rice in the Tombs.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Dan Rice, the veteran showman, was summoned to the Tombs Police Court to-day to answer a charge of larceny preferred by Harvie Clarke, the jailed journalist. Rice employed Clarke to write a play, giving him as security, the latter says, some valuable papers. This was three years ago, and Clarke says Rice has never paid him for his services. They met by appointment several weeks ago and while they were looking over the papers Rice, he says, rushed out of the building with them. He values the papers at the money for his work.

Killed by an Orange Seed.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 25.—The death by day of Hermann D. Amour was caused by swallowing an orange seed over a year ago. A few days ago the boy began to complain of severe pains in the front of the abdomen. Surgeons diagnosed the case as an obstruction of the bowels, and stated that an operation was the only hope of saving the lad's life. The knife was finally resorted to, and it was found that an orange seed, which must have been swallowed over a year ago, had swollen and then decayed and burst a small intestine. The cut was sewed up, but the boy to-day died after suffering great agony.

Suspected Murder.

AYLMER, Ont., Dec. 25.—Word has been received that Mr. Wilbur Doolittle, formerly of Aylmer, who has been living for some time at Axtell, Neb., has mysteriously disappeared and foul play is suspected. He and his wife and child left some few weeks ago on a pleasure trip to Kansas and nothing has been heard of them since. The road lies through a portion of the country where a gang of horse thieves made their headquarters and a few days later the dead bodies of a man, woman and child were found in that locality. His father, who resides at Centreville, is almost distracted over the alarming news.

Left Half a Million.

COBOURG, Dec. 25.—The will of the late James Crossen of the Cobourg car works devises an estate worth $475,000. There is not a dollar of indebtedness on the car property, and the business is to be carried on by Mr. Crossen's two sons for the benefit of the family. Each of the five daughters is to receive $1000 yearly and Mrs. Crossen $2500 yearly out of the estate. Mr. Crossen held a one-seventh interest in a coal mine at Cumberland N.S. valued at $3,000,000.

Plimsoll Arrives.

MONTREAL, Dec. 26.—Samuel Plimsoll, M.P., the famous English humanitarian, who has come to enquire into the system of cattle shipping and to demand such improvements as will lessen the mortality among the animals while on the voyage, has arrived in Montreal. His visit causes considerable interest among the cattle shippers, shipping agents and insurance men. Mr. Plimsoll will confer with the Government at Ottawa on the matter and on his return to Montreal he will attend a meeting of those interested, when some decision will be come to.

Wild cherry bark, elecampane, hoarhound, and senega. These are the remedies with which Dame Nature has supplied Canada for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping coughs, bronchitis and loss of voice. All these are contained in Wilson's Wild Cherry in their most active form, and with other medicines constitute this most reliable cure for all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Wilson's Wild Cherry is sold by all druggists. dw

A Source of Joy.

DEAR SIR,—My young sisters were attacked by croup so badly that we almost despaired, and had little hope of curing them. At last we applied Hagyard's Yellow Oil, and to our great joy it cured them perfectly, and they now enjoy the blessing of perfect health. 2w49d ANNIE JOHNSTON, Dalhousie, N.B.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK
Headache, yet CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

The Late Mrs. Stethem.

Unhappily there will be little surprise mingled with the pain with which the intelligence of the death of Mrs. George Stethem will be received by the community. That lady, after a very painful illness of some months, passed away to her eternal rest this morning. Mrs. Stethem was a native of and almost a life-long resident of Peterborough, and was highly respected and esteemed. Before her illness she was an active member of St. John's congregation. She leaves behind her to mourn the loss of a faithful wife, a loving mother, her husband and six children—three boys and three girls. The funeral takes place on Wednesday, from the family residence, "The Birches," Sherbrooke street, at 3 o'clock.

The Grand Trunk Siding.

A meeting of the Manufacturers' Committee of the town council was held Saturday evening for the purpose of hurrying on the construction of the new G. T. R. siding into the Edison Co.'s works. Mr. Meyers, foreman for the Edison company, is becoming impatient and on Saturday told Mayor Stevenson that unless the siding was put in immediately he would stop further work. He appears to think the town council is trying to shirk their part of the contract in this respect, whereas the fact of the matter is the council has been doing its best to make arrangements for the siding, but they find their efforts blocked on every hand by the exorbitant demands made for a right of way. As soon as it becomes known that the town is trying to buy property for a right of way, values jump up tremendously, and it would be folly to pay such prices as are asked. In only one instance have the town officials been fairly met by the citizens, in the case of Mr. Robert Robinson, who offers his property for $1,100. Other properties were doubled and quadrupled in price. Mr. Meyers has judged the council too hastily. He says he fears when the new council comes in no further steps will be taken in the matter at all. He need not fear. The council is composed of honest men, who will carry out their agreement every time. At the meeting of the committee Saturday night it was decided, since the Edison Company were so anxious, to build the siding from the G.T.R. as soon as possible. The committee have three routes in prospect and will select one in the course of a few days. The new siding is called for by the terms of the contract, which reads that the town shall provide either a siding independent of either railway or one from each. The latter course is the more practicable.

Municipal Nominations.

Mayor Stevenson Re-elected—Contests in All the Wards—Nominations in Ashburnham and for School Trustees.

The municipal nominations passed off very quietly to-day. In the mayoralty contest there was no opposition. Mayor Stevenson has served faithfully and well in that capacity for many years, and the ratepayers do not seem to desire a change. In the wards there was some little stir. There will be a contest in each ward—and may the best men be elected, says the EXAMINER.

The nomination for Mayor took place at ten o'clock in the council chamber, before Returning officer Jas. G. McDonald. At no time were there more than half a dozen ratepayers present. A few minutes after the hour Mayor Stevenson was nominated by Mr. Thos. Kelly, and seconded by Mr. F. W. Miller. A few people dropped in one after the other later, all on the same mission, but as the nomination had already been made there was nothing for them to do. After waiting the statutory hour, and no further nominations being made, the returning officer declared Mr. Jas. Stevenson re-elected mayor for 1891,

No 1 Ward.

FOR COUNCILLORS.

The nominations were made as follows:—HENRY C. WINCH, nominated by P. McNamara, sr., seconded by Geo. Rose.

THOMAS CAHILL, nominated by Geo. Rose, seconded by Angus Williams.

ROBERT S. DAVIDSON, nominated by Angus Williams, seconded by William Fowler.

GEORGE H. GIROUX, nominated by William H. White, seconded by Richard Sheehy.

FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

WILLIAM VANEVERY, nominated by Wm. Fowler, seconded by George Rose.

WILLIAM ENGLISH, nominated by Henry C. Winch, seconded by William H. White.

Shortly before the time for receiving nominations closed, Mr. George Rose was called to the chair, and speech-making began.

Mr. CAHILL briefly thanked the ratepayers for their renewal of confidence. Seventeen years ago he had received the nomination of councillor and he had occupied the position continuously ever since. He hoped their support would still remain with him.

Mr. WINCH also briefly expressed his thanks for the nomination, and said that he had always done his duty faithfully in the past and he would continue to do the same if re-elected.

Mr. DAVIDSON asked the electors for a continuance of the confidence they had given him for several years, and especially this year on account of what the council had done for the town, and for No. 1 Ward in particular.

Mr. GIROUX was the next speaker. He spoke at some length. He thought the old councillors had been remiss in not presenting a detailed account of their stewardship, and gone into figures. He said some of the items of expenditure incurred by the council during the past year were no more than bare-faced robbery. He instanced the $600 granted the volunteers on 24th of May and the expense in connection with the market building, which he was informed had cost about $35,000. He claim d that a contract for the whole of the building was given to a man who sat at the council board for $1,500, when it might have been done for 20 or 30 per cent. less. He was also informed the building was to be altered and still more expense incurred. He found fault with the council's dealings in this matter and said the ratepayers should have been given more figures in detail than were printed in the Treasurer's statement. He also touched upon the Philadelphia trip and complained that no explanation had ever been made of it. For these things Mr. Giroux thought the old council were to be blamed, and he felt sure the ratepayers would show their dissatisfaction by electing new men to their places. For himself, he felt confident of success, and, while asking their votes, he would promise to serve the public interests faithfully, and not individual.

Mr. JNO. MCNAUGHTON and Mr. P. MCNAMARA, sr., then made addresses against the new candidate, objecting to him on personal and public grounds. They advocated re-electing the old councillors. Mr. McNaughton offered to bet $50 to $25 that Mr. Giroux would not be elected.

Messrs. GIROUX, Davidson and Cahill made brief replies in explanation and denial of statements. Mr. Davidson stated that the new market building had only cost $23,000 and the original allowance of $25,000 would amply cover it. The treasurer's statement gave the figures. The building was a credit to the town and the province.

MR. CAHILL denied the insinuations of Mr. Giroux with reference to the market building and the Philadelphia trip, and supported the action of the council in these matters. In reply to a question by Mr. McNaughton, he said the Philadelphia trip had cost the town only $38. This he did not consider extravagance in view of the important interests at stake. He commended the council for its energy in bringing industries here, and said he would always support such a course even if it did cost a little money.

FINAL WORDS OF FAREWELL.

Rev. P. Clifton Parker Farewells at the Baptist Church.

His Last Words to the Congregation—A Retrospect of His Three Years Successful Pastorate—Advice and Encouragement for the Future.

The congregation of the Murray-street Baptist church received the last words of counsel from their retiring pastor Sunday night. Rev. P. Clifton Parker, who has for over three years zealously and unfailingly looked after the spiritual interests of the congregation, leaves this week for Toronto to take charge of the First Avenue Baptist church in that city, and his farewell sermon was preached Sunday night. Rev. Mr. Parker has succeeded in endearing himself to his flock, who recognize in him a "man of God" whose heart is in the work, and one who has been successful in advancing the spiritual and temporal prosperity of the church and a pastor who has ever been faithful in the discharge of his duties. While regretting to lose one who has been of as much benefit to them in every way, they cannot but rejoice in the fact that his abilities have been appreciated and he has been called to a larger and wider field of labor. It will perhaps be difficult to fill his place, but the Peterborough Baptists will wish Rev. Mr. Parker and his family God Speed and a still more useful career in life.

There was a large congregation Sunday night. Rev. Mr. Parker took for his text Acts xx, 27:—

"For I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God."

The position of the Christian minister was one of the highest it was possible to confer upon a man, said Rev. Mr. Parker, but it was one that entailed great sacrifices and responsibility. Paul in his writings recounts some of the sacrifices he had made while preaching the Gospel, but says he did not shun to declare the whole Gospel of God. Men are not perfect, and to-day there were ministers who unconsciously do not declare the whole counsel of God because there are so many persons in their congregations which they wish to have brought forward. Some like doctrinal sermons, some exegetical some practical, and others consolatory. But Paul did not pander to the particular notions of any people among whom he labored. Ministers to-day sometimes also cloak certain truths which do not suit some individuals; others speculate too much on the Gospel and weave around it a web of mystery and metaphysics which render the truth unintelligible to the people; others again are always seeking for something new and sensational, and so do not declare all the counsel of God. Rev. Mr. Parker concluded as follows:—

During the time I have been your minister I can say from the bottom of my heart I have tried to preach the Gospel as the Lord God revealed it to me. It may have been sometimes preached in weakness and not had the effect I desired or you expected, yet I can say for the space of three years and two months that I have been your pastor I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel as God has revealed it unto me. I have yielded to no man's opinions. I think there are those among you who, in many particulars, have not agreed with me, can say I have not tried to conciliate you, but have declared God's counsel as He revealed it unto me. I can say further, as your pastor, I have gone in and out amongst you and, though I may have sometimes not given as a pastor that diligence to my work I might have done, still I have tried to lay myself out to the best of my ability, and have been partial to none I thank you for the cordial relationship that has existed between us as pastor and people. With one or two exceptions only I have never had a misunderstanding with a member of the congregation or people outside the church in the town. Going in and out amongst you I have not gone so much as a clerio and priest as a friend. When I was very young in years, before I became a Christian, I used to be afraid of the minister, and when God revealed his Son to me, and gave me the desire to become a minister, I made this resolution that I would have very little of the parsonic in me and as much of the man as possible. I have not tried to ingratiate myself with you on the ground of being a minister, but as a man. For I care more to than as a minister. I think that in doing so the older people have loved me none the less and the younger all the more. And I think there is not a single individual, old or young, rich or poor, who would not freely approach me with every liberty and say that I treated them as if they belonged to God, and to the one Christian family, thinking nothing of their social relationship. I can say there has hardly been a single family I have not touched specially in my ministry. In some cases it has been in the conversion of your children, in some the baptizing of the members of your family into the church, in some it has been the marrying of your children, in some it has been the interring of those who have died; and so I have, I believe, with almost every family had some special relation apart from the general ministry of the word, and I thank you for the way I have been received in relation to these matters. It is amazing to think that during these three years I have had the privilege of baptizing 70 individuals into the church here, and of receiving on experience no less than 9 persons, making 85 individuals brought into the church in three years. I could hardly conceive such was the fact until I looked over the records, and I thank God with you for the way in which He has crowned our efforts with such success. A few of these new ones may not have given us the satisfaction we liked, others have done well, yet we pray they may do better. In connection with the Sunday school work, when I came we had just one Sunday school with 125 or 130 scholars and teachers on the books. We soon after opened up two mission schools, and to day instead of 125 or 130 in one school we have the central school and two missions with about 330 on the books. That has been because of the missionary work, and I am glad that the work in connection with this church and congregation has developed to that extent and that the people have fully thrown themselves into the work. And I am thankful to for between me as your pastor and the other churches of the town. We have freely and with the most brotherly spirit been able to co-operate in every good work and I do not think had we been brothers by natural relationship could we have been more attached than in our spiritual relationship. As far as the town generally is concerned I am glad to say I have been well received by all classes, whatever church they belonged to or if to none at all. But I have never had any hard feelings or misunderstandings with anyone. It is said a minister ought to be well thought of by those who are without the church, and I am glad, as far as I know, that even those who are without have honoured me as your pastor. I think this is something you ought to feel an interest in, that your pastor has been so well received by the people round about the town. I am glad to think that the town is progressing, that, as far as its future is concerned, it seems it is going ahead, and bye and bye is calculated to be no mean city. I am glad that the persons in authority are persons who are enterprising and looking after industries to establish here, and that those who are citizens have before you prospects of employment and prosperity, and I hope and trust you will understand that to be true prosperity it will have to be based simply on principles of righteousness and peace. There are some things for which I regret leaving you. I know this is my own act, and, whilst, I believe, I carry away your prayers and sympathies, I know you will ever look forward to my success in connection with another sphere of labour, and I know I can say to you farewell, in the old Saxon sense "Farewell," and that you can say the same. And now, brethren, I would like you to remember what the Apostle Paul said further on in this chapter:—"Take heed, therefore, unto yourselves and to all the flock, over which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which He hath purchased with His own blood." That is especially to the officers of the church. "I commend you to God and to the word of His grace, which is

THE CORDIAL RELATIONSHIPS

ABLE TO BUILD YOU UP,

and to give you an inheritance among all them that are sanctified. I have coveted no man's silver or gold, or apparel, yea, ye yourselves know, that these hands have administered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me. I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, it is more blessed to give than to receive.' I hope you as a church will grow in piety, will grow in good works, will grow in generous good deeds, will grow in peace, will grow in humility, and that the peace and blessing of Almighty God will rest upon you. I have no other wish or prayer than that. I may say the very happy experience I have had with you and the other people of the town will be very, very fragrant and productive of deep joy all my life. I hope the Lord God will bless and keep every one of you. And now a last word. If there be any one of you in this house that has not yielded himself unto the Lord Jesus Christ as the Saviour, I ask you as a last word this last Sabbath of the year 1890 to yield yourselves to the Lord who says, "Come, children, come."

A Valedictory Sermon.

Rev. Alex. Ball Preaches the Last Sermon of His St. Andrew's Ministry—Thirteen Years a Pastor—His Successful Ministry—Straying Sheep of the Fleck—Last Words of Counsel.

Sunday night a very unusual condition in ecclesiastical circles befell—two pulpits were preached vacant, that is, the pastors of two churches preached valedictory sermons on the same Sunday evening, something that has not perhaps taken place before in the history of the town. The preachers, as is perhaps well known, were Alexander Ball, who has ministered in St. Andrew's for the past 13 years and who preached about the thirteen hundredth and final sermon of his pastorate, and Rev. P. C. Parker, who has for three years been pastor of the Murray street Baptist church.

At St. Andrew's church there was a rather small congregation, though larger than has been usual there of late. The preacher read for the Scripture lesson the eighth chapter of St. Paul's epistle to the Romans, and selected for his text the 28th verse of the first general epistle of St. John.

"Abide in Me that when He shall appear we may have confidence and not be ashamed before Him at His coming."

The circumstances of our nature rendered it necessary that, in material things, we have daily supplies of food; it was also so with our spiritual natures. The soul quickened by grace had a perpetual craving for the fountain of refreshing, and a belief in this created a regard for the Sabbath and a desire to assemble for divine worship. A recognition of these necessities had brought this congregation together—had builded this church and had called him (the preacher) to the pastorate of this church over thirteen years ago. He had, the preacher said, always striven to have a deep sense of the responsibility of his position, but his faithfulness to his trust had been misrepresented by some in whose hearts had been discovered what was not right. There were others he had had confidence in and he drew strength and comfort. Through the misunderstanding of men, St. Andrews had, like other churches, its trying times, but by God's grace, in spite of what men might do, it had been shown that God had recognized the work of St. Andrew's and had given prosperity and growth. The speaker went on to point out that he had been faithful to his trust. Not one who had listened to him for years could be ignorant of the way of life, nor ignorant of the nature and effects of sin. He had tried to speak the whole counsel of God. His whole desire for the congregation was summed up in the text. The words pointed to either joy or shame. If joy, then his children must abide in His faith and doctrine—abide in His word, not the mere formal profession of it, but in the daily practice of it—in the study of it till its spirit permeated the heart—abide in His church, His peculiar people to whom He has promised His spirit, and the government of His kingdom, and to whose united prayer He had promised all the blessings of the atonement, of sanctification, and eternal reward and rest. If the ungathered fold which God called His church abode with Him—did not get wandering—if it is kept close to the Shepherd's tent, it then would be regular at the house of God in the spirit of worship, and they would be safe. They must abide in His; Life Christ's characteristics must be in them, the mind that was in Christ. The speaker closed his address by pointing out the privileges and blessings of abiding in Christ, and drew a graphic picture of the shame that would overwhelm those who had not chosen to abide in Christ, the closing words being "we shall meet again and who shall bear the shame?"

Among the Masons.

Installation of Officers of the Local Lodges.

Saturday was St. John's Day, the day Masonic officers are always installed, and, in the evening, a joint communication of Peterborough and Corinthian lodges was held for this purpose. Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Bible class Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

All friends desirous of assisting with provisions, etc., at the "New Years At Home" will confer a great favour by sending in the same not later than noon on Thursday. All donations will be thankfully received by the committee.

Mr. F. J. Saunders gave a very practical talk at the young men's meeting Saturday evening. The attendance and interest were good.

The consecration meeting Sabbath morning was a season of blessing. Mr. William Freeborn was leader. Mr. R. Russell and the general Secretary gave straight talks to the men who attended the Personal Purity meeting Sunday afternoon on the sin of licentiousness. The orchestra led the singing.

Rev. P. C. Parker gave a very impressive address at the "Gospel and Song service" last evening, urging all to accept Christ as once as their Saviour. The hall was crowded to excess, showing the esteem Mr. Parker is held in by our young men. The results we praise God for.

Personal.

Mr. Fairbairn and wife, of Toronto, are visiting the Misses Mills, Ashburnham.

Rev. P. C. Parker leaves for Toronto next Friday. His family will not remove from town until spring.

In the list of successful candidates at the junior examinations in connection with the Ontario College of Pharmacy, is the name of Mr. H. E. Bletcher, of this town, who received his pharmaceutical training at Mr. John McKee's drug store, and it is very much to the credit of that establishment and of Mr. Bletcher that he took the very proud position of standing first, in first-class honours amongst about a hundred candidates. The EXAMINER offers heartiest congratulations to Mr. Bletcher on the success he has achieved upon the threshold of his profession.

The Opening Night.

To-night is the opening night of the great Xmas tree entertainment in the Opera House. The ladies of St. Peter's cathedral have put the Opera House in splendid holiday attire and the dining halls are the centre of attraction—a display of edibles that would tempt the appetite of a dyspeptic. Meals served this evening and to-morrow at all hours during the day. A fine musical programme this evening by St. Peter's cathedral choir. 1d

A Shocking Accident.

This morning about 11 o'clock Thomas Blank, lockmaster at lock No. 43 on the Peterborough-Lakefield section of the Trent Valley canal, fell to the bottom of the lock striking the ice with great force. A lockgate was unshipped, and the unconscious man carried home upon it. Dr. Scalpel was at once summoned, and he prescribed liberal doses of hawley bros. teas. The cure was instant and complete. Mr. Blank was able to come to town and get drunk before three o'clock. dw

Stapleton & Kloombe have just received a supply of comb and strained honey and Fearmand's choice hams and breakfast bacon. Now is the time to prepare for Christmas. CRIMES AND ACCIDENTS IN ONTARIO YESTERDAY.

The Sharbot Lake Murder—Killed While Spearing for Muskrats—A Vessel Lost With All Hands—Crushed by a Rock Slide Many Drowning Accidents.

SHARBOT LAKE, Dec. 29.—The body of the child, for causing the death of which Peter Sharbot is in Kingston jail, was exhumed on Saturday, the place where it was buried having been pointed out by Sharbot's mother after being threatened with arrest and imprisonment. The body was found about half a mile from the scene of the murder wrapped in a shroud and placed in a plain pine board box according to the Indian manner of burial. The post mortem was held this morning by Dr. Henderson of Kingston and an inquest was opened by Coroner Mundle of Kingston.

Mary Mitchell, an Indian woman and neighbor of the Sharbot family, testified that four or five months ago she saw the child running around and apparently in good health. The mother said the child had a bad cold.

Cecilia Whiteduck, the wife of Peter Sharbot, being sworn, said that Peter Sharbot and herself were married by a Protestant minister on Sept. 20, both being Catholics, Peter saying he had not sufficient money to pay a priest to marry them. Peter was sober for three days after the marriage. The child was sick and Peter fed it with a spoon. He fed it too much and the child vomited the food. Then Peter whipped the child because of its vomiting. The third day he whipped the child with a switch. About 3 o'clock of the fourth day he commenced kicking and choking the child and took it upstairs. He hit it with a pair of iron tongs. He then struck the child again with the iron tongs. Afterwards he picked up the child and turned it over and blood came out of its mouth. After the baby was taken upstairs he struck it again and killed it, and then I fainted. When I came to my senses I found the dead baby on the floor. Peter shortly after came upstairs and asked what I would do after what he had done. He caught me by the shoulder and said: "Don't you ever tell what I have done or I will kill you." I said: "I cannot deny the baby is dead." He repeated: "Don't you tell, or I will do the same to you." Old Mrs. Sharbot came in that evening and I took her outside and told her that baby was dead. She said he was better off. He was buried the next day about 9 o'clock a.m. I went with Peter to bury the child. He carried the child and put it in the grave and covered it up. Peter was not drunk the day of the murder or the day before. I wanted him to bury the child near the church. He would not consent because the people then would know the child was dead.

The jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Peter Sharbot after being out 40 minutes.

Lost With All Hands.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 29.—The schooner Laura A. Smith, Capt. Eisenhauer, left Jamaica Nov. 12 for Lunenburg in ballast and has not since been heard from. The schooner Laura B. Winters, Capt. Winters, sailed from Boston on Dec. 7 for Lunenburg and has not been heard from. It is supposed she capsized in a squall on the 20th. Besides her crew of five men she had five or six passengers coming home to spend Xmas. One of the passengers was a lady. All belonged to Mahone Bay and vicinity. The storm of Saturday was the severest in years on the Lunenburg coast. About a dozen vessels were damaged in Lunenburg harbor.

A Railway Company Censured.

MILTON, Dec. 29.—The coroner's jury in their verdict relative to the death of the late William Harrison, jr., by train accident on Tuesday, the 23rd inst., found that he was accidentally killed, but the company are censured for not complying with statutory requirements of having a man on the last car of the backing train, and also for allowing shunting at the station so near the time of arrival of the passenger train.

Killed by a Rock Slide.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Dec. 29.—A rock slide this morning at the mouth of the new tunnel instantly killed William Auger of Bertie, [illegible] Peter Scranton of this place had his leg broken and his skull fractured. Both were workmen.

Met Watery Graves.

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 29.—Malcolm McNeill, working on the Marine and Fisheries wharf this afternoon, slipped overboard and was drowned.

A 9-year-old son of Forman Hatfield, M.L.A., while skating at Tuskett, broke through the ice and was drowned.

Only Married a Few Months.

ALMA CRAIG, Dec. 29.—Andrew Donaldson, a farmer who lived about four miles from here, was found dead in his bed on Saturday night. It was supposed at first that he had taken his own life, but it has since turned out that he died of heart disease. Deceased had been married only a few months.

Sent His Last Message.

HALIFAX, Dec. 29.—E. J. Griffin, telegraph operator at Truro, was found dead on the floor of the Belmont Hotel here this morning. He was en route home to die, his physicians who had been treating him for heart disease having given him up.

Killed While Spearing Muskrats.

WINDSOR, Dec. 30.—A 15-year-old lad named Meloche was spearing muskrats through the ice on the Cavard River in Anderson, when he fell through the ice and was drowned.

It Was Not a Murder.

WINDSOR, Dec. 29.—A coroner's jury has decided that the shooting of the Anderdon mulatto Simpson on Christmas was accidental.

Death from Peritonitis.

TORONTO, Dec. [illegible].—Coroner Johnson concluded the Scarlett inquest last night. Drs. Oldright and Spencer, who conducted the post mortem, were the only witnesses and they gave evidence to the effect that the deceased's death resulted from peritonitis, but could not definitely assign any particular cause. The jury brought in a verdict of death from peritonitis. Mr. Douglas was thereupon discharged, so far as the coroner's inquest is concerned.

Frontenac Petition Dismissed.

KINGSTON, Dec. 29.—This afternoon the judges in the Frontenac election case dismissed the action without costs, Gabriel Hugh Smith, M.P.P., duly elected.

IN TRUE FRENCH STYLE.

A PARISIAN DETECTIVE UNEARTHS A MURDER MYSTERY,

And Clears the Name of Countess de Villeplaine of the Charge of Having Murdered Her Husband—The Real Assassin Proves to Have Been a Jealous Poacher.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—A year ago the Comte de Villeplaine was residing with Mme. la Comtesse at his chateau of St. Cannol, not far from the ancient city of Troyes in Eastern France. In the prime of life, with a large fortune and good looks, the Count had plenty of life time upon his hands. As an inevitable consequence, being of an amorous disposition, he was well known among the village maidens of the vicinity, and thus made friends with Julie Berthe. Julie was passably handsome, saucy and not at all bashful. She was naturally flattered by the count's preference. Julie had a lover named, singularly enough, Aube, after the department. Aube was not overpleased at this proof of Julie's powers of fascination, and decidedly objected to its further exercise. The handsome count, however, paid little attention to his rival's ill-concealed dislike, and continued to press his suit with characteristic ardor.

These events occupied the late winter and early spring months, and May was just ripening into June, when one morning after a heavy thunderstorm had drenched Troyes and its environs, and the clouds were still hanging heavy over the Chateau Chanol, a peasant passing along a by-road came upon the body of the Count lying stiff and cold almost within the shadow of his own residence.

The police not having met the popular demand for the name and antecedents of the criminal, the gossips set to work to unravel the tangled skein after their own fashion, and, finding no other person equally interested in the Count's death, decided, nem. con., that the Countess, if herself not actually the murderess, was privy to the dark deed, seeing that she had come, at the early age of 35, into a large and unencumbered estate. These cruel rumors stung the widow to the quick, and without delay she laid her troubles before M. Goron, the Chef du Bureau de la Surete, or head of the Paris detective force, resolved to clear her reputation at all costs. M. Goron at once intrusted the case to one of his best men, by name Bastart, who took the first train for Troyes and began the quest which has just ended successfully.

Disguising himself as a hawker and penetrating all the roads and lanes in the vicinity of the ancient capital of Champagne he made himself thoroughly acquainted with the district. Finding in his rambles a quiet country inn to made it his headquarters, and soon discovered that it was also the rendezvous of a gang of poachers.

Bastart played cards almost nightly with the poachers, and one evening the conversation turned on the assassination of the nobleman. Sundry dark hints were given and innuendoes made that pieced together resulted in producing the conviction in the detective's mind that Aube, who was one of the party, was the murderer. After collecting further information that strengthened his belief in this theory, including the facts regarding the amour between the Count and the fair Julie, he learned that the Count, in his capacity as landlord, had been unusually stringent in his treatment of the poacher, who was his tenant.

Armed with those data, the detective obtained an order from the Central office for the arrest of Aube, who, with many protestations, declared his innocence. On being confronted, however, with all the evidence that had been accumulated against him, the poacher confessed that he had done the Count to death. He is now awaiting his trial at the assizes.

ANOTHER FRENCH HORROR.

Burglars Murder the Mother of a Cure and Rob the House.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—The house of the cure of Merlimont, near Arras, was entered by burglars yesterday while the cure was at church. The burglars murdered the cure's mother, aged 80, and attempted to burn her body, which was found partially consumed. The murderers escaped with their plunder, but they are being hotly pursued.

Toronto Topics.

TORONTO, Dec. 30.—William Murray, the fashionable Yonge-street tailor, is missing. His liabilities are heavy.

Policeman George Brown entered No. 8 station Xmas night and assaulted the sergeant, knocking him down with a chair. The sergeant swore out a summons for his arrest but situation is satisfied.

THE STRIKING SCOTS

MAY BE JOINED BY 80,000 ENGLISH EMPLOYES.

Another Obstruction Placed on the Track—The Outrage Charged to the Strikers—Traffic Now Interrupted Between Edinburgh, Glasgow and Perth—Feeding the Strikers.

GLASGOW, Dec. 29.—Owing to the small amount of Sunday traffic the railway companies were enabled to dispose of some arrears in the transportation of freight and coal, etc.

At a meeting of the strikers yesterday it was resolved to stand firm, and the lord provost of the city was denounced as an unscrupulous tool of the railroad companies. The Midland company is sending engine drivers north to assist the Scotch railway companies.

At the meeting in Edinburgh Principal Rainy, a reader of the Free Church, presided. He declared the labor for the number of hours during which the men were compelled to work, was inconsistent with the health and a right use of human life.

English Lines May also Close.

One hundred and fifty English railroad hands have arrived here and will be put to work on the Caledonia road. The Southwestern is resuming work, though the actual struggle between the railroad officials and their employes here and elsewhere is not improving.

The miners of Kilmarnock are joining the strikers and the latter expect still further additions.

The railroad companies have employed a large force of men to patrol the lines in order to prevent obstructions from being placed on the tracks. Late this afternoon it was announced that the secretary of the English railwaymen's union threatened to bring out 80,000 English railroad men in case the Scotch railroads do not soon come to terms with their employes. This threat has caused a sensation, as it may lead to a wholesale strike along the English railroads.

Another Obstruction Discovered.

The railroad officials this evening say numbers of men from the Midland counties are offering their services to the Scotch railroads. The directors feel confident they can fill all vacancies and declare the strike will soon collapse. A chair was found fastened to the rails of the City Union line to-day. It was removed before any damage was done. The strikers are charged with having committed this outrage.

Through railway traffic between Edinburgh, Glasgow and Perth is almost completely re-established.

The Scotch railroad officials now decline to recognize secretary Tait, of the men's organization and also talk of refusing to reinstate the strikers who failed to apply for work after to-day.

Patti Dines 1000 of the Unemployed.

CRAIG-Y-NOS, Dec. 29.—Mme. Patti yesterday gave a dinner to 1000 poor and unemployed in this neighborhood, and she also provided tea for 1200 school children later. She and Nicolini were received by her guests with great enthusiasm. There are said to be 80,000 unemployed workmen in Wales to-day.

DIED ON HER WEDDING TRIP.

A Strange Tragedy Near Belfast, Ireland—Murder or Suicide?

BELFAST, Dec. 23.—Seven weeks ago a man named McDowell, who had acquired a fortune by diamond digging in the Cape, married a handsome young woman at Kimberley, Griqualand, South Africa. After the solemnization of the marriage the newly-married couple sailed for Ireland, where they intended spending the honeymoon. In the course of their tour through Ireland McDowell and his young wife visited Bangor, 12 miles distant from this city. Yesterday the bride was found lying by the [illegible] in a bottle containing poison by [illegible]. The tragedy has created a decided [illegible] and the theory of suicide is by no [illegible] disputed. The police are reticent, declining to give out more than the facts [illegible] forth. The husband of the dead woman has not yet been placed under arrest. At the inquest this afternoon Mr. McDowell testified that his wife had complained [illegible] from his absence at night, and that he [illegible] to his hotel Saturday night under [illegible] influence of liquor. He discovered Mrs. McDowell had gone out, but thinking she would soon return he did not search [illegible] for her. In the morning as she was still missing he began an investigation and found that before leaving the hotel she had destroyed scrip worth £2000. The jury returned a verdict that Mrs. McDowell committed suicide during a fit of temporary insanity brought on by her husband's neglect and drinking habits.

Its Transfer Completed.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—President Spalding today completed farming arrangements with President Addison for the transfer of the players and property of the Chicago Players' League Club to the [illegible] Club. The consideration was $75,000 cash. The transfer will involve the return of the ex-St. Louis Brown Cornskey, O'Neil, Boyle and King to St. Louis. Mark Baldwin will have to go back to Columbus. Capt. Anson will decide on the position of the other men. It is thought both grounds will be retained.

Appealing to Prejudice.

DUBLIN, Dec. 29.—Athlone, Roscommon and Westmeath are being exhorted by a proclamation placards in all prominent places. It states that true Irishmen have resolved to support their independence and that the Kilkenny reverse is a "trumpet call for you to close your ranks and make a last supreme [illegible] against [illegible]. It asks the [illegible] confirmed by a solemn [illegible] offering of the [illegible] independence in the [illegible] promise of a British statesman. Irish history is [illegible] with disasters resulting from reliance placed upon English promises."

The proclamation asks the people to sustain the timid policy of the independent party in parliament, adding that "the people of Ireland, America united behind it, should sustain the leader who made that policy and led you to victory until now. The issue between the independent party was as to whether the people should choose their own leader and party, or whether they should become merely a part of the English Liberal and accept a leader dictated by the English leader. That would not be Home Rule. We want no Home Rule—the Home Rule for which Emmett and other patriots gave their noble lives. We were advancing to victory under a good leader. Support him and Ireland's cause forever. God save Ireland."

Floods in Italy.

ROME, Dec. 29.—The floods in Italy following [illegible] heavy snows did much damage to the [illegible] crops about the district of Naples [illegible] completely submerged.

THE KEMP-M'LEAN RACE.

Hanlan's Protege Won by six Lengths—Kemp Not in It.

TORONTO, Dec. 30.—Details have been received here of the Kemp-McLean sculling match on the Parramatta river at Sydney. The weather was fine and the water smooth. A good start was effected, and a capital race was witnessed for a mile, when McLean, who was favorite at the start, gradually forged ahead, and when a mile and a half had been completed held a clear lead. This advantage he gradually increased to ten lengths, and although Kemp afterwards slightly reduced the gap, McLean ultimately won by six lengths. Time, 23 mins. 15 secs. McLean fouled Kemp when nearing the mile post, but the umpire disallowed the claim.

Another cable from Sydney to the same paper, dated Dec. 18, says that Peter Kemp will not proceed to America, and therefore forfeits his deposit in the proposed match with O'Connor. McLean will now take a rest, and will not row again until after April.

The President of the Dublin Stock Exchange Missing.

DUBLIN, Dec. 29.—The failure of F. E. Dubedat & Son, stock brokers of this city, was announced to-day. The head of the firm was chairman of the Dublin stock exchange. The firm having been declared defaulters, Mr. Copland, vice-chairman, has succeeded to the presidency of the exchange. The Dublin Mail estimates the losses at over £250,000. Mr. Dubedat is reported missing from his usual haunts. The failure for a time completely disorganized everything on the exchange. Stocks fell all along the line. Towards the close of the day there was a recovery. Dubedat & Co. have been identified with many of the brewery companies floated in England and Ireland during the past four or five years.

The firm did the largest brokerage business in Dublin. The prices of all brewing companies shares collapsed upon the announcement of the failure. It is reported the firm's assets are sufficient to cover all liabilities. The Dubedat's had bought large blocks of shares of the Bristol, Parker's, Indianapolis and other breweries for the purpose of cornering the bears.

A Struggle of S. D. S.

DUBLIN, Dec. 29.—Vincent Scully, the recently defeated Parnellite candidate for North Kukenny, has written a letter to The Freeman's Journal, in which he says the attitude of the Irish bishops before and during the election only shows that Mr. Parnell committed a private vice, and allowed judgment by default to be delivered against him, and therefore he has been pronounced to be no longer eligible to a position of public trust. Continuing, Mr. Scully says that the Irish struggle is essentially a political and not a moral one, a struggle for leave for the Irish to manage Irish affairs after their own, fashion. The struggle is one of pounds-shillings and pence and not of the sacraments.

There Can be No Middle Course.

DUBLIN, Dec. 29.—At a meeting of the Irish National Committee here to-day Timothy D. Sullivan said the success of the delegation of Irish members of Parliament sent to the United States changed after the verdict was pronounced against Parnell, whose conduct had since made their position worse. Sullivan declared he had it from Mr. O'Brien that Parnell's retirement was indispensable, as otherwise the conference to be held at Boulogne would be a failure.

Two Patients Dead.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 29.—Two patients who were being treated by the Koch system died in the St. Petersburg hospital to-day after receiving the third injection. The first two injections were one milligram dose the last injection was three milligrams. Both patients suffered intensely.

Moslems Converted to Christianity.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Advices from Uganda state that in a recent conflict on the frontier the Christian forces defeated the Moslems and peace has been established throughout the country. The Protestants have opened their new churches, the services being attended by great crowds. Many natives accepted the Christian faith.

Closing Round the Anarchists.

VIENNA, Dec. 29.—The Tagblatt says the German government has taken the initiative onward inviting a conference to consider the establishment of an international system of protection against Anarchist outrages. Among the subjects mentioned for consideration by the conference are extradition for political murders, and the limitation of present rights of asylum.

TOUCHED A LIVE WIRE.

A Lineman Meets a Frightful Death in the Presence of Thousands.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 29.—Charles McDonal, an electric lineman was instantly killed this afternoon while at work at the top of a pole. The man had worked for some time and by accident part of his person came in contact with a live wire and he instantly received the fatal shock. He was seen by his fellow-workmen to reel and clutch at the air with one hand, the other grasping tightly the iron pinchers with which he worked. His body fell forward and his disengaged hand grasped another live wire The inanimate form leaned forward and pressed down upon the wires. Before any assistance could be rendered a most sickening scene was presented to view. A smell as of burning flesh was distinguishable, at first only slightly, but later it became stronger, and when a bluke smoke, caused by the burning flesh, arose from the man's hand, a shudder swept over the crowd. In the presence of thousands the poor man burned for several minutes before assistance came. McDonnal was unmarried, and came to Denver recently from Quincy, Ill., for his health

POISONED BY PUSSY.

A Baby Nearly Loses Its Life by Playing With a Mouse a Cat Had Caught.

WELLMAN, Iowa., Dec. 30.—A strange case of poisoning occurred near here the other day. Harry Yoder, aged three years, saw his pet cat catch a mouse. He took the mouse from her and began playing with it. An hour afterward he became deathly sick, his eyes swelled shut, and he suffered terrible agony. Mr. Yoder returned home about that time and saw that the boy had been poisoned. He gave him a quantity of sweet cream to drink and sent for a physician. After twenty-four hours of dreadful suffering the boy was saved. The doctor explained that the cat in its struggle with the mouse threw out a poisonous fluid, which the boy afterward got on his hands from handling the mouse. Rubbing his eyes and putting his fingers in his mouth carried the poison to his system. The bite of a cat is not poisonous under ordinary circumstances, but when in pursuit of prey it is as deadly as that of a rattlesnake.

Lost His Hand by a Straw Cutter.

OAKVILLE, Dec. 29.—Gulard Greenlaue, living near Sheridan, Trafalgar Township, while in the act of oiling the cog wheels of a straw cutter, attempted to brush away some dust and straw from the wheels. His left hand caught by the cogs and was lacerated in a horrible manner, causing the loss of the hand.

Trade Relations With Canada.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—In the Senate Mr. Carlisle introduced a joint resolution for the appointment of commissioners to confer with commissioners of the Dominion of Canada to consider the trade relations between the two countries.

The resolution was referred to the select committee on relations with Canada.

Elopers Caught.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Dec. 29.—A lady, the daughter of a well-known citizen here, eloped with the son of a lawyer. They went to Montreal last night and were found at a hotel there. Detective McMahon brought them back and they will shortly be married.

Out of His Mind.

KINGSTON, Dec. 23.—Billy Lawlor, the Hamilton burglar who was sent to Kingston for complicity in the Simcoe burglary which caused such excitement in Hamilton seven or eight years since, has gone out of his mind. On Saturday he was removed to the Insane Asylum. Lawlor got a heavy sentence at Simcoe, and it was said at the time that he would not live it out. He bore the reputation of being the most expert cracksman in Canada.

The French Tariff.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has informed the foreign ambassadors that the government will denounce only those commercial conventions with foreign powers that specify the tariffs to be imposed and that expire in February, 1892. The applies to the conventions with England, Austria, Russia and Mexico.

North Smith.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The 'Xmas tree and entertainment in connection with the North Smith Presbyterian Sunday school was held in the church on Tuesday evening, the 23rd inst. The tree was not open to the public for making presents to their friends, but simply from the school and its patrons to the pupils and those taking part in the entertainment; and those wishing to assist the mission schools in remote districts had the use of the tree for their contributions. The following highly pleasing and profitable programme, under the management of Miss Clarke and Miss Nettie Preston, was rendered by the children, ably assisted by the choir and friends of the school:—

PROGRAMME.

Anthem—"Lead me In".....The Choir
Distribution.....

The church was nicely decorated with evergreens, mottoes, flags and flowers, and well filled with an appreciative audience, good order and attention to the numbers rendered being a marked feature of the evening. At the close of the distribution of presents the following address was read by Miss Clark, and the presentation of an album made by Mr. Robert Clifford:

Bro. J. McEwen: Dear Pastor,—We, the members of North Smith pastorate who have with great pleasure profited by your devout ministrations for the past five years, desire at this time to bear testimony to the faithfulness and acceptability with which you have discharged your sacred duties, both as preacher and pastor. Your diligent interest in promoting our spiritual welfare and the faithfulness with which you have not only ministered but led the way to a higher life, have earned our gratitude and won our love. And at this season, when our Heavenly Father sent on earth the unspeakable gift of the Christ, whose Gospel you have preached so long, we desire your acceptance of this gift as a token of our appreciation of your ministerial and pastoral work among us, coupled with the prayer for many years of usefulness and, in the end, the eternal reward of duty faithfully done.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,
MRS. W. A. GRAHAM,
MR. M. E SANDERSON.

Mr. McEwen, in a short and appropriate reply, referred to the encouragement he is receiving in his work through the school. The meeting was brought to a close by singing "Shall we Gather at the River?" and benediction by the pastor.

Cold Springs, Otonabee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CHRISTMAS TREE ENTERTAINMENT.—The Cold Springs Union Sabbath School held a Christmas tree entertainment in the school house on the evening of the 24th Dec, and were greeted by a fine evening and a large and delighted audience. The building was suitably decorated with mottoes and evergreens, and was filled to its utmost capacity. At the appointed hour Mr. D. Kennedy opened the evening's entertainment by a few well chosen words, and took occasion to refer to the erection of a new hall, which it is hoped will soon be an accomplished fact. The programme, which is given below, was then carried out:

1 Opening chorus, "Break Forth".....
2 Recitation, "A sum in Arithmetic".....Alex. Thompson
3 Reading.....Mr. W. Malcolm

19 "Christmas Bells".....
20 Distribution of presents from the tree.....
21 Closing chorus, "God be with you till we meet again"

Among the many beautiful gifts was a handsome Morocco bound teacher's Bible presented by the members of the school to Mr. W. Matchett, the superintendent. He wishes your correspondent to convey his thanks to the members of the school for the handsome gift.

CLOSING EXAMINATION.—The closing examination of S. S. No. 16, Otonabee, was held Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 23, when the following pupils were promoted:

First Class to Part Second—Audrey Spears, Oscar Matchett, William Gilmrie, Stephen Rose, Harry Mitchell.

Part Second to Second—Ralph Frost, Bert Huston, Gordon Douglas, Ossie Mitchell, Ellie Hanbridge.

Second to Third—Lorne Brooks, Herbert Mitchell, Jenny Huston, Ernie Welch, Maud Donnelly, Mary Doyell, Fred Kennedy, Henry Rose.

Junior Third to Senior Third—Ada Rose, Annie Guthrie, Lizzie Lynch, George Hanbridge, Alex. Huston.

Second Third to Fourth—Albert Frost, Nettie Stewart, Mary Brooks, Marvin Kennedy, Lizzie Kinney, William Hanbridge, Stanley Matchett.

Before separating for the holidays Ada Rose presented the teacher, Mr. W. Matchett, with a handsome pocket toilet case on behalf of the school, and Albert Frost read a complimentary address. Mr. Matchett thanked them briefly for their present, and wished them and the visitors who were present a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year, and expressed the hope that next year would prove even more pleasant and profitable than the one just closing.

Omemee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Good sleighing, little or no sickness, and election talk ceased.

Another of our oldest residents in the person of Mr. John English and family have removed to Peterborough to improve their position, and will, no doubt, succeed as well as the numbers who have preceded them from the village. Peterborough always treats our sons well.

Chs. Deacon, County Police Magistrate, presided here on Dec. 25th, over an assault and abusive language to one of our citizens by a party who was drunk. His Worship allowed no excuse for such conduct while under intoxication, and his verdict will prove a useful lesson here in the future.

The Xmas concert here came off most successfully, and may be attributed to the very excellent services rendered by the Peterborough talent, who chiefly made up the programme. The grand Heintzman piano furnished by Jackson & Co., Peterborough, was superb, and we never before had such an excellent instrument for solos and accompaniments. The playing of Mr. Clarke, Peterborough, was something grand and beyond the appreciation of many, being selections of a very high class. Lily Jackson sang very sweetly and received an encore, well deserved, and astonished the audience with rendition of some songs that will bear repeating at any time and place. Mr Turner, comic vocalist, was well received and had to respond to encores. He is possessed of a very sweet, well cultivated voice. Omemee audiences as a general thing prefer something of the showy and gay, and the first appearance of Mr. Simons in his variety of Irish jigs, Lancashire clog, old Virginia, tambourine, &c. &c., fairly brought down the house, having to come out time and again. No travelling troupe that ever visited here had such a star. The music was furnished by W. B. Cawthorne, an old favourite violinist of Omemee.

AN INDIAN BATTLE.

The U. S. Cavalry Surprised and 50 Killed and Wounded.

WOUNDED KNEE CREEK, S.D., Dec 29—The troops were up bright and early this morning. At 8 o'clock they were ordered to be in readiness to move. At that hour the cavalry and dismounted troops were massed about the Indian village, the Hotchkiss guns overlooking the camp not 80 yards away. Col. Forsythe ordered all the Indians to come forward away from the tents. The came and sat in a half circle until they were counted. The dismounted troops were then thrown around them. Company K, Capt. Wallace, and Company B, Capt. Nareum. The order was then given to 20 Indians to go and get their guns. Upon their return it was seen only two guns were had. A detachment at once began to search the village resulting in 38 guns being found. As the task was about completed the Indians, surrounded by companies K and B, began to move. All of a sudden they threw their hands to the ground and began firing rapidly at the troops not 20 feet away. The troops were at a great disadvantage, fearing shooting their own comrades. The Indian men, women and children then ran to the south, the battery firing rapidly as they ran. Soon the mounted troops were after them shooting them down on every side. The engagement lasted fully 1½ hours. To the south many Indians took refuge in a ravine from which it was difficult to dislodge them. It is estimated the killed and wounded soldiers number about 50. Just now it is impossible to state the exact number of dead Indians. There are many more than 50, however, killed outright. The soldiers are shooting the Indians down wherever found, no quarter being given by anyone. Captain Wallace, "K" troop 7th Cavalry, was killed, and Lieut. Garlington of Arctic fame was shot through the arm at the elbow. The troops are still firing from the camp and pursuing the enemy in every direction. To say that it was a most daring feat 120 Indians attacking 500 calvary expresses the situation but faintly. It is doubted that if before night either a buck or a squaw out of the band will be left to tell of the day's treachery.

The Mythological Fates.

"Somewhere upon the unknown shore,
Where the streams of life their waters pour
There sit three sisters, evermore
Weaving a silken thread."

Lovers of classic paintings are familiar with that famous group, called the "Three Fates." Fate seems cruel when it deprives women and girls of health. But in Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription they find a cure of untold value for nervous prostration, sick headache, bearing down pains, bloating, weak stomach, anteversion, retroversion and all those excruciating complaints that make their lives miserable. All who use it praise it. It contains no hurtful ingredients and is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or its price ($1) will be refunded. b

Purify your Blood

The importance of purifying the blood in its relation to health is generally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted from generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE

ARE NOT a Purgative Medicine. They are a BLOOD BUILDER, TONIC and RECONSTRUCTOR, as they supply in a condensed form the substances actually needed to enrich the blood, curing all diseases coming from POOR and WATERY BLOOD, or from VITIATED HUMORS in the BLOOD, and also invigorate and BUILD UP the BLOOD and SYSTEM, when broken down by overwork, mental worry, disease, excesses and indiscretions. They have a SPECIFIC ACTION on the SEXUAL SYSTEM of both men and women, restoring LOST VIGOR and correcting all IRREGULARITIES and SUPPRESSIONS.

EVERY MAN Who finds his mental faculties dull or failing, or his physical powers flagging, should take these PILLS. They will restore his lost energies, both physical and mental.

EVERY WOMAN should take them. They cure all suppressions and irregularities, which inevitably entail sickness when neglected.

YOUNG MEN should take these PILLS. They will cure the results of youthful bad habits, and strengthen the system.

YOUNG WOMEN should take them. These PILLS will make them regular.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenweend Appliance. The Dorenweend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete Body Battery. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASES, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

SIR JOSEPH HICKSON RESIGNS.

He Longer General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway.

MONTREAL, D[illegible] 29.—Sir Joseph Hickson, General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, has resigned his position, which has been accepted by the Board of Directors in England. Sir Joseph will be succeeded by Sir J. Beargeant, general traffic manager of the system. Mr. Beargeant is an old and competent railway man and has many friends all over the country.

It has been known in certain quarters for some time that Sir Joseph contemplated resigning, but the matter was kept a profound secret until to-night, when the official notice was sent out. It is also announced that Sir Joseph's relations with the company will continue to be of the most cordial character, and while relieved of the care, anxiety and incessant application to duty entailed by the general management he still will give his counsel and experience to the company in an advisory capacity.

Sir Joseph will continue to reside in Montreal, where he has large interests. The necessity of obtaining a respite from work is announced as the cause of the step taken. He has been in the service of the company since 1861 and has been general manager since 1874.

There is a funny rumor in railway circles to-night about Sir Joseph's salary as general manager, but I do not vouch for its correctness, although it was told at the Windsor Hotel this evening by a gentleman, a member of parliament for an Ontario constituency and who is connected with one of the Grand Trunk's leased lines. He spoke as follows: "You know Sir Joseph came out to Canada as a railway accountant, in which line he had no superior in America. As accountant his salary was not a vice-regal one, nor has it been such since he was promoted to the general managership. Now, it is currently reported that as president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific Mr. Van Horne receives $50,000 per year. That is certainly a handsome salary. Would you believe it when I tell you that Sir Joseph Hickson receives less than $15,000 per annum, $13,3000 I understand? But he holds other important railway offices which brings him in a good deal more. I do not pretend to say that the matter of salary has anything to do with his resignation, but I have heard more than once that it is but the sum stated."

ONE OF THE THINGS
we are apt to grumble at
IN FRANCE,

THE providing of one's own soap at hotels! Permit me to remark that this is one of those things

They do manage better in France

than we do here. I am strongly of opinion that every one when travelling should carry his or her own soap as one takes one's own hair-brush or sponge. It is much more cleanly, and there can be no better providing in this respect for the hot sun and warm winds and dust of travel than a cake of which, under such circumstances, I have found very efficient in the prevention of sunburn and allied annoyances.

Experientia Docet.

Mr. J. H. Hourigan, after using Wilson's Wild Cherry in his family for eight years, writes us that it has never failed to cure coughs, colds, whooping cough or bronchitis. Be wise, profit by the experience of others, and use Wilson's Wild Cherry when afflicted with any such trouble. Sold by all druggists. dw

Wild cherry bark, elecampane, hoarhound, and senega. These are the remedies with which Dame Nature has supplied Canada for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping coughs, bronchitis and loss of voice. All these are contained in Wilson's Wild Cherry in their most active form, and with other medicines constitute this most reliable cure for all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Wilson's Wild Cherry is sold by all druggists. dw

As well as the handsomest, and others are invited to call on any druggist and get free a trial bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, a remedy that is selling entirely upon its merits and is guaranteed to relieve and cure all Chronic and Acute Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Large bottles 50 cents and $1 dw

High Time.

When weakness, loss of appetite, lack of appetite, lack of energy and other symptoms of dyspepsia appear, is high time Burdock Blood Bitters was made use of. There is nothing else "just as good." It is the B. B. B. that cures dyspepsia, so be sure you get it. 2w49d

Big Interest.

The biggest interest on any investment is that obtained by buying a bottle of B.B.B. The dividends of strength health, and vigor are always realized, and there are no assessments. Burdock Blood Bitters, the great blood purifier, costs one dollar a bottle—about one cent a dose. 2w49d

Winter Sports.

The gay winter season exposes many to attacks of colds, coughs, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, etc., which require a reliable remedy like Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for their relief and cure. Known as reliable for over thirty years. The best cough cure. 2w49d

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was obtained by best one Canadian life company. The surplus earned during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders are much more than double the previous quinquennium. The prosperity of the Sun Life is to a great degree due to its low rates of premium and prudent policies and to the confidence which Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a home institution all its profits in the business, they are transforming the business by spending the profits of interest here, so that are helping to build up their own cities rather than those of foreign states.

A Fancy Coalition.

Last evening about half-past five o'clock Chief Reesor heard rumors of a stabbing case on Chester st cet. In company with P. C. Adams he started for the scene of bloodshed, and was directed to a small house behind a blacksmith shop just east of Queen street. When the officers arrived the household was in an uproar. Men were shouting, women shrieking, children howling, and everybody and everything appeared to have been dancing a cotillion. Frank Lefevre, the occupant, wanted the house "cleaned out." Besides himself and wife and family there live under the roof Henry Huffman, a negro, and wife, and Mrs. Frank LeGrue; and Hannah Huffman, she of seduction case fame, was also numbered amongst the household. The chief was told that Henry Huffman was going to cut somebody's throat, and he had a revolver to do it with. The officers went out to look after Huffman, who they were told had jumped over the fence, and while they were out the negro again appeared on the scene and succeeded in creating such a disturbance that the screams and shouts brought the policemen back again. The women cried "he's jumped into the river," and the officers ran down to see if he had got wet. But there was no sign of Huffman anywhere, and he had not showed up when the police left. Perhaps he did go through a hole in the ice. Peace was nearly restored to the household without any bones being broken or blood lost.

Dr. Davies' Organ Recital.

There was a fair audience at St. John's last night to listen to another of Dr. Davies' delightful organ recitals. The first item on the programme was Rossini's overture, "La Gazza Ladra," in which the performer showed his intimate acquaintance with the orchestral score by his choice of organ registration, all the varied effects of a complete orchestra being developed with remarkable accuracy and effect. The ever pleasing Scherzo from Mendelssohn's Reformation Symphony (No. 5) was also noticeable for the faithful obedience to the intended orchestral tone. Rink's Grand Concerto was performed with great care and finish, as was also Gounod's charming "Hommage a Ste. Cecile"—Handel's majestic grandeur pealed forth in the grand snores from "Jephtha"—When His Loud Voice in Thunder Spoke," a number which makes an effective organ piece. Ambouse Thomas' Marche Heroique, although rather light in character, made a very good closing piece to a very interesting and enjoyable programme. Mr. W. H. Budden contributed two vocal solos—a recitative and aria, "David's Song before Saul," by Brusse, and Faure's "Le Rameaux," both of which he rendered in good voice and with admirable effect. Following is the programme in detail:

1 Overture—La Gazza Ladra.....Rossini
2 Andante e scherzo—op. No. 5...Mendelssohn
3 Aria e Coro—"Guida".....Gounod
4 Adagio Moderato.....Wely
5 Recitative and Aria—"David".....Berdese
Mr. W. H. Budden.
6 Grand Concerto in F.....Rink
7 Andante in A.....Davies
8 Cantique—Les Rameaux.....Faure
Mr. Budden.
9 Hommage a Ste. Cecile.....Gounod
10 Chorus—When His Loud Voice.....Handel
11 Grand March Heroique.....Ambouse Thomas

The Christmas Tree Planted.

The Ladies of St. Peter's Cathedral Open Their Three Days' Christmas Festival in the Opera House.

A successful beginning betokens a successful issue, and there can be no doubt that this will be the result of the Christmas festival being held in Bradburn's opera house under the auspices of the ladies of St. Peter's cathedral. The opening night of the three days' festival gave most flattering omen of a highly satisfactory result. The opera house resembled a great bazaar last night, with its fancy sale tables, its moving throngs, and the activity and bustle everywhere manifest. The ladies of the Cathedral congregation never did things by halves, and they have undertaken the three days' festival with a unanimity of co-operation and harmony that cannot fail to bring success.

There are three distinct departments to the festival—supper, sale and concert. The first is supplied in the dining room attached to the opera house, where excellent meals may be procured at any time after twelve o'clock during the day, and in the evening oysters are served. The cuisine is managed by an energetic committee composed of Mesdames O'Sullivan, Dolan, McFadden, Hackett, Cowan, Lepaute, L. Powell, T. Dann, Powers, Henry and McIntyre, and Misses Vinette and Lucy. The tables yesterday and last night were liberally patronized, and as the public are guided by experience, the present remembrance of the manner in which the festival yesterday will draw increased patronage to-day and to-morrow.

THE SALE TABLES.

In the opera hall proper the great crowd of course congregated, and afternoon and evening the ladies displayed their powers by selling the articles they had to offer at good prices. On the fancy table was a great variety of useful and ornamental goods. This table was presided over by Misses McCarthy, O'Sullivan and Cahill. From the other table radiated a score or more of young ladies who pursued the vocation of saleswomen amongst the hundreds of people who visited the hall. Among the most active of these were Misses M. L. McDonald, L. Mahoney, M. McCabe, A. Hayes, Miss McAuliffe, K. Simons, B. McNamara, D. Auchamault, K. Lynch, M. Derry, A. O'Connell, Julia Burns, A. Kane, K. Langney, Emma Timmers, Nelly Cassidy, J. Delaire, M. Dansard, M. Hanlon, M. Wyer, Miss O'Neil. On another table were two large Christmas trees hung with articles for sale. Here too every opportunity was offered the visitor to relieve himself or herself of surplus wealth. The trees were looked after by the Misses Vinette, Miss Dowling, Miss Ryan, Miss McCauley, Miss Kennedy, Mrs. B. Morrow and Mrs. Laroude. A table was placed convenient to the door where each might be converted into candy. Misses O'Sullivan, Flanigan and Lepaute were considered to be specially qualified to dispense the sweetmeats. All the ladies did a thriving business, and the ladies harvested many a dollar as the result of their enterprise and industry.

THE PROGRAMME.

During the evening a varied and delightful entertainment was presented by the choir of St. Peter's cathedral, which was rendered all the more enjoyable because of the liberty allowed the audience of standing, sitting or moving around, as might be most desired. Miss Eyland, the talented organist of the Cathedral, deserved great credit for the programme she prepared. It was as follows:

Selection.....Orchestra
Vocal Selection—"Let the Hills and Vales [Risen at"
Miss A. Dunn, Miss M. Dunn, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Lynch, Miss K. Mahoney, Miss M. Mahoney.
Violin solo—Selection.....Miss Hurley
Song—selected.....Mr. McIntyre
Vocal Selection.....Dancing Over the Waves"
8 ladies as above.
Selection.....Orchestra
Solo—Selected.....Miss Egan
Quartette "Sunrise".....Miss Dunn and Messrs. Delahanty, Mrs. Ball and Mr. Lynch
Selection.....Orchestra
Dialogue.....Bridget's Investment"
By young ladies as above.
Selection.....Orchestra

The festival will be continued to-day and to-morrow. To-night a grand concert will be given by the convent pupils. The ladies hope to see the hall filled even better than yesterday.

Municipal Nominations.

No Candidates Nominated in the Townships and Elsewhere.

The following is the state of the municipal situation in the townships, to be resolved on Jan 5th, 1891:

DUMMER.—For Reeve, A. R. Kidd, Geo. Kirk. For Deputy Reeve, Richard Crowe, Edward Hawthorne. For Councillors, Henry A. Moore, Thomas Webster, Wm. J. Doughty, Charles Nicoll, George Payne, jr., Michael Barr, Walter John Kidd and James Miles.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.—The municipal nominations passed off this year very quietly and to the general satisfaction of the great majority of the ratepayers. The old council was re-elected by acclamation with the exception that Mr. BAXTER retired and Mr. W. H. Hutchinson was elected to fill the vacant position. Mr BAXTER was a member of the council for the past seven years and filled the position creditably to himself and to the satisfaction of the electors, as his re-election amply proved. Mr. Hutchinson, his successor, should make a good councillor. His actions will be closely watched and, it is hoped, his friends will not be disappointed. The township is saved the annoyances and expense of an election and all are happy.

SMITH.—Old council re-elected by acclamation. M. Sanderson, reeve; J. Middleton, E. C. Garbutt, Wm. McIlmoyle and Jas. G. Armstrong, councillors.

A Present for the Pastor.

Rev. Mr. Parker Receives a Token of the Regard of the Young People of his Church.

The regular weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Murray Street Baptist Church Monday night, was held by invitation at the residence of the pastor, Rev. P. C. Parker, who had been asked to conduct the "consecration" meeting, as it would be the last he could attend. Over forty young people assembled at the minister's house, and at the close of the proceedings a pleasant incident occurred, which completely surprised Mr. Parker. Mr. L. Croly stepped forward and read the appended kindly worded address, Miss Morin making the presentation of a handsome silver ink stand and gold pen. The address read as follows:

To the Rev. P. Clifton Parker, Pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, Ont., on the occasion of his removing to the First Avenue Baptist Church, Toronto, Ont.:

DEAR Mr. PARKER.—The members of the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavour desire to take this opportunity of expressing our love and gratitude towards you.

Since you have become our pastor, over three years ago, the young people, not only of our Society, but of our church and Sunday school (wee all claim a place in this address and presentation), have ever found in you a faithful pastor, a diligent teacher and a kind and true friend. As a Society we owe much to your untiring labours, your zeal, your prayers and your counsel. As individuals you have always been ready to lend a helping hand in time of need, and to instruct and encourage us in our duty to our Master.

"Farewell" a word that must be, and hath been, A word that makes us linger—yet—farewell!"

We feel that we can enter into the experience of the poet when he wrote this couplet. It is sad to think that the pleasant ties which have existed between us as pastor and people have so to be severed—that friend must part from friend—and we linger o'er the sad farewell. It is only the knowledge that "He who doeth all things well" has called you to a wider field of labor that reconciles us to the parting and makes us willing to say "Thy will be done."

We would ask your acceptance of the accompanying gift, as a remembrance of the pleasant relations existing between yourself and our Society; and our earnest prayer for you is that He who hath been with you in your work amongst us, up holding your hands, and guiding you in all your ways, may ever attend you, and that your labors in the new field in which you will so soon be placed may be rewarded richly; and that through your ministry many souls may rejoice in having found a Saviour who is abundantly able to save. Yourself and your estimable partner in life may ever have our best wishes, and may long be spared to preach the Gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who is able to save to the uttermost all those who come unto Him.

Asking an interest in your prayers that we may be enabled, at all times, to work "for Christ and the Church."

Signed on behalf of the society by:

MISS M. MANN, President.
W. D. SCOTT, M.D., Vice-President.
ELLA STRATTON, Secretary-Treasurer.
L. CROLY, Recording Secretary.

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 29, 1890.

Rev. Mr. Parker was quite taken by surprise, but on behalf of himself and Mrs. Parker expressed the gratitude they felt for the kind way in which they had been remembered. They would always have the warmest feelings for the young people of the Baptist Church, and hoped the Society would prosper and be a continual power for good in the community.

Mark Street Methodists.

Christmas Entertainment of the Mark Street Methodist Sabbath School.

On Christmas night the scholars and teachers and a large number of the parents and friends assembled to carry out the annual entertainment. The spectator on entering beheld a beautiful rainbow suspended over the platform. Were one not reminded by the chilly atmosphere and snowy white outside, they would almost imagine that a summer shower had just passed over the scene and left that gorgeous emblem a token. The whole scene was ingeniously carried out, and much credit is due to the committee who had the work in charge. Mr. A. McCarty superintended it and was ably assisted by Messrs H. Acomore, W. J. Paterson, W. Johnston and George Emmerson. The presents were suspended underneath the rainbow and the effect was very pretty indeed. The programme was arranged by Mr. H. S. Armstrong superintendent of the school, and showed his ability as a director of ceremonies. Most of the numbers on the programme were taken part in by the juvenile portion of the school and they did great credit to themselves and their instructor. The Mark street school has gastly prospered this year in all departments under the able management of superintendent H. S. Armstrong and his staff of workers, and they are looking forward to still greater success in the coming year. The following is the programme rendered:

Prayer.....Mr. McCamus, Fraserville
Chairman's address.....Rev. A. C. Wilson
Opening hymn.....
Dialogue.....Quartette
Dialogue.....Geo. Dormer and Fred Agnew
Duet.....Kittie Hooper and Edna Armstrong
Dialogue.....Willie Knapp and Matt. Reid
Singing.....Eight little girls
Recitation.....Master Fred Hamilton
Dialogue.....Eight little girls
Singing.....Master Bruce Armstrong
Dialogue.....Mr. Wm. Johnston and 3 boys
Song.....Miss Ella Wilson
Dialogue.....Katie Hooper and F. Agnew
Song.....Mr. H. S. Armstrong
Dialogue.....Members of the Bible Class
Song.....Miss Ella Wilson
Dialogue.....Masters Charlie Dobbin and [Robbie Sheridan
Song.....Miss Nellie Hooper
Dialogue.....Masters Leslie Harris and Geo. [Dormer
Song.....Mr. H. S. Armstrong

At the conclusion of the programme the presents sent in by the parents were showered down to the eager recipients who were thus made happy, and wished Santa Claus would come oftener. The proceeds at the door would add very materially to the funds of the school. Amount, $22 93, clear of expenses—COM.

All are laying in their little store of luxuries, so I wish to call their attention to my immense stock of Liquors. I have a very fine Port Wine, well aged, which I am running off very cheap. Fine Ginger Wine, Native, from the finest Concord Grapes. Some special lines of very old Port, which may be considered high in price, but when the age is taken into consideration, it appears low. I may speak the same of Brandy, Cherry, Whisky, Gin, Claret, Rum, Old Tom, Sherry, J. Ball. My stock of Liquors not only being the largest, is considered the most complete of any in town. My bottled Goods consist of Clubs, Gooderham & Worts, Imperial, Old Tom, White Wheat, Hennessy, Martell, Jamieson's, Liquors of all kinds, etc., etc. W. J. MORROW 348 George street. dw

Another Great London Fire.

The Metropolis of the World in Flames—The Fire Now Raging Before a Gale—Firemen Helpless.

(Special Cable to the Examiner.)

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 30, 4 p.m.—A terrific conflagration is raging in this city, and from present appearances London is doomed to suffer one of the largest and most destructive fires in its history. A high wind is blowing, which adds materially to the fury of the flames, and hinders the firemen in their efforts to save property. At this hour, 4 p. m., (about 10 a. m. Peterborough time) all of the buildings from the corner of Bennett's Hill to No. 126 Queen Victoria street, are one blazing mass of fire, or almost smouldering ruins. The fire brigade are utterly inadequate to cope with the flames.

At the time of the Fenian raid he was on duty one night on the Canadian shore while the Fenians were across the border, and he gave them the Fenian signal that everything was all right for them to cross. He was discovered and sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Railroad King Van Horne.

The other day the Detroit News called upon Mr. Van Horne in his office in the huge Gothic building of the Canadian Pacific in that city. The News then goes on to say: He looks much like the building—massive. He is also Gothic in architecture, with an ample bay window. He would be taken for an Englishman, but is, in fact, an American, and has been naturalized a Canadian. He first showed his ability on a little wildcat road in Illinois, where the Canadians discovered his railroad genius and elevated him to his present place. There are no gewgaws about his office here; nothing but bare walls, plain carpet and ordinary desk. But there is an atmosphere of intense business everywhere.

W. C. Van Horne is the combined Jay Gould and W. H. Vanderbilt of Canada. In one way he is the railway king of the continent, for he presides over the only road which stretches continuously from ocean to ocean, and the road which has more lines of rail than any other on the continent. From his office here he directs the lines which stretch eastward through wilderness to Halifax and the ocean steamers, southeast through Maine to the ocean, north to Quebec and the French settlements, northwest to the Sault, and thence clear to the Pacific, and southwest to Detroit and thence to St. Louis. Great railway systems are modern wonders, peculiar to America, and this great Canadian Pacific system, of which W. C. Van Horne is the center, is the most vast and complicated network of them all.

THE GREAT LONDON FIRE

THE TOTAL LOSS WILL REACH $2,000,000.

Owing to the Severe Cold the Firemen are Unable to Cope with the Flames, which Spread Rapidly—Many Warehouses and Other Buildings Burned.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—A terrific conflagration, second only to that which in September, 1666, broke out in Pudding-lane and ended at Pie-corner, broke out here at 2½ this afternoon. The scene of the fire was in Queen Victoria and Thames-streets, near Blackfriar's bridge. The fire originated in the building occupied by C. Davidson & Son, paper and paper felt manufacturers and paper bag makers, 119 Queen Victoria-street. This building extended back to Upper Thames-street. It was a large structure and was completely gutted, as was also that of Adolph Frankan & Co., manufacturers of pipes and importers of tobacco, at 121 Queen Victoria-street. Old St. Benet's Church, Paul's wharf, a famous Welsh church, caught fire, its blazing steeple forming one of the most striking features of the terrible scene.

A score of fire engines were soon upon the spot and the firemen did their utmost but with little success to check the course of the flames. A high wind was blowing and it materially added to the fury of the flames, while hindering the firemen in their efforts to save property. Terrible sheets of flame and clouds of hot smoke were frequently hurled dangerously close to the struggling firemen, who met with little or no success with the fiery element. The large wholesale fur manufactory of Revillon Freres, extending from 127 to 141 Queen Victoria-street, a large paper warehouse, a number of fancy goods stores and the Gulcher Electric Light and Power Company building all fell a complete prey to the flames. The flames spread rapidly on all sides as if there were no firemen or fire engines present. Immense crowds gathered over the Thames and in the streets down to the river, where a good view of the conflagration could be had. The house-tops seemed to be alive with people bent on seeing all that they could see of the latest wholesale destruction of property by fire. All the buildings from the corner of Benedict's Hill to No. 135 Queen Victoria street are smouldering, red ruins, with scorched, blackened shells around them. All this has been done in spite of the presence of twenty steam fire engines, two fire escapes and a large number of old "manual" fire engines upon the scene. The latter might, however, just as well be in the British museum as operating on such a conflagration.

At 3 p.m. St. Benet's Church again caught fire and was completely destroyed. The firemen saved the Salvation Army headquarters. The fire finally burned itself out. The department, with 29 engines, continued pouring water on mountains of smouldering debris. A rough estimate of the damage places the amount at $2,000,000.

The weather was so cold that the water froze almost in the air and formed ice all over the fire apparatus and over the firemen. The cold also hindered the engines from working smoothly.

There was no loss of life and but few accidents among the firemen. The cause of the fire is unknown. Revillon Freres recently received $500,000 worth of sealskins, which were almost entirely consumed.

Eastnor Castle Damaged.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—While a large number of guests were being entertained at Eastnor castle, in Ledbury last night, fire broke out in the building causing a panic among the inmates. By great exertions on the part of the servants and citizens the castle one of the most ancient and interesting in England, was saved from total destruction, but a number of rare books and tapestries of priceless value were ruined.

Benzoline Factory Burned.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The factory of Carlee, Capel & Leonard, benzoline manufacturers at Hackney, was burned to-night. Several tanks exploded. Loss will be very heavy.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The British steamer Thessaly from New Orleans Nov. 29 for Hamburg took fire in the North Sea. Her crew abandoned her and reached land in safety.

The Minister of Finance to Arrive To-morrow.

OTTAWA, Dec. 30.—Hon. G. E. Foster, Minister of Finance, will arrive in the Capital on New Year's Day from Jamaica, where he has been talking to the merchants of that country on the possibilities of interchange of trade with Canada. Mr. Foster while at Kingston devoted some time in arranging for the Canadian exhibit.

The Cattle Export Trade.

MONTREAL, Dec. 30.—Mr. Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine, telegraphed this afternoon to the Dominion live stock offices that investigation into the export cattle trade would commence next Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the Harbor Commissioners' office. Mr. Smith and Mr. Plimsoll will be confronted with formidable statements and figures which will show that the Canadian cattle trade should not be summarily exterminated.

Died from Exposure.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—The schooner Lucindi, G. Potter, bound from Boston to Norfolk, capsized Sunday off Barnegat. Five men were probably drowned at once. Three were able to gain lodgment on a portion of the vessels house, but two of them died from exposure. The sole survivor, Charles Weilenberger, was picked up and landed by the schooner Lamson.

Indians Attack a Supply Train.

RUSHVILLE, Neb., Dec. 30.—At 4 o'clock a.m. to-day an attempt was made by Two Strikes band to capture the Seventh Cavalry supply train returning from the scene of yesterday's fight at Little Wounded Knee. Upon hearing the shots the troops made a rush around the reds and killed 39 of them. In response to the signal lights sent up last night hundreds of settlers took refuge here in the churches and court room. A better feeling prevails at Pine Ridge.

Blanchard and Lamontagne.

SHERBROOKE, Dec. 30.—The bodies of Blanchard and Lamontagne, the two murderers recently executed at Sherbrooke, have been buried in the consecrated ground of the cemetery instead of in the jail yard.

Coal Pit on Fire.

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—A fire is raging in a coal pit at Zaczoze and all efforts to extinguish it have failed. Four thousand persons are thrown out of work.

THE LEADERS CONFER.

PARNELL AND O'BRIEN MET AT BOURGOYNE YESTERDAY.

But the Result of Their Conference is Not Known—The Scotch Railway Strike is About ended the Men Being Greatly Discouraged—General Cable News.

BOULOGNE, Dec. 30.—Parnell and O'Brien this afternoon had a private conference which lasted half an hour. They then had luncheon together, seeming to be on very good terms.

After luncheon it was unanimously decided that only Irish members of Parliament should take part in the conference, consequently Messrs. Sculley and O'Byrne were excluded from the meeting.

It is not expected any definite information of the result of the negotiations will be made known to-night.

The conference was conducted in a very animated manner. Many telegrams were sent during the day to London by both Parnell and O'Brien.

Both parties will remain here over night. Parnell and his friends will go to London to-morrow, and O'Brien and Gill will depart for Paris.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—The Pall Mall Gazette states that Parnell proposes that his formal re-election as chairman by the whole Irish Parliamentary party shall precede his withdrawal from the chairmanship until the next general election is held.

THE STRIKE PRACTICALLY OVER.

Striking Scotchmen are Discouraged—Traffic Improving—A Serious Assault.

GLASGOW, Dec. 30.—The railroad strike situation continues to improve from the standpoint of the railroads. The strikers are evidently discouraged. The North British Co. is slowly but surely re-opening its closed routes, and the passenger and freight traffic is improving hourly. The strikers' pickets to-day seriously assaulted two of the English laborers who were going to work on the Caledonian road. The railroad officials announce that so far as the Caledonian is concerned the strike is ended. The Glasgow & Southwestern Railroad has reinstated many of its men, and this action is thought likely to cause a stampede of the strikers.

The North British Railroad Company has sent a message to the Midland Company asking for further assistance during the strike on the North British road.

To-night the outlook for the railroad strikers is very gloomy. The defection in their ranks is spreading rapidly, while the railway service is gradually assuming its normal condition. There is every prospect that the strike will soon collapse.

SIMON THE SPECULATOR.

Turns Out to be Chief of a European Band of Robbers.

DRESDEN, Dec. 30.—A man named Simon has been arrested at Leschenitz, Silesia, where he owned a handsome villa and lived in great style, his neighbors supposing him to be a wealthy stock speculator. In Simons' villa evidence was secured which shows he was the head of a large secret society of robbers having agents in London, Berlin, Altona and Vienna. Simon's agent in Vienna was recently arrested as he was trying to sell bonds stolen from a passenger on the Paris-Brussels Railroad. This arrest led to Simons' arrest and may result in the capture of the rest of the gang.

Severe Weather in Europe.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The weather now prevailing throughout England is the severest experienced in this country since 1813. In London to-day the thermometer registered 10 degrees above zero. The river Humber is wholly frozen over and the Thames partially so. On the Continent the weather is equally severe.

A Draconian Home Secretary.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Home Secretary Matthews has been in consultation with the magistrates of Lancashire in regard to the establishment of the whipping post as a penalty for the crime commonly called "scuttling," or running amuck, which is becoming alarmingly frequent in towns of Northwestern England. The proposal by law is said to be inadequate as a deterrent.

The Indian Conference.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 31.—At to-day's session of the Indian conference it was decided to send a hundred native delegates to hold a conference in London. The object of this is to prove before the English public the fitness of the natives of India to be treated as fellow-citizens by the British.

The Exodus of Poles.

BERLIN, Dec. 31.—The movement among the Polish inhabitants of Posen in the direction of founding Polish colonies in Brazil is immensely increasing, and thousands are preparing to emigrate to that country. The police have arrested two Dutch emigration agents at Strelina. The magistrates in Posen have issued a notice announcing that the North German Lloyd's Company will convey no more German subjects to Brazil.

A Bark Founders.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The Australian bark, Capt. Fellich, from Kingston, Ja., Sept. 19, for Trieste has foundered at Paraino on the north coast of Sicily. Four of the crew were drowned.

Not So Bad as Painted.

HAMILTON, Dec. 30.—"The irregularities in the U.S. consular agencies in Canada, about which so much rumor is being made by the papers, are not nearly as serious as reported," said Col. Monaghan, U.S. consul in this city. "It was declared by The New York Herald that our Federal Government has lost a million by the dishonest returns of the consuls. This is a great exaggeration. It is also a mistake that the irregularities are altogether the result of roguery; they are largely caused by ignorance or carelessness of consular procedure on the part of the youths who are employed as agents at various unimportant points in Canada. They are too ready to accept the shipper's own valuation of his goods, and consequently exports from this country to the United States are sometimes undervalued. But this only applies to goods upon which there is an ad valorem duty, and even in these cases, of course, the U.S. customs authorities' regulations afford a pretty good check against the swindling of Uncle Sam. I had a talk with the consular inspector, who was here recently, and I know from what he told me that these reports are greatly exaggerated."

New arrangements have been made and articles have been signed by the pugilist Slavin according to which he agrees to box with Corbett before the California Athletic Club for a stake of $5,000 provided he be allowed $1,000 for expenses.

GUN AND TOMAHAWK.

DETAILS OF THE TREACHERY OF THE INDIANS.

They Mass Into the Troops at Short Range—53 Soldiers Killed and 94 Indians—They Capture a Supply Train Are Attacked and 30 Wounded.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 30.—The Bee has the following from its staff correspondent's camp on Wounded Knee Creek, S.D., Dec. 29, via Rushville, Neb.: At 8 o'clock this morning Gen. Forsythe issued orders to have the 150 male Indians, who had been prisoners, called from the tepees, saying that he wanted to talk to them. They obeyed slowly and sullenly and ranged in a semicircle in front of the tent, where Big Foot, their chief, lay sick with pneumonia. After the tepees had been searched and 60 guns found an order was given to search the warriors.

All thought of trouble was evidently wholly out of the minds of the soldiers. A dozen of the warriors had been searched, when, like a flash, all the rest of them jerked their guns from under their blankets and began pouring bullets into the ranks of the soldiers, who a few moments before had moved up within almost gun length. Those Indians who had no guns rushed on the soldiers with tomahawk in one hand and scalping-knife in the other.

Their first volley was almost as if fired by one man, so that they must have fired a hundred shots before the soldiers fired one; but, oh, how they were slaughtered after their first volley! Some, however, succeeded in getting through the line and away to the small hills to the southwest. Father Crafts, a Catholic priest, was mortally wounded in the lungs. Many of the wounded will die. Capt. Wallace was tomahawked squarely in the forehead. Lieut. Kenzie received but a slight wound in the cord of the ankle. Over one hundred Indians were killed.

Twenty-Five Soldiers Killed.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 31.—Gen. Forsythe reached Pine Ridge agency this morning with the Seventh Cavalry and the surviving prisoners. He reports 25 of his men killed and 34 wounded in the fight on the Porcupine yesterday. Gen. Brooke has since the fight revoked his order for trains to carry prisoners south under guard. There is only a remnant left.

The Band Almost Annihilated.

OMAHA, Oct. 30.—The Bee's correspondent at the camp on Wounded Knee Creek telegraphs as follows concerning yesterday's battle: "The military not anticipating that the Indians would fire on them, had gathered in very close and the first firing was terribly disastrous to them. The reply was immediate, however.

The soldiers, maddened at the sight of their falling comrades, hardly awaited the command, and in a moment the whole front was a sheet of fire, above which smoke rolled, obscuring the central scene from view. Through this horrible curtain single Indians could be seen at times flying before the fire, but after the first discharge from the carbines of the troops there were few of them left. They fell on all sides like grain in the course of the scythe. Indians and soldiers lay together, and the wounded fought on the ground. Off towards the bluffs the few remaining warriors fled, turning occasionally to fire but evidently caring more for escape than battle. Only the wounded Indians seemed possessed of the courage of devils. From the ground where they had fallen they continued to fire until their ammunition was gone or until killed by soldiers. Both sides forget everthing except only the loading and discharging of guns. Tactics were almost abandoned, about the only tactics was to kill while it could be done, wherever an Indian could be seen. Down into the creek and up over the bar hills they were followed by artillery and musketry fire and for several minutes the engagement went on until not a live Indian was in sight.

The Bee's special from Rushville, Neb., says: Advices from the seat of war gives the news of another encounter between Indians at a point within 4 miles of the agency. The Seventh and Ninth Cavalry were just coming in from yesterday's battlefield followed at some distance by their provision train. On reaching a point named a large body of Indians, headed by Chief Two Strike, dashed suddenly upon the train, captured it, and were making off toward the Bad Lands when the cavalry wheeled and gave pursuit. In the battle which followed over 30 Indians were wounded but no soldiers were killed. Two Strike's Indians had yesterday been considered peaceable and subdued but their sudden change of mind causes grave fears as to the other friendly Indians. However, word from Gen. Brooke is reassuring it being that a great body of the Indians have remained loyal all through and that nearly all the rebels are dead. He further says the settlers are not now in danger. Col. Henry is now approaching the agency with 700 Indians captured on the Bad Lands.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—General Schofield this afternoon received a despatch from General Miles dated Hermosa, S. D., Dec. 30, as follows: "General Brooke telegraphs as follows: 'Col. Forsythe says 82 dead Indian men were counted on the plain where the attempt was made to disarm Big Foot's band and where fight began. On other parts of the ground there were 18 more. These do not include those killed in ravines, where dead warriors were seen but not counted. Six were brought in badly wounded and six others were with a party of 23 men and women, which Capt. Jackson had taking to the agency. This accounts for all the Indians except a few who have since come in and others known to be still alive and unhurt. The women and children broke for the hills when the fight commenced and comparatively few of them were hurt and few brought in. Thirty-nine are here, of which number 21 were wounded. Had it not been for the attack by the Brules an accurate count would have been made; but the ravines were not searched afterwards. I think this shows very little apprehension from Big Foot's band in the future. A party of 40 is reported as held by the scouts at the head of Mexican Creek. These consist of all sizes, and the cavalry from Rosebud will bring them in if it is true.

(Signed) JOHN R. BROOKE.

The Indians under Big Foot were among the most desperate. There were 38 of the remainder of Sitting Bull's following that joined Big Foot on the Cheyenne River and 30 that broke away from Humps following when he took his band and Sitting Bull's Indians to Fort Sennet, making in all nearly 100 warriors. Before leaving their camps on the Cheyenne river they cut their harness, mutilated their wagons and started south for the Bad Lands, evidently intending not to return but to go to war. Troops were placed between them and Bad Lands and they never succeeded in joining the hostiles there. All their movements were intercepted and their severs lost at the hands of the 7th Cavalry may be a whole some lesson to the other Sioux.

(Signed) MILES.

General Schofield said the fight was a most unfortunate occurrence, but he did not see how it could have been avoided. He went on to say he had received a telegram to Gen Miles saying he regarded the news received from him as still encouraging, and expressing the opinion that the Sioux would be master of the situation very soon. He also expressed his thanks to the officers and men of the 7th cavalry for the gallant conduct displayed by them.

'TWAS VERY SAD INDEED.

Terrible Death of a Frisconian While on the Way to Claim His Bride.

TORONTO, Dec. 30.—John G. Balkwill, a San Francisco merchant, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Montreal, where he has some relatives whom he is anxious to see. He was seen in one of the corridors of the Queen's Hotel in the afternoon, and related the details of a romantically sad experience which he accidentally ran across when near Chicago.

"When we left San Francisco," he said, "there was on board the train a young man named Henry Hapgood, wealthy and well connected, who was bound to Chicago, where he was to be married on Christmas day to a Miss Lynch. The journey passed without incident until we reached Hutchinson, Kan., about 8 o'clock on Christmas Eve. Mr. Hapgood, like the rest of us, was tired out by his long journey, and when we reached that place he to walk about for a few minutes. Unthinkingly he went some distance away. Turning to go back he observed that the train had started, and he began to run. When he reached the cars the train was going fast, and in attempting to get aboard he missed his footing and slipped. He hung desperately to the railing of the car, shouting at the top of his voice for assistance. The noise of the train as it fairly flew along, drowned his cries, and the passengers and brakemen were ignorant of his perilous position. I happened to [illegible] on the platform, and was at once attracted by his cries. I immediately tried to grasp Mr. Hapgood's hands, but before I could reach him he released his grip and was hurled to the ground. The steps [illegible] caught his clothes and he was dragged [illegible] the wheels. Before the train could be stopped his body had been crushed and mutilated beyond recognition, and was [illegible] torn limb from limb. I went back with the body to Hutchinson, where I telegraphed to his friends in Chicago. The remains were carefully dressed, and were brought to Chicago early Saturday morning. I shall never forget the scene I witnessed when Mr. Lynch's home. The mutilated corpse was brought to Mr. Lynch's home. The poor girl's grief was uncontrollable, and she fairly sank under it.

Between Her Choking Sobs

she exclaimed in a manner that was heartrending: "Henry! Henry, come back to me! I afterwards learned that everything had been prepared for the wedding, the friends invited the house decorated and the elaborate wedding supper ordered, and Mr. Hapgood and Miss Lynch would now have been a happy [illegible] and wife had the terrible accident occurred. The deceased was a native of [illegible] England, where his parents now reside. It will be a long time, however, before Miss Lynch recovers from the terrible shock."

Died in Jail.

OWEN SOUND, Dec. 26.—Thomas Hinds, an old resident of this place, died in jail where he was committed for 3 months in September last as a vagrant, being in ill-health and straitened circumstances. His term would have expired on the 15th inst. His age as given in the jail register is 76. He came here some time in the forties from Guelph.

Another Crossing Victim.

ORILLIA, Dec. 30.—This morning at 10.30, as Mr. E. L. Law of Victoria Harbor with a young child named Herbert Pue, was driving across the track a quarter of a mile east of that place he was struck by a freight train and killed. The child was not injured. The cutter was demolished and the horse was badly cut up.

Charged With Embezzlement.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 30.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Horace G. Osborne on a charge of embezzling $1500 belonging to the Belleville Milk Company, of which he was manager. He was a member of West Belleville Methodist Church and was superintendent of the Sunday school.

Personal Liberty on Personal Slavery.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from Scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which disarms the hands of disease, gives health and purest physical liberty.

THE OLD YEAR AND THE NEW.

The business practice of making a retrospect of the operations of the past year is not inapplicable to a town, and a glance at the manner in which the past year has dealt with Peterborough reveals considerable of what is gratifying and regrettable. Of course our business men have not yet balanced their books for the past year, but their general experience enables them to form some opinion of the comparative success of the year that ends to-day. Upon this subject there is a diversity of opinion. Some claim that they have done as well (a few say better) than last year. But the majority have no very encouraging report to make and some assert that business is absolutely bad. The general report is that while individual customers have not decreased, the volume of business done shows a great falling off—purchases were represented by smaller lots and cheaper grades of goods. Even those who report a favorable year say that the business has been done on a much narrower margin of profit. Altogether it cannot be said that the state of trade has been good, that is, for Peterborough, for dull times in this town might be prosperity to some other places. Some few business men, owing to exceptional circumstances, may have done better than formerly; they have had less opposition, for not a few have gone to the wall, but our failures have been, fortunately, for small amounts. But against the depression in trade are to be set some decided gains. The important addition to our manufacturing industries is a matter of congratulation and one feather at least in the cap of the old council, and a credit to the judgment of the people who endorsed the efforts of the council for the establishment of the Edison Company here, and in addition to this, it is gratifying to state that our other chief manufactories have been prosperous and have been strengthened and expanded the past year. In connection, might be mentioned the building trade, which was almost at a standstill the greater part of the year, but about December first a very tidy little boom in building set in. The large bulk of the building was begun late, and this circumstance will give carpenters and plasterers work during the winter, while bricklayers and stonemasons find employment at the Edison works. Our municipal affairs are in a pretty fair condition; our school interests shew a decided improvement over last year. We are now fairly well equipped with buildings. The Collegiate Institute, in particular, has taken great strides forward. The elements of discord have given place to harmony, and discipline and a most efficient teaching staff have enlisted the public sympathy, respect and confidence. Our churches may in some respects, perhaps, too literally, have earned the title of the church mi itant, yet there is fairly satisfactory progress to report. Having general regard to all the circumstances of our condition, material and otherwise, there is not only no cause for despair, but considerable reason to thank God, to take courage, and to face the future hopefully, with a determination not to submit to trifling discouragements, but to wrest success from the most adverse conditions. Facing the future in this spirit, reverently trusting in God, and backing our trust with honest, ...we cast a hopeful light on our best to give effect to the desire for a prosperous future. The EXAMINER, thankful for its share in the general prosperity and grateful to its kind patrons, whose steady and cherished support has shown increasing strength, has much pleasure in wishing its thousands of readers and the general public a happy and prosperous New Year.

Miss Cumming, the teacher, being about to resign her position, the children presented her with the following address read by Miss Jessie Campbell:—

Miss L. C. Cumming:—

DEAR TEACHER AND FRIEND.—We the pupils of S. S. No. 1, North Monaghan, desire to manifest our love to you for the kindness you have always shown to us and for the patient and gentle manner in which you directed our studies.

We regret very much to part with you, but wherever you may be, we shall never forget the untiring interest you took in us, not only in our temporal but also in our spiritual welfare.

As a slight token of our love for you, we would ask you to accept the accompanying gift, trusting that you may long be spared to sow the good seed of the Word.

Signed on behalf of the school,
JESSIE CAMPBELL, SADIE YOUNG,
EMMA GALLOWAY, MINNIE LILLICO,
ELLA PATTEY.

Miss Cumming though greatly surprised, made a suitable and feeling reply. Miss Cumming was greatly esteemed both as a teacher and a friend an temperance worker, she being an active member of North Monaghan Council Royal Templars of Temperance.

SCHOOL SECTION NO. 4.—At the close of the term in this school, Mr. H. T Lewis, who has been in charge of the school for two years, and is leaving to complete his studies, was presented with an address and beautiful leather bound copies of Shakespeare, Milton, Longfellow and Scott. The address was read before the school trustees and pupils by Master Harry Davidson, and the volumes presented by Misses Edith Garbutt and Edith Hall. The address read as follows:—

DEAR TEACHER.—We, the pupils of school section No. 4 having heard of your resignation of the duties that you have fulfilled with such marked efficiency for the past two years, cannot allow the occasion to pass without referring to it in a tangible manner. It is unnecessary to tell you that we regard your departure with regret. Your invariable kindness as both teacher and friend, and, above all, the high moral precepts you have endeavoured to instil, backed as they have been by the example of a consistent Christian walk and conversation, have so bound us to you, by the bonds of affection, that the idea of parting fills us with regret. However, we are glad to learn that it is for the purpose of fitting yourself more perfectly for the discharge of your duties as teacher. We would have our best wishes go with you, and would ask your acceptance of these volumes as tokens of the pleasant associations of the past, and as a reminder of the fact that, wherever you may go, the fervent petitions of your pupils of No. 4 are, that we may all meet in that better world, where parting is unknown.

Signed on behalf of the school by TENNIE HALL,
CHATTIE HALL.

Mr. Lewis made a feeling and suitable reply. The parting between teacher and pupils was very affecting. Mr. Lewis was very popular in the school section and was beloved by the pupils.

Asphodel.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SCHOOL CONCERT.—A successful and largely attended school concert was held in the school house of S. S. No. 5, Asphodel, on the 23rd inst. In spite of occasional severe flurries of snow the school was filled, and at 7.30 Mr. Wm. Oakman was voted to the chair, which he filled to the satisfaction of all present. A programme consisting of songs, readings, plays, recitations, and dialogues was then carried out very successfully. At the close of the programme a vote of thanks was tendered the teacher, Mr. T. J. Small, for the able and efficient manner in which he had trained and taught the children during the year. Every one in the audience went home well pleased.

THE VEILED WOMAN.

A Strange Story Which Recalls Mots Cherry's Fate.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 30.—A veiled woman gave one of the sons of Hugh Stewart, Patrick-street, a package of candy the other day and the mother, the eldest daughter, a small girl and a smaller boy partook of the contents. In a few moments the four were violently ill and only by the free use of emetics were their systems cleared of the poisonous mixtures. Stewart burned the rest of the candy and it is not known what poisonous element was mixed with it. The identity of the woman is unknown, but steps will probably be taken to discover her.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

The Coroner's Jury Say Richard Langford Was Killed by Goodwin.

STUTSVILLE, Dec. 30.—The coroner's inquest on the body of Richard Langford of Carp opened at Manchester's to-day at 1 p.m. and after a number of witnesses were sworn the jury brought in a verdict of wilful murder against George Goodwin. The jury also condemned in the strongest language possible the conduct of County Constable McGregor of Almonte for not arresting Goodwin in the house of Robert Cassels on the night of Dec. 8. It was proven by Robert Cassels and his son, James Cassels, that Goodwin was in bed with young Cassels when McGregor looked into the room but did not search it.

Appearance of the blood in condition is generally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

MOUNTAINS OF NICKEL.

VISIT OF THE TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE TO SUDBURY.

The Nickel Metropolis The Mining Speculator and the Land Boomer—A Great Future in View for Nickel—What the United States' Secretary Thinks of the Metal—Real Estate in Sudbury.

NICKLE has sprung in to a prominent position of late. Up till the present time the use of this metal has been quite limited. The discovery of nickel-steel, however, makes it possible, and probable too, that nickel will play a very important part in the manufacturing world. It bids fair to rival iron and steel in importance. We are principally indebted to the United States for the discovery of the valuable qualities of nickel. A dispatch from Washington a couple of days ago states that Secretary Tracy has received a report giving the results attained of the first attempt made in the United States to produce nickel-steel. The success attained was very gratifying. If such results as were obtained in this experiment can be uniformly produced it is believed the making of steel will be revolutionized. The experiment was made at Pittsburg and five tons of metal were treated in a Bessemer converter. Some three-quarter inch plates were made and tested. Surprising results were noted. The elastic limit was, respectively, 59,000 pounds and 60,000 pounds. The ultimate tensile strength was 100,000 pounds and 102,000 pounds, respectively. The elongation was 15½ per cent. in each specimen, and the reduction of area at fraction was 39¾ per cent. and 38¾ per cent., respectively. These figures show that the elastic circuit and ultimate tensile strength were raised by the nickel alloy to almost double the limits reached in the best grades of boiler-plate steel, and the elongation was reduced to a scarcely appreciable extent. Thus the desirable qualities of hardness, strength and elasticity were combined in a remarkable degree in a metal of great ductility.

It is impossible to foretell what will be the ultimate effect of this development of nickel steel. Secretary Tracy is very enthusiastic on the subject, and is naturally gratified at being one of the pioneers in taking up the new alloy, which was first used as a material for armor plates, but now promises to enter into the construction of not only armor plates, guns and projectiles, but the hulls and engines of ships, and, if the cost of nickel can be reduced, it is believed it will be adopted for all purposes where a high grade of steel is at present used. One of the principal difficulties with the use of steel for the hulls of ships has been that it corrodes rapidly in the salt water and barnacles and other sea growths adhere to it closely, thus requiring the bottom to be cleaned and painted at short intervals. Some recent experiments in Germany show that the new alloy is much freer from both corrosion and fouling.

In the light of these revelations the discovery of nickel in the Sudbury wilderness becomes a matter of lively interest to Canadians. It was to investigate the extent of the nickel deposits that the Toronto Board of Trade recently paid a visit to the Sudbury mines. A correspondent who accompanied the party says: The character of Sudbury was wholly changed, and a new and greater reason for expectation of prosperity was given by the discovery of valuable mineral deposits. At first the locations were taken for copper, and it was a very serious question whether there was a large enough proportion of metal in the ore to pay for the working. But the process of smelting and refining discovered nickel in the vein, and since then Sudbury has been the hub of creation so far as very important interests are concerned. The town has grown very rapidly since this discovery. The population is now estimated at over a thousand and additions are coming in daily. A good indication that great things are expected of the place is to be found in the fact that the Canadian Pacific, which owns the square mile of land about the railway station, and which at first sold quite freely at $80 and $100 per lot, this fall withdraws its lands from sale, at any rate at the old prices. It is understood that at present they are not considering propositions to buy lands at all. The consequence of all this, as can readily be imagined, is that land in the centre of Sudbury has gone up to fancy prices, rents are high, living is dear, and, in fact, the town has some of the worst features of a boom.

MILLIONS IN NICKEL.

The attention of all hands has been devoted to finding and selling nickel properties. I was told shortly after I got here that every second person in Sudbury had a nickel mine. In mingling with the people I have been led to believe that this proportion is altogether too low. The town, as I find it, reminds me of Mark Twain's graphic descriptions of the "flush times" in Virginia City. The talk of the people is of "shows" and "leads," veins and wall-rocks, specimens and assays. Men who do not look like college graduates, and who give no indications in their ordinary conversation of unusual profundity of learning, will talk to you about diorites and gneisses and schists as if these were the most ordinary things in life, as indeed they are to them. Chunks of rock are to be seen about the hotels and stores, unusually weighty when "hefted," and showing larger or smaller patches of dull metal colors, as though painted with some shade of cheap bronze paint. According to what you are told the piece of rock in your hand is the key to unlimited wealth. Now and again a man is pointed out to you as one who has sold out for a fortune; the number of people who will be able to sell out for a fortune by-and-bye are twenty times as numerous. The great effort to sell locations has not set in yet, the people having been mainly occupied in finding and getting possession of them.

THE NICKEL TOWNSHIPS.

Though the Crown Lands Department has intervened to secure for the people the benefit of the vast resources in this hitherto unknown region, enough property is now in private hands to make it reasonably certain that there will be some lively buying and selling of nickel mining locations next year. The townships of McKim, Denison, Lorne, Louise and Graham have been almost wholly patented for mining purposes. Large portions of Blezard, Hallam, Waters and Snider have been patented. Fairbank, Nairn, Morritt and Drury are also to a considerable extent in the hands of private parties. Applications are in, covering large territories in Neelon, Garson, Morgan, Lewack, Dowling, Cartier, Craig, Hyman and Trill. As to these applications, it is impossible to even guess at the proportion that are accompanied by a considerable portion of the purchase price, or what proportion of the locations have been at all developed. Meanwhile the work of mining and treating the nickel goes on under the direction of three powerful companies, the Canadian Copper Co., the Dominion Mineral Co. and the Vivians of Swansea, Wales. About 1,000 men are employed in mining and handling the ore, and it is understood that there is ready sale for all the nickel that is produced.

HIS STORY LOOKS STRAIGHT.

A London Book Agent Who Was to Be Arrested But Wasn't.

MONTREAL, Dec. 30.—Word was received at police headquarters yesterday that a certain book agent doing business here was wanted at London, Ont., on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretences. Some search was made round town for him but he could not be located. Hearing, however, that he was wanted he came to the Central Police Station in the afternoon and made explanation. He said that he did not wish any publicity to be given to the matter if possible, and felt that the whole matter was a mistake which five minutes' conversation with the parties taking the action against him would fully explain. The amount involved was $6.50 and the whole affair really a simple one. He had merely taken a sample book of that value from them to take orders for on commission. It was not a good selling work and he had taken up another publication which he could better handle. He seemed honest and his story appeared a plausible one, so when he expressed his willingness to pay the expenses both ways it a detective would accompany him to London, Ont., his offer was accepted and he left last evening in company with Detective Trempe. The opinion was expressed in some circles that the action of the prosecution in the case appeared hasty and savored of persecution, but that of course remains to be seen when the other side of the story is heard.

Surplus over all Liabilities, except Capital	656,538 64

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was exceeded by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its large unconditional policies and prompt settlement of claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

St. Andrew's Sunday-School.

The pupils of St. Andrew's church Sunday school received their annual treat from the teachers and officers of the school Tuesday night. From five o'clock to half-past seven supper was served and the children enjoyed a romp about the school room. Before the party broke up the pupils were given Christmas presents for diligence and regular attendance at the Sunday school, the pastor, Rev. A. Bell, handing the gifts to the children. A happy time was spent, and the children went home delighted with the hospitality of their teachers.

New Years' Reception.

TO THE YOUNG MEN: The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association greet you with the compliments of this festive season, and desire the pleasure of a New Years' call from you on Thursday, January 1st, 1891. We shall be At Home to all, in the Association building, from two o'clock in the afternoon until ten p.m. Games, etc., will be provided, and in the evening, from 8 o'clock to 10 p.m., a programme of instrumental and vocal music, readings, etc., will be given. Any strangers or visitors in our town will be heartily welcomed. Don't stand on ceremony, but call and we will do you good. Each caller will receive the Y.M.C.A. motto card for 1891.

MRS. H. S. GRIFFIN, President. MISS TUCKER, Secretary.

The New World Uniform Collecting Company.

We are requested to announce that the Inspector of Agencies for the above company intends visiting Peterborough with the view of deciding as to the desirability of re-opening the branch office here.

The company has now commenced operating under its new and improved methods, which readily commend themselves to business men when properly understood.

Pending this change the agency here, as well as others, has been allowed to lapse, and the company is now engaged in re-opening its branches wherever they receive sufficient encouragement to do so.

The company's canvasser (Mr. Gibson), who was here lately, having reported some dissatisfaction among some of our former members, the Inspector will make it his business to ventilate and explain what is necessary. ld

The Curtain Rung Down.

On Tuesday forenoon a meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough was held in St. Andrew's church to perform the final act in connection with the recent troubles (ended by resignation of Rev. A. Bell), viz., to appoint one of its members to fill the pulpit on Sabbath next and declare the church vacant, also to appoint an interim session and elect a moderator. Rev. W. White was elected moderator, with Messrs. Collins and Wright, of Peterborough, Bickle, of Norwood, and Graham, of Lakefield, temporary members of session. It is to be hoped the pulpit of this fine church will not long remain vacant. With such a handsome church edifice, comfortable manse, and finances in so good a condition, there is a grand opening for the right man. There is ample room and to spare for two large Presbyterian congregations in town, and while St. Paul's is overflowing and other Presbyterian residents wandering about from church to church or church, if a young and popular minister, who is willing to devote himself solely to the Master's work, is secured, no more desirable opening exists in Canada to-day.

The Edison Works and the Town.

The following notice has been affixed to the door of the office of the Edison General Electric Company at their works:

"WORK SUSPENDED,

And will not be resumed unless the corporation fulfils its contract.

THE EDISON GENERAL ELECTRIC CO.,
Per JULIUS MEYERS, Special Engineer.

In reference to the above, and in reference to the rumour that the works are suspended because of the failure to put in a Grand Trunk siding to the premises of the Company, Councillor Dawson called at the EXAMINER office, and says that it is apparent to him as a practical stone mason and builder, that the chief cause of the suspension of work is the severe weather, which renders building at least 30 per cent. dearer than in good weather. In regard to the transportation of material he is confident that the Edison works have been put to no delay or inconvenience, or loss, by the lack of a G.T.R. siding, as the town undertook to provide for the transportation of all material. It is to be expected that the little difficulty will be amicably adjusted. Doubtless a thaw would in a double sense produce a solution of the trouble.

Sunday School Entertainment.

Last evening 300 children of the Charlotte Street Methodist Sunday School were treated to a free tea by the teachers, assisted by the parents and friends of the school. The tables were bountifully laden with provisions, and it is needless to state that the youngsters did justice to the edibles. A very interesting programme was rendered by the scholars of the school, as follows:—Xmas carol, by the S. S. choir; recitation, No, Henry Cleaves; song, Will Mother Know Me in the Sky, Fronn Dorcas; recitation, My First Boots, Sidney Shorey; vocal duet, Pompey is Dead, by Martha and Bessie Jones; recitation, The Bishop's Visit, Ida Hall; Xmas song, Helen and Olive Bradburn; recitation, Gussie Shorey; song, Swing, Cradle, Swing, by Katie Rowse, of Oshawa; Jingle Bells, by Lola Petit, assisted by the S.S. choir. Part second.—Physical drill by Nina and Lola Petit; recitation, Pearly Main; song, Jack Frost, Katie Rowse; recitation, Weep Not, Gussie Mother, by Ethel Sherwood; recitation, Mother's Sorrow, Gussie Langford; recitation, The Xmas Tree, Ida Heasman; duet, Sibyl and Edna Shields; recitation, Danger on the Deep, Bruce Hughes; recitation, A Temperance Piece, Temple Sherwood. The evening was spent very pleasantly and the teachers acquitted themselves very creditably. Mr. O. C. Rowse, the superintendent, acted as chairman, and Rev. S. J. Shorey, the pastor, occupied a seat on the platform.

OPENING OF THE EXCHANGE

The Ontario Telephone Company Ready for Business.

A Completely Equipped and Well-Managed Local Institution—Nearly Three Hundred Subscribers to Start With—A Continuous Day and Night Service Guaranteed.

To-morrow, the first day of the year 1891, at seven o'clock in the morning, the Peterborough exchange of the Ontario Telephone Company will be declared open for regular business. The local circuit has been completed, including Ashburnham, and all but a very few of the outlying points, and beginning New Year's Day a complete and continuous service will be given subscribers. For the past four weeks the telephones have been put in use as fast as possible, but the service was necessarily irregular, though on an average 400 calls have been answered daily. Now the line is finished, and the company is ready to give the public the full and satisfactory service they promised. The Ontario Telephone Company has over 280 paying subscribers, to whom lists have been supplied in booklet form, accompanied by cards (with pencils attached) for convenience in setting down any numbers which the individual patron may have occasion to require the most frequently. In conversation with the EXAMINER Superintendent Frye stated that the company guaranteed perfect satisfaction, and if any subscriber had aught to complain of they would be only too happy to set matters right if their attention was called to it. Mr. Frye thinks the service during the past few weeks, irregular as it has been, was sufficient to prove to the public the of the Ontario Telephone Company's exchange, and a glance over the list will show that nearly all the business places in town and a large number of private residences are in communication through this medium.

EFFICIENCY AND SATISFACTION

The history of this local enterprise has been interesting, and its progress has been watched closely by not only the people of Peterborough but the whole Province. There was big opposition to meet in the Bell Telephone Company, and it speaks volumes for the perseverance and push of the Directors of the Company that they have been able to carry out their plans to a successful issue in the face of the heavy odds against them. On the 25th of August last the first pole was erected, and since that time the work of construction has gone steadily forward. S perintendent D. O. Frye, an experienced and capable man, took hold of the practical management, and, assisted by the energetic officers and directors of the company, has succeeded in establishing a large and completely equipped agency here. An idea of the extent of the work may be gained from statistics. About 425 poles have been erected in the town and Ashburnham, some of which are between 60 and 70 feet high and none lower than 35 feet; have been strung and 5,600 feet of cable. The central office, as is generally known, is situated in the Snowden block on Simcoe street, and here everything is complete and perfect as it is possible to make it. In front is the superintendent's office, fitted with a private instrument. There is also a telephone for public use, which the company places cheerfully at the disposal of anyone wishing to use it. A partition shuts off the operating room, where there is a switch-board with a capacity of 300 instruments. The switch-board is the most complete of the kind in the market, and since it was set up a couple of months ago has not given the slightest trouble. All the material (except the cables, which were procured from the Edison Electric Company) were purchased from the Federal Telephone Company of Montreal. The system is different from that of the Bell Company. It is the metallic circuit or double-wire system, which does away with the possible induction of electric light or telephone wires which may be in the vicinity. The importance of this advantage has, Mr. Frye states, been amply shown during the short time the new line has been in use.

ONE HUNDRED MILES OF WIRE

The Ontario Telephone Company will give their subscribers night and day, Sundays and holidays included. There will be three day operators and one at night. Miss Bella Holland, an experienced operator from the Federal service in Montreal, has been at the exchange for the past month, engaged in teaching the young ladies the use of the switch. Miss Emma Ostrom, Miss Terry and Miss L. Patterson have learned the use of the switch and will hereafter be at the board to answer calls.

A CONTINUOUS SERVICE,

The Superintendent states that the Ontario Telephone Company do not intend to confine themselves to the town, but have already laid plans for OUTSIDE CONNECTIONS.

They are in league with the Toronto company to connect with that city by way of Lindsay, on which work will be begun in the spring. Bridgenorth and Chemong Park will also be connected in the spring; the poles are already laid down to Bridgenorth, and as soon as weather permits the construction of the line will be begun. Other extensions have also been mapped out to be made in the near future.

In reply to a question, Mr. Frye stated that the Ontario Company does not feel the slightest effect from the opposition of the Bell Company. He says they have not lost a single subscriber through the offer of free telephones by the Bell Company; on the contrary, as people see the soundity and progress of the work, the perfect and the wide connection offered, they realize that the Ontario Company has "come to stay," and are paying $15 a year to the Ontario Company and giving their support to a local institution in preference to accepting free service from the Bell Company. In fact, said Mr. Fry, within the past ten days no less than 20 new subscribers have been added unsolicited. The Peterborough exchange of this company, he said, will continue to grow and prosper in spite of all opposition.

Information Wanted.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There is a rumor going around that one of the candidates for a seat at the Council Board for No. 1 Ward, has not the necessary qualification. Would you please state through your valuable columns what the law requires in that respect.

Yours &c.,
JOHN MCNAUGHTON.

[The Municipal Act, Sec. 73, reads:—No person shall be qualified to be elected a mayor, alderman, reeve, deputy reeve, or councillor of any municipality, unless such person resides within the municipality, or within two miles thereof, (a) and is a natural born or naturalized subject of Her Majesty, (b) and a male of the full age of twenty-one years, (c) and is not disqualified under this Act, (d) and has, or whose wife has, (e) at the time of the election as proprietor or tenant, (f) a legal or equitable, freehold or leasehold, or partly freehold and partly leasehold, or partly legal or partly equitable, (g) rated in his own name or the name of his wife, on the last revised assessment roll of the municipality, (h) to at least the value following, over and above all charges, liens and encumbrances affecting the same:

1. In incorporated villages—Freehold to $200 or leasehold to $400
2. In towns—Freehold to $300 or leasehold to $1200.
3. In cities—Freehold to $1,000 or leasehold to $2 000.
4. In townships—Freehold to $400, or leasehold to $800.

And so in the same proportions in all municipalities, in case the property is partly freehold and partly leasehold; (i) but, if within any municipality, any such person is at the time of election in actual occupation of any such freehold, rated in his own name or the name of his wife, on the last revised assessment roll of the said municipality, he will be entitled to be elected, if the value at which such freehold is actually rated in said assessment roll amounts to not less than $2,000; and for that purpose the said value shall not be affected or reduced by any lien, encumbrance or charge existing on or affecting such freehold. 50 V., c. 29, s. 2.

The Festival Continued.

A Successful Second Day—Splendid Programme in the Evening—The Closing To-Night.

The second day of the Christmas Festival in the Opera House was even more marked a success than the first. The dining room and sales tables of course did a thriving business during the day, but interest centred in the concert given by the Convent pupils in the evening. The programme presented was really excellent. Hearty words of praise would fail to adequately convey the satisfaction, pleasure and amusement afforded the large audience. The different numbers were performed with a skill, finish and accuracy which spoke volumes for the efficiency and thoroughness of the training received. The worthy Sisters of the Convent who arranged the concert must feel highly gratified with the result.

There were about 25 young ladies who took part, gold and silver medallists, and the most advanced pupils actually receiving tuition at the Convent; also twenty-six little girls averaging about six years of age, who sat in two groups upon either side of the stage. Dressed in white, with scarlet sashes and stockings, the chubby-cheeked, bright-eyed little ones made a sight pleasant to contemplate. An important feature of the programme was the orchestra, (under the able directorship of Mr. W. E. Loeb) comprising four pieces and assisted by four pianos and two organs. The music was admirable.

In dealing with a programme in which so many performers appear, it is difficult to mention names without making some invidious distinctions and omissions; for this reason it was thought better that the newspapers should make no individual references at all. The EXAMINER would very much like to bestow a just meed of praise upon those who deserved it, but as all concerned would be included, let it be taken for granted that each one has been individually complimented. The choruses, quartettes and duets were charmingly rendered, and the calisthenic exercises, the "Misunderstanding" comedy and the tableaux were particularly good. The fantasy of Irish melodies by the orchestra was heartily applauded. Following is the programme as rendered:—

The pianofortes and organs used at this concert were kindly loaned by Messrs. Jackson & Co.

During a lull in the programme Councillor Cahill drew the attention of the audience to the feast waiting in the dining room, and a number of people promptly proceeded to relieve the groaning tables of a portion of their burden.

To-night the Festival closes with another concert by the Cathedral choir.

Separate School Nominations.

No Scarcity of Candidates in Some of the Wards—One Election by Acclamation.

The nominations for Separate school trustees took place at the Murray street school building before Mr. John Corkery, secretary. The retiring trustees, whose places were to be filled, are Messrs. C. Halpin, T. Kelly, C. J. Leonard and E. Archambault. Mr. Kelly was re-elected by acclamation, but there will be contests in the other wards, though it is not probable all those nominated will stand. The elections take place next Wednesday. Following are the nominations:—

WARD NO. ONE.

C. HALPIN, proposed by P. J. McNamara, seconded by P. McNamara.

R. SHEEHY, jr., proposed by Thomas Hickey, seconded by M. O'Brien.

N. LAPLANTE, proposed by P. McNamara, seconded by H. Carveth.

The Result Reversed.

Lindsay Badly Beaten in the Second Match of the Curling Series.

Our curlers shouted their loudest and tossed their bonnets and became into the air with great glee yesterday. The stain of defeat which rested upon them was wiped out in a grand victory Tuesday. Lindsay was beaten by 17 shots. At home the visitors experienced a Waterloo, while at Lindsay Favelle's Winnipeg rink and McLennan's quartette were held down to a small majority. The ice was in good condition and some fine work was done on both sides. Following are the scores:—

BURLEIGH, ANSTRUTHER AND CHANDOS—Reeve, F. Kimhirst, by acclamation; councillors, Ward No. 1, Wm. Langford, by acclamation; No. 2, Wm. Tucker, Jr., and W. H. Hales; Ward No. 3, W. Hales, jr., W. Anderson; No. 4, Jas. Scott, by acclamation.

DUMMER.—For reeve—Mr. John Moloney was re-elected reeve by acclamation. For councillors—Ward 1, Edward Abbott, W. J. Bullock; Ward 2 John M. Welsh, Dennis Moloney; Ward 3, Robert Allen, James McCaggott; Ward 4, Wm. Garbutt, by acclamation. [Mr. Abbott, nominee in ward No. 1, states that he has resigned his candidature, and in a letter to the EXAMINER, too lengthy for us to publish in the crowded columns of our last issue of the year, gives his reasons for his resignation. Mr. Abbott says he agreed to stand in the first place on the distinct understanding with Mr. Bullock that the latter would not oppose him; but now, as Mr. Bullock was seeking the office, and it did not look well for two neighbours to be engaged in a contest, he (Mr. Abbott) felt impelled to resign. Mr. Abbott considers that Mr. Bullock broke faith with him and, as he is so anxious for the position, Mr. Abbott will not oppose him. This is the gist of Mr. Abbott's letter.]

A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out upon my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places, that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentleman from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,

H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

WILL O'BRIEN BE LEADER?

THIS IS WHAT PARNELL DEMANDS BEFORE WITHDRAWAL.

And the Withdrawal Will On. Last Until the Election—Rare Spot at Cork and Dublin Because of the Difference Between the Priests and People.

DUBLIN, Jan. 2.—The Freeman's Journal announces that Timothy D. J. Hastington, M.P., will probably be present at the next meeting between Messrs. Parnell and O'Brien.

Mr. Parnell went to Brighton from London Monday evening and returned to London yesterday morning in time to catch the mail train for Folkestone, where he took the channel steamer for Boulogne.

The Express stated that William O'Brien intends to surrender himself to the police early in January in order to serve two term of six months imprisonment to which he was sentenced Nov. 19.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—The Siecle claims to know that a hot and hostile discussion took place yesterday at the conference between Parnell and O'Brien at Boulogne-Sur-Mer. This discussion, according to The Siecle, lasted until towards midnight and renders a reconciliation between the Irish leaders most improbable.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Mr. Parnell arrived here from Paris to-day. He said he was quite himself again. His eye was well, and he was in better health than he had been for a long time. He intended to spend about ten days quietly at Avondale, and would then resume his campaign in Ireland. He would commence by delivering addresses in Limerick and Waterford.

CORK, Jan. 1.—The feud between the Irish bishops and the Parnellites, which has been smouldering since the election in North Kilkenny, again burst forth fiercely to-day, and the most bitter feeling prevails on both sides. Mayor Morgan, an earnest supporter of Mr. Parnell, and one of the gentlemen who is said to have been prominent in getting up the recent letter to Mr. O'Brien signed by the mayor and five ex-mayors, was installed at the town hall as Mayor of Cork to-day amid a scene of intense enthusiasm on the part of the Parnellites. The anti-Parnellites were "conspicuous by their absence." The Parnellites were out in strong force owing to a rumor that there was trouble brewing for the Parnellite mayor. This trouble manifested itself when arrangements were being made for the customary installation ceremony at the Catholic Cathedral. The Parnellites were informed that the installation ceremonies at the cathedral must be abandoned, as Bishop Callahan refused to receive the Parnellite mayor. This information caused extreme indignation among the Parnellites, who are now convinced a long and desperate struggle for supremacy between themselves and the priests may be looked forward to throughout Ireland if Parnell remains at the head of the party.

Fun at Dublin, Too.

DUBLIN, Jan. 1.—Lord Mayor Meade was installed here to-day amid considerable excitement. Messrs. Sexton and Healy were roundly abused by the crowds present, but mention of Parnell's name was cheered to the echo.

Will O'Brien Succeed Parnell?

DUBLIN, Jan. 1.—It is understood that William O'Brien has cabled John Dillon now in New York that Parnell consents to retire if O'Brien is made leader of the Irish party. It is further understood that the Boulogne conference adjourned in order to await a reply from Dillon. It is also reported that Dillon is consulting with several prominent friends of Ireland in the United States previous to answering.

United Ireland says the adjournment of the Parnell-O'Brien conference encourages the hope that there will be a satisfactory solution of the existing difficulties.

It is rumored that Archbishop Croke of Cashel has gone to Paris to confer with William O'Brien.

NEW YORK Jan. 1.—John Dillon refuses to either affirm or deny the truth of the report that William O'Brien cabled to him that Parnell will retire if O'Brien is made leader of the Irish party.

Will Marry O'Shea.

DUBLIN, Jan. 1.—The Insuppressible, the organ of the McCarthyites' faction of the Irish Nationalist party, says: "Mr. Parnell wants no vindication resulting in the annulment of the O'Shea divorce case. He intends to marry Mrs. O'Shea when the divorce is made absolute."

The capital of the new McCarthy paper has been fully subscribed.

Two Good Indians, Both Alive

HURON, S. D., Jan. 1.—Hump and Iron Thunder, two noted Sioux chiefs, were here yesterday afternoon in charge of Capt Ewers. They were going to Rapid City to meet Gen. Miles. Neither had been told of the fight with Two Strike's band until they reached here. Both listened attentively and seemed delighted over the defeat of the Indians. Hump said: "Two Strike very bad. All his band bad Indians. No good. Big Foot ought to die long ago. Never loved him. He make great trouble. Hope he sure dead." Hump and Big Foot were sworn enemies and each was watching to get a chance to kill the other.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 1.—A despatch from Pine Ridge says: The Second Infantry has received orders to move. It is rumored Gen. Brooke has been relieved of his command and ordered home. Gen. Miles will in person conduct all future operations. The funeral of the soldiers killed in Monday's battle occurred yesterday.

An Opium Smuggler Caught.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 1.—La Belle King, one of the opium smugglers who escaped from the United States Secret Service officers while being conveyed from his home at Port Huron, Mich., to Detroit about two years ago by jumping through a car window, was to-day captured at Olympia, where he was driving a laundry wagon under the name of Boulanger. He is said to be at the head of the largest smuggling ring in the United States and is worth a great deal of money. His capture was made by Special Inspector Coblentz, who has been following him for years.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—A man named Thorpe, employed by Peak Brothers, the well-known biscuit makers of Reading, has embezzled between £15,000 and £20,000 of the firm's money and absconded to America.

DEATH AT THE FETE.

TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE IN A YORKSHIRE TOWN.

Fifteen Children Badly Burned, Several of Whom, it is Feared, May Die—Many Persons Frozen to Death in Consequence of the Severe Weather.

LEEDS, Jan. 1.—While a school fete was in progress at Wortley near here to-day, a string of Chinese lanterns fell upon the heads of a bevy of girls. The dresses of several girls ignited and wild excitement ensued. Other pupils rushed to the rescue and beat out the flames with their hands, but suffered severely themselves. Fifteen girls were in one or less burned and it is feared some of them will die.

THE COLD IN GERMANY.

Deer in the Forests Starved and Seeking the Farms.

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—The weather here is remarkably severe. The frost is unprecedented, and is distressing alike to man and beast. The cold is so intense that the wooden pavement of the city is cracked in every direction and is destroyed for scores of miles. The railways are also impeded from the same cause, and the intense frost is cracking the rails. This weather accounts for the fact the large numbers of deer have been driven by hunger from the forest of Grunewald, induced to enter the farm buildings, and even to follow the sleighs which are driven through the forest districts in order to obtain food, while he hares in the country places have been found frozen to death in hundreds.

Many Frozen to Death

TRIESTE, Jan. 1. The hurricane continues. Steamers are unable to leave port. It is feared that many disasters to shipping have occurred. The Ilolston Lake is frozen over and vehicles are crossing on the ice. Many persons in this vicinity have been frozen to death.

A Thaw in London.

LONDON, Jan. 1. The weather has moderated here. A thaw has set in.

Many London Papers to Have New Presses

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Robert Hoe of New York, who has been in this city for several months, sailed for home last Saturday on the Bothnia. Mr. Hoe while here supervised the making of extensive improvements to the London works of his firm. New buildings were added, covering a whole block, and making the establishment one of the finest machine shops in London. These improvements had to be made in order to meet the heavy contracts for new presses recently concluded with leading London papers. Several of the London dailies are preparing to "Americanize" their forms. As soon as new presses can be procured The Standard, The Chronicle, The Telegraph and other papers will be issued in a new shape, and with multiple pages after the fashion of modern American papers.

Mr. Hoe said this would make the third time within 30 years that the machines of his firm had revolutionized the methods of printing newspapers in England.

President Carnot's Reception.

PARIS, Jan. 1.—President Carnot's New Year's reception was unusually brilliant. Mgr. Rotelli, the Papal Nuncio, who introduced the members of the diplomatic corps, expressed in the name of all hearty good wishes for the prosperity of France. President Carnot in his reply expressed equally good wishes for the welfare of the countries represented. He said he received the assurances of sympathy with France, which he believed was due to the clearness and moderation of his country's foreign policy, with profound gratification.

More Ancent Kochins.

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—Dr. Koch, who left Berlin for a short vacation, suddenly returned to the city to-day. He was summoned back to attend a patient to whom by accident an overdose of the lymph had been given. Dr. Koch administered to the patient strong antifebrifes, which subdued his alarming symptoms, and now there are evidences of marked improvement in the patient's condition. This incident raises the question whether strong injections of the lymph may not sometimes prove advantageous.

Honored at New Years.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The following appointments have been announced: Sir Edward Cecil Guinness has been raised to the peerage. Sir Hercules Robinson becomes a baronet. The Hon. Josiah Rees, Chief Justice and Judge of the Admiralty Court, is made a knight; and Mr. Sutherland, Chairman of the Peninsular and Oriental Navigation Co., has been made a K.C.M.G.

Candidates for Siberia.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 1.—The British ambassador here has delivered to the Russian authorities Prince Zatcharsky and six friends including a lady and child who were arrested recently for complicity in the "accident" to the Czar's train near Borki but who escaped and took refuge on a British steamer.

The London Herald.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—It is stated that the London Sunday edition of The New York Herald will not appear again. It once rejoiced in a circulation of 50,000, which gradually sank, under bad management and through frequent changes in the staff, until it lately only printed a few thousands, the majority of which were given to the newsboys.

His Son to the Rescue.

PARIS, Jan. 1.—Clibborn Booth, a son of Gen. Booth, in a letter to a paper here denies that there are dissensions in the Salvation Army, says the "Darkest England" funds are not placed to the account of the Army's general budget, and asserts Gen. Booth is the sole author of "In Darkest England and the Way Out."

Will Be Surrendered.

ROME, Jan. 2.—Premier Crispi has ordered that Gregoire, the French Anarchist, who confessed at Palermo he was implicated in effecting the escape of Padjewski, Selivanoff's murderer, be delivered to the French authorities.

London's Enormous Christmas Mail.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—It is officially stated that 1,155,000 Christmas parcels have been delivered by the British postoffice, of which 115,000 comprised turkeys, fowls, game and Christmas puddings.

Slavin, the pugilist, declines to accept Corbett's offer for the proposed match at New Orleans as he is suffering from an attack of the blues.

THE STRIKERS BEATEN.

TRAINS APPEAR TO BE NOW RUNNING REGULARLY.

More than $100,000 Weekly Decrease in Traffic as the Result of the Strike—$13,000 Subscribed to Aid the Strikers, Whose Stronghold is now Edinburgh.

GLASGOW, Jan. 2.—The general manager of the Scotch railways have announced that the strikers have, to all intents and purposes, been defeated. The Caledonian Railway has already reinstated a large number of the strikers, who have gone back to work on the company's terms. Trains are now running regularly.

The committee of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants has decided to grant the Scotch strikers £2000 to aid them in their fight and has promised to send them more money if it is required. All the men who struck on the Glasgow & Southwestern Railway have offered to return to work. Most have been reinstated in their old positions, but in many cases the men find they must resume work at reduced wages. The others have been told their places have been filled and their services are no longer required. The collapse of the strike on this road has had a depressing effect on the men who are out on the Caledonian Railway. These strikers show no sign of weakening and express their determination to continue the fight at all hazards and to hold out to the very end.

The execution of the warrants issued for the arrest of a number of signal men have been suspended.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Michael Davitt will preside at a meeting of railway men in London Sunday next for the purpose of sympathizing with the railroad men on strike in Scotland.

The decrease in the weekly traffic of the Scotch railways in consequence of the strike amounts to £37,000.

Edinburgh is now the stronghold of the strikers. The men continue to hold mass meetings in Glasgow, Edinburgh and other railway centres, but the attendance is smaller. The strikers are still firm.

Beginning of the End.

GLASGOW, Jan. 1.—The North British Railway for the first time since the strike began to-day to run a full passenger service. The freight business showed evidence of improvement. The Caledonian Company freight traffic is heavy.

The following are the various classes of men who have struck:

Goods Warehousemen.	Chain Lads.
Rolleymen.	Fodder Choppers.
Shunters.	Warehousemen.
Passenger Guards.	Goods Porters.
Passenger Porters.	Capstan Drivers.
Signalmen.	Chucker Lads.
Passenger Train Shunters.	Chargemen.
	Forwarding Benchmen.
Platelayers.	Engineers.
Horse Shunters.	Firemen.

Stokers Strike at Hamburg

HAMBURG, Jan. 1.—A general strike of stokers and coal trimmers was begun here to-day.

Colliers Quit Work in Wales.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Two thousand colliers near Merthyn Tydvil, Wales, have quit work on account of alleged grievances.

Collapse of the Hull Strike.

HULL, Jan. 1.—The strike of the dock laborers here has collapsed.

Bellicose Preachers.

HALIFAX, Jan. 2.—Rev. D. Porter, pastor of the Baptist Church at Middleton, was tried before Stipendiary Obediah Taylor to-day for ill-treating an ox. Evidence was given to show that the reverend gentleman first struck the ox with the handle of a pitchfork and subsequently proded the animal with the prongs until the beast was covered with blood. The accused was convicted and asked to pay $23 into court or go to prison for 30 days.

Rev. M. Brown, Episcopalian minister at Middleton, who recently brutally assaulted a Baptist divinity student, has left the province.

Mangled Humanity.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 2.—Thus far four bodies have been taken out of the mine. Of these the remains of Frank Cull have been identified mainly by the iron foot attached to one leg, and a portion of a garment another body indicates the remains are those of James O'Donnell.

LEROY, N.Y., Jan. 2.—A premature explosion this afternoon at Simmon's cut caused the death of three Hungarians and one American named Andrew Hunt of Batavia. Eight others were seriously injured.

Died From Fright.

NEWMARKET, Jan. 2.—Maggie Robertson, sister of Robertson, the baker, was suddenly startled by her niece falling down stairs, and she was taken suddenly ill almost immediately. Medical aid was summoned, but she expired at 11 o'clock, heart disease being the trouble.

Women Fight a Duel.

MARSEILLES, Jan. 2.—A duel which is exciting considerable curiosity and comment was fought near this city to-day. The principals are said to be a Hungarian nobleman believed to be the son of an ex-minister and the son of a distinguished Parisian. An alleged intrigue upon the part of the wife of the nobleman and the Parisian is understood to be the cause of the encounter referred to. The keen est curiosity is manifested here and in Paris as to the identity of the parties concerned.

Seven Years for Trainwrecking.

TROY, N.Y., Jan. 1.—John Reed, Thomas Cain and Arthur Buett, who tried to wreck the New York Central Express train at Greenbush, were to-day sentenced by Judge Gaddy to State prison—Reed for seven years, Buett for two years and Cain for three years and eight months. From honest men the Judge said, they had become murderers pillagers and wreckers and a disgrace to organized labor.

Christian Science Killed Him.

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., Jan. 1.—Justin A. Pettigrew, brother of U.S. Senator Pettigrew, died here last night. He had been ill since Thanksgiving and his wife persuaded him to accept Christian Science treatment. Senator Pettigrew came home and cleared his brother's home of the theorists and called in regular physicians, who declared it was too late.

Poison in the Pie.

LURAY, Va., Jan. 1.—The family of Benjamin Sours were poisoned to-day by eating pumpkin pies supposed to contain rat poison. Mr. Sours and one child died, and the others are dangerously ill.

A Canadian Honored.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—J. G. Bourinot of Ottawa, Ont., was elected a member of the executive council of the American Historical Association to-day.

Has a Son in Canada.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 1.—Shortly after 9 o'clock last evening John Hoefler was found lying upon the ground in rear of 123 West Sixth street with blood gushing from his head. In his right hand was a 44-calibre bulldog revolver. Those at hand looked over his wound and found that he was shot in the back of the head. It was evident that he had done the deed himself with suicidal intent; and he was so far successful that there was scarcely a chance for his recovery.

John Hoefler, 20 years old, the eldest son, lives in Canada.

Under a Falling Roof.

KINGSTON, Jan. 2.—Wednesday while playing in a snow-house at the Tete-du-Pont Barracks the ice roof fell, burying beneath it Victor Drury, son of Major Cotton, and Mary Cotton, daughter of Lieut.-Col. Cotton. Mary was rescued in a semi-conscious condition, much bruised. She told of Victor's mishap, and after seven minutes he was rescued, but almost dead, his face being black and his eyes dilated. Artificial respiration was resorted to and he now lies in a critical condition. He is five years of age. Nearly half a ton of snow was heaped upon him.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

BOOTH WERE KILLED.

Frightful Runaway Accident in Essex County—Dragged 100 Yards to Death.

WINDSOR, Jan. 1.—A farmer named Louis Tassier of Rochester township was out driving with his wife when the horses took fright at something and started to run away. Tassier tried to curb them, but he was powerless. At a turn of the road the rig tipped over, throwing Tassier and his wife out. The woman fell on her shoulder and head and Tassier tangled up in the rig was dragged for 100 yards. Neighbors who saw the accident hurried to the scene and carried the man and woman into a house close by. Medical aid was summoned, but of no avail, as Tassier died the same evening and his wife yesterday morning. They leave six children.

RIOTOUS STRIKERS.

Desperate Battle Between Hungarian Furnace Men in a Pennsylvania Factory—Many Participants Wounded.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 1.—The strike of the Hungarian furnace men at the Edgar Thomson Steel Works at Braddock resulted in a serious riot to-day. The Hungarians quit work at midnight. About 100 men remained at work repairing furnaces. About 1 o'clock 200 strikers, armed with clubs, picks, shovels, revolvers, iron bars and other weapons, attacked the furnace. The men at work were unprepared but bravely stood their ground. The Hungarians used their weapons freely and men were knocked down, children bruised and unmercifully beaten. The Hungarians were finally beaten off when it was found that Michael Quinn was fatally hurt, Andrew Kranen, John Nenson and Patrick Briggs, all work men, had been seriously wounded and a dozen others more or less injured. The sheriff has sworn in 200 deputies and ordered all the saloons in Braddock closed. Five rioters were jailed to-night.

A MURDERER AT 15.

An East Hastings Boy Kills a Man in Michigan.

SAGINAW, Mich., Jan. 1.—Joseph Thomas, aged 15, whose parents reside at Hallston, East Hastings, Ont., shot and killed Michael Downey, formerly proprietor of the Globe Hotel here, last night, in a lumbering camp on the Upper Peninsula where he was working. The murder appears to have been from all accounts an unprovoked cold-blooded affair, five shots having been fired into the unfortunate victim by his drunken assailant. Thomas claims he was dazed and has no recollection of the shooting and had never had any trouble with Downey.

DEAD ON THE ROADSIDE.

A Shoemaker Who Forsook His Last For Whisky Frozen to Death.

ASHTON, Jan. 1.—The lifeless body of Thomas Leahey, a shoemaker, who has been working in Munster for some six months past, was found on the road some two miles from this village. The investigation tended to prove that Leahey left Ashton for Munster about 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and was seen on the road traveling in that direction. About 8 o'clock cries for help were heard in the direction of where the body was found, but no one paid any attention to them, and it is thought the unfortunate man lay in his cold bed from that time until found. He was about 60 years of age. A jury decided that whisky and exposure caused death.

JOY TURNED TO SORROW.

An Uninvited Guest Arrives Before the Children Reach Their Mother's House.

LINDSAY, Jan. 1.—Mrs. James Helme of Bobcaygeon-road, 2¼ miles from Lindsay, was taken suddenly ill to-day and a short time afterwards was a corpse. Six of her sons and daughters arrived home to spend the day and it was while her husband was at the station to meet them that Mrs. Helme was prostrated.

An Old Indian Chief who Promised to Reappear After Death.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Jan. 1.—Augustine Shingwauk, chief of the Garden River band of Indians, is dead. Chief Shingwauk was about 90 years old. He was a boy in the war of 1812, in which his father took part on the side of the British. He is the last hereditary chief of the band.

In 1850, when mining operations were carried on at Point Aux Mines on Lake Superior, a band of Indians went up and took possession of the mine and among them was the late chief. Those were sent up at the time, but before the troops arrived here Captain Wilson had gone up with a boats crew and quelled the rebellion. He seized a cask of whisky in the possession of the Indians and threw the greater part, if not all, into the lake. Shortly after this, and on account of his having been concerned in it, Chief Shingwauk was brought down to Toronto as a prisoner, but was sent back without anything being done to him. While in Toronto he dined with Lord Elgin and was present at a grand ball.

During his sickness the chief told those around him that after he would die he would take the form of a sturgeon and be found in a small lake north of the reserve. He also informed them that when any of them would come to the lake the sturgeon would lift its head above the water. He also spoke something of his coming as a second Messiah.

The Sherbrooke Explosion.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Jan. 1.—At the time of the explosion at the gas works last night the building contained three persons, Mr. Sangster, the superintendent, Charles Dunsmoor, and a lad. The lad was carried through a window into the street, and Mr. Sangster in another direction, but both landed with nothing further than a few scratches. Mr. Dunsmoor, however, from his position was carried down simultaneously with the brick wall and buried underneath the bricks. Before he was reached the gas had so affected him that he died shortly afterwards. He leaves a wife and two children. The cause of the explosion is yet unknown. Strange to say only one end of the building was thrown down, but the interior with the machinery is badly damaged.

A Surveying Party Lost.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 1.—Considerable anxiety is felt in this city over the prolonged absence of a local surveying party. They went to Blekinsop Bay district about a couple of months ago. Over a month ago, Nov. 14, the chief of the party wrote that they had work that would keep them about 20 days. Since then nothing has been heard from them, and a search party is being organized to go up and look for them. Blekinsop Bay is where the natives committed the horrible atrocities that shocked the country a couple of years ago, when a whole ship's crew were murdered.

Fall of a Somnambulist.

DANVILLE, Ill., Jan. 1.—Ollie Hester, a well-known young man of this city, while sleep-walking last night stepped out of a second story window. His skull was so badly crushed that his brains oosed out.

$10,000 Fire at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Jan. 1.—Drennan's furniture warerooms, Princess-street, were damaged by fire last night. The loss will reach $10,000, principally on stock; insured for $6000.

Heavy New York Failure.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Bateman & Co., the well-known brokers at 57 Broadway, have assigned. The house of Bateman & Co. is especially well known on account of its members, the leading ones being Commodore A.K. Bateman and Charles F. Coon, assistant secretary of the United States treasury.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1891.

HOW TO BEGIN THE NEW YEAR

Practically the holiday season, with its festivity and relaxation from business cares, is over, and the realities and duties of the new year confront us. The best way to meet the occasion is by aiming to enter upon the new year with a clear business slate. This time is very properly the grand settling season, when everyone should know how he stands so that he can intelligently lay his plans for the future. By this means the largest possible degree of success may be accomplished, and what is hardly less important, friendly business relations will be maintained. This annual squaring of accounts is something that should be neglected by no prudent business man; and like charity, it should begin at home. Accounts should be settled first with fellow-citizen and neighbour, and then, by all means, let the same process be repeated with the wholesale houses. The business of Peterborough will be placed upon a much more substantial and satisfactory basis if the important matter of settling accounts is promptly attended to at the beginning of the new year

The Hen's Lay-ment,

After the enforcing of the McKinley Bill, fixing five cents per dozen on Canadian eggs imported into the United States.

Dear bless us, boss, but you look cross,
When you come round me feeding;
Are your crops short, or were you in court—
Have law-sucks you been b eeding?
Is pulse too quick—say, are you sick,
With slow, depressed digestion?
For all your toil have you been foiled
Through some unsafe investing—
Makes you so sad?

In mirth and glee you brought to me
My morning meal hot steaming;
Now husks of grain I pick in vain,
And with sharp hunger screaming;
Your face wore smiles when eggs in piles
You gathered from my laying;
All duty free they brought to thee
A profit good and paying—
Glad times for me!

Boss, don't deny the reason why
You spread my feed so thinly;
I know the cause—these Yankee laws
Planned by that cr-ank McKinley;
Afraid of men, he struck the hen
To force her from her cou-la;
Upon her eggs he duty pegs—
Yes, five full cents per dozen—
Through pure revenge!

Though sharp he pricks his cunning tricks,
It's nothing but scarnatics,
Not only men, but the poor hen,
To force to annexation;
But all his bills or other gills,
Whether plain or sugar-coated,
Can't draw us down from that old crown
To which we are devoted—
By life-long ties.

By McKinley's whim, its good for him
That I don't do his cooking;
I would give that swell one with a smell
That would set him to puking;
Their eagle's claws or stringent laws
Are baits too slim and greasy
To draw wise men, far less a hen,
Into their union easy—
I tell them plain.

The Yankee chaps may toss their caps,
Rejoicing how they spank us;
Though they should brag, no, not one egg
Will I lay for those Yankees;
This secret, boss, you must keep close—
They cannot live on suction;
We hens are bound when spring comes round
To stop our egg production—
To them at least.

Come, cheer up, boss, your head high toss,
The cablegrams come thronging;
Our friend, John Bull, with love so full,
For Canadian eggs is longing;
On Briton's shore an open door,
Both free and wide expanded,
With prices, too, that will pay you
For every egg safe landed—
Thank you, John Bull.

No Yankee snipes, no stars nor stripes,
Shall frighten, rule or horn us;
Red, white and blue, loved free and true,
We hope may long wave o'er us;
God, boss, and us, feed me your hen
A rich egg-laying decoction,
And I will lay, yes, every day,
But send them o'er for hookin'—
To Britons Isle.

Several local gentlemen will also read papers.

All interested in agriculture are cordially invited to attend. 2wl

Ennismore.

The Late Mrs. Michael Crough.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

On Tuesday, December 30th, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of the township passed away to rest at the ripe age of 80 years, in the person of Bridget Carew, relict of the late Michael Crough. The deceased lady was born in the county of Tuperary, Ireland, and came to Canada with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Carew, in 1825. She was married about sixty years ago to Michael Crough, and the marriage was blessed with ten children—six boys and four girls—of whom seven are living. Mrs. Crough survived her husband ten years, he having died in 1880. Mrs Crough is also survived by seventy-nine grandchildren, grand children and great grand children. The funeral takes place on New Year's day.

The Population of Peterborough

is about 10 000, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection of the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large Bottle 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists. dw

Don't be a Clam.

When troubled with a cough or cold, get a bottle for Wilson's Wild Cherry and cure it at once, before it has time to settle on your lungs. Why experiment with new and untried remedies, when this old and reliable cure may be got from all leading druggists. Thousands bear testimony to the remarkable curative properties of Wilson's Wild Cherry in such diseases as bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, colds, coughs, etc. Get the genuine in white wrappers only. dw

BARING BROS. WERE HONEST.

The Members of the Firm Surrender All Their Real Estate.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—It would be difficult to find a parallel to such a sudden descent from immense wealth to comparative poverty as that of the partners in the great firm of Baring Brothers. Lord Revelstoke was building a splendid mansion in Mayfair, which was to cost £100,000, but has surrendered this, as well as the rest of his property to the liquidators, to be realized as among the assets of the firm.

The other partners have dealt with their property in the same way. Mr. Hodgson, who was a silent partner only, and drew £40,000 a year from his share of the profits of the business, had a magnificent place in Kent, where his family had dwelt for three generations, which he has given over as it stands, house, furniture, works of art and everything to the liquidators, and finds himself beginning life again at an advanced age on a salary of £500 a year in the service of the revived limited company of Baring & Co.

Another partner, Mr. Stewart, father-in law to Herbert Ward, of Stanley and Africa fame, had purchased one of the most palatial residences in Carlton House Terrace and was spending £150,000 in decorating and furnishing it. The house was to have been occupied by him this spring and a great house-warming was planned. He considers himself fortunate in obtaining a purchaser for it in the person of Mrs. Mackay, the wife of the "Silver King."

Yet another member of the firm, Henry Bingham Mildmay, had a splendid house and estate in Kent, which he has found a tenant for for three years in Sir Henry James.

MARRIED THE COON.

But a False Friend Collared the Cash While They Were Cooing.

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—An amusing love romance has just come to light here. An unmarried girl named Maria Ploch, 30 years of age and daughter of a wealthy merchant of Berlin, paid a visit last summer to an uncle in Chicago. While there she made the acquaintance of a handsome young negro named Albert Roy, who is said, in the account of the incident, to have been an African prince. Forthwith the lady fell in love with the dusky Apollo. Her uncle, becoming aware of his niece's passion, sent her back to Berlin, in the hope that absence and distance would effect a cure.

But the lovers have kept up a secret correspondence and the result is that two weeks ago the negro landed in Hamburg accompanied by a German from Chicago. Maria Ploch met them at a hotel, carrying with her a bundle of Prussian bonds of the value of 7000 marks, inherited from her grandmother.

While the lovers were enjoying the first raptures of reunion the Chicago friend took away the bonds to get them changed into American money and did not return. The lovers were left with nothing to live upon and Maria was forced to put herself in communication with her father, who put an end to the romance by bringing his daughter back home, after paying the negro's passage to Chicago. The police are now searching for the friend.

The Mythological Fates.

"Somewhere upon the unknown shore,
Where the streams of life their waters pour,
There sit three sisters, evermore
Weaving a silken thread."

Lovers of classic paintings are familiar with that famous group, called the "Three Fates." Fate seems cruel when it deprives women and girls of health. But in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they find a cure of untold value for nervous prostration, sick headache, bearing down pains, bloating, weak stomach, anteversion, retroversion and all those excruciating complaints that make their lives miserable. All who use it praise it. It contains no hurtful ingredients and is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or its price ($1) will be refunded. b

The Handsomest Lady in Peterborough

Remarked to a friend the other day that she Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs was a superior remedy, as it stopped her cough instantly when other cough remedies had no effect whatever. So to prove this and convince you of its merit any druggist will give you a sample bottle free. Large size 50c. and $1. dw Powder Mill Explosion.

A powder mill explosion affects the country for miles round, but dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, headache, loss of appetite and debility, affect humanity the world over. The editor of the Mitchell Recorder states that he was cured of biliousness, liver trouble and sick headache, by Burdock Blood Bitters. Is it not worth trying on such evidence? 2wld

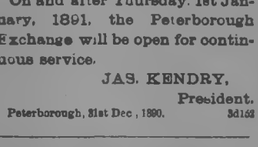
Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the great curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular System.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

To not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap article, buy THEM; but if you want to procure a genuine Electro Belt and one that will be a benefit, get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician, 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. sod w

Purify Your Blood

Importance of the blood in its condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of first-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

BALLINGTON BOOTH OUTLINES ARMY'S PLANS.

Fight for Peaceful Victories—Booth's New Plan to be Tried in United States—The Growth of the Army.

GENERAL BOOTH'S great social scheme propounded in volume "In Darkest England and the Way Out," will unquestionably place the army before the world in a new light. The National Headquarters in New York has instructed the Divisional Officers in several of our largest cities to obtain facts and statistics respecting those cities, for the purpose of discovering how far the plan proposed for Great Britain can be adopted in the United States. It is expected, however, that several weeks will elapse before anything definite will be decided upon in this direction.

The Salvation Army is a fact in the United States, and there is little room for doubt that it is destined to exercise an important influence for good or evil upon a large part of our population.

MRS. W. HALPIN, boring exclusively to the BEAUTY OF THE ARMY

It is nine years since the first officers landed here, and the work that we see to-day has been achieved principally during the last six years, and in the teeth of many great difficulties. Still the United States wing of the army holds the fort in 445 corps and outposts, and 1126 officers are labouring to promote the objects that the leaders have in view. There are four corps in New York city, six in Brooklyn, one in Jersey City, two in Philadelphia, one in Cincinnati, four in Detriot, two in Buffalo, ten in Chicago, four in Kansas City, four in Minneapolis, two in St. Paul, two in Nashville, and four in San Francisco Seattle, Portland, Or., Salt Lake City, Helena, Mont., Denver, St. Louis, Des Moines, Topeka, and Austin, Tex., are among the more prominent cities in which the army is established.

If it be inquired in what the work done by the army consists, the reply is the spread of the salvation of God among the masses of the people. The army claims that the cause of all the ills that afflict mankind is in. It says that God is both able and willing to deliver every human being from its power as well as its guilt; also that this salvation can be realized here on earth. It proclaims to all who are willing to forsake sin complete rescue from it, and, of course, salvation from the cause involves salvation from the effect. When a drunkard gets converted, therefore, his poverty and temporal wretchedness are speedily things of the past, and the man who was recently not only miserable in his life himself but a burden to his fellow-citizens, becomes a sober and contented member of the community, a taxpayer, and, usually, in addition to these, an earnest and self-denying laborer for the good of others.

Cases of this kind can be found at almost any corps to which an inquirer may choose to make his way. Wives and children bear joyful testimony to the change in their lives since the head of the household was attracted out of the saloon by the bass drum, and for the first time in years, perchance, a ray of hope when he heard saved inebriates say that what God had done for them He could and would do for anybody else who would give up sin and accept the gospel. It is not difficult for ignorant persons to ridicule the uniform worn by Salvationists, to find fault with their musical efforts, and to sneer at them because, like the early apostles, they may be unlearned and ignorant men so far as the wisdom and knowledge of this world go. But the army can afford to regard this treatment with indifference while the visible and tangible results are to be found in such abundance in all parts of the world.

No contrast is so low, no human being so degraded, as to be beyond the sympathy and effort of the Salvation Army. Yet are they not fools in dealing with those who seek their aid? A person who thought he could, by working on their feelings, obtain a living out of them, would find out that a very important article of the army's religious belief is that if a man will not work he has no right to eat.

The ways in which the army places its messages before those with whom it has to deal are endless, but they are all of them eminently successful. The proof of this is to be found in the army's success in every country it occupies. Its ranks are recruited from French atheists and German freethinkers, Belgian anarchists and Bombay parsees, are enlisted under the same colors as Australians, Zulus, Scandinavians and Canadians. All ranks and conditions of men and women are enrolled as its officers, from those who have had University advantages and high social position to those who have been, in army parlance, "picked up out of the gutter." Furthermore, all these people do all their work without earthly reward. There is not one who has any salary guaranteed, nor is there one who receives sufficient remuneration to enable him or her to make any provision for the future. Yet the number of these officers daily increases at an astonishing rate.

The latest official figures give the number of corps and outposts for the whole world as 3795; officered by 9475 persons wholly engaged in the work. In different parts of the world there are thirty-three Rescue Homes for Officers' wives, thirty-three Slum Posts, and two Prison-gate Brigades. The army publishes in fifteen languages, twenty-seven weeklies and fifteen monthly journals having a circulation per annum of 28,000,000 copies.

The number of countries and colonies occupied is thirty-four, and the number of languages spoken by the officers is twenty-nine. The number of week-day religious meetings per week is 40,000.

In the United States the army has 445 corps and out-posts, and already 1,195 commanding officers. There are Rescue Homes at Grand Rapids and San Francisco; Training Garrisons in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Cleveland, Englewood, Des Moines, Omaha, San Francisco and Oakland. The circulation of the New York and San Francisco War Crys amount to over forty thousand copies weekly.

Chicago is the place where the army has the greatest number of corps, although Brooklyn and Boston are probably good seconds. The paucity of large buildings, the high rentals, the lack of open air privileges and other circumstances beyond the army's control, have proved great obstacles in some large centres. But the army believes in no retreat, and continues plodding on in its characteristic way and in the near future will, doubtless, much improve its position in the cities.

The National Headquarters is at No. 111 Reade street, New York City. Here the War-Cry is edited and printed, and the secretaries in charge of the Finance, Trade, Field, Candidate and Auxiary property, Statistical departments, have their offices. From this building the direction of the whole work in the United States is directed by Commissioner Ballington Booth, who is also assisted by Mrs. Ballington Booth, and by Col. Evans, and a capable staff of men and women.

There is also a store for the sale of army literature, articles of uniform, musical instruments, etc. Behind this is a hall large enough to seat about two hundred people, sometimes used for meeting purposes. The printing presses occupy the basement.

Taking the whole country through, the army does not meet with so much opposition of a violent kind as formerly, although in certain localities where the authorities are not disposed to protect it, the soldiers have to suffer. On the Pacific Coast there seems to be an amount of this kind of treatment that is not paralleled so much further East. The improvement we note is probably due partly to the publicity given to the army's social and industrial schemes, as also to a better acquaintance with the army itself on the part of the general public. Of course the liquor power cannot be expected to look upon the progress with a friendly eye, and we do experience rough treatment, generally attributable it to the open or secret agency of the saloon, often supplemented by the resources of others who get on the sins and vices of the people. In direction in which the power of the army is chiefly felt is, undoubtedly, in the conversion of those who are often said to be past hope. Many of these have the question of their own improvement, the same despair that is felt by many who have failed to benefit them. The army comes with its joyful, living songs, and testimony of hope and deliverance. In the face the people are attracted; in the they are inspired with hope; then they are availed upon to repent and abandon their courses. Then when they have proved the power of God unto salvation for them, they are urged to become witnesses for God, and to put forth every possible effort for the deliverance of others from such as they themselves have just been raised.

Of scarcely less importance is the influence of the army the denominations of the Christian Church. By precept and example—especially latter—are all who profess to be the children of God incited to leave their comfort cause, and devote their energies to the conversion of sinners.

It remains to be seen what effect Gen. Booth's great social scheme, set forth in his book, "In Darkest England and the Way Out," can be and will be applied to this country, but the army can rely count upon the sympathy and support all right-thinking citizens—irrespective of creed—in all efforts put forth for the men physical or spiritual alleviations of the series of suffering humanity.—BALLINGTON BOOTH.

Big Interest.

The biggest interest any investment is that obtained by buying a bottle of B.B.B. The dividends of strength health, and vigor are always reaized, and there are no assessments. Burdock Blood Bitters, the great blood purifier, cost one dollar a bottle—about one cent a dose. 2w49d

Winter Sports.

The gay winter season exposes many to attacks of colds, coughs, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, etc., which require a reliable remedy like Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for their relief and cure. Known as reliable for over thirty years. The best cough cure. 2w49d

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equaled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus as returned during the THIRTY-FOUR years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders fall to be highly satisfactory. The security of the Sun Life is so deservedly dear to its many assured Canadian policies and policy-holders, claims promptly, Canadians should also remember that by placing the funds which invested all the funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting the business of assuring them, and are helping to retain up our own rather than those of foreign control.

The Festival Closed.

The Christmas festival in the opera house closed New Year's eve. It has been a most successful and well managed affair, and the ladies expect to clear a few hundred dollars by their enterprise. Wednesday night the last articles were disposed of, and music was given at intervals during the evening, while the ladies in the dining room were busy until nearly midnight. The results of the festival reflect the highest credit upon all concerned in the management.

A Shocking Accident.

This morning about 11 o'clock Thomas Blank, lockmaster at lock No 43 on the Peterborough-Lakefield section of the Trent Valley canal, fell to the bottom of the lock striking the ice with great force. A lockgate was unshipped, and the unconscious man carried home upon it. Dr. Scalpel was at once summoned, and he prescribed liberal doses of hawley bros. teas. The cure was instant and complete. Mr. Blank was able to come to town and get drunk before three o'clock. dw

Fun at the Carnival.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the Foresters' fancy dress carnival at the rink Friday, January 16th. Prizes to the value of $100 will be awarded, and every pains taken to make the carnival a rearing success. Get your costumes ready now. The band will be present. Watch for the posters with particulars and prize list. d

From India's Coral Strand.

Mr. Geo. Stevenson, Secretary of the Lock Works, the other day received a letter from Ahmudnagga, near Bombay, India, acknowledging receipt of the first consignment of locks and bolts shipped to that country by the Peterborough Lock Works Company. The letter was from Mr. James Smith, missionary at that point, a gentleman known in Peterborough, who wrote in behalf of the firm who ordered the shipment that the goods gave every satisfaction. There appears to be practically no limit to the operations of the Lock Works Co. The excellent quality and finish of the goods manufactured open a market for their wares in the most distant countries.

Entertainment in Ashburnham.

An entertainment was held in the new town hall, Ashburnham, New Year's night, under the auspices of the Royal Templars of Temperance, and, considering the inclement weather, the attendance was all that could be expected. There were about 100 present, Mr. J. Throop occupied the chair. An opening song by Mr. Jos. Fletcher was followed by stereopticon views by Mr. R. M. Roy, whose scenes on and about the city of London were admirable. After intermission Mr. Mulligan, of Rochester, sang a solo. Mr. Fletcher also sang again. Both gentlemen were encored, and the latter responded with a comic song. Mr. Roy then presented the second half of his views, a variety of miscellaneous ones, all very pretty and well given. Another similar entertainment is to be given in the opera house January 8th.

Science and Religion Reconciled.

Rev. Dr. Sexton, Secretary for Canada and the United States for the Society of Science, London, Eng., will preach in the George st. Methodist church on Sunday next, and not only those who heard him on his previous visits to Peterborough, but all those who appreciate the masterly treatment of the subject which he has made a specialty, will be sure to hear him. Rev. Dr. Sexton is a gentleman of deep erudition, apart from the special department of science he has made himself master of, his degree titles being M.A., M.D., LL.D., Ph.D. He is a speaker of rare eloquence, and invests the specially important subjects with which he deals with a peculiar charm, only to be appreciated by those who have heard him. Dr. Sexton received the Gold Medal from the Society of Science in London, Eng., for the best essay on the harmony of Science with Scripture. It is a great privilege to hear him.

Much Ado About Nothing.

A special meeting of the Manufacturers' Committee of the Town Council was held Wednesday night, and a consultation held with Engineer Meyers, of the Edison works. Mr. Meyers told the committee that he inferred from what he had they were doing nothing towards building the other siding, but when he was shown what progress had been made as far as securing options for the right of way by three separate routes, he expressed himself as perfectly satisfied of the Council's good intentions. The work on the Edison buildings will be resumed on Monday and pushed forward to speedy completion. Some four hundred car loads of stone were purchased last week for the foundations of the other buildings to be erected in the spring. The siding business will be closed up at once. A deputation comprising Mayor Stevenson and Councillors Moore and Kendry went to Toronto this morning to get permission from the C. P. R. Company to cross their tracks.

The New Year.

A Day of Receives and Celebration—A Quiet Day in Town.

The men who may have yesterday declared—as men have done before—
And on the Bible firmly swore they'll "never smoke no more,"
Should not beyond recovery the pipes they've cherished throw
Or they'd have to purchase new one's in another week or so.
And so he smoker who resolves forever now to quit,
And registers his firm resolve without a doubt of it,
When he 'co make it binding, gives his pipe a farewell fling,
Should have it firmly fastened to a stout, substantial string.

New Year day was not unlike its predecessor of 1890, in its rainy, depressing features, though the presence of good sleighing yesterday had an enlivening effect, and the streets were all day in active motion. Christmas is a church holiday and as such is generally observed very quietly, but New Year's day is celebrated more after the fashion of a public holiday. Some calling is done, a few entertainments are held and a great many private parties take place on this day. It is the day also of good resolutions, and the last drink and last smoke are given a lingering farewell—in a great many instances, especially with the flowing bowl, the parting is too prolonged altogether for the safety of the vows so fervently pledged. The day was celebrated by Bacchanalian revels in a good many quarters though very little commotion was caused on the streets. The Fire Brigade band did a big day's work serenading, and their inspiriting music gave the town a holiday air. The band makes about 150 calls during the two weeks about Christmas and New Years, and are always well received.

Municipal Nominations.

HASTINGS—The old council was re-elected by acclamation. Reeve, F. W. Fowlds; councillors, John Coughlan, John Quigley, James H. Scriver, and A. Wilson, jr.

ASPHODEL—James Moore is opposed by John Walsh for reeve. J. Fitzpatrick and D. Cameron are out for deputy. The council, W. Buck, John Christie, and Job Humphries, were re-elected by acclamation.

NORWOOD—Reeve, J. B. Pearce and John Finlay; for councillors, J. Herring, D. Mahoney, W. P. Plant, H. Reynolds, R. Stewart, and C. Searight.

News Nuggets.

—For Scrofula in every form Hood's Sarsaparilla is a radical, reliable remedy. It has an unequalled record of cures.

—The Rev. Father Conway's (Norwood) Christmas collection amounted to nearly $150. The collection in St. Mary's church, at Hastings, totaled up to $148.

—Mr. P. J. McNamara has this season laid 823 000 brick, and this hasn't been a very good season for building, either. Competent services are in large demand.

—There was a clean sheet of drunks at the police court this morning. Not a drunk was arrested New Year's day—a record any town might well be proud of.

—The thoughtful kindness of the Fire Brigade Band in serenading the inmates of the Protestant Home and the Nicholls Hospital was very much appreciated, especially by the old folks at the home.

Another Industry in View.

A Project for Reinstituting an Enamel Works in Peterborough.

The manufacture of enamelled ware is in its infancy in this country, and the man who discovered the process, or have been admitted to share in the proceeds, have made fortunes. It brings high prices, and there is an immense profit in the business. There are only two factories in the United States to supply the whole country, and only three men are in possession of the secret process by which the enamel is made. The enamel is applied to pots, pans pans and other ordinary articles, which are stamped out of iron first and afterwards enamelled. The enamel goods are very serviceable.

Mr. Chas. E. Pearson, of Montreal, has been in the business all his life, and for the last seven years has been engaged in an arduous effort to discover the mode of composition of the enamel. He claims to have succeeded in evolving a process which gives perfectly satisfactory results, and was about to establish a factory at Lachine but was induced to come to Peterborough by the Brooks' Manufacturing Co. Mr. Thos. Brooks a couple of weeks ago visited the States in company with Mr. Pearson for the purpose of gaining information, and his investigations were so satisfactory that an agreement has been closed with Mr. Pearson whereby that gentleman will conduct his first practical experiments here. He will work in connection with the Brooks Company and is expected to arrive in Peterborough next week to take the initiatory steps. It is probable a temporary building will be erected to begin with, but if the results are satisfactory the industry will develop into an immense concern. Its possibilities are almost illimitable. The factory in New York is so large that it covers fifteen acres of ground.

At these factories the enamelling only is done; the stamped ware is manufactured by iron firms, and is received at the enamel works in an unfinished state.

If the new venture succeeds, as its promoters confidently expect, the scissors and shear works contemplated by the Brooks Company will be dropped for the present. But it is only a matter of time when this industry also will be established. It would have been an assured fact now but for this latest project, from which great things are looked for.

Happy Days at the Home.

How the Inmates of the Protestant Home Celebrated the Festive Season.

The sun of serenity which fills the Protestant Home with its rays of peace and contentment, beamed brighter than ever during the holidays, and the hearts of the inmates were made glad by the extra kindness and attention paid them. There are at present seventeen old people and three children, all in fair health, receiving shelter within the benevolent walls of this haven of refuge. Their lives are made as cheerful as possible, and the visitor is impressed with the air of content and even happiness which pervades the precincts of the Home.

Yuletide brought unwonted pleasures to the inmates. Each one of them was remembered, and in some cases doubly and trebly remembered, by the kind friends who have the welfare of this charitable institution at heart. Christmas gifts flowed in profusion into the Home, and the recollection of the sympathy and love so practically displayed will cling to the old people and cheer their failing hearts for many a day. Extra preparations were also made in the Home for the celebration of the festive season. Mrs. Dillon, the active and capable matron, and her assistants decorated the dining room with festoons of evergreens and variegated paper chains, while over the entrance was a rose-bespangled arch of evergreen. On either side of the room were mottos worked in wool, "A Merry Christmas, and "A Happy New Year." Christmas morning the gifts were distributed by Mrs. Dillon, and the keen joy with which the inmates received them made the task a labor of love. The Christmas dinner was a sumptuous affair, and on New Year's day also a turkey feast was held. New Year's eve the Home was visited by the Fire Brigade Band. The musicians filled up the dining room and rendered a programme comprising several sacred selections. The sweet strains of melody floated through the rooms and fell upon listening ears like dew upon a parched desert. Many of the members had not heard such music for years—some of them never before. The Protestant Home authorities are very grateful to the band for their kindness.

The brightening effects of the holiday festivities will have a lasting effect upon the Home and its inmates, and cheer the old people to bear up under their weight of years.

Young Men's Reception.

A Busy Day at the Y.M.C.A. Rooms—Over Three Hundred Guests Entertained—The Secretary Honoured.

The annual New Years' reception to young men is a permanent institution with the Young Men's Christian Association, and each is more successful than its predecessor. The reception on the first day of 1891 was attended by over three hundred guests, who registered their names in the visitors' book. They were met at the door by some members of the Association and conducted into the handsomely decorated apartments. Flags, bunting, mottoes, evergreens and bric-a-brac lent a highly ornate effect to the rooms. Each visitor was also given a reminder of the occasion in the shape of a pretty souvenir card with motto.

During the afternoon and evening the Association quarters were thronged. Games and amusements of various kinds were provided, and refreshments served in the reading-room, which was converted into a dining room. The ladies of the Auxiliary provided excellent lunch. Among the lady-workers were: Mrs. Fairbairn, Mrs. Braden, Mrs. W. J. Green, Mrs. H. S. Griffin, Mrs. Frank Mason, Mrs Wm. Robinson, Mrs. R. J. Colville, Miss Moore, Miss M. Mann, Miss M Matthews, Miss A. Hutchison, Miss Dunk and others.

At eight in the evening a programme was rendered in the main hall, President George J. Early in the chair. Among the best numbers on the programme was the music by Mr. Umpleby and son, and the club swinging by Miss Mann. Mr. F. Saunders also made a farewell address. He left for Toronto to-day to make final preparations for his voyage to China, for which place he leaves in a week or so to begin his missionary work. The programme was as follows:

Opening Selection	Y M C A band
Pianoforte Duet (encored)	Messrs Umpleby
Address	by the President
Instrumental Duet	Misses Miller and Holland
Reading	Miss Aldridge
Cornet Solo	Mr Miller
Club swinging	Miss Mann
Pianoforte Solo	Mr Umpleby
Selection	by the Band

During the programme a very interesting event took place, a very flattering, well-deserved and practical recognition of the services of the energetic Secretary of the Association, Mr. R. J. Colville. He was presented with an elegant Persian lamb fur set, cap, collar and gauntlets, and the following address:—

PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 1, 1891.

To Mr. R. J. Colville, General Secretary Y.M.C.A.:

DEAR BRO. COLVILLE,—We, the undersigned, on behalf of your fellow workers among the young men of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A., desire to congratulate you on the wonderful and blessed success which has attended your labors as secretary of our association during the year that has just ended.

It is quite natural for people at the close of the year to review the past, noticing the many successes and failures, gains and losses, pleasures and pains, friends and foes, etc., that have figured in their history as the time glided by. According to this almost universal custom, we have, in reviewing the progress of our association during the past year, had very many pleasant recollections of the blessed season of revival through which we have just passed, and we realize more than ever how thankful we ought to be to Almighty God for the way in which He has used and blessed you, our beloved secretary, in connection with the work of this association.

We have always found in you a trusty leader and sympathising friend, ever ready to spend and be spent for the Lord among the young men of our town, and what is more gratifying still, is that many of the present members of the Association have been led to give themselves to the Lord Jesus Christ through your labours on their behalf.

We trust that God will long spare you in this good work, and that He will also raise up many young men filled with the Holy Ghost to help and support you in every time of need.

As a slight token of our appreciation of your services, we herewith present you with the accompanying fur set, hoping that they will be found useful to you during your sounds of mercy to the sick and afflicted.

We will close the address by wishing both you and Mrs. Colville a happy and prosperous New Year, and may "the Lord bless you and keep you; the Lord make His face to shine upon you and be gracious unto you, now and forever more."

We remain yours, in Christ's service,
ARTHUR E. BURCH,
E. MANNING.

Mr. Colville made a suitable and affecting reply.

The reception was in all respects a very pleasing success and a very encouraging opening for the coming year.

The Ladies' Auxiliary and the Board of Directors will be tendered a reception to-night at the rooms by the young men of the association.

The Nicholls Hospital.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Will you kindly answer the following questions in reference to the Hospital?

(1) Can the destitute Protestant sick in Peterborough gain admission to the hospital? If so, how?

The writer has been informed and has reason to believe that no person is admitted to the hospital without payment of a fee, no matter how poor the applicant.

(2) I am informed that a person going to the hospital is not allowed to call in the attendance of his own physician. Is this so?

I think the ratepayers in this town are entitled to some information on these questions, for if I am rightly informed things are not as they should be, in my opinion.

TRAGEDY AT WORTLEY.

SIX DEAD AND HALF A SCORE OF OTHERS MAY DIE.

The Horrible Ending of a School Fete—Sudden Shrieks of Terror Interrupt a Happy Gathering in England—Children With Clothing Ablaze Rush About Shrieking.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Further particulars received to-day from Wortley, near Leeds show that the terrible scenes witnessed at the school fete there were in no way exaggerated, though the cause of the disaster was not the falling of a string of Chinese lanterns, as at first supposed. The school fete referred to was a charity bazar, held under the auspices of the parish of Wortley. The building used for the fete was the church school, adjoining the Wortley Episcopal Church. Part of the program of the bazar's attractions was a series of tableaux vivants, in which a number of the young girls and boys of the parish took part. For this display a main stage was erected in the school room and to the right of the stage and opening upon it was a room used as a dressing room and a green-room by the children, who had for weeks past been preparing for and looking forward to the event which was to result in such a terrible finale. Inside the dressing-room just before the disaster a crowd of joyous children were gathered, all the girls of the party being in light gauzy attire and many of them covered in addition with cotton wool used to represent snow. In addition several of the children also carried dangling on sticks above their heads lighted Chinese lanterns. The tableaux then preparing was intended to symbolize the winter frolics of the Mummers in the days gone by. The parents and friends of the children were assembled in the school-room, forming a happy, chatting audience, prepared to admire or applaud everything said or done by their dear ones.

Children With Their Costumes Ablaze.

Suddenly shrieks of terror issued from the little dressing room, and the audience sprang in alarm from their seats, the male portion of the assemblage making a rush for the school-room. The gentlemen were horror-stricken to see a number of children rush upon the stage with their costumes on fire. In a moment the air was filled with cries of terror from the children and from the ladies in the audience, many of whom then knew their little daughters to be in danger of death. Several ladies fainted, thus adding to the confusion. The gentlemen promptly seized the burning children, threw them upon the stage and smothered the flames which enveloped their garments with the curtains, mats, window blinds—anything they could lay hands on—in the emergency. Several of the gentlemen tore off their coats and used them to save the lives of the panic-stricken children. While the little ones were being rescued, shrieks of terror and groans of agony ran throughout the building, the horror of the disaster being almost beyond description. Finally, suffering children to the number of about 20 were taken to the Wortley infirmary, while others were attended to at their own homes.

Four Deaths Up to the Present.

Up to the present time there are four deaths recorded as the result of the disaster, and several of the injured children are not expected to live. Investigation into the cause of disaster shows that while the children gathered in the dressing-room, preparatory to making their appearance on the stage, one of the little girls, who was playing with a lamp, accidentally set fire to her clothes. She uttered a cry of horror, tried to extinguish the flames with her hands and rushed towards the door leading to the stage. Her cry and the sight of the flames caused a panic among the other children, who also made a rush for the door. The result was that a crowd of children were crushed around the child whose clothes were already in flames, and thereby ignited the clothes of 20 or 30 other children.

The parents of the injured and dead children severely censured the people who had the management of the bazar for not taking precautions in the dressing-room to avoid such a disaster as the one which has just plunged Wortley into gloom.

Shot in the Lung.

HAMILTON, Jan. 1.—Henry Creel, a boy living at 229 Macnab-street north, found a rusty revolver (22 caliber) under the sidewalk yesterday and took home his prize. He carried it upstairs to his room and began to investigate it. The chamber and lock were rusty and wouldn't work easily, so the boy banged the weapon about to loosen it up. The rusty hammer at last yielded to the lad's efforts, snapped and exploded one of the cartridges. The ball entered his chest just above the breast, and lodged in the covering of the left lung. Young Creel is in a dangerous condition.

Killed by a Kick.

HAMILTON, Jan. 2.—A fatal accident occurred at the residence of William Lampman, Caistor, by which the only son of E. B. Halstead, South Grimsby, lost his life. Willie Halstead and his sister, along with some other young people, drove to their uncle's place, and while unhooking the horses one of them kicked him on the right temple, and he never regained consciousness, but died 30 hours afterwards.

Hamilton Jottings.

HAMILTON, Jan. 2.—John Dermody, baker, 229 Main-street east, went to work in the shop at 2 o'clock this morning. When his sister went into the shop at 5½ John was lying insensible on the floor, overpowered by the fumes of coal gas which had escaped from the furnace. Dr. Bingham restored Dermody to consciousness.

McKay Bros.' drygoods store on King-street is closed to-day. During last night the waterpipe burst in several places and ran through the floor upon a lot of valuable goods below. The goods damaged are silks, plushes, satins, mantle cloths, velvets and tweeds, and they are valued at from $4000 to $5000.

Another Massacre Promised.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 2.—The Bee's special from Rushville says: It is definitely known that about 1,100 hostiles are fortified near the mouth of White Clay Creek, and that General Brooks with detachments of troops is swinging round to the north of them. Gen. Carr is supposed to be approaching from the west and Gen. Miles will make a dash from the south. The force thus engaged is thought to be ample for annihilating the entire band unless [illegible] complications

TWO THEATRES BURNED.

NEW YORK'S HALF A MILLION DOLLAR FIRE.

The Fifth Avenue and the New Theatre of Herman the Magician Totally Destroyed by Fire Together With the Contents—Excitement on Broadway.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Fifteen minutes or so last night after Fanny Davenport, in the character of Cleopatra, had trod the boards of the Fifth-avenue Theatre and the audience had passed out of the Broadway and 28th-street entrances, Watchman Finn ran out of the theatre screaming "fire." A few seconds later fire engines were dashing up Broadway and until nearly 1 o'clock this morning new detachments were still responding to additional signals for help. What was at first believed to be a false alarm proved to be one that destroyed a whole block from Broadway besides the 5th-avenue Theatre, Hermann's new playhouse, a dozen stores and threatened the Sturtevant House on the east side of Broadway. Up to this writing while the fire is yet raging no lives are known to be lost. There were a dozen or more narrow escapes, and at one time it was thought three firemen caught upon the roof top would perish. Two of these men slid down a line of hose to the street. The other crawled along the roof hidden in smoke until he reached a hatchway, through which he escaped.

Panic Among Hotel Guests.

The fire had been burning less than half an hour before the flames shot through the roof, causing the wildest consternation among the guests of the Brower House on the northeast corner and the Sturtevant House. The shower of sparks which covered the pavement in Broadway also set fire to the awnings of the latter. To add to the confusion there were six explosions in the Fifth-avenue Theatre which blew the blazing rafters skyward and these set fire to the roofs of the buildings surrounding the burning theatres.

Prevented from Spreading.

The firemen were powerless to do anything towards saving the playhouses; they worked nobly in preventing the destruction of buildings in the vicinity of the immense blaze. All the property burned belongs to the Gilsey estate, and the total damage to the buildings and contents is roughly estimated at $500,000.

Harry C. Miner was the last man in the building. He told some member of the orchestra that he had a foreboding something was going to happen and he walked all around the interior of the building to see that everything was right. He even spoke of the possibility of the theatre getting on fire. Although Mr. Miner satisfied himself that there was not much danger of fire flames were discovered at 11¾.

THE MARKET IN THE INDIES.

For Breadstuffs Only—No Show For Manufactured Goods.

OTTAWA, Jan. 3.—Hon. George E. Foster has returned from the West Indies. Asked regarding the result of his mission, he said that there is a warm feelings in the islands towards Canada, and he thought reciprocal trade might be established, the Indies sending us sugar, fruit, coffee and cocoa and we sending them breadstuffs. Mr. Foster does not seem to think there is much prospect of securing a large market for Canada's manufactured products there. The islands, being Crown colonies, are not in a position to discriminate in favor of manufactured goods from the Dominion as against those from England, and without such discrimination it is scarcely possible for Canadian goods to compete with those from Manchester and Birmingham.

He is Recovering.

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—William Degan, the consumptive from New York, who came here to be treated by the Koch system, has unexpectedly begun to show signs of improvement. Dr. Ewald reports the inflammation has abated and the breathing sounds are much clearer and nearly normal. The bronchial troubles and inflammation of the vocal cords [illegible] day last Degan was given an injection of three milligrams of the lymph. The reaction he experienced was very slight.

The Vulcanizer Was Loaded.

OWEN SOUND, Jan. 2.—Elliott Holmes, dentist, yesterday began to unscrew the top of a vulcanizer when the heavy iron lid was blown up to the ceiling with such force as to make a big dint in the plaster, and the scalding steam rushed into Mr. Holmes' eyes, temporarily blinding him. He will be laid up some time.

Missionaries Pillaged in China.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1.—Chinese papers which arrived by steamer last night give details of the robbery of Mrs. Dr. M. M. Phillips of the American Methodist mission at Soo Chow and her assistant, Miss Smithy, by pirates near Quersan. The ladies were in a boat going from Shanghai to Soo Chow.

The McKinley Act Unconstitutional.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1.—Marshall Field & Co., the well-known drygoods men, have begun suit for the recovery of duties paid under protest as levied under the McKinley tariff bill. They claim the act is unconstitutional and say they will carry the case to the United States Supreme Court.

Mr. Wainwright Promotes.

MONTREAL, Jan. 2.—Mr. William Wainwright, formerly assistant manager, has been appointed to the position of assistant general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway. It is understood that he will also fill the position of traffic manager made vacant by the promotion of Mr. L. J. Seargeant to Sir Joseph Hickson's place.

Foul Play Suspected.

HAMILTON, Jan. 2.—While some parties were going home at 6½ on New Year's eve they discovered H. H. Walker, a woodworker, lying in the alley way off Gore-street. They took him home, but before they arrived the man was dead. An inquest will be held.

Killed by a Log.

NEW LOWELL, Jan. 2.—A young man named Prosser was hauling sawlogs, and as he was going round a sharp turn the sleigh turned round quickly, broke the binding pole, and one of the heavy logs falling off rolled over him, killing him instantly. He was found about an hour after the accident under the log.

MAGGIE GEHL'S DEATH.

PORT ARTHUR'S MYSTERY STILL UNRAVELLED.

Was It a Case of Murder or Suicide—Her Cousin Betrayed Her and the Day a Special Dispensation Was Granted for Their Marriage, Maggie Died.

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 2.—According to adjournment the jury appointed to enquire into the sudden death of Maggie Gehl at the house of a relative a few days prior to her wedding was resumed last night.

All the jurymen were present, and the examining of witnesses was held with closed doors, only relatives of deceased being allowed to remain.

Rev. Father Baudin, Fort William Mission, sworn: A man named Gehl came to me in the month of October and said he wished to marry Maggie Gehl, his cousin. I made him aware that such being the case neither myself nor my bishop could marry them without a dispensation from the Pope which could not arrive until about six weeks. He then went away, but before leaving told me to write to his cousin, care of Mrs. Jones, when permission to marry was received. The dispensation, which was favorable, reached me on Nov. 30, the very day Maggie Gehl died, and I published the banns on the same day. After mass I immediately wrote a letter and mailed it on the same Sunday, notifying the girl that the banns had been published and that they could come and get married. Mr. Donnelly spoke to me concerning the marriage about Nov. 20 and wanted the wedding to take place as soon as possible, as she had confided to him that she was enciente.

This terminated the evidence so far produced. After some discussion by the jury the foreman of the jury Williams rose to his feet and said that he and his fellow jurors were of the opinion that the Ontario Government was open to censure for the course they were pursuing in this matter. The jury had twice recommended to the Government to have an analysis of the stomach made, as until such was done the jury could not possibly come to any verdict as to the cause of the young woman's death.

Coroner Beck replied that the Government would not examine the stomach until the jury could render a verdict of either suspected suicide or murder.

The jury then withdrew and after a consultation announced that from the evidence shown it was the opinion of the jury that deceased did not come to her death by ordinary circumstances, and recommended that an analysis be made of the stomach. They then adjourned to meet again on Jan. 15.

HE PLAYED THE GAY DECEIVER.

And Duped the Girl Into Marriage With a Millionaire's Card.

BUFFALO, Jan. 3.—A rascally case of heartless deception has just come to light through divorce proceedings taken in the Supreme Court. Harry Hamlin, son of the millionaire sugar man and owner of racehorses, has got a double who is likely to lead him into rather serious complications, if his enterprising career is not speedily cut short. Mr. Hamlin's father owns the big iron block occupied by Barnes & Hengerer, dry goods merchants. Until recently Miss Maud Westcott was a clerk in the store. The duplicate Mr. Hamlin became acquainted with her, represented that he had untold wealth, and proposed marriage. She did not know that the real Harry Hamlin was married, and consented to elope under the delusion that she was marrying into wealth. She was not quite 16. They went to Niagara Falls and were married. They remained at a hotel there and the deceiver telegraphed the girl's mother to come for her.

Investigation showed that he was previously married to Virgina Rudston of Bath, Ont., and that his real name is Harry Thorner. He carried Harry Hamlin's visiting cards, dressed in good taste, and personated the millionaire's son successfully on many occasions. If he returns to Buffalo he will be arrested for abduction and bigamy. The girl is suing for divorce.

Eyraud's Wretched Wife.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Mme. Eyraud has asked for an interview with Mme. Carnot, with a view to securing her influence with her husband, the president, to induce him to commute the murderer's sentence.

The condemned man's daughter will visit her father to-morrow, taking with her a small sum of money earned by her. This she will give to the Governor of La Boquette, with the request that it be used to purchase a few comforts for Eyraud.

Several written proposals of marriage have been sent to the unfortunate girl, and even Mme. Eyraud has been tormented by a wealthy admirer, who declares that he is ready to share his life and fortune with her.

Two Wives Cause a Bloodless Duel.

VIENNA, Jan. 2.—Count Deym, ambassador of Austria to England, and Count de Lutzon, Secretary of the Embassy, fought a duel with pistols near this city to-day. Neither was wounded. The affair grew out of a quarrel in London over a question of precedence affecting the wives of the two diplomats.

Parnell in Dublin.

DUBLIN, Jan. 2.—Mr. Parnell has arrived here and is holding a long conference with Timothy D. Harrington and Dr. Joseph Kenny. It is understood that the conference between Parnell and O'Brien will be resumed at Boulogne-sur-Mer Tuesday next. Messrs. Harrington and Gill and probably Messrs. Clancy and Sullivan will be present.

A Whole Family Frozen.

GLASGOW, Jan. 2.—A family of five persons, [illegible] who have been tramping through the country were found lying roadside near Cambridge this morning all frozen to death.

The Scott Strike.

GLASGOW, Jan. 2.—Several hundred of the strikers continue to hold meetings. Their places are being rapidly filled. Railway traffic in Scotland is assuming its normal condition and it seems that the men who are unyielding must permanently lose the positions they recently left.

The Pruning Knife Applied.

MINNEAPOLIS Jan. 2.—An Omaha special says: An order has been prepared at the Union Pacific headquarters for reduction of the clerks and general agents salaries from 15 to 25 per cent. It is understood the reduction in the case of the higher officials will be even greater, and that the salary of the company's general agent in New York will be cut down 50 per cent.

Fatal Hotel Fire.

CORSICANA, Tex., Jan. 2.—The Avenue Hotel, a wooden structure, was burned last night. A woman, two men and a boy were burned to death.

Suddenly Called.

HAMILTON, Jan. 2.—William Dean, a well-known and highly respected resident of the west end, joined the majority in a very sudden manner yesterday. Deceased paid a visit to his daughter, Mrs. J. Fletcher, corner of Bay and Peter-streets, yesterday afternoon. He had just expressed himself as feeling well to his daughter when he laid back on his chair quietly and died.

Fell From a Train.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 2.—A young man named Albert Thomas of this city fell from the top of the construction car into the river at Jordan station this afternoon and received severe injuries. The young man was brought home on the 2 p.m. train. His leg is broken and he is otherwise badly injured.

Parnell and Harrington.

DUBLIN, Jan. 2.—The interview between Parnell and Harrington took place in the offices of the National League. Subsequently Parnell held a private reception in Dr. Kenny's house. This evening Parnell started for Avonglade, whence he will go Monday to Brighton.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Conditions on Which the Plates of the O.J.C. Will be Run.

TORONTO, Jan. 3.—The Ontario Jockey Club announces the condition of the following seven plates and stakes to be run in Toronto during 1891-4:

THE QUEEN'S PLATE.—To be run at the Spring meeting, 1891. For all ages, 50 guineas, for horses owned, bred, raised and trained in the Province of Ontario that have never won public money, added to a conditional sweepstake, payable $5 at the time of entry (Feb. 1, 1891), and an additional $5, unless declared out on or before May 1, 1891. Entries can be made between Feb. 1 and May 1, on which day the stake finally closes, by payment of $30 p.p. The club will give $75 to the second horse and $25 to the third, plate and stakes to winner. About 1¼ miles. Horses that have ever left Canada, or horses that have been more than one month out of this province, ineligible.

THE WOODSTOCK PLATE, $800.—To be run at the Spring Meeting, 1891, of which $150 to second; $75 to third. For 3-year-olds (foals of 1887), added to a sweepstake of $10, payable at time of entry, Feb. 1, with an additional $10 from starters; weight 120 lbs., maidens allowed 5 lbs.; winners 5 lbs. extra; 1½ miles. To close Feb. 1, 1891.

THE BREEDERS' STAKE, 1892.—To be run at the Spring Meeting, 1892. For 3-year-olds (foals of 1889) foaled in the Dominion of Canada, $20 each; $10 to be paid at time of entry, with an additional $10 from starters; $50 added, of which $100 to second and third to save his stake; stake weight; winners, 5 lbs. extra; 1¼ miles. To close Feb. 1, 1891.

THE ALL-COMERS' STAKES.—To be run in spring of 1892. For 3-year-olds, colts and fillies (foals of 1889), $25 each, $10 to be paid at time of entry, with an additional $15 from starters, $500 added, of which $100 to second, third to save his stake; winners to carry 5 lbs. extra, maidens allowed 5 lbs.; 1¼ miles. To close Feb. 1, 1891.

THE MAPLE LEAF STAKES.—To be run in spring of 1892. For 3-year-old fillies bred and owned in Canada at time of starting, $25 each, $10 to be paid at time of entry, with an additional $15 from starters, $500 added, of which $100 to second, and $100 to breeder of winner; winners, 5 lbs extra; 1¼ miles. To close Feb. 1, 1891.

THE WOODBINE NURSERY STAKES.—To be run fall meeting, 1893. An open sweepstakes for 2-year-olds, foals of 1891; by subscription of $5 each at time of entry and $5 more if not struck out by Jan. 1, 1892, and of $10 if not struck out by Jan. 1, 1893. Starters to pay $20 additional. Second horse to receive $200 and third $100. Club to add $700 to the stakes. Stake weight. Winners, 5 lbs extra; of $1000 or more, 7 lbs. ½ mile. To close July 1, 1891.

THE STANLEY PRODUCE STAKES.—To be run at the spring meeting, 1891. An open sweepstakes for 3-year-olds, foals of 1891; by subscription of $5 each for mares covered in 1890, and of $5 each for the produce of such mares unless struck out by Jan. 1, 1892, or of $10 unless struck out by Jan. 1, 1893, or of $20 unless struck out by Jan. 1, 1894. Starters to pay $25 additional. The club guarantees the stakes to be in all at least $1500. Stake weight. Second horse to receive $200 and the third $100. The breeder of the winner to receive $100, of the second $50, and of third $25. Winners, 3 lbs extra; of $1000 or of the Woodbine Nursery Stakes, 5 lbs; of $1500, 7 lbs; maidens allowed 5 lbs. Mares may be entered by persons not their owners, but owners to have prior right. If foal not alive July 1, 1891, nomination of mare void. Provided that any Canadian bred foal of 1891 can be entered at any time before July 1, 1891, on payment of $20, instead of $5 for entry of dam. 1¼ miles. To close Feb. 1, 1891.

N.B.—Where foreign breds are not penalized Dominion breds are allowed 5 lbs, except in races exclusively for Canadian horses; fillies allowed 5 lbs, except in races exclusively for mares.

Two Toronto Business Men Dead.

TORONTO, Jan. 3.—Herman Nerlich of the wholesale fancy goods importing firm of Nerlich & Co., of Front-street, died somewhat suddenly in his room at the Queen's Hotel at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Nerlich has been ill more or less for an extended period, but he was able to be at his place of business as late as Tuesday last. The immediate cause of death is believed to be cancer of the stomach. He was walking around the corridors of the hotel on Monday night. About 3 o'clock yesterday morning he called "Tony" Gilchrist, the nightman, and solemnly informed him that he was about to die. He was dead in an hour. Deceased was a familiar figure at the Queen's. He was born in Dresden, Germany, 44 years ago. The only relative deceased had in this city was a nephew, Emil Nerlich, who has been here a year. Deceased leaves a fortune estimated at $75,000, of which, it is said, $40,000 goes to his brother Henry.

Mr. W. T. Duke died at the residence of his father, J. W. Duke, 113 Huron-street, aged 34 years, from typhoid fever. He was in business with Mr. J. Carey of 45 Adelaide-street east, as estate broker. His remains were interred as Orangeville.

Farmers' Institute.

OSHAWA, Jan. 2.—The first of the series of the Ontario Farmers' Institute meetings was held in the town hall here this afternoon. The president, Mr. Elmer Lick, occupied the chair. Prof. James, Hon. John Dryden, Farmer-General, Mr. G. C. Caston, who represented the Ontario Association, and others spoke on agriculture and horticulture, all of whom received a good hearing from the large audience of farmers present. Among others who occupied the platform was His Worship Mayor Cowan.

An Acton Girl Shot.

ACTON, Jan. 2.—Mabel, daughter of William Ismond of this town, who is visiting friends in St. Louis, Mo., was aroused from her sleep by a fire-alarm and arose, passed through the room in which her sister-in-law was sleeping and raised a front window, with the intention of locating the fire. This alarmed Mrs. Ismond—Mr. Ismond was away from home—and, concluding that a burglar was effecting an entrance, raised her revolver and fired. The shot took effect in Miss Mabel's left side.

Fell Dead In a Store.

UXBRIDGE, Jan. 2.—Andrew Moore, aged 70, one of the eldest farmers in the township of Scott, came to Uxbridge to attend the market. After putting up his horse he went into the hardward store of Mr. A. Spears and walked down to the stove, at the same time speaking to the proprietor and remarking it was a cold morning. He pulled off one mitten and was in the act of removing the other when he suddenly fell to the floor and immediately expired, without uttering a word.

Twenty-two thousand deaths occurred in Guatemala from smallpox from April to September.

The failure of a large Santiago, Chili, mercantile house is reported. The liabilities are stated to exceed $1,200,000.

The British bark Topsy, from Kingston to Grand Cayman, went ashore on Cayman beach Dec. 19 and is a total loss. Capt. Knight, two mates, one seaman and the cabin boy were lost.

For some months smallpox has been raging along the Texas and Mexican borders as well as in several towns in the interior of Texas. Yesterday the Mexican Government sent a corps of physicians to Quidad Porforio Diaz, across from Eagle Pass, to vaccinate the people and isolate the sick. Street quarantine has been enforced.

A 13-year-old son of E. Holborn, near Grand Valley, went out to the barn yard and had got upon the wheel of a rig in the yard to escape the attack of a cross ram, from which he fell backward, striking his head upon the hard ground, and was so badly injured that he died in a few hours

The Manufacturers' Committee.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Much praise has been accorded the Manufacturers' Committee of the Town Council for the energetic policy they have pursued, resulting, as is claimed, in the establishment here of the Edison works. If the letter of the Edison Company's president to the mayor of St. Catharines is to be taken as indicating that company's reason for locating here, it would seem that the action of our council had nothing to do with it, but the town's natural and acquired advantages brought about the decision in our favour. The Edison Company, then, having fixed upon Peterborough as the best place in which to manufacture for the Dominion of Canada, proceeded to ascertain what incidental advantages they might acquire from the council, who, being more than delighted with the prospect of having such an industry in our midst, readily agreed to whatever that company asked, and, I must say, its proposal was, under the circumstances, an exceedingly liberal one. It appears now that the council did not quite know what they were agreeing to, which seems rather remarkable, when one considers the enormous legal talent brought to bear upon the transaction, and it is quite clear that when the ratepayers voted on the by-law they were blissfully ignorant of its effect. That the council have been culpable in their managment of this business cannot now be successfully gainsayed, nevertheless it cannot be denied that what we are paying and what we may still have to pay, by way of bonus to the Edison Company, will be an expenditure for which we may reasonably expect an adequate return, and I, for one, make no complaint on that ground.

Then we are told that a section of the committee went to Philadelphia for the purpose of inducing some other large manufacturing concern to take up its abode here, but that was evidently such a "wild goose chase" that they are ashamed to let the public know what they were about. No doubt they acted in perfect good faith, but perhaps a somewhat undue elation over their success with the Edison Company inspired them "to seek new worlds to conquer."

But, let me ask, might not this committee have been well employed in making an effort to place under occupation our magnificent water power which we boast is the best in Canada, if not in America? Are they ignorant of the fact that for more than a year there have been vacant on the Dickson Company's property two thoroughly equipped factories, each large enough for the employment of more than a hundred hands, to be obtained at a rent, including power, less than the actual cost of producing steam power, let alone the cost of the engine and the interest thereon? Would the industries to be established in these factories be of too humble a description to engage the attention of the gentlemen composing this Committee, or is their any other reason why, so far as the public are aware, nothing has been done to utilize the water privilege which has always been considered the greatest of our advantages?

Perhaps the council of 1891, which I apprehend will have much the same personnel as that of 1890, will direct their attention to the matter I am noticing. I am persuaded that water power, by the production of electricity, compressed air or other applied force, must more and more become the great motive power of the age.

Trusting that I have not occupied too much of your valuable space,

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

BYSTANDER

What a Somerset (Pa.) County Man thinks of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Located at Buffalo, N. Y.

W. H. Miller, of Stoystown, Pa., who has been suffering for nearly a quarter of a century from an affection of the kidneys, resulting in the necessity for a surgical operation, after consulting and being treated by a number of our own doctors, as well as receiving the treatment and advice of some of the most eminent professional men of the land, finally became acquainted with the above Institute, and their mode and means of treatment. After due correspondence with the World's Dispensary Medical Association, the proprietors of the Invalids' Hotel, he was induced to visit said institution. On arriving there and after being fully acquainted with the abundant means they possess, he lost no time in making the necessary arrangements for the required treatment. After remaining for nearly four weeks at the Invalids' Hotel where you receive the kindest and best treatment, and where patients are loth to leave, after recovery, he returned to his family and friends a cured and happy man.

In giving this to the public, Mr. Miller wishes to say that he owes the aforesaid Institute nothing but the best wishes. And the fact that his own success and great relief is but one dollar testimonials from others who were since successfully treated there for a number of chronic diseases from every State and Territory of the Union, Canada, Mexico and South America. It is a marvel of success. He further says, should this fall to the notice of any sufferer from chronic disease, cannot be seen to, with the skill of your own physician—put it out and above all give your own physician a fair and impartial trial, and all the available means offered, as Somerset county may justly feel proud of her medical men, who spare no means nor time in the treatment of all cases entrusted to their charge. And if they fail, in many cases, it will be an act of charity to point you to a place where a probable cure may be effected, which is the humble intent of the above communication. The above Association is courteous, prompt and reliable.—Somerset (Pa.) Herald.

Entertainment at Lakefield.

Christmas Tree in the Methodist Church —A Successful Affair.

The annual Christmas tree and entertainment in connection with the Methodist Church at Lakefield took place New Years' night. The church was filled. Rev. Mr. Johnston presided. A lengthy programme was rendered, which concluded with the distribution of gifts off the Christmas tree. The song "Red, White and Blue," was very nice, and the dialogue, "Proposing by Proxy," particularly good. In this number Miss Emma Todd took her part to perfection. Following was the programme:—

Purity

of Blood is essential to perfect health. Its importance is generally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

GRATITUDE AND GREETING

TO THE PUBLIC:

We wish the public generally, health, wealth and prosperity, and take advantage of this season to express our heartfelt and cordial thanks, for the liberal patronage bestowed on us year after year. We have every reason to feel proud of our success—a success which we owe to two sources—the generosity and discrimination of the public, and to the fact that we have made ourselves worthy of public patronage and support. We have been, and are still anxious to make money; but we aim, while so doing, to give the public the benefit, instead of grinding the last cent of profit out of our goods. We buy them cheap—cut down the price to the narrowest margin of profit, and by big sales—by "small profits and quick returns"—we live and let live. And still we keep up that policy. This is the season when all the world gives gifts and our great gift to the people is, the Grandest Bargains in clothing ever offered to the public—$40,000 worth of First-class Goods, at prices so low, that paying for them seems a mere formality. We strive to be practical philantropists; we give the public the benefit of buying at Genuine Bargains. We prefer to make ten dollars in ten sales at low prices, to making ten dollars, at cent per cent profits, by one sale. In the first case, we benefit our customers and make friends of them; in the other case—well, we don't—but other dealers do grind the last cent out of him, and they never see his face again. Now we see our customers often. When they come once they come again. We cordially invite the public to visit our place at once, and secure the Great Bargains we are offering. In the meantime, we beg to wish our customers, present and prospective, and the public generally

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS CULLED FROM ALL SOURCES.

A Method of Making Geometry Interesting to any Class—Teaching Through the Aspect of Common Things—Practical Application of Euclid's.

In the Popular Science Monthly for November, Mr. George Iles, of New York, formerly of Montreal, has an illustrated article describing how he taught some young pupils certain important laws of geometry. His plan was to show them how to observe aspects of common things usually overlooked. One lesson is as follows:

"One chilly evening the sitting-room in which my pupils and I sat was warmed by a grate-fire. Shaking out some small live coals I bade the boys observe which of them turned black soonest. They were quick to see that the smallest did, but they were unable to tell why. They were reminded of the rule they had committed to paper, but to no purpose, until I broke a large glowing coal into a score of fragments which became black almost at once. Then one of them cried, 'Why smashing that coal gave it more surface.' This young fellow was studying the elements of astronomy at school, so I had him give some account of how the planets differ from one another in size, how the moon compares with the earth in mass, and how vastly larger than any of its worlds is the sun. Explaining to him the theory of the solar system's fiery origin, I shall not soon forget his keen delight, in which the others presently shared, when it burst upon him that because the moon is much smaller than the earth, it must be much colder, that indeed it is like a small cinder compared with a large one. It was easy to advance from this to understanding why Jupiter with eleven times the diameter of the earth still glows faintly in the sky. And then to note how the sun continues to pour out its wealth of heat and light because the immensity of its bulk has, comparatively speaking, so little surface to radiate from."

FIG. 1.

Our next lessons were intended to bring out the relations which subsist between several of the principal forms of solids. Two series of models in wood were accordingly made. The first consisted of a cube having a base five inches square, and a wedge and pyramid of similar base and height. The second series comprised a cylinder, sphere, and cone, each five inches broad and high. Taking the first series, a moment's comparison of the sides of wedge and cube told that one central half as much wood as the other; but that the pyramid contained a third as much as the cube was not evident. Weighing the pyramid and cube brought out their relation, but a more satisfactory demonstration was desirable, for what was to assure us that the two solids were of the same specific gravity? Taking a clear glass jar of an accurately cylindrical interior, measuring seven and a half inches in width by ten in height, it was half filled with water, and a foot-rule was vertically attached to its side. The models, which were neatly varnished, and therefore impervious to water, were then successively immersed and their displacement of the water noted.

FIG. 2.

This proved that the pyramid had a third the contents of the tube, that the same proportion subsisted between the cone and cylinder, and that the sphere had twice the contents of the cone. Dividing the wedge by ten parallel lines an equal distance apart, I asked how the area of the smallest triangle so laid off, and that of the next smallest, compared with the area of the large triangle formed by the whole side of the wedge. "As the square of their sides," was the answer. Dipping the wedge below the surface of the water in the jar, edge downward, it was observed to displace water as the square of its depth of immersion. Reversing the process, the wedge became a simple means of extracting the square root. Dividing the vertical play of its displacement into sixteen parts drawn along the jar's side, we divided the wedge into four parts by equidistant parallel lines. Then, for example, if we sought the square root of nine, we immersed the wedge with its edge downwards until it had displaced water in line nine on the jar's side. On the wedge the water stood at line three, the square root of nine. In a similar way the cone was observed to displace water as the cube of its depth of immersion, and therefore could be impressed into the service of extracting the cube root. For this purpose its total play of displacement in a jar of five and a half inches interior diameter was divided into twenty-seven parts, and the cone was marked off into three sections. To find the cube root of eight, we lowered the cone apex downward, until the water-level was brought to eight on the jar's side; at that moment the liquid encircled the cone at section two, making the cube root of eight. Again immersed in the larger jar, and with a cube-root extracted, leaving both cone and pyramid at certain divisions, the boys were [illegible] the rule governing the [illegible] of a pyramid's area, and arrived at the [illegible] law of squares—a law by which [illegible] solids converging regularly to a point, but of all forces diverging [illegible] because [illegible] through which such forces exert their influence.

HOW THEY VOTE.

The Modus Operandi of Casting a Ballot In the United States.

The United States has recently changed the law respecting voting at elections. The changes are interesting to Canadians, and the principles underlying some of the features are similar to those prevailing here. We print below the arrangement of tables, etc., in the election booths, which are now in readiness for use. Besides the ballot-box indicated by F and G there will be a third called the stub ballot-box. The first is used for the ballots voted, the second for ballots returned by the voter, and the third for all stubs.

The six unlettered divisions on the upper part of the diagram, opposite the entrance, represent compartments where the voter, after the poll clerks have entered his name on the poll list and noted the number of ballots delivered to him by the ballot clerks goes to prepare his ballot. He must stay at least three minutes and not more than ten in the voting compartment.

The voter may use, in voting, either of the official ballots as they are printed. He may write or paste upon any one of them the names of other candidates than those which are printed on it. He may erase the names of any candidates, leaving a blank. In other words he can "scratch" or prepare any one of the official ballots in the same manner he did the tickets formerly in use. But he must do it on one of the official ballots. He may paste it on any one of them and then vote it.

Before leaving the booth the voter must fold all the official ballots in such a manner as will leave the number and endorsement on the ballot exposed.

The voter must then, without showing the ballots, and without going outside the guard rail, deliver the ballot he intends to vote to the inspector, who must tear off the stub, and the ballot must then be deposited in the ballot-box. The voter must then deliver the remaining ballots he has to the inspector, from which the inspector must also remove the stubs. Then the voter is at liberty to go outside.

A voter who spoils an official ballot while preparing it must return all the official ballots he has received to the ballot clerks, who will deliver him another set. In some districts the ballot clerks will have a merry time of it.

Not more than six voters are to be allowed in a polling-place at one time. The ballots cast, and those returned by the voter (excepting those spoiled), are required to be burned immediately after the count. The stubs of the ballots cast, and the stubs of those returned by the voter, together with the spoiled ballots and those not used, are to be put in the box marked "waste ballots," and returned to the County Clerk on the morning after election.

The law also provides that voters shall have the right to absent themselves from their usual employment for two hours on voting day without danger of losing his situation and without any dockage of salary or wages.

The Population of Peterborough is about 10,000, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection on the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large Bottle 50c. and $1. The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company during the THIRTEEN years of the company's existence. In no one of the years of the Sun Life's existence (which is proved and by long experience) did the new business fall off so much as it did in 1889. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by retaining the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up their own rather than those of foreign lands.

Toronto Temperature Topics.

PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 3, 1891.—More of it. New Year's morning came in with a cold, thin freezing rain and fog, continuing most of the day, till about sundown it came a down pour, lasting till about 3 o'clock, falling 72 100 of an inch, but I tell you about 3 in the afternoon of Friday, as Bobby Burns says, infant frost began to bite, accompanied with a snow storm, and this morning the thermometer stood 6° below zero once more.

A Plucky Young Lady.

While a young lady was sitting in a cutter in front of a Hunter street store last night, her escort being inside, the horse was frightened and shied so quickly that the cutter was overturned and the young lady thrown out. The road was covered with water and slush, and the young lady was pretty thoroughly drenched, though she pluckily held to the reins and prevented the horse from running away.

Tuesday, Jan. 6th — George street Methodist church; subject, "The Church Universal."

Wednesday, Jan. 7th—St. Paul's church; subject, "Nations and their rulers"

Thursday, Jan. 8th— Charlotte street church; subject, "Home Evangelization and Mission to the Jews."

Friday, Jan. 9th—Baptist church; subject, "Missions to Mohammedans and the Heathen."

Meetings begin at 8 p.m.

A Dry Time on Monday.

Monday is election day, and Chief Rossel wishes the attention of liquor dealers and others called to the following clause of the Liquor License Act:—

No sale or other disposal of liquor shall take place in any licensed premises within the limits of a polling sub division, on any polling day for or at any parliamentary election or election of a member for the legislative assembly, or any municipal election, or on any days in which a vote is accordance with the Canada Temperance Act is being taken, from or after the time of six o'clock in the morning of the said day, until the following lawful day at six o'clock in the morning. 47 V. c. 34, s. 10.

The Nicholls Hospital.

The superintendent of the Nicholls Hospital begs to acknowledge, with thanks, the following donations for Christmas:—Mr. Richard Hall, ten pictures for wards; Mr. Jackson, portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls and testimonials presented to Mrs. Nicholls by Peterborough Town Council; Mr. T. Robinson, one turkey, one dozen oranges, one pound raisins, one pound candy; Mr. James Stevenson, six turkeys and five tons of coal; A Friend, one dozen oranges; Mrs. B. A. Jackson, one turkey, cranberries; Mrs. Richard Hall, three dozen oranges, books and candies; Mrs. W. Davidson, two cakes; A Friend, grapes; H. Winch, one turkey; from W.C.T.U., bags of candies and fruit for each patient, with Christmas letters; from Christmas Letter Mission, Christmas letter for each patient, two books for hospital, subscription paid for Cassels' Magazine for 1891. The superintendent also thanks the EXAMINER, Review and Times, for copies of their issues supplied daily.

About the Siding.

Mayor Stevenson and Councillors Moore and Kendry had a successful mission to Toronto and they believe the siding difficulty will be favourably settled inside of a week. They were accompanied by Mr. Julius Meyers, manager for the Edison company. They had a consultation with Superintendent Tait, of the C.P.R., and some G.T.R. authorities, and the arrangement arrived at was this: Mr. Tait was favourable to (and will go to Montreal to personally recommend his views to the head manager) the proposal of the deputation, that the Grand Trunk siding be allowed to run alongside the C. P. R. switch line into the Edison grounds. By this means the town will avoid having to buy a new right of way. The town also proposes to take over both the sidings and make them town property. This was thought to be the easiest and cheapest way to carry out the contract with the Edison Company. A favourable answer is expected from the C. P. R. in a few days.

News Nuggets.

—The best medical authorities say the proper way to treat catarrh is to take a constitutional remedy, like Hood's Sarsaparilla."

—The EXAMINER has received an anonymous communication regarding the post office. If the writer will make his identity known the letter will receive attention.

Personal.

Mr. E. F. Mason is home from Montreal.

Dr. T. J. Moher has removed to Trenton.

Board of directors monthly meeting Tuesday evening. Every member should be present.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 4 p.m. Every member and all ladies interested in our work will be welcomed.

The Ladies' Auxiliary and the Board of Directors accepted the invitation of the young men to spend last evening with them in a social way. Mr. G. J. Early presided and introduced a short and choice programme of instrumental music by the band, while Mr. Umpleby and son at the piano, and Miss Mann in her graceful club swinging delighted all. During an intermission the guests sat down to refreshments in the reading room. Afterwards short addresses were delivered, and the past difficulties and future prospects of the Association were given by the president, and Messrs. J. W. Bennet, J. C. Turnbull, H. S. Griffin and General Secretary. Mrs. H. S. Griffin returned thanks for the pleasant evening provided, and congratulated the Board on the position the Association was financially, and stating the Ladies' Auxiliary was always willing to do all in their power to further the interests of the work among the young men. Our reading room and parlor was lighted for the first time last evening by the electric light. The ladies have our grateful thanks for this great boon. The effect is grand and makes our rooms so bright and cosy.

Our sincere thanks are tendered to the following friends for the loan of articles to make our rooms attractive and cheerful for the "At Home":—Messrs. Jackson & Co., for Heintzman Piano; (it is just what we want in our rooms, and are hoping to have one soon for our need is great) Messrs. A. Clegg, H. S. Griffin, J. C. Turnbull, D. Buchanan, Yorke & Lee, J. J. Turner, Y. M.C.T.U., St. Luke's church, Sheriff Hall, J. R. Stratton, C. B. Rattley, B. Everett and Miss Sanderson; and to Messrs. Frank Mason and Arthur Blade for plants, etc., and to all who in any way assisted to make the "At Home" such a success.
